PRYOR'S OINTMENT

IS A SPEEDY CURE FOR

Blind or Bleeding Piles, Hemorrhoids, Sores, Ulcers, Tumors, Itching of the Parts, Fistulas and all Kindred Diseases; also of Burns, Corns, Felons, Fever Sores, Scald Head, Tetter, Sore Nipples, etc.

Atlanta, Ga., August 25, 1877.

After an experience of twenty-five years in selling this cintment, and during that time having closely watched its effects, and having the testimony of my friends and neighbors to confirm my confidence in its merits, I became fully satisfied of its value, and I have bought the exclusive right to make and sell it, and offer it to you as the best remedy in the world, especially for all forms of Piles. READ THE TESTIMONIALS: This is to certify that I have tried Pryor's Pile Ointment in a case of piles, and state that it gave more relief than anything I have ever tried. I further state that as a remedy for burns it is unparalleled. I also used it for a case of tester in my feet of twenty years' standing, and say that it is the first thing that I have ever tried that gave me more than momentary relief. I consider now that I am entirely relieved from that distressing d sease.

JOHN D. NEWSON. Troup county, Ga. Having been afflicted for ten years, at intervals with that distressing malady, the piles, and after many ineffectual trials of the remedies in common many ineffectual trials of the remedies in common use, I commenced a short time ago to use your Pile Ointment I experienced immediate relief. From the relief experienced in my case, as well as from the reputation so rapidly acquired by your Ointment in this vicinity. I have no hestancy in expressing the opinion that it is the most efficient remedy for Piles ever invented.

O. A. BULL, LaGrange, Ga. This is to certify that I used Pryor's Ointment in a case of severe burn, and that in a very few days it was entirely relieved of all inflammation, and healed rapidly. After the first application of the Ointment, the patient suffered no pain whatever.

R. J. MORGAN.

LaGrange, G. By the advice of Mr. Wynn, I used your Pile bintment on a servant girl who had been suffering of the series of piles. She improved from the very miss day of your Ointment, and before using the box she was entirely recovered.

G. W. FOSTEB,
Cusseta Ala.

This is to certify that I have used Pryor's Pile Ointment, and say that it is, in my opinion, the best remedy for piles ever presented to the public.

I say this from a positive application of the remedy on my own person. ThO3. B. MORGAN. Troup county, Ga.

DESPOTISM.

The following thoughtful and forciarticle on the action of the Republican majority in Congress in reversing the rules of the House to enable them to carry through the contested election cases is from the New York Journal of Commerce, a non-partisan paper:

Individual rights are the rights of a minority against all the rest of the world. Tyranny is the exercise of power, however acquired, in abrogation of these rights. A form of government in which these is no restraint upon the exercise of power is despotism. In defense of freedom, and to secure individual rights, various forms of restraint, such as constitutions, bill of rights, laws made in accordance therewith, and rules of procedure have been adopted, limiting the exercise of arbitrary power. A people tenacious of their liberties will jealously guard against any infringement of these safeguards, as encroachments upon popular rights always come in this form and take that

The power which breaks over these egal restraints to oppress the individual, or a number of individuals who are in the minority, always has a plausible excuse for its violation of the intended security. The right thus intrenched which it seeks to assail is in the way of a popular movement. Technically the man is right, but why should he set his single will against the march of events? It is true the law or the rule is on his side, but he has no right to plead it to the inconvenience of so many who would be gratified by his concession. After all it is not so great a wrong to deprive one man of his just claim when the sacrifice will bear such abundant fruit in the happiness of those bent upon enforcing their wishes at his expense. Is not the greatest good of the greatest number a higher law than the petty restraint which guards the solitary right of one who is selfishly wrapt up in his own well-being? This is the spirit of the encroachment, and down goes the barrier which was designed to protect the one or the few against the The methods of tyranny are the same whether the oppressor is a monarch or a numerical majority in a legislative assembly. Ahab, the king, desires to make a garden of herbs. Naboth has a vineyard "hard by the palace" that is needed for this purpose. The king will not rob him of it; he offers to buy it for money or to give him in exchange a better vineyard in another locality. How foolish is the petty landowner in his refusal! Naboth will neither sell nor exchange, and yet has no sufficient reason to give for his denial of the king's plea. Why should he place his foolish sentiment of attachment to a vineyard, simply because he inherited it from his father, against the projects and desires of a great monarch upon whose comfort the welfare of a whole people depends? The law as it stands does say that every Naboth may cling to his vineyard with or without reason, but when his obstinacy stands in the way of such a great public benefit as a garden of herbs, whose products might regale a royal court, or heal the diseases of a whole city, the legal restraint may be set aside for this time and the title change without the usual legal forms. If the poor landower has a tongue to speak for himself he shall be witnessed against by royal advocates, and pelted by the friends of those who are to profit from the aggression. And the adherents of Ahab will vindicate his course. Was it not right for the king to establish the garden? Did he not try by every lawful means to obtain possession of the vineyard in a legitimate way? Did he not offer to pay any price put upon it, and if the money was no object, to exchange for it a much better vineyard in another place? Naboth was a simple obstructionist, and brought his fate upon himself by his dogged obstinacy in refusing all peaceful overtures and insisting upon a technicality in the face of reason and the public necessities. Human nature has not changed in all the centuries. A bare majority in our Congress has exercised the old method of attaining its ends. The minority were obstructionists, it was claimed, and were using their technical rights to defeat the ends of justice. For just this once, therefore, let the majority usurp the power which for wise reasons the rules deny to them, and do a lesser evil that a greater good may come. No permanent good can ever spring from such a wrong. No healing medicines will grow in a garden of herbs made out of a vineyard wrenched by violence from the hands of its lawful owner. It is not wise in a majority for any reason to set aside the rules designed to protect the rights of a minority which have no other defense. What brought about the conflict? In a Congressional district of South Carolina, in 1880, O'Connor and Mackey were candidates, and the former was declared elected by 5,000 majority. Mackey contested the election, claiming that this was a fraudulent return. Pending the taking of testimony, O'Connor, whose election had been declared, sickened and died. A new election was then held and Dib-ble was chosen. The Republicans claimed that as O'Connor's election was vitiated by fraud, the certificate should be given to Mackey, and hence that there was no vacancy requiring a new election. If there had been a vacancy they admit that Dibble was properly chosen. The certificate was given to him, and he took his seat, which he has held ever since. The effort made was to unseat Dibble and to put in Mackey. Of course, this could be done only by continuing the contest between the latter and the dead O'Cornor. Hence Dibble, although the title to his seat was at stake, was not a party to the contest. No papers have been served on him, and he has not. therefore, participated in the taking of testimony. The Democrats insisted that the case, owing to these circumstances, had not been properly investi-gated: that the committee on elections refused to make the examinations demanded, and that the subject ought to be referred to bring out the facts. The Republicans insisted that these could as well be brought out in discussions before the House and refused all further investigations by a committee.

It is evident, we think, that if there was not, as alleged, something discreditable to the contesting member that would appear if a committee were empowered to take the offered testimony, this reference of the case would not have been so strenuously resisted. A discussion in the House and the statement of alleged facts in open debate by members on either side is not the same thing as sworn testimony taken by an authorized committee, and could not fairly be substituted for it. However this may be, the method by which the bare majority of members with the assistance of the Speaker have set aside the established rules of the House and the proper order of proceedings, and put in their place the will of those bent upon having their own way in defiance of such legal restraints, is certainly deserving of the strongest censure and the gravest rebuke. It establishes a precedent, for the first time in our history, which cannot be safely followed without leading to appression or anarchy. It is a revolution which can have no legal justification in the necessities of the case, whatever be the motives in which it had its origin.

A Fatal Quarrel About a Woman. A Fatal Quarrel About a Woman.

ATLANTA, June 5.—The coroner of Fulton county has just concluded an inquest over the body of Willis Ray, who died yesterday from the effects of wounds inflicted by Green Kirksey. About midnight. Saturday, May 20th, Kirksey and Willis Ray quarreled about a woman, when the former struck the latter on the head with an axe, causing fractures which extended in nearly a dozen directions, but strange to say Ray lived until yesterday. Kirksey is in jail.

DEATH OF GARABALDI.

Biographical Sketch of the Italian Pa-

ROME, June 2.—Gen. Giuseppe Gari-baldi died at 6:30 o'clock this evening at Caprera. His condition had been considered precarious from a severe attack of bronchitis, so all the members of his family residing in Rome and Genoa were summoned to his bedside.

Gen. Garibaldi was born in Nice July 4, 1807. His father educated him to his own profession, that of a mariner. In the spring of 1848 Garibaldi, with a legion of Italians formed in South America offered his services to Charles Albert in Piedmont, when he continued to fight the Austrians after the King's defeat. He was finally driven from Italy, and came in 1850 to New York, where he engaged in the making of candles on Staten Island. After several voyages to the Pacific he returned to Italy in 1859 by the invitation of the Sardinian Government, and did good service in the war with Austria. In 1860 he sailed from Genoa to Sicily with 1,000 volun-teers, and became dictator of the island. Crossing the strait in September he gained a victory on the volturno, and in conjunction with the Sardinian army brought about the merging of the kingdom of the two Sicilies in that of Italy, Resigning his dictatorship, Garibaldi now retired to the small island of Caprera. In 1861 he became a member of the Chamber of Deputies, and in 1862 general-in-chief of the National Guard. Later on he fought in succession the French and Austrians. He aided the French in the war of 1870, and was put in command of a division. In recent years he has been a member of the Chamber of Deputies.

A New Danger. An alarming account is given by a San Francisco journal of the prevalence of leprosy. One physician alone makes the declaration that he knows personally 164 lepers and their whereabouts in San Francisco. The horrible disease, too, is spreading rapidly, and many white persons as well as Chinese are infected with it. One instance is given of a white man who contracted the disease from having his clothes washed by a Chinese laundryman. In another case a respectable citizen found himself suffering from some disease for which he could not account, even after his physician had diagnosed it. He was suffering from leprosy, communicated to him by a leprous coolie. Now his three daughters, who were beautiful, healthy girls, have developed leprous symptoms, and are lepers as surely as their father. A physician who has studied the disease says that it is dangerous to assume that it can only be contracted by actual contact. The very atmosphere in which a leper moves is contaminated. It can be caught by using a chair or room which has been occupied by one afflicted with the disease or by using a drinking vessel or anything that has been touched by a leper. The street cars are a prolific source of the contagion. Lepers are employed in the cheap cigar and cigarette shops, and scores of instances of the disease are known to have arisen from smoking the articles made by their plague-stricken fingers. California is in imminent danger of becoming as notorious for its leprosy as the Sandwich Islands, and now that hundreds of Chinese are leaving the Pacific coast and coming to the Eastern cities the alarming fact is apparent that they must carry this horrible plague with them. To increase the apprehension it is stated that the health authorities of San Francisco are afraid to meddle with the lepers, and instead of hunting them out and sending them back to China, or confining them in a pest house, they are permitted to roam at will, and are, indeed, encouraged not to leave the city. The horrors of the disease and the im-are well calculated to excite alarm.

Statesville Landmark. To this end they have set a trap by organizing a party the name of which they think will appeal to the anti-pro-hibitionists. To give an appearance of reality to their miserable sham, they draw into their counsels a couple of pliant tools, lately Democrats, label them "Anti-Prohibition Liberals," and turn them loose among the people. These apostles of the new creed at once cease to consort with their former friends. They hasten for their inspiration to a Republican President and, coming back, the words of the Radical politician are found in their mouths. Lesser lights, worked upon through their ignorance, greed or prejudice, are inoculated with the disease, and it is now sought to infect the whole body of anti-prohibitionists with it.

We warn our friends, anti-prohibition Democrats, with whom we stood shoulder to shoulder last year, and with whom we will stand shoulder to shoulder again whenever such another heresy threatens the State, that an attempt is being made to sell us out to the Republicans. We have no business with this so-called, mis-called "Liberal" move-ment. Designing politicians are seek-ing to use us for their own promotion. Listen to them! Even while they court you they cannot withhold their malicious tongues from such terms as"Bourbonism," with which they are accustomed to taunt your party. While truckling to you they stab your system of county government which has turned their thieving fellows out of the offices in the east and restored to your brethren of that section the blessings of honest government; and all this time no criticism of Republican misdoings; no apology for Republican theft and oppressions. Your party is the only one that has ever raised its hand to stab the liberties of the people!

The Estimate of the Liberals.

The Republicans in the North are beginning to find out that the Mahones are not quite as numerous as they had been led to suppose. The South will not follow blind leaders of the blind. The lust of office is not potent enough to move honest men to desert their party. The New York Times, the ablest of Republican papers, sees this clearly and savs:

"The men in the Democratic party in the South who can be induced by office to change their political connections are not numerous; their influence is not great; their fidelity to the new flag is not likely to be stable, or if kept stable is likely to prove expensive. On the other hand, men of sufficient independence and strength of character to make a break with their party do not need to be bought."

Thank you. But is it not compliment-ary of the "Liberals?" That extract will be good reading for Col. Johnston and some of the small fry.

The Court in Banc Declines to Hear Further Argument in Guiteau's

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Chief Justice Cartter and Judges James and Hagner constituting the court in banc, to day rendered a decision upon the last motion filed by Reed in Guiteau's behalf. The chief justice delivered the opinion as follows:

"In the case of Guiteau the judges who listened to the argument in the case have come to the conclusion that they have exhausted their powers upon it, that they heard it patiently, fully and fairly, and that a reargument would bring them to no other conclusion than that which they have already airlyed at, and they decline to reopen the case for argument.

A Prayer for Garibaldi. LONDON, Jane 5.—A dispatch to the Standard from Rome says; "On hear, fug of the death of Garibaldi the Pope remained allent for a while, then raising his eyes to heaven he said; There has gone another figure of revolution; oh God be merciful to him!"

For Wakefulness at night, there is no better remedy. During the change of life no Female should be without it. It quiets the Nervous system and gives rest, comfort, and nature's sweet sleep.

SAMARITAN NERVINE Cores Alcoholism, Drunkenness and the habit of Opium Rating. These degrading habits are by far the worst evils that have ever befallen suffering humanity. Thousands die annually from these noxious drugs. The drunkard drinks liquor not because he likes it, but for the pleasure of drinking and treating his friends, little thinking that he is on his road to ruin. Like the Opium Eater, he first uses the drug in small quantities as a harmless antidote. The soothing influence of the drug takes strong hold upon its victim, leading him on to his own destruction. The habits of Opium to his own destruction. The habits of Opium Eating and Liquor Drinking are precisely what eating is to alimentiveness, as over eating first in-flames the stomach, which redoubles its cravings fiames the stomach, which redoubles its cravings until it paralyzes both the stomach and appetite. So every drink of liquor or dose of optum, instead of satisfying, only adds to its fièree fires, until it consumes the vital force and then itself. Like the glu tonous tape-worm, it cries "Give, give, give!" but never enough until its own rapacity devours itself. Samaritan Nervine gives instant relief in such cases. It produces sleep, quiets the nerves, builds up the nervous system, and restores body and mind to a healthy condition.
