Up to the present time this year over 400,000 pounds of fruit have been shipped from Greensboro.

It is said that Ben Butler is laying the wires to secure the Democratic nomination for Governor of Massachusetts.

It is said that the Philadelphia land leagues are sending money to Arabi Pasha to help him in his fight with the British.

Prominent distillers say that less whiskey is drunk in this country than formerly, beer taking the place of it as a beverage.

Hon. A. M. Scales was re-nominated by acclamation for Congress Wednesday, by the Congressional convention at Greensboro.

Speaker Keifer thanked Congress for courtesy, support, &c., in the discharge of his duties, but no one said anything about thanks to Keifer. This was a cruel oversight by his party friends.

Alaska remains with no Territorial government and with really no civil government at all. The two bills providing for government failed of passage, and chaos must reign in the big Territory until the next session of Congress.

Mr. Kelly, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the House committee on Ways and Means, thinks that the revenue this year will amount to $400,000,000, and and that there will be a surplus of $160,000,000.

Mr. John Bright argues that all the wars in which England has been engaged since the time of William the Third might have been avoided on principles which do not require the absolute condemnation of war.

While Samuel Hutchinson, of Chicago, was slating a roof he slipped off and fell seventy-two feet to the sidewalk Spectators were surprised to see him get up and walk into a contiguous drug store, whence he issued orders for a bottle of arnica and a hack to take him home.

Here is an item from the Philadelphia Record which will interest the denizens of Morehead City: "In Morehead City, N. C., there is not a wagon nor horse to be found. Most of the business of the town is done in boats. Funeral processions are composed exclusively of boats, and all doctors' calls are made in the same manner.

General G K Warner is dead of a broken heart, consequent upon his failure to secure relief from the odium of his removal by General Sheridan at Five Forks, in the very face of the enemy. The soldiers of the Fifth Army corps, at least, will always believe that this accomplished soldier was cruelly wronged by Sheridan.

Thus far four of the present Democratic representatives in Congress from this State have been renominated, Cox, Vance, Latham and Scales. Col Wharton J Green, of the 3rd district, carried away the prize from Shackleford, the present member. In the 2d district O'Hara, colored Republican, claims the nomination over Hubbs, who also claims it, and both insist on running.

THOSE SPECIAL TAX BONDS.

It will be remembered that the Legislature of 1868 and '69 passed bills appropriating about $20,000,000 ostensibly for various railroads, but which were really stolen from the State by Littlefield & Co. These bonds are known as the special tax bonds, and they have never been recognized as the legitimate debt of the State. They have been treated with contempt by every Legislature which has assembled in the State since 1870, and were not considered in the recent scaling and settlement of the State debt. In 1875 the constitutional convention submitted an amendment to the people of the State forever repudiating these bonds, which was ratified by the voters of the State by an overwhelming majority, thus forever settling the question so far as we are concerned.

There has never been any legal machinery by which a State could be required to pay a debt which she voluntarily repudiated, as North Carolina has done in regard to these bonds, and its injection into the present campaign by incorporating the subject into the Democratic State platform has been done for mere party effect. All that can be done now is to defend the matter in the courts, and any individual who thinks otherwise is a fit subject for Dr. Grissom's institution at Raleigh.

The First Confederate Killed.

Savannah News.

A gentleman in this city, who has personal knowledge of the matter, tells us that the first Confederate soldier who lost his life during the war was a man named Weeks, a member of Capt. Merriwether's company, from Edgefield S. C. Weeks was killed on the 8th day of January, 1861, the day the Star of the West was fired upon, by falling through a trap door in the Charleston arsenal. George Delaughter, another member of Capt. Merriwether's company, was killed by falling from the top of a car while going from Charleston to Hamburg, in April, 1861. Weeks was undoubtedly the first Confederate killed.

MACHINE DOMINATION.

Of late years the machine has become almost omnipotent in American politics, so much so that a handful of men can control States and say who shall and who shall not fill political positions. These men are the bosses who put their heads together, write up the slates, and fix the wires for the control of the conventions where nominations are made, and where, as a rule, good care is taken that parties in sympathy with the bosses receive the majority of votes. They have their co-workers in every county and district, and make their power felt throughout the length and breadth of the State. They confine not their operations to the narrow boundaries of a State but reach out and control the nation through the grand central ring of which they are part and parcel. Conventions national, State, district and county, are but their mouth-pieces, which echo their resolves and register their decrees, and pronounce in favor of the candidates selected in advance and placed on the slate by them. It sometimes happens, though rarely, that they meet with a set-back, through some unexpected turn of events, or some unanticipated uprising of the people who demand to be heard, and insist on breaking the slate. We say this sometimes happens, but not often, for the reason that they plan cunningly and work systematically.

Less, perhaps, than a dozen of men arrange the preliminaries, set the wires, that control conventions, and say who shall be the candidates for the Presidency of the United States. These things are managed with deliberation, with skill, and the people are told that the so-called convention has happily voiced the popular will, when in fact it has simply registered the decree of the shrewd manipulators who sit behind the curtain and say what is to be done. And so in the States, where the machine managers cut and dry the business and then go through the formality of having their work adopted by a convention. Conventions may sometimes give expression to the popular will when particular emergences present themselves and the people become aroused, but as a rule the people stay in the background and the machine runners occupy the front seats.

The people are beginning to get tired of it, are growing restive under this machine domination, and in some States are in open revolt against it. In Pennsylvania, where the Camerons have ruled the Republican party for years with despotic sway, the revolt has assumed such proportions as to threaten to wrest the State from the imperious bosses, while the Democracy of New York, tired of Tammany dictation, has surrendered the State rather than be driven by John Kelly and his associates, and in several of the Western States which have been under Republican rule the lines are broken, and the bosses are in trouble. In Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, North Carolina and Virginia, the anti-machine voter is making his presence felt, while in South Carolina they went into the convention, had a clean deal and smashed the slate all to pieces.

The day when men can be driven to the support of any set of candidates and any set of principles which a few self-seeking political managers may see fit to name and proclaim is passing away, North and South. The managers are making a desperate fight against it, and will make a desperate fight against it, for they have everything at stake. It means the loss of power, patronage and pelf to them, and they will fight hard before they will surrender these. But when it becomes a contest between the people and the machine the machine will soon become a played-out concern and they who run it played-out individuals. They may bluster and bully, misrepresent and slander, turn their dogs loose to bark and howl for them, but all that won't save them from the fate that awaits those who fancy they can continue forever to drive the masses of people, as drovers drive cattle. That day is passing away and the sooner the better for the people of these boss-ruled States.

AS OTHERS VIEW IT.

We clip the following article from the Winston Republican, for the consideration of the proscriptionists who would drive everybody else into their way of thinking. As far as THE OBSERVER is concerned it is perfectly indifferent as to what mode of warfare such people may see fit to choose, and shall pursue the even tenor of its way perfectly careless as to whether they approve or disapprove of its course on any one or any number of questions:

Two weeks ago the Charlotte OBSERVER, according to Capt. Ashe, had become an "assistant Republican paper," and the captain was threatening its editor with the establishment of an opposition daily, advising Democrats to withdraw their patronage and support. That this advice was heeded there can be no doubt as Col. Jones has himself since announced that parties have been in Charlotte arranging for the establishment of another Democratic daily paper.

Now the consideration that gave us comfort and encouragement in this matter was not so much the particular views of Col. Clark or colonel anybody else, or the position of the Charlotte OBSERVER, the Newbern Journal or any other journal, as that they represent popular sentiment. The people, in North Carolina, is the power behind the throne. The point we made was that the position of prominent politicians—Democrats—and the position of influential Democratic journals indicate "a wide spread dissatisfaction among the rank and file of the Democratic party." We are constrained to believe Capt. Ashe "apprehends" the truth of this more fully than he is at liberty to admit.

Col. Jones and his paper were all right until he announced himself an Independent Democrat. At least, he was clever enough to be permitted, by honest labor, to earn a living for himself and family.

But so soon as he announced his beliefs and line of policy in regard to certain political issues, as opposed to the policy of the Democratic party—he became an out-law. Not only worthy of political death but deserving to be physically perished—starved. Democrats withdraw your patronage! We will persecute him. He shall be a Democrat or retire. We will bankrupt him in business. And this in free, Republican North Carolina, one of the original thirteen and the 107th anniversary of American Independence! Now, we don't know of what sort of grit Col. Jones is made. He may succumb. We hope for the cause of manhood and journalism he will not. We can tell him it costs a man something, even at this day, to oppose Democracy. We have been traveling that road for years—we went through the campaign of 1874. He has our sympathy. But we do rejoice and feel encouraged to believe the dark days of proscription for political opinions' sake are past. The people are tired of Democratic Bossism, many of whom will not vote for a man who has even the taint of it clinging to his political record and with its death dies also this base element.

AUGUST CROP REPORT.

Cotton, Wheat, Corn, &c.---A Satisfactory Condition.

WASHINGTON, August 10.—The August crop returns to the department of agriculture, the work of about six thousand correspondents, give estimates covering the entire producing area of over fifteen hundred of the principal agricultural counties of the United States, upon the condition of most of the crops now growing. The condition of cotton has improved during the past month. The general average has advanced from 92 to 94. This is higher by three points than in August, 1879, and lower by eight than in the August average of 1880. It is also two points lower than at this date in 1875, and one lower than in 1878, but is higher than in five other years since 1872. The average condition of each State is as follows:

Virginia 84, North Carolina 84, South Carolina 98, Georgia 94, Florida 87, Alabama 89, Mississippi 91, Louisiana 93, Texas 100, Arkansas 96, Tennessee 86.

Only North Carolina, Florida and Louisiana show a decline. Virginia has gained 4, Georgia 2, Alabama 6, Mississippi 4, Texas 3, Arkansas 6, Tennessee 8. South Carolina has the same average as in July.

There is no injury from drought except in a slight degree in a few districts in Texas. In the northern and eastern divisions of that State there has been an excess of rain, causing a too vigorous growth of stalk, delay in fruiting and some times shedding of bolls.

In the entire cotton belt there is a reported excess of moisture, injurious in proportion to the retentiveness of soil. This cause accounts for the comparative low condition in North Carolina, where it is now deemed too late for recuperation. Rust begins to appear in districts where the rains have been in excess, but without damage as yet.

The caterpillar has made its appearance in all the States of the Gulf coast and though no injury has resulted, many apprehensions of future loss are expressed. The boll worm is also mentioned in several States.

A large number of returns are re highly favorable, prophesying a crop as large as the land can produce, or better than for many years.

The wheat returns of August relate to the spring variety. Its condition is higher than for several years. It was 88 in 1880 and 81 in 1879 and 1881. It is now 97 against 100 last month. It is somewhat late but was nearly ready for the harvest at the date of the returns. There are some indications of rust and blight in a part of Minnesota. In northern Iowa the crop is held to be the best since 1879. The returns from Dakotah and Nebraska are extremely favorable. The general average of the principal States is as follows: Wisconsin, 99; Minnesota, 98; Iowa, 93; Dakotah, 99; Nebraska, 108; Colorado, 96

It is quite probable that the product of winter wheat and spring wheat, without loss by sprouting, will slightly exceed 500,000,000 bushels, but the extravagant estimates which assume 15 to 20 per cent more are wild assumptions, needlessly tending to reduce the price of wheat in the hands of farmers.

Special agent Moffatt, of the department of agriculture, cables from London to day that wheat in England promises an average crop of good quality. In France, a medium crop, slightly damaged by rain in the blooming period. In Germany the recent heavy rains have deteriorated the quality of a fairly abundant product. In Russia and Austria an average crop, and in Hungary 15 per cent above the average The European outlook is favorable for a medium product, with some reduction in quality. The condition of the corn crop is represented by eighty-three as against 77 last year. At this date in 1881 the effect of the drought was seen in the reduction of thirteen points in the general condition during July, followed by greater deterioration in August. At the present time circumstances are favorable for further improvement in most of the States. The averages of Southern States are nearly all above 100.

The surplus producing States average as follows: Ohio 77, Michigan 78, Indiana 78, Illinois 79, Iowa 70, Missouri 91, Kansas 106, Nebraska 98, New England ranges from 87 in Massachusetts to 96 in Connecticut, New York 85, Pennsylvania 90, New Jersey 93.

The general averages of the condition of other crops are as follows: Oats 102, spring rye 100, barley 95, buckwheat 97, potatoes 101, tobacco 87.

VIRGINIA MILITARY INSTITUTE
LEXINGTON, VIRGINIA.

THIS well known State Institution has been in successful operation since 1839, and having been reorganized by the act of March 3rd, 1882, with a new Board of Visitors, and the re-election of the old Faculty, is now prepared to supply, upon the best terms, the distinctive advantages of a general Scientific and Military School, upon the basis of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, and upon the same system so successfully pursued before the war.

The Faculty which once included GEN. STONEWALL JACKSON, GEN. B. E. RODES, and COM M. F. MAURY, now consists of the following superintendent and Professors:

Gen. FRANCIS H. SMITH, LL. D., Superintendent and Professor Math. and Moral Philosophy.
Gen. T. H. WILLIAMSON, Prof Practical Eng., etc.
Col. S. SHIP, Com Cadets and Prof. Tactics.
Col. J. M. BROOKE, Prof. Physics.
Col. M. R. HARDIN, Prof. General and Applied Chemistry, etc
Col. T. M. SEMMES, Prof Modern Languages, etc.
Col J. W. LYELL, Prof. Math. and Logic
Col J. H MORRISON, Adjunct Prof. Chemistry, etc.
Col. E. W. NICHOLS, Prof. Civil and Military Engineering and Astronomy

Under the direction of an efficient Finance Committee of the Board of Visitors, and with an enlarged annuity from the State, expenses of cadets are reduced to the lowest rates. Session opens SEPTEMBER 1st.

For information or appointment, address
Gen. F. H. SMITH, Superintendent.

Testimonials on Corn Mills and Mill Stones.

E. G. Thuring, Conway, Mass., writes—I set mill up next day from its receipt and it works to a charm. I think it is the best built mill I ever saw.

Adams & Co., Laurel, Del., write—The 48-inch stones we bought from you are better than any we have ever used for grinding fine corn meal.

J. O. Adair, Harmony Grove, Ga., writes—I ground one bushel of corn and made 1 bushel and 14 quarts of fine table meal.

S. J. Darby, Dadeville, Ala., writes—The 30-inch mill makes six bushels of first-class table meal per hour. My custom has greatly increased since I bought your mill.

Testimonials on Engines and Saw Mills.

Extract from letter of J. W. Roper, Sawyer for Dyal & Upton, Callahan, Fla., who are running our 40 Horse Dry Steam Engine, and our No. 1 Saw Mill with Patent Set Works and Patent Gauge Roller.

"I have no hesitation in saying this is the best Portable Saw Mill I have ever sawed with for 13 years' experience. I have been running this mill four months and our daily average is about 20,000 feet."

Mouro, Clary & Co., Apalachicola, Fla., say the 16x24 Engine, Boilers, and our New Patent Saw Mill cannot be surpassed for workmanship, simplicity, and fast sawing. "After 16 years' experience in the lumber business, we do not hesitate to recommend your work to men who want a first-class job in all particulars."
