TROUBLE IN DUBLIN.

Stoning Soldiers in the Streets.

DUBLIN, Sept. 2.—At 10:30 o'clock last night a mob in Brunswick street threw stones at the troops and one man was wounded. A magistrate read the riot act. The troops charged and the mob fled. No further casualties were reported. A bayonet charge was made in Sackville street where the soldiers were hotly pressed and badly stoned. Troops are stationed before the Bank of Ireland. Many constables have returned to duty at Kevin street police barracks.

The Louisiana Republican Committee Makes a 5 Per Cent. Levy.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—The Post publishes the assessment circular emanating from the Republican campaign committee of Louisiana calling for a contribution of 5 per cent. of the salaries from the employees of the departments in Washington who are credited to Louisiana. The circular is signed Theon. T. Patten, chairman finance committee, and specifies the amount of the contribution expected from the person addressed.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Sept. 2.—Adam Wilkinson, the negro who cut his wife's throat from ear to ear in Bedford county, some weeks since, was tried in the county court on Thursday and sentenced to 18 years imprisonment.

Diphtheria in Lunenburg County, Virginia.

PETERSBURG, Va., Sept. 2.—Intelligence has been received here to the effect that diphtheria prevails to a considerable extent in Lunenburg county. In some instances two or three deaths have occurred in a single family.

Encounter With Pirates.

About the 29th of July last the schooner Transit, owned in New York, having on board her captain, Thompson, first officer, cook and one sailor, lay quietly at anchor in the bay of Caracas in the northern part of Nicaragua, about three miles off from the town. Six Spanish pirates paddled out in a canoe and boarded the schooner. They were armed with cut-throats to make capture of the captain and crew of the schooner. When they had taken full possession of the schooner the next question with the pirate chief was how to weigh anchor and get away from there. He found he was inside the bar and he was no sailor. Captain Thompson used strategy. He offered for the freedom of his limits the pilot the pirates over the bar. His offer was accepted, and he promised also to continue as pilot under the direction of the pirates. Meanwhile there was revealed among the six pirates that they were of their guard. Captain Thompson ran the schooner out to sea, and then, when the time was favorable, he and his crew turned upon the pirates, knocked three of them down, and bound hand and foot, into the hold. The Transit sailed under her own colors again. Capt. Thompson then set sail for Bluefields and returned to the United States. There he turned his prisoners over to the authorities.

Did Cornell Lose on the "Blind Pool" Venture.

Wall Street News.

We have no hard feelings against Governor Cornell in this matter, for the "floating operation" was an extremely profitable one for us, and we give the reverie to him. He started out to scorch the public and got fearfully scorched himself.

Mr. Gould has an aptitude for irony and when he talks about Governor Cornell's "profits" in this pool operation we think he is a little cruel. There were some people who got rich, but it was by selling the stock short, not buying it. The "insiders" thought they had a sure thing on the public, but it happened that we were able to step in between the public and them. The public did not buy A. D. T. about 78 to any great extent, but Governor Cornell and some others, in their intellectual effort to hold the stuff up to the market, were wrong in the way they had expected to clean out the public. The conclusion of the business was that they were left with the stock on their hands and many other people got away with their money. That is the way things stand now.

A Dog and an Alligator.

Wilmington Review.

An alligator, something over seven feet long, was killed on the west bank of the Cape Fear river, at the Hilton ferry, yesterday afternoon. The dimensions of the animal are as follows: A gentleman who was driving through the country en route for Point Caswell put his horse and buggy on the ferry flat at Hilton's and was taken across the river. As he was about to drive on to the causeway on the west side he discovered that his setter dog had been left on the opposite bank. The gentleman whistled to the dog, when the obedient canine plunged in and swam the stream. Just before the dog reached the shore an alligator appeared on the scene and bit the dog in two, and taking one half of it in at one end, the gator then came near the flat, when the fatman caught it in the eye with a large boat hook and held it until the gentleman shot and killed it with his revolver.

"The Tyrant Mahone."

Mahone has raised a racket in the camp in Virginia. The colored leaders are on a revolt against him, and he whom R. D. Beckley, thus pays his respects to him in an address to the colored people of the State:

This actor, who three years ago came pleading for our help, has changed not only his garb, but is playing another character. Grown to gigantic proportions, he struts upon the political stage, waving his scepter of power and bids us kneel at his feet as cravens might. Shall we kneel as he bids us do, or shall we smother from his once bloody hands that insignia of power that we placed there when we rescued him? That station from which we rescued him? Shall we be slaves to this satrap, or shall we strike another and final blow for liberty?

I hear your answer as it comes up from the hills and patches of the East; I hear it as it comes rolling along the valleys and is echoed from the mountains of the West.

"WE WILL BE FREE."

Evidence is fast accumulating and gathering together that William Mahone is now a traitor to the cause of liberty. He has, with our aid, unmasked the political despots of the many political despots, only to chain us to the juggernaut of his own train.

We must not and will not be crushed by the traitor's treachery. Beware, my people, when I tell you that it is with us now to redeem ourselves, and that we have dangers to avoid much greater and more disastrous than those from which we were rescued. Mahone will be your master and you will be his slaves as sure as you fall in with his rights you have acquired this fall. He has put candidates in the field every-where in Virginia, and we will invest in them with power. I warn you that if you vote for one of them, you vote for a Trojan horse within which is hidden the form and features of the tyrant Mahone.

I have neither the time or space to tell you of the everywhere upon our old, true, and tried Republican friends. It would take volumes in which to record them; but everywhere and all around us lie the mangled remains of those who in the days of Mahone were his outraged subjects as a mighty breastwork behind which we could gather our little ones and cry for protection. Shall we desert them now, and for this new and false god? I being armed with a righteous indignation, I love even our old masters, who in the days of slavery did us great wrongs (from our standpoint) cannot and will not sit idly by and see the men who gathered our friends around us in the past thus foully murdered by the hand of our political assassin. God help you if you prove such base ingrates.

John Dawson, a black man like you and me, is FIGHTING UNDER THE OLD BANNER.

The old flag is tattered and torn; its folds bear marks of terrible struggles. In it there is a deep and bloody rent. Draw forth the dagger that struck the blow, and on its gleaming blade is stamped the name of Mahone. Shall we not fight on under that old flag, and fling from out our sight the bloody knife that this bloody master drew us into slavery? Freedom is written upon that banner. Give Mahone but another chance, and he will wipe it out and daub slavery in its place. Let us fight for the old banner, and as the silent ballot drops into the box it will whisper back your freedom. Vote for Republican candidates wherever and whenever you can. We know they will be true, will be liberal, have never proven recreant. Mahone's tyranny and treachery will be exposed between now and November. Trust the people, and let us have no more such a thing as the tyrant Mahone.

I will be with many of you during the coming year, and I will tell you what I should vote against Mahone's candidates. Come up to the work, and we stand together as men and brethren, and let us honor a man of our race who is in every way worthy of our confidence and support; and this is the only choice we have had to send one of our race to Congress from Virginia.

A Congress of Absentees and an Administration of Clerks.

New York Sun.

The worst legislation of the Forty-seventh Congress was carried through by absenteeism. The river and harbor bill, passed in the month of June, was a failure in every respect. The President's veto by fraudulent pairing, and by the failure of Senators and Representatives to be in their seats to discharge the duties they had sworn to perform, and for which they are liberally paid. Had either House been reasonably full, the job would have been badly beaten.

When the report of the conference committee on the sundry civil bill, involving an appropriation of nearly twenty six millions of dollars, was finally adopted, there were not one hundred members in the House. The Congressional Record shows that upon nearly every important measure of the session almost a third of the Senators and Representatives were generally absent.

Delinquent members pretend to excuse this neglect of duty by alleging they were paired. Who authorized them to pair? Neither the constitution nor the statute law recognizes this practice, which is entirely in the interest of the lazy or indifferent Congressman. Members bargain among themselves to leave States and constituencies unrepresented, and then have the assurance to claim that nothing has been lost by their unrecorded votes.

Like other pernicious examples, this absenteeism in Congress has infected the executive department. The President's cabinet, the heads of bureaus, the chiefs of divisions and a host of subordinates have deserted the capital. It is estimated that nearly 2,000 officials are absent from Washington. This nation now presents to the world the spectacle of a government of clerks.

A direct and simple remedy for this glaring abuse can be applied, as far as the popular branch of Congress is concerned, when election day comes round.
