Living with a Broken Neck. The case of George Smith, aged 21, of New York, who died on July 10 in the Brooklyn City Hospital from the effects of injuries received at Brighton Beach on July 9 by diving into shallow water, has excited much interest among physicians because of the length of time the patient lived after having received a broken neck. Smith, who had been drinking, was in a reckless mood when he entered the water, and, although his comrades tried to dissuade him, he climbed up a post about fourteen feet high and dived into water which was less than two feet deep. His head struck the sand, and his neck was brothat had occurred at the island in the past two years by reckless diving. He was paralyzed below the neck, and had to be carried in a blanket to the cars. He was removed to the hospital in an scarcely wink his eye, and he spoke with difficulty. His neck was much swollen, and he could not take food except in liquid form, and then only from ten to forty drops at a time. He com-plained only of a queer feeling in his head, and was entirely conscious. He lived about twenty-eight hours, and died an easy death. At an autopsy which was held it was discovered that the three top vertebræ were badly fractured, and that the spinal chord had been caught between the jagged ends of bone and sawed down to a mere shred. The bones had received a comminuted fracture, and several pieces came out in the process of dissection.

The Khedive's Proclamation.

The following is the text of the Khedive's proclamation: Arabi Pasha: In consequence of your departure to Kafr-el-Dwar, accom-panied by the army, thus abandoning Alexandria without orders, stopping railway traffic, preventing us from receiving telegrams and communications; through the post, and impeding the re-turn of refugees to their homes in Alex-andria, and of your persistence in war preparations and your refusal to come to us after receiving orders, I dismiss you from the office of minister of war. The Khedive issued the following circular to the army: 'On perusing the order for the dismissal of Arabi Pasha from the office of minister of war you will know the great motives which necessitated his dismissal. Henceforward he will have no authority over you. Whoseever agrees with his designs and movements will have participated in his crimes. Whosoever shows obedience and conforms to our rule will deserve honor, courtesy and good remuneration. You must be aware that the country is surrounded with dangers and perils, for the powers have agreed on Turkish intervention for the reform of the country, without damaging the privileges of the firmans granted to Egypt. I am convinced that you will conform yourselves to my orders, which cannot have any object other than the welfare of the country. He who obeys my orders will be re-warded; he who does not will have to blame himself on being punished.

How a Carpenter, Grew Wealthy by Following His Own Rnles.

Living Age. 109 It is a rule that a workman must follow his employer's orders, but no one The straightout republican central committee of Virginia will meet in Richmond, August 25th, and will neet in the village after a carpenter, and a sturdy young fellow appeared with the village after a carpenter.

"I want this fence mended to keep out the cattle. There are some unplan-ed boards—use them. It is out of sight from the house, so you need not take time to make it a neat job. I will only pay you a dollar and a half."

The Judge then went to dinner, and coming out found the man carefully planing each board. Supposing that he was training to bring a pastly job of it. was trying to make a costly job of it, he ordered him to nail them on at once just as they were, and continued his walk. When he returned the boards were all planed and numbered, ready for nailing.
"I told you this fence was to be covered with vines," he said angrily. "I do not care how it looks."

"I do," said the carpenter, gruffly, carefully measuring his word. When it was finished there was no part of the fence as thorough in finish.

"How much do you charge?" asked the Judge. "A dellar and a half," said the man, shouldering his tools.

The Judge stared. "Why do you spend all that labor on the job, if not for mon-

"For the job, sir."
"Nobody would have seen the poor work on it." "But I should have known it was there. No; I'll take only a dollar and a half." and he took it and went away. Ten years afterward the Judge had the contract to give for the building of several magnificent public buildings. There were many applicants among master builders, but the face of one caught his eye. "It was my man of the fence," he said. "I know we should have only good, genuine work from him. I gave him the contract, and it made a rich man of him."

It is a pity that boys were not taught in their earliest years that the highest success belongs only to the man, be he a carpenter, farmer, author or artist, whose work is most sincerely and thoroughly done.

[From Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper.] A LADY SAID

Those Horrid Pimples! No. I Cannot Go. Please Present My Excuses."

Probably two thirds of the ladies in society and iomes of our land are afflicted with skin diseases of various kinds, to do away with which, if it could be done without injury, would be the happlest event of their lives. Then she would have in-tead of a disfigured and married countenance one that would be handsome, or at lea | good looking, for any one with a clear, pure skin, no matter that the cut of her f-atures are, has a certain amount of good looks which attract everybody. As it is now, she imagines every one sees and talks about "those freckles," "those horrid pimples," and other blemishes with which she is afflicted, and this is true of either sex.

To improve this appearance great risks are taken; arsenic, mercury, or high sound titled named articles containing these death-dealing drugs, are taken in hopes of getting rid of all these troubles In many cases, death is the result. No alleviation of the burning, heating, itching and inflammation is given. All troubled with Eczema (salt rheum), Tetters, Humors, Inflammation, Rough Scaly Eruptions of any kind, Diseases of the Hair and Scalp, Scrofula, Ulcers, Pimples or Tender Itchings on any part of the body, should known that there is hope for them in a sure, perfect and elegant remedy, known as "Dr. C.
