RECOVERED HIS HEALTH.

On the 5th instant we published a card from Mr. W. R. Trull, the Rep-Libcandidate for Congress in the 8th district, withdrawing from the canvass, in which he alleged as his reason that he was "suffering with a painful attack of sickness and found himself too much prostrated to enter upon a canvass," and in justice to his friends he considered his duty to withdraw from the can-

He seems to have recovered his health however, as we find him announcing himself as a candidate for the Legislature from Buncombe county and billed for twenty-four speeches. We can very well imagine that the prospect of running against Bob Vance for Congress would be calculated to "prostrate" any Liberal nominee, and it is fortunate for him that he lives in a climate that possesses the recuperative powers that the pure mountain air where he dwells does. Running for the legislature will, perhaps, not be as prostrating as running for Congress.

By the way, Col Cocke, does not propose to risk his health, but will quietly stay at home, and take whatever votes he may chance to get,

There is, however, a dividing line between liberalism and injustice. and in the name of Republicanism I protest against degrading the veterans who have fought the battles and borne the burden and heat of the day, and forcing them to march in the ranks, while their places are filled with plunderers from the enemy's camp, wearing its uniform, reeking with its corruption, deserters of their own cause and traitors to ours. -Dr. C. L. Cook, candidate for Congress, to the voters of the 7th District.

THE TARIFF QUESTION.

The circumambulating jaunt of the tariff commission has demonstrated ted before, and that is that the tariff question is regarded altogether by the people from a standpoint of self interest and not from principle. In every city where the commission sat among the first to appear before it were men who argued in favor of a tariff to protect the particular industries in which their section was especially interested. There is where the difficulty comes in in discussing a question like this on general principles, for while one section demands the repeal of the tariff on articles it consumes and has to buy, it argues as vigorously for protection on such articles as it manufactures and has to sell. There was a time when the protectionists were confined to a limited section of the country, but now they are to be found scattered over the country, North, South, East and West, and each clamorous for protection to the particular industry in which his particular locality is interested. That it benefits them is enough, whether in benefitting them it benefits or injures others is a phase of the discussion that never meets with any consideration.

These Liberal Independent Democrats were the very men to lead the Republican party to victory and he intended to follow them .- J. W. Gordon the colored mail agent, in his speech at the late Republican convention.—Democrats of Mecklenburg, there is no longer any disguise.

PROGRESSIVE DEMOCRACY.

The nominations by the Democracy of several of the Northern States in the late conventions show two things, one that they are sending the fossils to the rear and are taking up young, live, progressive men, and the other that they are knocking the bottom out of the machine. Pattison, in Pennsylvania, and Cleveland, in New York, are both anti-machine candidates, and both young men who have made what reputation they have by a bold and fearless expression of their views, by advocating reform not only outside of the party but inside of it, and by carrying on a relentless war against the bosses who were in the habit of running the machine in their own imperious way. The people have come to the front, have called new men to lead and they mean

There is a striking contrast between the Democratic and Republican conventions in those States in this respect. In Pennsylvania the Cameron ring controlled the convention and put forward creatures of their own to be voted for, while in New York Arthur and Conkling put Folger up and declared him the nominee of the Republicans of that State. It was machine work out and out in which the people had no part, and in the result of which they take but very little interest.

He started out by saying that he had come there to beat the Democratic party and the best way to do that was to be harmonious and endorse the Liberal ticket .- A. W. Calvin, colored, at the Republican convention last Saturday

If it was true, as said, that Sims had cheated 300 negroes out of their votes, he was the very man they wanted, so that he might cheat for the negro a while.-Prince Brown, colored, at the recent Republican convention.

At first he was opposed to coalition but after mature reflection and a careful consideration of the situation, he had changed his mind, because he thought the Liberal movement meant success for the Republican party .- J. W. Gordon, the colored mail agent in his speech at the late Republican convention. See it Democrats?

Mackey Wins by Bribery.

CHARLESTON, Sept 27.—In the Republican convention of the 7th district after the bitterest struggle which has lasted just one week, Wm Mackey (white) was to-day nominated for Congress on the 251st ballot, receiving 21 out of 39 votes. A stormy scene ensued. Mackey's colored competitors, Lee and Smalls charging him with having secured the nomination by bribery. Lee displayed as evidence a promissory note for $250 given by Mackey to a delegate for his vote. It is understood there will be no Democratic candidate in the district, and Lee and Smalls are expected to run against Mackey making a triangular. lief to all who may need aid. against Mackey, making a triangular Republican fight.

EGGS, IN CAMPAIGN TACTICS. A report reached this city Tuesday evening, of which mention was made in our local columns yesterday, that a number of men waited at the depot at Winnsboro, S C, each man provided with one or more eggs, with which they proposed to welcome Mr J H McLane. the Republican-Greenback candidate for Governor, on his arrival at that town, but that he, learning of their intention, did not tarry there but came on to Charlotte, thus preventing the contemplated reception. We hope there may be error in the report, for however objectionable the candidacy, or the views or course of Mr McLane may be to the white people of that State assaulting with eggs is not the proper way to exexpress their disapprobation. They might have pelted a bushel or two of eggs at him, and spoiled a suit of clothes for him, but they would have done themselves, their State and the cause in which they are interested vastly more harm than they would do him. There is neither need nor justification for any such proceeding, for there are certainly among the gallant and brainy sons of that State men enough to meet and handle Mr. McLane in a fair, manly and legitimate way, without bringing fair fame of their State.

It is alleged that one of the reasons why they showed such resentment to him is that previously he said somewhere that he would be Governor of on silk and on silk cocoons. South Carolina or the State would have a military governor. He may have said so or he may not, but if he did the throwing of eggs at him will neither prevent him from being Governor, nor prevent the establishment of a military government if there were any danger of such an event.

It is a well known fact that the Republicans hope to retain their majority | cles. in Congress by the exclusion of Democratic members from the South whenever they have the least pretense for such exclusion. This was fully shown by their arbitrary and revolutionary ejectment of Southern members during the last session. They will be delighted with anything that will give them a pretense of justification for following up the same game in the next Congress.

The Radical press and speakers in the North will seize upon such acts, dwell upon them, magnify them, and in one thing, if it had not been demonstra- shrieking speech and flaming capital head-lines spread them broadcast as evidences of disorder and a reign of terror in the South, and make it an excuse for flaunting the bloody shirt again, and thus they will close up the divided ranks of the Republicans and do the cause of Democracy incalculable harm.

The good people of our gallant sister State have our fullest sympathies in the struggle for good government which they are waging, and we do not want to see any indefensible or indiscreet act committed that will jeopardize their chances of victory, or place them in a false attitude. This has been the first and we hope it will be the last we will hear of the egg as a campaign auxil-

Since the above was put in type we have received intelligence of a fatal riot at Lancaster, the particulars of which, as far as gathered, will be found in another column, and which shows the necessity of restraining hot blood and listening to cool counsels in the political canvass now pending in that State. A spark may light a conflagra-

THE TARIFF COMMISSION.

They Hear the Views of Wilmingtonians on Protection to Peanuts, Chalk, Silk Cocoons and Rice.

Wilmington, Sept. 27.—The tariff commissioners arrived here this morning and held a session in the custom house. The subjects brought to its attention were rice and peanuts, chalk and silk cocoons. The rice interest was advocated by D. L. Russell, Donald MacRae and T. L. Fremont. The peanut and chalk interests by George Z French and the silk cocoon interest was incidentally mentioned by Fremont. The advocates of the rice interest expressed themselves satisfied with the present duties, but declared that any reduction of them would be fatal to that interest. In regard to peanuts, French gave the average annual production of the Wilmington section as 120,000 bushels. Up to 1861 it was equal to seven-eighths of the entire crop of the United States, but under the duty imposed in 1864 the industry had increased until now Tennessee produces from 30,000 to 60,000 bushels, and Virginia from 700,000 to 1,000,000 bushels. The price was affected by the importation of African peanuts. A discontinuance of the duty would put an end to the peanut industry of North Carolina and impoverish many small farmers. As to chalk, large deposits of it were found in the State, but its freight to New York and Philadelphia, where chalk was made into whiting, would be higher than the cost of chalk which disgrace upon themselves nor upon the is carried there as ballast. As to silk cocoons, the soil and climate of the State were favorable to the cultivation of mulberry trees and the raising of silk worms. Both these interests might be developed by an imposition of duty

Mr. Boteler asked Mr. Fremont if any complaints came up from the farming community about the tariff. Fremont replied in the negative. All that was heard about it was from Congress and stump speakers. He thought, however, that the popular side of the question was a tariff for revenue with incidental protection, but as rice people wanted the present duty on rice maintained they could not ask to have the duties taken off of other protected arti-

Douglas says he has no intention of stuping Virginia; his sympathies are with the Mahone movement, but he does not intend to go to Virginia to speak.

aug1 daw 1y eod A CARD.

Allow me to return you my sincere thanks for the liberal patronage bestowed on me while a resident of your city. And while asking you for a continuance of the same, I can here state that in addition to a fair supply of Carriages, Phaetons, Buggles, Horses, &c., that will compare favorably with any others, I have just added to the Livery and Transfer the finest Carriages, Omnibusses and Baggage Wagons in the State. My wagons have good tops so as to protect baggage entrusted to my care from the weather. One of my great endeavors has been to make Charlotte what it now is, one of the best cities for Livery Equipages and reasonable charges in the South. I do not ask for all, neither do I ask for half of the trade in my line, but if the riding public will give me a fair share I will see that they get value received, not only in good Vehicles, but at living prices.

Thanking you ence more for your liberality and kindness

I am Respectfully.
