COUNTY GOVERNMENT. Let us see how the "machine" works in Mecklenburg. A set of magistrates are appointed who are not responsible to the people (we mean no reflection whatever upon them), these magistrates elect a board of county commissioners who are removed even further from responsibility to the people. The question of prohibition is made an issue before the people, and the count at the ballot box shows a majority of 1,600 against the measure. The city grants license, and the United States government collects a privilege tax, and the bar-rooms are opened. The law says these venders must have the license of the county commissioners, to enable them to engage in the traffic lawfully, but the solicitors of neither the Superior nor the Inferior Courts have the courage to prosecute them. The business is carried on openly, and the sale of a drop of whiskey is not prevented. Under the law the State and county license would be between six or seven hundred dollars per annum, which is all lost to the public school fund, we believe.

We contend that the county commissioners should bow to the will of the people as expressed at the ballot-box. When prohibition was an issue nobody had need to ask where THE OBSERVER stood, but we are among those who surrendered when the fight was over, and the sooner public sentiment crystalizes in obedience to the expressed will of the people at the ballot box under the due form of law, the sooner we will get out into high ground, where our position can be defended.

The board of magistrates meet, we believe, on the 1st Monday in August. Let them take this matter in hand, and if our present board of county commissioners will not obey the will of the people, then let a set of commissioners be elected who will. We have the kindest feelings toward every member of the present board, but we do say that they have no right to set their judgment against the judgment of the people of the county, especially after that matter has been adjudicated at the bal-

There may be some who say this is treason to the Democratic party. We deny it. The present system of county government is un-democratic to begin with, and the sooner we point out the rocks and shoals among which we may be stranded, the sooner we will get out into the deeper current, which will lead us into the haven of Democratic harmony and Democratic victory as well.

ANOTHER MONUMENT PROJECT.

We are indebted to some friend for a marked copy of the Fayetteville Examiner, containing a letter from Senator Bayard to Col. Wharton J. Green, on the subject of a monument to be erected in honor of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence in which he says:

"Will it not be possible to have a strong impressive monument column raised at Charlotte to the memories of the 'signers ?

"The Lion of Luzerne, by Thorwaldsen, is the most admirable type of such commemoration, and it dignifies immensely the ninety-odd Swiss, who were only military police at the palace of Versailles, serving for money only in a foreign country, but who fell at

"We may not perhaps expect such a work of genius just now at Charlotte, but something should be done to mark the place, arrest the imagination and enforce the memory. "Shall it not be ?"

THE OBSERVER would be glad to see some such suggestion carried out. Gov. Vance is president of an association having the erection of such a monument for its object, but under his guidance the association has been dead about seven years. Some day an organization will be effected that will do less talking and more work.

A WARNING TO DEMOCRATS. We publish the following from the Utica (N. Y.) Morning Herald-Republican-of Saturday June 17, as a warning to Democrats in North Carolina, who imagine that the "machine" is still all-powerful: North Carolina gives better promise of early redemption from bourbon rule than any other southern state. The republicans made this possible, when they adopted entire the independent ticket nominated some time ago, and placed it upon such an excellent platform. Last year the democratic plurality in the state was only 6,000; and ality in the state was only 6,000; and we have always believed that North dredge Boat Essayors, went out sailing we have always believed that North Carolina was a republican state, on a fair count, with a full vote, and with anything like efficient organization on the part of the republicans. The latter is something they have never really had there. The adoption of the independent ticket is a practical, abandonment of the distinctive party organization in North Carolina, and means that the republicans of that state are conscious that the defeat of bourbonism, by a consolidation of all the elements of opposite.

While returning homeward, the boat capsized and six of the boys were drowned. Thos. McCormack, 14; Willie Shovey, 14; Merry Megget, 14; Daniel Kelly, 14; Chas. Duplesseys, 13.

It operates like magic—glude the bowels. In consequence of this article, Mrs. Winslow is becoming world-renowned as a benefactor of her race; children certainly do rise up and bless her; especially is this the case in this city. Vast quantities of the Soothing Syrup are dally sold and used here. We think Mrs. Winslow has immortalized her name by this invaluable article, and we sincerely believe thousands of children have been saved from an early of children have been solidation of all the elements of opposition to it, is much more important to them, and to the welfare of the state, than the revival of a party organization which has been effete to all intents and purposes in nearly every southern state, for a number of years. Bourbonism in the south is bound to go; but the republican party there has neither the vitality nor the votes to drive it out. It will go through the co-operation of all men who believe that it is high time for the great south to "set her free to for the great south to "set her face to-. wards the morning." This independent movement in the south, as it gradually comes into the control of the several states, will become an immense factor in our national politics, and may prove the leaven that will leaven the whole lump. Its natural sympathies will be with the republican party in its national organization, not only because so large a proportion of its membership will be men who were original republicans, but because of the close alliance which the democratic party insists upon maintaining with the southern bour-bons. But there is not at present very satisfactory evidence that the republican party, by absorbing this southern independent movement, can regain its old ascendency in the south. The independent movement promises to be too big to be bos constrictorized. It may yet so far assert itself as to claim the

PREPARING FOR WORK.

It is said that the Republican congressional committee in Washington expect to raise $500,000 to be expended in the coming congressional elections, and that all federal office-holders, even to the pages in Congress, will be required to contribute the amounts assessed against them. That they are going to make a vigorous fight there is not the slightest doubt, and that they know the value of money in such contests there is no doubt either. But what becomes of all the nice chat about civil service reform while these enforced assessments are going on? What have the reformers in the Republican party to say about it? Why, they will just button their lips till after the election and then perhaps they will give us some more essays on this interesting topic, and the conventions that meet thereafter will fling in another plank or two on civil service, and in the meansteadily on.

MACHINE POLITCS.

On the 7th day of November 1880' four days after the defeat of Hancock, THE OBSERVER published the following editorial paragraph :

"Tuesday was a bad day for smashing political machines. It got badly "scattered in Mecklenburg, it gave up "the ghost in Cabarrus, it was shattered "in Lincoln and in Gaston counties," and then after an allusion to the New York and Philadelphia elections where the machine was badly battered it concluded: "Coming back home it nearly "lost us the State of North Carolina, with all that we had been struggling "for in the past ten years. We rise to "ask if parties will ever profit by the "experience of the past ?"

A New Street Railway Engine.

Some time ago an account was given of a compressed-air locomotive, the invention of Col. Beaumont, and the successful tests to which it had been put as a road engine, running from the government works at Woolwich, England, several miles into the country. The patent for the use of this new invention has been bought by parties in New York, and a locomotive built on the same principle, after being in service in England, is now in New York. where it is to be tested on the grade and elevated railways in that city. A brief test of its powers on a short line of railway was made on Thursday, and it is reported that it can be started and stopped with surprising quickness; that the mechanism is very simple, and that it is capable of a rate of speed that would out-distance locomotives run by

The mechanism consists of an ordinary portable steam engine, which drives the air-pumps, the consumption of coal being but fifty-two pounds on a four hours' trial.

The same principle is capable of being applied to large railway engines, and it is said at a great saving in the cost of fuel. For street railways the working cost is estimated at one-half the cost of horses.

A New Cure for Wounds.

As soon as a wound is inflicted, get a little stick-a knife or file handle will do-and commence to tap gently on the wound. Do not stop for the hurt, but continue until it bleeds freely and becomes perfectly numb. When this point is reached you are perfectly safe-all that is necessary is to protect it from dirt. Do not stop short of bleeding and numbness, and do not on any account close the opening with plaster. Nothing more than a simple cereate on a clean cloth is necessary.

We have used and seen this used on all kinds of simple punctures for years, and never knew a single instance of a wound becoming inflamed or sore after this treatment. Among other cases: a coal rake tooth going entirely through the foot, a rusty darning needle through the foot, a bad bite by a sucking pig, several instances of file shanks throuh the hand, nails, awls, &c., but we never knew a failure of this treatment.

STOPPING THE GAPS IN THE PRESIDENTIAL SUCCESSION.

Under a Suspension of the Rules the House Runs Through a Number of Important Measures, Including the $100,000,000 Pension Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 19 .- SENATE,-Mr. George introduced a bill appropriating one hundred thousand dollars for public building at Vicksburg, Miss. Hoar, from the judiciary committee, to the committee on commerce, and Kellogg, of that committee, gave notice of proposed amendments to the bill as follows: Striking out the provision for the Mississippi River and providing a direct appropriation of $5,000,000 for improvement of the river, the money to be expended by the secretary of war in accordance with plans and under direction of the river commission; also inserting $100,000 for improvement of the harbor of New Orleans; $20,000 for a lock at the mouth of Bayou Plaquemine; $10,000 for improvement of Catleaseu River, and $10,000 for Bayou Terrebonne. The amendments went to the commerce committee. Garland moved a reconsideration of the vote by which the House bill relating to distilled spirits in bonded warehouses was indefinitely postponed.

Garland explained that his intention was not to secure action at this session but to have the bill recommitted with a view to a report upon it by the committee at the next session. An entry was made of a motion to reconsider, but no action upon it was taken. Hale, Ransom and Cockrell were appointed conferees on the military academy appropriation bill. The House bill to extend charters of national banks came up at 2:15 as unfinished business, and occupied the re-mainder of the day's session, the bill going over without final action until to-morrow, Allison giving notice that he would then ask the members to sit Adjourned. House.-The following bill was in-
