"Democracy is a sentiment not to be appalled, corrupted compromised. It knows no baseness it covers to no danger ; it oppresses no weakness ; it is destructive of despotism; it is the sole conservator of liberty. labor and property; it is the sentiment of equal rights, of equal obligations, the very laws of Nature usef pervading the land."

I know no safe depository of the utbinate powers of society but the people themselves; and if us think them not enlightened enough to exercise their control with a wholesome discretion, the remedy is, not to take "It from them, but to inform their discretion by edu "dation."-THOMAS JEFFERSON.

CHARLOTTE EXPOSITION. The efforts of THE OBSERVER to awaken an interest in the subject of an industrial exposition at Charlotte are attracting attention not only in this State but outside of it. Many of the State press cordially endorse the suggestion, and gentlemen in other States who take an interest in North Carolina, warmly applaud it. The following letter is from an enterprising citizen of Connecticut, now sojourning in Boston: I have read with care your editorial on the importance of industrial exhibi-tions, in the paper you kindly mailed me. I appreciate your fervent interest in Charlotte and the regions round about, and think you have done wisely in presenting the subject on the broad plain you adopted. But pardon me if I say that you had better let the matter rest just there for the present, and make your lay out for Charlotte and old Mecklenburg county in another shape, A. D. 1883; in other words, you can do more for your people a thousand times over by getting them waked up to the importance of putting their best before the North at Boston next year, than you can in any other way. We shall uraw visitors from all the Eastern and Middle States by thousands and throngs from Canada. The newspaper press will be largely represented, quite as largely as it was at Atlanta. Already excursion agents are preparing to secure first class rates from all points and to advertise the exposition on a scale beyond anything heretofore attempted.

Now Sir, you are to have at the South a cotton centennial in 1884. Your people will then experience the greatest civil invasion from the North that has ever occurred in our history, provided a city is selected near enough the Ohio or Potomac to make it easily accessible people from all the States, and one which has ample facilities for taking care of a multitude, and provided also that the interest begun at Atlanta, and advanced by what the railroads have done in Boston this year, is made sure for the future by what your States and people shall do next autumn in the broad opportunity opened up to you through the Institute. Don't you see, my friend, that so splendid a display as the "old Hornets Nest" could make if her people so willed would attract many more people to Charlotte to look about, than you could possibly get there by all the notices, advertisements and posters that twice $1200 would procure for you. Let Charlotte bid for public appreciation at Boston in 1883, at the national cotton exposition in 1884, and she will gain more a thousand fold, than though she spent $50,000 in an exhibition of industries at home next year. We agree in the main with the views of our correspondent, and fully appreciate the value of such an exposition as he contemplates at the Boston fair; but we think one of the best ways to secure a creditable collection of the products of this section, will be by establishing such an exposition as we suggest in this city, for there are many people who would exert themselves to make an exhibit at a point near by who would manifest no interest whatever in an exposition held as far off as Boston. Our idea is after the Charlotte exposition closes, to utilize the exhibit made by sending it to Boston and other points where industrial expecitions are held, as the North Carolina and Virginia exhibit at Atlanta, under the supervision of the Richmond & Danville Railroad company, was sent to Boston. Let us move all together and make the Charlotte exposition a credt to the State. It can be done if we will do it.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEED+ INGS. BECK AFTER THE POLITICAL AScanvassers:

The Senate, After a Brief Session, Adjourns Out of Respect to the Memory of Representatives Updegraff and Lowe----The House Passes a Bill in Reference to American Seamen, and Then, Out of Respect to the Memory of the Late Senator Hill, Adjourns.

WASHINGTON, D C, Dec 5.-SENATE.-Brown presented the credentials of W Barrow, chosen to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Hill, of Georgia. When the credentials had been read. Edmunds remarked that the Governor's certificate was not, in his judgment, in conformity with the act of Congress, but as all knew that Barrow had been regularly elected, he would not urge the point, being content to call attention to it, so that this defective certifi-cate should not be drawn into prece-dent. The oath of office was then administered to the new Senator. The President pro tem laid before the Senate the annual report of the Comptroller of Currency, which was ordered printed. On motion of Anthony, the standing and select committees, as they existed at the close of the last session, were continued.

Petitions were introduced by Dawes, Ingalis and Cockerell, in relation to the passage of pending bills for an in-crease of pensions to soldiers who have lost limbs, or are laboring under equivalent disabilities.

Saunders gave notice that early next week he would call up the pending bill for the admission of Dakota.

Beck offered a preamble and resolu-tion setting forth the law against levying political assessments, with copies of circulars asking contributions for political purposes issued by the Republican and Readjuster committees during the late campaign, and instructing the judiciary committee to investigate the matter fully and report how much money was so collected, where and how it was spent and whether these political committees or any of their members have still any of the money in their possession, also the names of all persons dismissed from public ser-vice since the 5th of May, 1882, and how many of them had failed to comtribute as requested. The resolution requires the commit tee to report by bill or otherwise on or before February 1st, 1883. Beck said he would call up the resolution to-morrow.

Platt offered a resolution instructing the commissioner of pensions to give a mass of information under 14 heads in relation to the pension roll and the probable effect upon it of the passage of House bill No 1,410, now pending in the Senate. Bayard asked Platt to amend his resolution so as to call for a complete alphabetical list of pensions, but Platt declined upon the ground that this would delay too long the information desired by the committee on pensions in connection with the pending bill. The resolution at Beck's suggestion went over until to-morrow.

To the Honorable Board of State Canmassers :

William M. Robbins, of Iredell coun-ty, respectfully petitions your honora-ble board, and alleges:

1. That according to information re-ceived by him, unofficially, but never-theless entitled to faith and credit, he W. M. Robbins, was duly elected representative from the said seventh district to the 48th Congress of the United States, by a majority of the ballots legally cast by the qualified electors of said district, at the election held on the 7th day of November. 1882.

2. That whilst he does not actually know what the official returns, to be laid before your honorable board at its meeting on the 30th inst. may show meeting on the 30th inst. may show when properly scrutinized and canvass-ed, according to law, as to the result of said election for representative, he is informed and believes that on the face of said returns it will probably appear that Tyre Tork received a small plu-rality of the votes.

8. That your petitioner is prepared to show to your honorable board, if op-portunity be allowed him, that some of those returns contain clerical errors in figures, which materially prejudice his rights by understanding his real vote and overstating that of said Tyre York.

4. That your petitioner will further show to your honorable board, if opportunity be allowed him, that sundry frauds and illegalities were committed in various townships and precincts of fifth district to his prejudice, by which he was deprived of the legal majority which was truly cast for him in the fifth district, and the erroneous result, to-wit:the apparent election of his aforesaid competitor, Tyre York, secured. 5. That your petitioner had not the timely information to bring the afore-said errors, frauds and illegalities to the attention of the several county canvassing boards prior to the making up and transmission of their official re-turns so that the proper corrections might be made by said boards in so far as they were authorized to do so by law, and moreover the lawful powers law, and moreover the lawful powers of the county boards of canvassers to grant redress in the premises would seem to be less ample than those which, under the law, belong to your honora-ble board of State canvassers. Where-fere, your petitioner prays your honor-able board to grant him a hearing that he may lay before you the specific facts and the proofs thereof by which a prop-er correction of the official returns of the county honora made by you the county boards may be made by you.

MOVING ON THE INTERNAL REVE-NUE SYSTEM.

Already bills have been introduced in Congress for the total or partial abolition of the internal revenue system. We take it for granted that this matter will be taken up in earnest, and that the day is not far distant when this relic of war legislation will be wiped out of existence. It is in favor with no one, except perhaps these who live by it, and those who have favored it have done so not because they liked it, but because they considered it necessary to enable the government to meet its current expenses and debt ob-ligations. It is conceded to be no longer necessary for these purposes, and being no longer necessary an end should be put to it at once.

Louisville Courier Journal: The official canvass of the returns from Minnesota shows that all the Republican candidates were elected by majorities ranging from 670 to 8,000. In the Fifth district, which is a new one and a very sparsely settled one, the total vote is put down as 35,442. If there are twenty thousand legal voters in that region of Northern Minnesota it would be re-We doubt if there are fif-

HOUSE.—The House met at 12 o'clock. After the reading of the journal, the Speaker laid before the House the an-nual report of the Comptrollog of Curr nual report of the Comptroller of Currency, and it was referred to the committee on Banking and Currency. The Speaker as the regular order proceeded to call on the committees for reports. Kelly, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee on Ways and Means, reported a bill to abolish the internal revenue tax on tobacco, snuff, cigars and cigarettes. It was referred to the Committee of the Whole, and the minor-ity was granted leave to file a minority report

The House took up the Calendar. A bill to repeal and amend certain acts pertaining to the shipment and dis-charge of seamen, was passed. It re-peals the provision for the payment of three months' extra wages to seamen, and provides in lieu that seamen discharged in foreign ports shall be pro-vided with the means of returning home, or be provided with another berth. The bill embodies substantially modifications of the law recommended by the joint special committee having in charge the question of the decline of American shipping. A message from the Senate announc-ed the death of Hon. Benj. Federal Prosecutions in Virginia. RIGHMOND, Dec.5.—Judge Hughes, of the United States District court, to-day gave special instructions to the grand jury in the matter of the alleged elec-tion frauds which that body is investi-gating. Judge Hughes in referring to the recent election in Virginia says that while the machinery whare with it was conducted was mainly supplied by the laws of the State, it was none the less a Federal election. All offences against a fair and free expression of the popular will were punishable under Federal laws. After quoting from sec-tions 5,506 and 5,511 of the revised stat-utes in support of this assertion, he in-structed the jury that if any of the utes in support of this assertion, he in-structed the jury that if any of the persons whose eases they were consid-ering have committed perjury or for-gery or given false certificates for which they may be presecuted under the laws of Virginia then they were under the circumstances named offences against the United States and punishable under the sections gnoted.
