WEDNESDAY, JUNE 14, 1882. Jefferson Davis will spend a portion of the summer at Morehead City.

Ex-Vice President Wheeler, and Mr. Phelps, both decline to serve on the tariff commission.

The Philadelphia Record advises the Democracy of Pennsylvania not to throw away a first-rate chance on second rate men.

There is one thing about that Yorktown liquor bill, and that is that some of the "goods" was returned to the amount of $960.

Messrs, L. H. Hill and Dempsy Bryant, Jr., the two convicted Halifax elec-

New York, will go abroad for his health and retire from politics. Politics have about retired from John.

A new telegraph company has been organized in Chicago with a capital of $21,000,000, and propose to send messages at very much reduced rates.

Atlanta Post-Appeal: The demand for fruit jars is so great at present that one of the largest manufactories in the North announces that it will be two months before it can begin filling new The Coercion policy of the British government don't seem to be restoring order very rapidly in Ireland. It is now in a more chaotic condition than it has been for a long time, and life less Senator Hill, of Georgia, has suffered much in his affliction, but the respectful, cordial, tender greeting extended to him by his people on his return home was some compensation for his suffersetts, last Thursday, eight car loads of machinery for cotton factories in the South. The machinery establishments in that section are turning out large quantities of machinery for the South, and the demand ir increasing annually A friend of Garibaldi, living on Staten Island, brands as false the statement that the General once worked in a dirty, greasy, old candle factory. He says it is true, however, that he once worked in a bologna sausage factory. This accounts for his knowing all about the dogs of war. They say Oregon was carried for the Republicans by the Northern Pacific Railroad-but it was carried all the same, and the Republicans ain't particular whether it was caused by the N. P. R. R., and we don't know that it makes much difference to Democrats now.

Atlanta Post-Appeal: "The Rome courier strongly advocates the employment of convict labor in building railroads and improving public highways. This would not bring the convicts into competition with honest working men in as many occupations as is the case under the present system."

The Rome Courier has been casting an eye over into North Carolina.

The late Dr. John F. Darby, of St. Louis, was, at the time of his death, the oldest member of the bar in that city. He was born in North Carolina in the year 1803 and emigrated with his father to Missouri in 1818. He studied law in Frankfort, Ky., and was admitted to practice in 1827. He was elected four times mayor of St. Louis before 1846. The deceased accumulated a handsome fortune by his practice, but lost it in the banking business in 1860, and was compelled to go back to his profession, in which he labored faithfully to the end.

Wonder if Dr. Mott & Co. couldn't come to some satisfactory arrangement with the Greenback party in this State, take it in and make a sort of triple alliance? It is true there is not much of it, but that will make it all the easier to capture. While they are in the coalition business they might as well go for all in sight. The Greenbackers, out in the cold, running all by themselves without any cheering words from anybody, and a small amount of spondulics, will have a lonely time. They should be taken in by all means, and we commend them to the paternal consideration of Coalition Mett.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

The Republican convention meets today in Raleigh, for the purpose ostensibly to nominate candidates for Congressman at large the vacancy in the Supreme Court, and for Superior Court judges. There will be very little nominating done as that preliminary was gone through with at the so-called "liberal anti-prohibition" convention which met at Raleigh on the 7th inst. So that all that will be done at Raleigh to-day will be to ratify those nominations.

Some people have been anticipating a clash between the several Republican factions when they meet face to face at Raleigh. There may, and probably will be some chin music indulged in but Mott & Co. are bosses of the situation, a fact which his opponents recognize, and in which they will acquiesce after they have relieved themselves of a few remarks.

Practically speaking it will be a convention simply to endorse the work of Dr. Mott & Co., and we will see figuring in it the great liberals Ike Young, Jim Harris, O'Hara and others fresh from the feast of love recently held and overflowing with liberalism. This will end the farcical part of the programme. and then they will get down to active work, when the several factions will forget their squabbles, and all pull together under the whip of Driver Mott.

THE LIBERAL TICKET.

We published yesterday a communication from a friend of the "liberal" movement on the ticket presented and upon the make-up of the convention his sources of information are we are not informed, but the Raleigh News & Observer, classifies the convention at thirty colored, about thirty Democrats and the balance Republicans. If it be true, as our correspondent states, that a majority of the delegates were Democrats, it is a little remarkable that they should have given the first place on the ticket to a Republican of the original panel, and that a Democrat could get only twenty-five votes, all told. This was extraordinary liberality on the part of a majority. But perhaps it was a liberality dictated by policy, just a politic yielding to Dr. Mott & Co., to prevent Dr. Mott & Co. from going back on the liberals with whom he has been courting such friendly relations since last summer. The convention tion judges, were fined $500 each last | not only showed its "liberality" in deal-Saturday paid it and were discharg- ing so generously with Dr. Mott but also in permitting Republicans like O'Hara, Jim Harris, Ike Young and It is reported that John Kelly, of others to loom up so conspicuously, so conspicuously in fact as to give the whole thing the complexion of a dyedin-the-wool Republican gathering. Dr. Mott was there, Ike Young was there, W. P. Canaday was there, interested spectators of what was going on and active sympathizers in the movement, and every one of whom claims to day

As to the make-up of the ticket for Superior Court Judges they are to fame unknown, and their politics but little known outside of the localities in which they reside. One of them, a Democrat, has refused to accept, and his place will probably be filled by a Republican at the convention which meets to-day. But if the "liberals" were so generous to the Republicans in giving them the principal offices on the ticket, why didn't they play even and divide the judicial ticket fairly and not | opposition to it in view of the changes There were shipped from Massachu- take the larger part as they claim to made by the Senate. have done. From this it would seem they were not so generous after all. But prebably the Republicans, as Republican votes in Congress are at a premium, considered the securing of Mr. Dockery's nomination as an equivalent for the whole judicial ticket. When it comes to Congressmen, when votes are close in Washington, one Congressman is worth a whole bench of Judges in a State. If through the influence of the "liberal" move in the South they can capture seats enough to give them an undoubted majority they will not be under the necessity any more of resorting to the high-handed measures recently resorted to of ousting Democrats to give their seats to Republicans. They are playing for Congress and the Legislatures, which elect United States Senators, and when there is a chance of winning these they wouldn't give a handful of goobers to settle the question of Judges.

> A NICE COURT PROCEEDING. The personal encounter between Messrs. Bailey and Schenck, during a trial at the court in Salisbury, last Saturday, is not an attractive chapter in court proceedings, in a staid, sober community. It is true that on the frontiers, where men of all kinds come into personal contact, it is the habit to go armed, and attorneys go into court with revolvers and bowie knives, and various other instruments, offensive bia. and defensive, strapped to them. And it would not be considered a violation of the judicial code for the Judge to do likewise. But that is frontier life. They get over it after awhile and go into court and transact business like other folks when they cease to be frontier people, and the customs and manners of civilized life prevail over the rudeness and savagery of frontier life. It is true that in the Salisbury case there were no weapons displayed, but the personal encounter which took place was as much a contempt of court as if the irate gentlemen had leveled revolvers and took dead aim at each other across the forum or went for each other with glittering bowles.

Lawyers are human, very human, and being human are liable to lose their tempers, and losing their tempers are liable to forget the proprieties of time and place to indulge their pugilistic propensities. We don't know that there is anything, under the circumstances, very remarkable in the fact that these two particular gentlemen should have hitched as they did, and we are not writing this article for the purpose of calling attention to the part they took especially, but to the part the

A court should preserve its dignity under all circumstances, and should not permit itself to be brought into contempt by lawyers nor any one else, even by disorderly conduct, much less personal encounters in which actual tlows are given and received, When Judge Eure fined the participants in this demonstration $50 each he did very well, but when he remitted the fine he did not do very well. If two plain, unpretending, plodding citizens of a town or the rural districts had gone into that court room and while the court was in session had got into a dispute. and in defiance of his honor had engaged in a rough and tumble fight, how long would it take to snap them up by the sheriff, send them to jail and fine them a good round sum for contempt of court? And who would not have commended the court for thus preserving its dignity, and punishing the triflers with it? There should be no distinction of persons before the law, and when the honor and dignity of the court is involved the lawyer should be looked upon and treated just like plain plodding, common folks.

Weld moved from Boston to this city to escape taxation, The State claims that Weld's estate owes in taxes $250, 000, and it has sued for that sum.

BLAINE BEFORE THE COMMIT-TEE.

He Makes a Few Remarks About the Associated Press, and Thinks He Has a Right to Revise His Testimony.

WASHINGTON, June 13 .- The examination of Blaine before the House committee on foreign affairs this morning. Before going into the main subject under investigation, the affairs of the Peruvian company, Blaine volunteered to make a statement concerning what he termed a complaint by the Associated Press that he had obtained or assumed sole liberties connected with his testimony. He said they were only such as he had always been granted, and he had learned with much surprise that they had led to the removal of the late Washington agent of the New York Associated Press. He then proceeded to read to the committee a copy of a letter addressed by him to the general agent of the Associated Press, in which he stated that the corrections made by him in the report of his testimony were only "such as were essential to accuracy," and such as he "in common with other witnesses make in official reports of a stenographer of the House.' He also in this letter while admitting the general accuracy of the associated press agent, questioned their right to determine just what a witness said and remarked that the courts of justice and official committees permit witnesses to revise the reports of their testimony. Blaine further wrote: "I have as little desire as I have the right or power to interfere with the appointment or removal of your agents, but I protest against the assumption that I was accorded any privilege with my testimony save that which has always been given to witnesses and which is essential to justice and fair dealing." The letter concluded with a request that it be given to the press Blaine went on to say that no notice had been taken of this letter, but he had understood that instructions had been given to the associated press reporters not to permit him to see the report made of his testimony, appealing to the reporter for a verification of this state-

The reporter replied that he had "no special instructions" in regard to Blaine's testimony. Blaine thereupon asserted that during his 20 years in Washington he had never made a speech of much importance in the House or Senate or ever appeared as a witness without having the notes of the associated press reporter submitted to him, and he protested that any instructions preventing such opportunities for correction of errors would be entirely unjust.
