POLITICS IN THE SOUTH.

We clip the following editorial from the Savannah News of Friday, and commend it for the good hard sense that runs through it from beginning to end. What the South wants is the development of her material resources. the building up of industrial enterprises. the accumulation of wealth, and with them will come political power, in time. Read what the News says and ponder over it:

"It is one of the most favorable signs of the times that the Southern people are devoting themselves with assiduity to the cultivation of their farms, and to the advancement of their material interests, to the neglect of politics. This is in the highest degree sensible. Experience has time and again shown that the people of the North care nothing about the South except so far as she can be used towards keeping in power one or the other of the two great political parties of the country. "The Republicans openly confess this and prove it daily by their falsehoods about this section, and their cool indif-ference to our welfare. The Democracy profess friendship for us, and we are bound to admit, do show a desire, as a general rule, to guard and protect our interests in common with the interests of every other section of the Union, and this is the reason in main why the South is Democratic. Still at the last Presidential election it was due solely to the course of so-called Democrats of New York-Boss Kelly, of New York city, and Boss McLaughlin, of Brooklyn-that the country was again turned over for another four years to the ten der mercies of Radicalism, regardless of the well known fact that our section is the special object of the hatred and malignity of the Radical party. Most emphatically on that occasion was the South sorely wounded in the house of her friends. "It is evident, therefore, that while the South remains in poverty as compared with the North-to which the war was a blessing as great as it was a most serious disaster to the Southshe can hope for nothing in the political world beyond being a hewer of wood and drawer of water. In cases where her interests happen to be identical with those of the North, such as the improvement of the Mississippi river, for instance, she will receive some consideration. "Whenever the North, though, can derive no benefit from any measure in which the South is interested, it may be accepted as a certainty that such measure will be treated with no respect. But let the South once accumulate wealth, let her people once more be-come prosperous, and all this will be The present session of Congress is the changed. Then, as in the days before the war, will our section command the homage of the wealth-worshipping country; and then, and then only, will she become truly independent, and her ancient political prestige be restored. an address to the Queen asking her to "We therefore heartily reiterate the advice we have already more than once given to the Southern people. Let them pay sufficient attention to national politics to enable them to understand the political status of affairs, for this is necessary for self-protection. Let them also keep up a lively interest in domestic affairs, so as to secure at all times good home rule, and the best men for the various offices of the State. But when this is done, all that is necessary is done, and politics should thereafter emphatically be relegated to the back-ground. An acre of land well tilled will be found of more real, practical and substantial benefit to the South than all the politics in the country can confer.

If the Southern people will heed our advice, and devote their time and attention to the advancement of their material welfare at the expense of politics, they will never regret it. That the South possesses within herself preeminently all the elements of wealth and prosperity, has been abundantly proven. Never in the history of the war, her social condition all changed, her labor system thrown into chaos and confusion, having been, after the conflict, despoiled and robbed by political vampires, who ardently desired to suck what little of life-blood was left her, and besides all this, having for years been subjected to flagrant injustice, grinding tyranny, base falsehood and cruel oppression, she has, nevertheless, within two decades, not only survived, but is now once more on the high road to wealth and happiness. No other section in the country could have recuperated or overcome such apparently insurmountable obstacles with anything like such rapidity. Let her people then make the future prosperity of their section the prime object of their thoughts and labors, and true independence, universal respect, political power and influence-in a word, all things desirable for her future glory-will be

"WHAT THEY DO AT THE SPRINGS."

A Water-Drinker from Drinksville. CATAWBA SPRINGS, July 29, 1882.

To the Editor of The Observer. Feeling satisfied that you are always anxious to hear "what they do at the springs," I desire to give you a description of the extensive calibre of our champion water-drinker, Mr. T. H. Davis, of Lancaster, S. C., not unknown to all your citizens. A clever, congenial gentleman. Immediately after his arrival here (accompanied by another gentleman from the same place) he directed his steps towards the springs, and upon his arrival there, after admiring the beautiful clear and voluminous marble bowl that holds the water, he concluded to taste it; which he did. After diligent search to find if any damage had been done, and finding that from some cause, his appetite had been improved, he at once attributed the that the lower was regarded as punishcause to the water he had taken just a little previous to his meal (which was supper.) Returning early as he did, after a fatigueing drive, he was about the first one to be seen next morning wending his way in the direction of the above described bowl. After arriving there he made a vigorous attack upon the water, only capturing (12) twelve dippers full before breakfast, said dipimpress the jury. So also will the fact, eights of a pint. Feeling no inconvenience from this quantity, when applied to by the polite waiter at the breakfast

"Tea, coffee or milk, sir?" "Neither; sulphur wear if you please, was his reply. After strolling a while through the lovely grounds (for truly they are lovely) he managed to store away before supper only (16) sixteen more dippersfull, and he was actually so much improved as to be noticeable to even our adv visitors. Not being a dancer he from the truth: "Manhattan, which the same earnestness that he has always been justly noted for. He immediately repaired to the aforesaid bowl. and before the dance was ended he had captured seven more dippers-full, making in all that day (35) thirty-five. This is his own report and it is unnecessary to remark that he is a gentleman of veracity, as he is known to be a Christian. Some of us (his old friends) feeling some anxiety as to the result of this | to complete the work of the old one and wonderful feat, kept careful watch over him, lest something might happen to him, but we beheld instead of an ac> cident, the next morning, a more vigor ous attack was made upon this beautiful bowl, and before the second bell (which calls us to breakfast) had been rung, he had captured (10) ten more dippers-full. Having started with his friend for a more mountainous region, he was forced to leave so as to complete his trip, and arrive home at his appointed time; but before leaving, however, after telling us good-bye, he made another and last attack upon the said, and aforesaid bowl, capturing an unknown quantity to us this time. The last seen of him he was leaving in his buggy, looking back at this grand old fountain of health, and I presume if he had had the same admonition that Lot's wife had the result would have been the same. Our kind and good wishes go out with him and his friend for a pleasant and happy time, This is simply an evidence of the virtue of this glorious old spring. This health-giving fountain, for which we all must be so thankful to a merciful God. We have a delightfully sociable crowd, who seem to be on the go all the time. We have representatives from Virginia, Florida, South Carolina and North Carolina, and I can truly say that "we dwell together in unity." It would require too much of your valuable space to commence to particularize or make comparisons, but being a North Carolinian, I cannot but remark that after looking around at our crowd of the venerable gentlemen who are with us, that our representative (for verily his is a true one) is the pride of us all. He is the quintessence of dignity and intelligence; jovial, and whose physique is of a manly statue. I allude to Mr. Edwin M. Holt, of Alamance. Trusting I have not indulged my vanity too much, I remain, yours,

WORK IN CONGRESS.

THE SENATE PASSES THE NAVAL APPROPRIATION BILL.

The House Passes a Number of Bills of Little Public Interest, and Takes a Recess Before Tackling Pension Bills.

WASHINGTON, July 31—SENATE.— Hoar reported with an amendment from the judiciary committee the Senate bill to prevent and punish counter-feiting within the United States of notes, bonds and other securities of foreign governments. The committee adds a section punishing with not more than a $3,000 fine. and one year's imprisonment at hard

The pending amendment offered by Plumb was intended to require the contractor or builder of a ship to discharge the obligation of the use of the patent, and leave the government to settle the indefinite obligation. It was agreed to. Butler moved to amend it so as to require the Secretary of the Navy instead of selling condemned vessels to report

The commission is to state the value of each of the yards, with reference to the machinery on hand, depths of water, present working condition, advantages and disadvantages as a naval station, value for defensive purposes, etc. Agreed to nays 24. The Republicans voting aye were, Anthony, Blair, Cameron, of Penna., Conger and Lapham, Morrill and Van Wyck. The Democrats voting no were Beck and Slater. At 3 o'clock Morgan made an ineffectual effort to obtain a formal extension of time for debate on the offering of and acting upon amendments. He then proceeded with brief explanations of their purpose. Plumb moved to insert a proviso repealing all laws providing for the promotion and increase of pay on the retired list. Agreed to.

A number of proposed amendments were ruled out upon a question of order. The bill was reported to the Senate and all amendments made in the committee of whole were concurred in except one offered by Beck, reducing the appropriation for finishing the Mianantomah and other iron clads, from $1, 000,000 to $400,000 and stopping further proceedings under contracts of March 3d. 1877. Upon this a separate vote upon concurrence which was demanded resulted, yeas 32, nays 23. So the amendment was retained in the bill. All the votes in the negative were given by Republicans. Cameron, of Wisconsin, Ingalls, Sherman and Van Wyck, with Davis, of Il linois, voted ave with the Democrats. Kellogg and Sewell were paired with Lamar and McPherson respectively. Bayard moved to strike out of the item giving the Secretary of the Navy the discretion to place officers when not at sea or on furlough, as well as on leave of absence or waiting orders, the part relating to furlough pay. He said that in other grades an officer received two-thirds, but when on furlough only one-half pay, and that this was an arbitrary discretion which had sometimes been abused. He instanced a case within his knowledge in which an officer had been cut down to half-pay for having given testimony that a secretary did not like. Hale maintained the necessity for discriminating in grades and denied

The House then proceeded to consider the bills on the Speaker's table, and a number of bills were passed, none of which were of public interest. The committee on appropriations reported a joint resolution appropriating $60,000 to supply the deficiency in the appropriation for fees of the United

FIRED- BY FRICTION.

Great Flour Mills Destroyed. New York, July 31.—The great flour mill of Hecker Bros., extending from Cherry to Water streets, on Pike street, was totally burned to-day, along with several neighboring buildings, the principal one of which was the spice mill of Sauger, Beers & Fisher, and a number of tenements on Cherry street. Heck-er's loss is between four hundred and six hundred thousand dollars. Insurance five hundred thousand-well distributed. Sauger, Beers & Fisher's loss is stated at one hundred thousand dollars. Other losses will bring the aggregate to nearly a million. The fire originated in the ninth story of Hecker's mill, which was ten stories high, and was caused by friction among the machinery for cleaning wheat. About 500 men were employed in the mill, all of whom escaped, although some were driven to the fire escapes on the outside of the building. One fireman had a leg broken and several were pros-trated by heat. The heat was so in-Bock Island.
