It is well known to physicians, and alas! too well known to suffering women themselves, that they are subject to numerous diseases peculiar to their sex, such as suppression of the Menses, painful and scanty Menstruation, Congestion, Ulceration and Falling of the Womb, attended with an endless train of sympathetic and constitutional disorders, which embitters the whole life, and which have long been considered as almost incurable. But at last the remedy has been found in

The Death-Rate.

Unexpected facts often come to light in the last place where one would expect to find them—namely, in the Congressional Record. In a speech on the admission of Washington Territory into the Union as a State delivered in Congress recently by the Hon. Thomas H. Brents, of that Territory, we find a table giving the death-rate per thousand in each of the United States as well as in the country at large, and also the death-rate per thousand in many European countries. Of course, Washington Territory has a low death-rate, or this table would not have appeared in Mr. Brent's speech, It is 10.05. The average in the whole United States is 15.09. The death-rate in Virginia is the Jeannette expedition left Tomsk 16.32. In West Virginia it is 11.99. In Tuesday for St. Petersburg, en route for Florida, 11.72. In Minnesota, 11.57. In 16.32. In West Virginia it is 11.99. In Oregon, 1067. In Mississippi, 1289. Who would have supposed Mississippi and Florida to be more healthful than Virginia? But the reader may prefer to see the entire table. Here it is:

Corn Canning in Maine. There are over sixty corn-canning establishments in the State of Maine, and the number of cans of corn annually put up is nearly 12,000,000. The farmers are paid about three cents per can for the corn, the tin and solder costs about three cents, and the remaining four or five cents goes to the manufacturer for putting up and marketing. The cans hold about twenty-six ounces of corn, and farmers are able to grow from 1,000 to 3,000 cans per acre, the average being not far from 1,500 cans, of a cash value of $45. There are several factories in Medway and Franklin, Mass., and others durther south, but Maine puts up about one-third the corn canned in this country. The Medway canners are showing true business enployment through a greater portion of the year. They Come High, But-- Sometimes it is not judicious to be too particular in locating local occurrences, so we will merely say that the following conversation was heard in a certain store in Oil City: A young lady was looking at some hosiery, and asked the blushing young "How do you sell these?" at the same time holding up a pair of zebra-colored

"Those are worth $5 a pair," he an-"Oh, my!" twittered the giddy creature; "they come pretty high, don't "Y-y-yes," stammered the bashful youth; "th-th-they come pretty high, bu-bu-but you're tall, you know."

Wonderful Corn.

Here is an item for our country readers. There is in this city, at the corner of Third and Princess streets, a beautiful garden spot, part of which has been planted with corn. This corn is now about to mature, and some of the stalks have five, some six, and some seven ears, and on one stalk we counted as many as eight well-developed and well grown ears. It is an unusually fine piece of corn that will average two ears to the stalk.

A LUCKY LOTTERY TICKET.

It Wins $15,000 for its Owner, Mr. Wm. W. Irwin, of this City. As a general rule, men who draw prizes in a lottery are few and far between, but this city has been singularly fortunate in that respect, as several citizens have of late gotten small fortunes in that way. The last fortunate one is Mr. Wm. W. Irwin, a clerk in the general freight office of the L. and N. Railroad, at Second and Main. Mr. Irwin yesterday, while working at his desk in the office, received an official-looking document bearing the New Orleans post-mark, and upon opening it he discovered, to his great surprise and joy, that it was an official notification that he had drawn one-fifth of the capital prize of $75,000 in the Louisiana State Lottery, amounting to $15,000. The lucky ticket was No. 83,075; and was purchased by Mr. Irwin several days ago, and put carelessly aside as being of but little value. Some time before the drawing previous to this one Mr. Irwin purchased the first lottery ticket he ever had anything to do with, and it was very nearly the number which drew the capital prize. He then thought as he had come so near it, he would try again, and this time purchased one-fifth of the ticket which produced such golden results. Mr. Irwin is a middle-aged man, and has a small family. He has been connected with the freight office of the L. and N. for several years, and has been a faithful worker, and has many friends both in the office and out of it who are profuse in their congratulations.-Louisville Courier Journal, July 14th.
