No Whiskey!

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is one of the very few tonic medicines that are not composed mostly of alcohol or whiskey, thus becoming a fruitful source of intemperance by promoting a desire for rum.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is guaranteed to be a non-intoxicating stimulant, and it will, in nearly every case, take the place of all liquor, and at the same time absolutely kill the desire for whiskey and other intoxicating beverages.

Rev. G. W. RICE, editor of the American Christian Review, says of Brown's Iron Bitters:

Cin., Nov. 16, 1881.
Gents.—The foolish wastefulness of vital force in business, pleasure, and vicious indulgence of our people, makes your preparation a necessity; and if applied, will save hundreds who resort to saloons for temporary recuperation.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS has been thoroughly tested for dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, weakness, debility, overwork, rheumatism, neuralgia, consumption, troubles, &c., and it never fails to render speedy and permanent relief.

HOME CHIPPLETS.

13 The person who finds a plain gold bracelet, spoken of in an advertisement elsewhere, will get a good reward by bringing it to THE OBSERVER office.

13 An extra train is to be run between Charlotte and Davidson College, on the 14th and 15th, for the benefit of those desiring to attend the commencement exercises on those days.

13 Messrs. Johnston and Miller's addition to the Metropolitan hotel is now finished, so far as the brick work goes, and the building now makes quite an imposing appearance.

13 At the mayor's court yesterday morning Jas. McMinnis was fined $2.50, for loud and profane language on the streets. Zack Ruffin was required to pay $5 and costs for assaulting a colored woman.

13 A dozen or more carriages were out to Wadsworth's farm yesterday. Everybody is bound to see that wonderful harvesting machine at work, and to see it is well worth the short ride to the model farm of the State.

13 Mr. J. D. Northey, of this city, climbs over everybody yet heard from on the oats question. He sends a bunch to this office containing 127 headed stalks, all of which grew from one seed. It came from a patch of oats in his garden.

13 There are two Mack Alexanders in the county, and about the last of May the name of one of them figured in THE OBSERVER's police reports, and the girls out in the country are carrying the wrong man high. The coroner's son Mack says he can't stand it any longer for they are about to tease him to death. Mistake, young ladies, it wasn't this Mack but the other Mack.

13 Polk County Convention. The Democrats of Polk county held their county convention on Wednesday the 7th inst., at Columbus, and appointed delegates to the State convention, and to the Judicial nominating convention which is to be held in this city on the 28th inst. The delegates to the latter convention were instructed to vote for Mike Justice, Esq., of Rutherfordton, for the solicitorship of this district.

13 Personal Items. —Mr. C. F. Colson, of the West Point Rice Mills, and Dr. C. Bunting Colson, of Charleston, S. C., are in the city.

—Col. Wm. Johnston has returned from Raleigh and looks in good spirits. He is well pleased with the work of the audience. The instrumental duet, "Flirt Polka," by Paul, on three pianos well given by six beautiful young ladies. The vocal duet by Misses Brewster and Meroney, was charmingly done. But among all the instrumental pieces given, the instrumental trio "Wedding March," by Rumbaut, on three pianos, was the best of the evening, decidedly. To sit at the organ and lead and yet manage nine young ladies at different pianos so that not a note was lost, not a jar or discord occurred was afeat of both teacher and pupil that deserved commendation.

—The Democrats of Rowan will hold a county convention in Salisbury on the 1st of July, for the purpose of appointing delegates to the State and Judicial conventions.

—The Cabarrus county Republicans hold a convention at Concord to-day.

—Mr. W. F. Snider and Miss Jennie Holmes, daughter of Mr. R. J. Holmes, were married in Salisbury last Thursday night.

—Salisbury is trying to get up a big Fourth of July celebration, and anticipating what is to be the Watchman remarks with gratification that "the old patriotic spirit which burned with so vivid a flame in ante bellum days of the South is still aglow." Start up the band.

—Hon. A. M. Waddell will deliver an address at the commencement of the Monroe High School, on Friday, 16th inst.

13 Fans and Fanning.

It is not everybody that knows how to use a fan, and as the season has come when these little breeze-stirrers are brought out and put to general use, a few remarks on their use, whether in church or at a college commencement, will come in appropriately. Rev. Chas. F. Deems, of the Church of Strangers, New York, advises his flock to "take care how you use fans. Nine-tenths of fanning is unnecessary. You would be more comfortable if you would sit still and keep very quiet. The most of fanning is an expression of general fussiness of temper. Moreover, it may annoy your neighbor. We heard a physician say that he thought that a large amount of the prevalent neuralgia was due to the use of fans in church, and fell not on those who fanned, but upon some of their neighbors." We have often heard the remark, "I got little good of the service yesterday because of the lady next to me who fanned me until I was almost in a shiver." What would you think of your minister if he should fan himself while preaching?

Aiding Our Mineral Timber and Manufacturing Resources.

The Richmond & Danville Railroad company, in endeavoring to attract attention to the mineral, timber and manufacturing resources of this section and of the regions of country contiguous to all of its lines of roads and to contribute to their development, have established a bureau of mines and manufactures in Richmond. Its object will be to procure and disseminate reliable and accurate information about the minerals, timbers and other natural and manufactured products of the country specified; to collect and exhibit specimens of those products, and to furnish such general and specific intelligence as will be beneficial to capitalists seeking profitable investments, and tend to promote the greater development of existing enterprises.

Captain C. C. McPhail is appointed chief of the bureau of mines and manufactures, with headquarters in the city of Richmond, Va., and will report directly to and receive instructions from this office. All communications in reference to mining, timber and manufacturing interests should be addressed or referred to him.

It will be the duty of the chief of this bureau to investigate and keep himself fully informed in regard to the condition of existing enterprises for the development of mines, timbers and manufacturers, and report to his office, from time to time, what additional encouragement can properly be afforded them, and to confer with the heads of the passenger and freight departments relative to the adjustment of rates which affect the interests intrusted to his care.

THOMASVILLE FEMALE COLLEGE

13 How the Commencement Passed off at this Popular Institute.

The commencement exercises of Thomasville Female College were held last Tuesday, 6th inst., and the following report of the occasion was sent to THE OBSERVER by one of the witnesses. The large hall was crowded to its fullest capacity and the impatience of the crowd for the exercises to begin was soon brought to an end, when the young ladies marched in by twos to an enchanting air by Miss Brewster. An anthem by the vocal class, and an earnest prayer by Rev. J. J. Renn, of the M. E. church, and the exercises of the day were properly begun. Rev. N. W. Cobb, of Chapel Hill, the orator of the occasion was absent on account of sickness, but Prof. G. W. Green, of Moravian Falls Academy, filled the place admirably.

The salutatory by Miss Effie Morrison was a fine essay, and was a joyous welcome to Thomasville, to Thomasville Female College and to the enjoyment of this crowning day of the past year's work.

Prof. Reinhardt in his happiest mood delivered the distinctions to the deserving and the diplomas to the graduates, and then gladdened us by the announcement that with us was, and with us he would stay. That Thomasville Female College was a permanency.

Miss Beckwith, of New Hill, in a splendid production showed us the actual and the possible in our lives, and was also the valedictorian of the occasion.

The morning was delightful, the music charming and everybody in a good humor. The art display was not to be excelled. More than sixty specimens of the young ladies' skill adorned the east end of the chapel. These made a display of skill and genius that was admired and praised by all present, and would compare favorably with any institution in the South.

The final concert at night was a decided success. The music was conducted by Miss Ora Brewster, who has been connected with the college since President Reinhardt assumed charge eight years ago, and Mrs. Schooler of Virginia. The large chapel, both hall and gallery was densely packed, a large number finding only standing room.

The programme was well selected and more than well carried out. It would be impossible to mention all those beautiful renderings.

However, a few seemed especially to charm the audience. The instrumental duet, "Flirt Polka," by Paul, on three pianos well given by six beautiful young ladies. The vocal duet by Misses Brewster and Meroney, was charmingly done.

But among all the instrumental pieces given, the instrumental trio "Wedding March," by Rumbaut, on three pianos, was the best of the evening, decidedly. To sit at the organ and lead and yet manage nine young ladies at different pianos so that not a note was lost, not a jar or discord occurred was afeat of both teacher and pupil that deserved commendation.

Miss Minnie Reinhardt rendered a beautiful Scotch air in her most captivating style. Miss Reinhardt would charm an audience if she had no power of the voice.

A COSTLY DRUNK.

Charles Brent and a Drummer Get on a Tare and the Drummer is Robbed of $345—The Cause of Brent's Capture and Lock-up in this City.

The young man, Charles Brent, who was arrested on his arrival in this city from Atlanta Thursday evening, as related in yesterday's OBSERVER, has been lying quietly in the city prison awaiting the arrival of an officer from Atlanta to remove him to that place. The officer was expected to be here yesterday evening, but a telegram received by Chief McNinch stated that he would leave Atlanta last night with his requisition and arrive here this morning. Brent maintains an obstinate silence as to the character of the larceny and will not divulge a syllable, merely reiterating his statement that "it will be fixed up all right when I get back home." That he had made a big haul from some one there could be no doubt, for it is something unusual for a "butcher" boy to have so much money about him as the police took from Brent when they arrested him.

The amount found on his person when arrested was $276, which is only a part of the money he stole from a friend in Atlanta, as has subsequently been learned. The story of Brent's trouble, as we learn from railroad men on the incoming trains from Atlanta yesterday is to this effect: Brent last Wednesday met up with old friend in Atlanta, and being strapped he asked his friend for the loan of $10, which was promptly granted. The two then started the rounds of the saloons and in the course of time Brent's friend, a Mr. Kairns, drummer for a Louisville marble yard, sank under the effects of his load of the ardent, and while in this condition his pockets were relieved by Brent of their contents, amounting to $345. Brent had his friend sent to a hotel while he continued the spree, taking the train next morning for Charlotte. When Mr. Kairns awoke up and realized his loss, he sought the aid of the chief of police, who soon learned that Brent had left on the Charlotte bound train and at once sent a dispatch to Capt. McNinch ordering the arrest of the fast young man on his arrival at this place.

Kairns and Brent are said to be old and fast friends and since hearing of Brent's arrest, and finding that most of his money has been saved, Kairns has intimated that he will not push the prosecution against his heartless friend desiring to let the matter drop and be forgotten. The law, however, is not so lenient and forgiving, and young Brent will most probably have to suffer the penalty of the law for his grave offence.

Kairns was in Atlanta on business for his father and the money he lost was entrusted to him to make some purchases for his father.

Brent comes from the most respectable parentage. He will be taken back to Atlanta to-day, on the 1:10 o'clock train.
