During the entire last season of eight months, the cotton compress handled but 30,000 bales. For the 30 tained Kit in steady popularity for days of this season, it has already compressed 12,000 bales, and if business keeps on at its present rate, there will be 100,000 bales compressed before the season closes.

The party left for New York on the afternoon train.

The Matinee. The opera house was fairly crowded at the matinee yesterday afternoon to see Mrs. Chanfrau in the "New East Lynne," and a more delighted audience is seldom seen. The new East Lynne possesses many merits over the old play and with its presentation at the hands of Mrs. Chanfrau and Mr. Tayleure, the author, and their fairly good support, must be conceded to be far the better of the two plays, As "Lady Isabel," Mrs. Chanfrau is indeed more than of the most beautiful women on the stage, she is also one whose dressing is not only rich and appropriate, but original, and in exquisite taste. Her personation is entirely original and in artistic finish has probably not been surpassed. Mrs. Chanfrau is a handsome woman, who thoroughly understands the delicate art of "making up," and is stage effects are gained. Her costumes are striking, both in the combination of the material and in construction, but are always appropriate and in excellent taste. Those used in "Lady Isabel"

----The Heavens in November.

The November moon fulls on the 27th at eighteen minutes past nine o' clock in the evening. The old moon passes near Mercury on the morning of the 9th. The new moon of the 10th passes a little less than one degree north of Mars on the 11th, and the three days' old crescent is at her nearest point to Venus on the 13th. She passes near Neptune on the 23rd, near Saturn on the 24th, and near Jupiter on the 26th. Thus November contributes a brilliant record to the planetary annals of the year. Venus rejoices in her period of greatest brilliancy. Neptune and Saturn arrive in apposition within five days of each other. Jupiter increases in size and brightness as night after night he comes earlier above the horizon. Mercury makes positively his last appearance during the year as morning star, when bright-eyed observers may hope for a glimpse of his shining face. Students of the stars will find no end to the enjoyment of following the track of these bright wanderers among the stars on the crisp, cool November nights. The more closely they follow the movements, the more intense will be their interest in the brother and sister planets whose origin is identical and whose fate is irrevocably bound up with that of the little planet on which our short lives are passed.

A COTTON BLAZE.

A Locomotive Spark Starts a Fire Which Descroys Two Cars and Forty-Nine Bales of Cotton.

About three o'clock yesterday afternoon a considerable fire occurred to a cotton train at the Air Line Junction, destroying two cars, forty-nine bales of cotton, and about thirty feet of track A special cotton train had been made up at the Charlotte, Columbia and Augusta freight dapot, and had been the city yesterday, and registered at carried to the junction by the shifting engine, and left for a regular engine to take on North. As the shifter passed by the train a spark lodged among a flat load of cotton, and in a few minutes afterwards the junction keeper noticed that the cotton was on fire. The shifting engine was summoned back as soon as possible, but by the time it arrived the cotton was in a big blaze, and all it could do was to cut the cars loose from the burning flat and carry them away from danger. Before this could be done a box car next to the flat took fire and had to be abandoned. No water could be procured, and nothing could be done but let the fire burn itself out. A heavy rain came up while the fire was in progress, but it did no good. Fortunately, the burning cars were standing on the track some distance from the buildings at the junction, and they sustained no damage.

The flat was loaded with twentythree bales, and the box car contained twenty-six. Not a particle of the cotton could be saved. The box car and flat were burned to the trucks. About thirty feet of cross-ties were burned, and the rails were warped and twisted in Lynchburg, Va., on the 31st inst., of so as to be worthless. The railroad company loses about $1,300 in the destruction of the cars. The loss of the cotton was estimated to be about $2,200. The cotton was shipped from points on the Charlotte, Columbia and Augusta road, most of it coming from Winnsboro, S. C. The fire did not interfere with the passage of the evening passenger train, but caused a block of freights on the track from the junction to the Richmond & Danville depot. Our fire department were ready and waiting to go to the rescue, but no summons came, and they did not go out.

Opera House Last Night.

Mr. Spencer's well-known melo-Irama of "Kit" was produced at the opera house last night to a good crowd. The piece is one of the strongest plays of its kind with which we are acquainted, and it contains those delightful old he had a trick fixed up by which the "beats," the Judge and the Major, in Federal Government would protect which Charles Leslie Allen and Dan Maginness made such a memorable comic hit. Mr. Chanfrau impersonates the rough Western man, Kit,-half hero and half desperado-with great power and feeling, and presents a shining achievement in the highest grade Mr. John G. Bloom, one of the of melo-dramatic acting. His work is picturesque, romantic, and full of humanity; and is drawn and finished with unerring professional skill. Continuity of popular success is not always nor often a guarantee of excellence, but in this case it has an exceptional meaning. Mr. Chanfrau has made a work of art out of the roughest materials, and by this means he has mainmany years. His present success is of a piece with his past experience.

Another Bar Room Robbed. Night before last the bar room of Mc-Corkle & Alexander, nearly opposite the court house, was entered, and the cash drawer rifled, but to little effect. About ten o'clock that night Mr Alexander counted up his change, amountof the United States is attracting wide- ing to $27, and put it in his pocket, leav- tion. spread attention. Mr. Sullivan is a ing 60 cents in change, and a morocco member of the English Parliament | pocketbook containing a note on Mr. McCorkle for $60, in the drawer. There were several parties in the room at the time, and all went out with Mr. Alexander as he closed up. On opening the store next morning, he saw that it had been entered by a burglar, who had prized open the cash drawer and secured the 60 cents and the pocketbook. Later in the day a white man, named W. W. Ormand, came into the bar with the identical note, which he offered to sell Mr. McCorkle. He was arrested and taken before Justice Davidson for trial. Ormond explained the manner by which he came into possession of the note by saying that he found it lying beside | ing company, one hundred and eighteen him when he waked that morning near the cotton platform, where he had slept. Political Gossip.

There was a big barbecue and mass meeting at Union Mills, in Union county, yesterday. Maj Dowd and Mr Pittman addressed the crowd. Everyready with all the tricks by which thing is booming in Union and great enthusiasm prevails among the people A gentleman just returned from a tour of the mountain district, says that there is "no Liberal party in that country," and that the Republicans are not only "cussin" coalition out, but are actually turning to be Democrats in revenge. A prominent and influential Republican of Buncombe county, proclaimed it in the streets of Asheville that he "was done with the party that tried to make rulers out of worthless, disappointed Democrats, and intended to vote the straight Democratic ticket in the future." The woods are full of just such men as this Buncombe county ex-Republican. From several of our citizens who have just returned from Raleigh, we learn that everything is all right in that section. Gen. Cox says he will carry his district by a handsome majority. Mr W H Bailey is doing excellent service for the party in this campaign. For the past four weeks he spoke once or twice every day, and still he tires not in the good work. Bailey deserves to be elected by a rousing majority-and he Bets are now being made pretty freely whenever a Liberal can be found bold enough to take them up. A bet of one hundred dollars on the result in the county was last evening made between a Liberal and a Democrat.

Meeting of the Colored Democratic

The members of the colored Democratic Club are requested to meet at the Mayor's office, market house, tonight, for important business. Everybody invited to attend.

GRAY J. TOOLE, Chairman. A Perpetual Worker.

Jim Archie, the "dumper" at the cotton compress, is a wonderful darkey. He works for both sets of hands, going on at one o'clock in the day and coming off at exactly noon the next day, working steadily and without a minute's rest the twenty-three hours through. From 12 to 1 he eats his dinner and takes a nap, and this is all the rest he has. He says he once worked that way for nine days at a stretch, and did not feel a bit out of sorts. He has been at it every day this week, and appears to be as lively and fresh as the other hands, who get their regular 12 hours

Election Day -- Important to Farmers. Next Tuesday, 7th inst., election day, will be observed in Charlotte as a partial holiday, at least. All the cotton merchants have decided to suspend business entirely on that day, and will not handle cotton at all. It will be well for our country friends to note this fact for not a bale of cotton brought to the city on 7th will find a buyer. There will be a total suspension of the cotton trade and we make the announcement thus early so as to let all the farmers know that cotton will not be wanted in this city on election day and none will be bought.

The Libs Hold a Wake.

A rather melancholy assemblage, numbering about ten whites and one hundred colored people, gathered in the court house last night in response to the frequent ringing of the bell. The occasion was advertised to be a Liberal rally, but it was the most woeful failure imaginable. Even John Schenck did not lend his usually conspicuous appearance to the occasion. Colonel Wm Johnston was introduced by J J Sims, who stated that the meeting was called in the interests of Col Johnston and Mr Chas Price, but he had to apologize for Mr Price's absence, as that gentleman was responding to an urgent call in his own county. Col Johnston endeavored in a measure to explain the position he has previously been in as a Democrat and appealed to the colored men to sustain him, claiming that as a Liberal he would be the Moses to lead them out of bondage.

He was followed by Mr J J Sims who advised the colored men to register and stated that he knew something about the registration business, and if any objection was made to let him know and he would attend to it. That him in his ballot. Sims declared he was a Democrat, but in all political contests where Vance was entered he would vote with the Republicans. Sims did not make a favorable impression upon the crowd, who gradually became tired and disgusted with the speaking.
