No Whiskey!

Brown's Iron BITTERS is one of the very few tonic medicines that are not composed mostly of alcohol or whiskey, thus becoming a fruitful source of intemperance by promoting a desire for rum.

Brown's Iron BITTERS is guaranteed to be a nonintoxicating stimulant, and it will, in nearly every case, take the place of all liquor, and at the same time absolutely kill the desire for whiskey and other intexicating beverages.

Rev. G. W. RICE, editor of the American Christian Review, says of Brown's Iron

Cin., O., Nov. 16, 1881. Gents:—The foolish wasting of vital force in business, pleasure, and vicious indulgence of our people, makes your preparation a necessity; and if applied, will save hundreds who resort to saloons for temporary recuperation.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS has been thoroughly tested for dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, weakness, debility, overwork, rheumatism, neuralgia, consumption, liver complaints, kidney troubles, &c., and it never fails to render speedy and permanent relief.

For the past two weeks the pay roll of Messrs. Miller & Johnston, for bricklayers and hod carriers, has amounted to $1,600. This is a right fine little pile to be put in circulation within such a small space of time and the influence has been felt at all the stores in the city.

Welves on the Fold. There was a big raid on the sheep fold of one of Mecklenburg's good farmers in Sharon township, yesterday morning about daylight, by three Wolves. There was one old Wolf and two young ones and they reduced the fold to the extent of 25 sheeps. These they brought to the city and sold to the mutton dealers. It was Mr. Wolf and his two sons and people who knew his hame and saw him bringing the sheep into town, couldn't help remarking about bis oddity of the Hing.

Rumored Sale of the Richmond & Danville Railroad.

Since Thursday evening a rumor has gone the rounds of the city to the effect that the Richmond & Danville Railroad syndicate has been bought up by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. It is stated that Mr. Clyde, who owned the controlling interest in the Richmond & Danville, has disposed of the same to the B. & O. Company. No one seemed to be able to tell just how the news got here but everybody was talking about it. One of the railroad authorities in this city, told the OBSERVER that there was no truth whatever in the report, and we are inclined to take the same view of the matter. Speaking of the Richmond & Danville Company, by the way, a meeting of the pool committee of this road, was held in President Buferd's Richmond office, last Thursday, and decided to open the poel on the 5th of July, and to keep it open until some future action is taken. Coes a Stream from the Hydrant-Test of the Water Works --- The City Under a Shower Bath.

The first test of the newly completed city water works was made vesterday morning, under the supervision of Capt. Siders and Mr. Jake Hand, before the committee appointed by the city to inspect and receive the works. Sections of hose were attached to the plugs at College and Trade, Independence Square, and Trade and Church. The first test was made with the standpipe pressure alone and very good streams were thrown, though some expressed their disappointment that this test did not come up to their expectations. The hydrant at Independence Square, being the highest in the city, did not throw the stream quite to the top of the Central Hotel, with the standpipe pressure, but the one at College and Trade streets, being located in a low part of the city and having a greater pressure, threw a stream over all the adjoining buildings. With each fall of one foot, the pressure of water in the mains gains four pounds, and the pressure at this hydrant was about 90 lbs.

It was not until the engine pressure was added to that of the standpipe that the real capability of the city water works was seen. The streams, which had previously been coming out in strong but solid volumes, shot high into the air and were driven into beautiful clouds of spray. From the Independence Square plug, the stream split on the telephone wire which stretches from the hotel to the central telephone office and reached a height of eight feet above the roof of the Central Hotel. The stream from the hydrant near the OBSERVER office went even higher and shot straight down Trade street to a distance of 130 feet, by actual measurement. From the plug at the court house, a stream was thrown twelve feet above the high Sims & Dowd building. This was at a time when three hydrants were open and throwing streams at once. The hydrants in other parts of the city were tested in the afternoon and all did equally as well. The best stream thrown was when the Neptune fire company attached their hand engine to a hydrant and threw a stream from Independence

Square to the McSmith music house. The test was continued for about an hour, during which time the business portion of the city was under a continual shower bath and many luckless pedestrians got an unexpected, but altogether thorough drenching. While the test was considered satisfactory as a general thing, it did not exactly come up to the promises of the contractors, who insured that streams ance to a distance of seventy-five feet. We'understand that one of the boilers at the engine house was not working the test was not the best that could be done. Some suggestions were made that the height of the standpipe should be increased, but there is a difference of opinion on this point. It is not necessary, but if it were done, it would somewhat increase the force of the streams, and this is all.

The city council will hold their regular meeting on next Monday and will then discuss the test and if satisfactory accept the works from the contractors.

SALEM ACADEMY.

Seventy-Eighth Annual Commence-

Nestled up among the hills of Forsythe county, at the present western terminus of the Northwestern North Carolina railroad, and twenty-eight miles from Greensboro, lies the old Moravian town of Salem, and its chief attraction is the Salem Academy for girls and young women. This institution was founded in 1802, opened in 1804, incorporated in 1866, and on last Wednesday and Thursday, under the management of the principal, Rev. J. T. Zorn, the seventy-eighth annual commencement was held.

On Wednesday evening the large and spacious college chapel was filled with invited guests, and a most excellent vocal and instrumental concert was given by a number of young ladies, students at the academy, assisted by a few select voices from the vicinage. The music was said to have been as finely rendered as was ever heard within the old academy walls. On memory's tablet is engraven these words:

Balmy and soft is the scent-laden breeze, Balmy with perfume just swept from the trees;

Shall we row o'er the rippling water? Shall we gilde o'er the swelling wave? Shall we rest 'neath the boughs of the forest? Shall we sing some right merry stave? And they are already written as a part of the history of the occasion. On Thursday morning a large audience gathered to witness the commencement proceedings proper, the principal part of which consisted in the reading of original essays and the presentation of diplomas to the young ladies of the graduating class, with an introductory address by Rev. Dr. E Rondthaler.

During the year just closed 175 students have been borne on the rolls of the school, and they have come from nearly all the States of the Union. Rev. J. T. Zorn has charge of the school, and well may he congratulate himself upon

Old Horse Flesh at a Premium.

A horse trader from Charleston, S. C., has been going through portions of Mecklenburg buying up horses regardless of expense. Just so the horse would be fat, it did not make any difference about the age of the animal. The man called on Dr. Holt, of Davidson College and bought all the horses the doctor had. Among the lot was a horse 22 years old, for which he paid Dr. Holt $150. After buying up a lot of steeds, the man left for Charleston, but told the people that he would be back in a week or two, and for them to have their horses fattened. No doubt the numerous antiquated specimens of horse flesh in the section which he has visited, have been surprised at the extra good feeding they are getting lately. What the man intends doing with them is not known, and the people don't care to know so long as he continues to exhibit such a love for their

Who is Mrs. Winslow? As this question is frequently asked, we will simply say that she is a lady who for upwards of forty years, has untiringly devoted her time and talents as a Female Physician and nurse, principally among children, she has especially studied the constitution and wants of this numerous class, and, as a result of this effort, and practical knowledge, obtained in a lifetime spent as nurse and physician, she has compounded a Soothing Syrup, for shildren teething. It operates like magic—giving rest and health, and is moreover, sum to for children teething. It operates like magic— giving rest and health, and is moreover, sure to regulate the bowels. In consequence of this ar-ticle, Mrs. Winslow is becoming world-renowned ticle, Mrs. Winslow is becoming world-renowned as a benefactor of her race; children certainly do rise up and bless her; especially is this the case in this city. Vast quantities of the Soothing Syrup are daily sold and used here. We think Mrs. Winslow has immortalized her name by this invaluable article, and we sincerely betteve thousands of children have been saved from an early grave by its timely use, and that millions yet unborn will share its benefits, and unite in calling her blessed. No mother has discharged her duty to her suffering little one, in our opinion, until she has given it the benefit of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. Try it, methers—try it now.—Ladies' Visitor, New York City. Sold by all druggists. 25 cents a bottle.
