PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER never fails to afford sustant relief for cramp and pain in the stomach.

MICHICANTILLE, N. Y., Feb. 2, 1881.

The very best medicine I know of for dysentery, cholers morbus, and cramps in the stomach. Have used it for years, and it is sure cure every time.

MOINGONA, IOWA, March 12, 1881.

I have used four PAIN KILLER in severe cases of cramp, colic, and cholers morbus, and it gave almost instant relief.

Carnesville, Ga., Feb. 28, 1881.

For twenty years I have used it many times for bowd complaints, and it always gurse. Would not feel safe without a bottle in the house.

Have used Perry Davis' Pain Killer for twelve years. It is sere, sure, and reliable. No mother should allow it to be out of the family.

We began using it over thirty years ago, and it always styes immediate relief. Would hardly diare to go to bed without a bottle in the house.

CREFFILD, RHENISH PRUSSIA, Feb. 8, 1881.

I have known Perry Davis' PAIN KILLER almost from the day it was introduced, and after years of observation and use I regard its presence in my household as an indispensable necessity.

The South Carolina Nominees.

The following sketches of the Democratic nominees for State offices in South Carolina we clip from the Charleston News and Courier:

The MOMINEE FOR GOVERNOR.

The Hon. Hugh S. Thompson is a native of Greenville county, and is 48 years of age. He is a grandson of Chancellor Waddy Thompson, who for about twenty five years was one of the judges of the Court of Equity of South Carolina, and a nephew of Gen. Waddy Thompson, who was for a long time member of Congress from South Carolina and afterwards minister to Mexico during the administration of President Harrison. Col. Thompson was graduated at the military academy of this State at the close of 1856. A year after his graduation he was elected by the board of visitors assistant professor in the Arsenal Academy at Columbia, and rose by regular promotion to the rank THE NOMINEE FOR GOVERNOR. the Arsenal Academy at Columbia and rose by regular promotion to the rank of captain, having filled the professorships of French and belle-lettres. During most of the war he was stationed in Charleston, and did duty with the corps of cadets in defence of the city and at different points in the State. The cadets under his command regarded him with great affection and confidence, both as a professor and as an officer in the field. After the war he was elected principal of the Columbia Male Academy, and taking charge of that institution when it was in a very low condition, he raised it to the front rank condition, he raised it to the front rank of classical schools in the State. In the Democratic convention of 1876 he was unanimously nominated for State superintendent of education, though not a candidate for office, and he did not even know that his name had been thought of for the position. He was unanimously renominated in 1878 and again unanimously in 1880, and would certainly have been renominated with-entiopposition for a fourth term by this donyention, but he withdrew at the re-injust of leading members of the board of trustees of the South Carolina Uni-versity, who expressed their preference for him as president of the University to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of President Miles. Had be not been numinated by the convention for Covernor he would certainly have been elected president at the meeting of the board of trustees in August. He took charge of the public school system of the State when it was in great confusion and heavily in debt. Under his administration great reforms have administration great reforms have been instituted, and the public school-system of South Carolina is now rapidly reaching a high state of efficiency. When the military of Columbia was reorganized in 1874 he was president of the first rifle club, and it was under his command that the Governor's Guard attained such efficiency as to be acknowledged by army officers to be equal to any corps in the army.

He not only did not seek the nomination for Governor, but it was wellknown that he did not desire it, and this fact was stated on the floor of the convention after he was nominated. Colonel Thompson is a good public speaker, and his name will be a tower of strength to the ticket. THE NOMINEE FOR LIEUTENANT GOV-ERNOR.

John Calhoun Sheppard was born in Edgefield county, July 5th, 1853. He was educated at the Furman University in Greenville, and subsequently read law in the office of Butler & Youmans, at Edgefield. Although young in years he soon acquired a lucrative practice. He was a delegate from Edgefield to the State Democratic convention of May, 1876, and was sent by that convention to the National Demo-cratic convention which met in St. Louis that year. In 1876 he was elected to the legislature from Edgefield county, and upon the organization of the Wallace House was made chairman of the ways and means committee. He was re-elected to the legislature in 1878 and was unanimously elected speaker of the house. He was re-elected in 1880, and again re-elected speaker of the house.

THE NOMINEE FOR ATTORNEY-GEN-ERAL.

Charles Richardson Miles was born in St. Matthew's Parish, Orangeburg county, in 1829, and received his early education in the city of Charleston. Graduating from the College of Charleston in 1849, he entered the office of Hon. I. W. Hayne, then attorney-general of the State, and began the study of law, and was admitted to pracstudy of law, and was admitted to prac-tice in the State courts in the spring of 1851. Upon his admission to the har, Mr. Hayne made him his deputy to rep-resent the State in the city court, and in 1854 took him into partnership. Mr. Miles had large experience in the crim-inel prosecutions of the First judicial circuit. In 1862 Mr. Miles received the appointment of assistant Confederate States district attorney. After the war in 1865, Mr. Miles resumed the practice of his profession in this city, and in 1869 he formed a copartnership with Hon. H. D. Lesense. Since the close of the war Mr. Miles has been actively identified with all the movements to secure good government for his State and controlly in the state of the cool of the cool of the cool of the war Mr. Miles has been actively identified with all the movements to secure good government for his State and cure good government for his State and city. In the Pillsbury-Lesense contest he was prominent in unmasking the rascality of the commissioners of elec-tion. Again, in 1873, when the infa-mous board of commissioners of election and their tools had, by the most dagrant rascality, defrauded Gen Wagener, the conservative candidate, out of control of the process of the selection as mayor of Charleston; Mr. Miles was selected to conduct the protest and contest in behalf of Gen. Wagener and his board. Mr. Miles also took a prominent part in the Tax Unit was made a part of the present state Constitution of 1871 and 1874. spring. THE NOMINEE FOR SECRETARY OF STATE.

James N. Lipscomb was born in Edgefield, S. C. He was graduated from the South Carolina College. He mar-ried the eldest daughter of Governor F. W. Pickens. He settled in Newber ry county as a planter near Chappell's Depot. In 1860 he was elected to the Legislature. In 1861 he was on the staff of Governor Bonham at the battle of Manassas. In 1862 he went upon the staff of Gen. M. C. Butler as quantermaster, but in 1863 was made adjutant general of a division of cavalry, it which position he served until the close of the war. In 1873 h. 1873 h. of the war. In 1872 he became connect ed with the taxpayers' movement. Il 1876 he was elected to the Senate from Newberry and secured his position in December, 1877, serving until 1880. H was appointed auditor in 1880 and serve ed that year acceptably to the people of his country. About 1874 he became master of the State Grange, which pesition he has held continuously to this

THE NOMINEE FOR COMPTROLLER-GEN-ERAL.

William E. Stoney was born in the city of Charleston in 1839. He was educated in the private schools of Charleston and in 1856 entered the fourth class of the South Carolina Military Academy at Columbia and commanded company B of the cadet corps in his first class year. He graduated in April, 1860. In December, 1860, he went into the State service as lieutenant in the Moultrie Guards, 1st Rifle Regiment, and remained with this command until after the fall of Fort Sumter. Then, having been appointed a lieutenant in the regular Confederate army, he was ordered to Wilmington, N. C., as a driff master; soon after was sent to Richmond, Va., and attached for a time to the staff of Gen. W. S. Winder, then transferred to the staff of Gen. M. L. Bonham, in the field at Vienna. Upon the resignation of Gen. Bonham in November, 1801, he was transferred to vember, 1801, he was transferred to South Carolina on general staff duty, and made adjutant general of the forces on James Island, then under command of Col. C. H. Stevens. In May, 1863, he was promoted to captain. He was an Morris Island at the time of the attack, on the 16th of July, and remained in Wagner, on the staff of Gen. Taliaferro, until the assault of the 18th in which until the assault of the 18th, in which he was severely wounded. Reported for duty in September, and made inspec-tor-general of Hagood's Brigade, then just organized. At the battle of Port Walthal, near Petersburg, was shot through the lung and incapacitated for service for a few months, but rejoined his command in time to participate in the Fort Fisher campaign in December, 1864, and remained with the brigade through the rest of its career until it was surrendered at Greensboro, on April 26, 1865, and disbanded at Lan-caster courthouse, May, 1865. He then returned to Charleston and engaged in planting, but disgusted with the perse-cution of the Freedman's Bureau went West in 1868, and for three years was employed as an engineer in the States of Nevada, Missouri and in the Indian Territory. In the fall of 1871 he returned to South Carolina and again engaged in planting that below for gaged in planting but being effered a position in the office of his old commander, Gen. Col. Richardson was graduated from the South Carolina College in 1849, with distinction. He then engaged in planting in Charendon county. He was chosen a member of the Legislature in 1856 and served until 1862 when he joined the army, serving upon the staff of Gen. Cantey in the West until the war ended. Since the war he has represented Clarendon county faithfully through all the dark and troublous days of Reconstruction. He was returned of Reconstruction. He was returned to the Legislature in 1878, and in 1880 was elected State Treasurer.
