STATE NEWS.

Raleigh News and Observer: The first frost of the season made its appearance Wednesday. Its coming was delayed. People who have chills, and there are now but few such unfortunate, luckily, will be grateful for the prompt use of this invaluable remedy.

The continues to be talk about the use of a new hotel here, and from what we can gather the project is about to take shape.

At Hutchinson's store, yesterday afternoon, Tom Mangum, a resident of Barton's Creek township, was knocked in the head with a piece of iron rail, and causing perhaps fatal injuries.

The man was struck, it is said, by Mangum, of this city, the two men being engaged in an altercation of a personal nature. The stricken man fell as if dead, and his recovery was not expected, but last evening, it is reported, he rallied somewhat. There were last evening some remarks and one street rumors about the affair. It is said that Duncan Mangum had not yet been captured.

Ashville Citizen: All parties interested will see the official notice from Judge Dick postponing the opening of Federal Court in this place until Tuesday, the 9th of November, in order to give all time to vote before leaving home to attend the court.

We are pleased to be able to state that the State bonds recently issued by Ashville are macadamizing our principal streets, and for the establishment of water works, bearing six percent interest, have been sold at par.
