FATHER AND SON. It is said in Pennsylvania that old man Simon Cameron owes his success as a leader to the fact that he always first ascertained what the people desired done and then had it done. Yes; but old man Cameron is not the leader now. He is almost in his dotage, and many years ago let fall his mantle on his son Don. The latter has since presumed to be dictator. He is pompous, proud, overbearing, selfish and not popular among the masses as his father Envious office seekers are still after the marshalship now held by Col. R. M. Douglas. They have been after it for was. The Legislature of Pennsylvania elected Don to the Senate to gratify the old patriarchal leader of the Republican party of the Keystone State, whose name is yet dear to thousands whom he had in by-gone days befriended; for whatever may be said of Simon Cameron he was ever the friend of the work. ingman and the oppressed, and is today remembered by men of both parties for his generous deeds to common hu-

As a politician he is a driver rather than a leader. He knows not the nature of men as does his father. The latter endeavored to teach-but Don either could not understand or would not appreciate the senior Cameron's advice. Since his elevation to the Senate the younger (Simeron has played the role of "boss" twice and been defeated. His first defeat was in the Cincinnati Republican convention of 1876, , when Hayes was nominated for President; the second in the Chicago convention when the "stalwart" crowd, led by Cameron and Conkling, were routed, and third term-ism was given a black eye. And Don will be again defeated this fall.

A LADY SAID "Those Horrid Pimples! No, I Cannot Go. Please Present My Excuses."

Probably two thirds of the ladies in society and nomes of our land are afflicted with skin diseases of various kinds, to do sway with which, if it could be done without injury, would be the happiest event of their lives. Then she would have instead of a disfigured and marred countenance, one that would be handsome, or at least good-looking, for any one with a clear, pure skin, no matter what the cut of her features are, has a certain amount of good looks which attract everybody. As it is now, she imagines every one sees and talks about "those freckles," "those horrid pimples," and other blemishes with which she is afflicted, and this is true of either sex.

To implove this appearance great risks are taken; arsenic, mercury, or high-sound titled named articles containing these death-dealing drugs, are taken in hopes of getting rid of all these troubles. In many cases, death is the result. No alleviation, of the burning, heating, itching and inflammation ഹ is given. All troubled with Eczema (salt rheum), Tetters, Humors, Inflammation, Rough Scaly
