Medical.

Diphtheria.

A cold or sore throat may not seem to amount to much, and if promptly attended to can easily be cured; but neglect is often followed by complications or diphtheria.

No medicine has ever been discovered which relieves the inflammation of the throat as PERKY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER.

The prompt use of this invaluable remedy has saved thousands of lives.

PERKY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER is not an experiment. It has been before the public for forty years, and is most valued where it is best known.

A few extracts from voluntary testimonials read as follows:

Pain Killer has been my household remedy for years. I have had for some time, I could not have known it to be in effecting a cure.

A Rival Withdraws.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—A New Orleans special to the Tribune states that J. T. Upde-graff, the successful candidate for Congress in the 2d district had a conference today and it is understood that Marks agreed to retire and give Marks a clear field. Louis J. Souer, one of the Republican nominees in the 6th Louisiana district has written a letter declining the nomination.

Just Elected—Reported Dead.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 12.—A special from Bellaire, Ohio, says that J. T. Upde-graff, the successful candidate for Congress from the seventh district is reported dead. His home is remote from telegraph and the report cannot be verified but it is known that he has been low with Bright's disease.

Going Over to Beecher.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—The New York and Brooklyn association of the congregational churches yesterday passed resolutions asking Beecher to reconsider his action in withdrawing from the association and expressing concurrence in his beliefs.

REMARKABLE VESSELS.

The Fryer Propeller Likely to Revolutionize Steam Navigation.

Under the above head the London Times of August 30th editorially describes the improvements being made in ship building, "which," it says, "for speed and general excellence of locomotion will far transcend any vessel now afloat." The Times closes its article as follows:

"The principle of this steamship is the invention of Mr. R. M. Fryer, of New York. It is stated to be a kind of marine velocipede on three wheels, the hull not being intended to touch the water. The most curious point of the invention is that the support of the ship, the float as it were, and the propellers are one and the same. The vessel floats on three spheres, made of sheet steel, one forward and two stern, each of these fitted with flanges which surround the whole of its circumfer-ence and act as paddles. The spheres are so arranged that they can be worked backward or forward or one wheel backward and the other forward simultaneously, so that the vessel may be turned completely round in her own water, and with such rapid power of turning no rudder will be necessary.

The whole vessel is made water tight, so that in the event of the wheels or spheres being broken or disabled, or the vessel capsized, it will still possess sufficient buoyancy to prevent it from sinking. The spheres are provided with a flanged keel, to adapt the vessel for use on the ice in case of crossing an isthmus, or for being run upon land for repairs. The ship is designed only for passenger traffic, and it is asserted that its peculiar construction gives increased accommodation, greater safety and a higher rate of speed than the now attained. The trial of a small model of the steamer excited great interest recently on the Harlem river, and it traveled equally well on water, as the inventor claims that as much difference exists between it and an ordinary boat as between a wagon mounted on wheels

Condensed Points in the Comet.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Observations of the comet were made at the Naval Observatory this morning by Prof. Eastman, Commander Sampson and Mr.

Winlock. Prof. Eastman made a careful observation with the small equatorial, but failed to discover any evidence of the splitting or separation of the nucleus so persistently reported by other observers. There were in the nucleus a number of points of condensation, but the light between them was continuous. The number of these points visible at one time seems to vary from two or three to five, and Prof. Eastman thinks that have been mistaken for astronomers for the fragments of a disintegrated nucleus. They are, however, nothing more than points of condensation. The length of the nucleus which extends in the direction of the tail is about two seconds of an arc, its width a second. The outer envelope is becoming a more noticeable feature of the comet, and is well defined.

The observations, however, which are being constantly made, confirm the elements and ephemeris computed by Prof. Frisby.

A Heroic Priest.

On the 13th of July last, at Muske-go, Canada, G. Chappell, a Catholic priest missionary of that place, having no food at the mission, left with an Indian family in quest of ducks and geese around the lake. The father and five of the Indians sailed in the same canoe, and two other Indians in a second. It was blowing a gale, and the priest's boat upset. The other boat came to the rescue and succeeded in picking up the mother of the family and one of the little girls. They hastened to put these ashore, and went back to save the others, but all had disappeared. The last seen of the priest he was swimming with a young girl on his back. The bodies of three Indians were found shortly after, but that of the unfortunate priest had not been found up to last accounts.

A PROFESSIONAL CONFESSION.

The Unusual Experience of a Prominent Man Made Public.

The following article from the Democrat and Chronicle, of Rochester, N. Y., is of so striking a nature, and emanates from so reliable a source, that it is beneath reproach to omit it. It is a confession of the truth to the valuable matter it contains, it will be found exceedingly interesting:

To the Editor of the Democrat and Chronicle:

Sir:—My motives for the publication of the most unusual experience which I have undergone, I have been saved from a prison term, and I have been saved from the most deceptive influences by which they have been so often misled. I have been saved from a prison term, and I have been saved from the most deceptive influences by which they have been so often misled. I have been saved from by the thought of a child suffering from scalding, I was just the article needed, proand accompanying him with what he had done.

collapse, and the mother was in a state of
