INTERNAL REVENUE TAXES. The resolution which passed the State Senate Monday instructing our Senators and Representatives in the lower House of Congress to work for the abolition of the internal revenue system was an emphatic declaration of the sentiments of our State Senators on that questien, and a declaration, too, in conformity with the sentiments of a very large majority of the people of this State. We would like to see it torn out root and branch and the last vestige of it swept away, but we doubt very much whether total abolition will pass this Congress. From the present outlook it seems that we may expect only a partial abolition, and that spirits and tcbacco, in their various manufactured forms, will still continue on the tax list. It is held by the advocates of the tax on these that they are luxuries, and as such can stand taxation without oppressing any one. And yet these are the two articles mainly that give the internal revenue officers occupation in this section of the country, and it is of the system, with its oppressive concomitants and demoralizing influences to which Mr. Linney so forcibly alluded in his remarks in advocacy of the passage of the resolution, that we have most cause to complain, for it has done more to create trouble and to bring oppression on our people than any other one thing that we know.

From the collectors down to the most insignideant employee in the service they compose an army of politicians, who feel that their first duty is due to the administration at whose hands they hold the places which furnish them a living, and they are in nine cases out of ten perfectly willing to perform that duty however antagonistic it may be to the interests or sentiments of the communities in which they may be located. When once they enter this service they sever, so to speak, all sympathy and and become the willing agents of the central power at Washington. They are expected to do this and if they refuse to do it their tenure of office will be short.

If our Representatives find in the progress of events that abolition of the system will be impracticable, and that the taxes on spirits and tobacco are still to be retained, then they should devote themselves to securing such a reformation of the system as would relieve us of the presence of the army of revenue officials, several schemes for which have been suggested and some of which will doubtless be laid before Congress.

While it is desirable to get rid of the tax altogether it is still more desirable to get rid of the system of tax collection as it is now constituted, and which while it lasts will always be a source of demoralization to some and of vexation to the great mass of our people.

COMMON SCHOOLS.

The last census shows that instead of progress there has been a decline in popular education in Massachusetts, Vermont and in other States which beast much about their systems of common schools. The Baltimore Sun in discussing this subject attributes it in a great measure to the misuse of the school funds and the general extravagance that has prevailed in the management of the schools in late years and the conversion of many of the schools which were originally intended to be teaching the higher branches, the languages, music, painting, &c.

The common schools were established for the purpose of giving a primary education, where reading, writing, arithmetic, &c, are taught, but no fancy and the means in schools established for that purpose by private enterprise. The money collected by taxation should b. expended in schools for the people and not in teaching unnecessary branches to those who are amply able to pay for such instruction in other schools. The public schools should be made as good as possible so that the pupils who depend upon them for what education they receive may have as much advantage as possible within the limited time they have to attend them.

There never was much desire on the part of the prosecution to take Spencer in although we are informed that during his stay in Canada he was constantly shadowed by two detectives, who doubtless were perfectly aware of his contemplated departure across the water. If they were very anxious for his presence in Washington he would never have found refuge in Canada.

There are many dis inguished Republicans besides Dorsey & Co, who will rejoice at his departure, and wish him a long and pleasant sojourn abroad.

The product of the Leadville mines of gold silver and lend for 1882 was $17,127,402 This is largely in excess of the yie'd of any previous year, even including the paried of excitement attending the discoveries of the carbonate fi-lds. Over $66,000,000 in precious minerals have been taken from these mines since their discovery in 1878. The total product of Colorado for 1882 is quoted at $26,750,893. Thus it will be last for the construction of steam seen that the Leadville region furnishes more than two thirds of the whole product of the State.

Wood Stains.

Furniture Gaz tte.

Herr Leo, a pharmacist of Bensh-in. Germany recommends the following stains for oak, pine, beech, popular,

1. Yellow Stain .- Wash with a hot concentrated solution of pieric acid, and when dry polish the wood. 2. Evony Black.-Wash with a concentrated aqueous solution of extract of log wood several times; then with a solution of acetate of iron, of 14 degrees Baume, which is repeated until a deep black is produced. 3. Gray.—One part of nitrate of silver dissolved in fifty parts of distilled water; wash over twice; then with hydrochloric acid, and afterwards with water of ammonia. The wood is allowed to dry in the dark, and then finished in oil and polished. 4 Light Walnut .- Dissolve one part of permanganate of potassium in thirty parts of pure water, and apply twice in succession, and after an interval of five minutes wash with clean water, and, when dry, oil and polish. 5. Dark Walnut .- Same as for light walnut: but after washing with water the darker veins are made more prominent with a solution of acetate of iron. 6 Dark Mahogany.—Introduce into a bottle 15 grains alkanet root, 30 grains aloes, 30 grains powdered dragon's blood, and 500 grains 95 per cent. alcohol, closing the mouth of the bottle connection with the people of the State, with a piece of bladder, keeping it in a warm place for thee or four days, with ce asional shaking, then filtering the liquid. The wood is first mordanted with nitric acid, and when dry washed with the stain once or oftener, according to the desired shade; then the wood, being died, is oiled and polished. 7. Light Mahogany.-Same as dark mahogany, but the stain should only be applied once. The veins of true mahogony may be imitated by the use of acetate of Iron skillfully applied.

Life Too Hard.

Goldsboro Messenger. Chas. Smith, a painter, well known in this community, committed suicide last Saturday night by taking morphine. He made an attempt on his life some months ago with laudnum but was saved by timely medical aid, family troubles prompted the deed, and form what we can hear, he is worthy of the deepest sympathy. For a long time he had suspected the fidelity of his wife, and he made the first attempt on his life when he found that those suspicions were only two true. After his recovery she promised reform, and they lived together up to a few days ago, when she eloped with former seducer, taking her three children with her, and causing her husband the above sad ending. Mr. Smith was about forty five years of age, a German by birth, and for many years a resident of this city. He served in the Confederate army and is spoken of as a brave and dutitul soldier.

Some Tom Thumb Reminiscences. Tom Thumb celebrated his 46 birthday on January 4th in Chicago. He said that when first exhibited by Barnum he was only 5 years old, and so light that a strong man could hold him on the palm of his hand. A fashionable overcoat of those days was like the ulster of the present, and had large side pockets with flaps over them. "Barnum wore one of these," Tom relates," and I could get in one of the pockets, and by doubling myself up snugly the flap would conceal me. It was a favorite trick of Barnum's to put me in his pocket and appear in the hall about the time for opening our entetainment, He would call for me, affecting to be

WHAT CONGRESS IS DOING.

The Senate Discusses the Postoffice Appropriation and Tariff -- Helper's Continental Railway Asks the Attention of the House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.-SENATE-Coke introduced a joint resolution authorizing and directing the Secretary of the Treasury, if in his judgment the exigencies of the service require it, to use the $16,000 appropriated in August launches for use in the harbors of Galveston and Mobile to purchase such launches already built. Referred to the committee on commerce.

Davis, of West Virginia, presented a report of the committee of conference on the agricultural appropriation bill, which was agreed to. The postoffice appropriation bill was taken up.

Plumb, in charge of the bill, explained it. Davis, of West Virginia, called his attention to the item of $185,000 for the necessary and special facilities on trunk lines of railway and asked an explanation of it. Plumb explained that it was simply intended to keep up the existing ser vice and in this connection he sent up and had read a letter from the superintendent of the railway mail service explaining in detail the fast mail service and stating that the appropriation was expended now as follows: Between New York and Springfield, $17,747; between New Yorkand Albany $25,000, between Philadelphia and Charleston $142,000, making in round numbers $185,000. The letter also recommends that if a similar appropriation be made at this session it should be for the continuation of the existing service for the fiscal year. The western and southwestern members opposed this item of the appropriation, contending that if any appropriation for fast mail service be made it should be equitably distributed throughout the whole country. They objected to the appropriation as at present expended, as, discriminating untairly against the rest of thr country for the benefit of New York city and mainly for the benefit of the metropolitan press, so called, Butler said that it was a mistake to say that the fast service benefitted only New York for there was fast mail to Charleston and Jacksonville which was of great benefit to that portion of the country. Butler agreed that the west was entitled to equal benefit with other portions of the country and said he would vote for any amendment that might be necessary to give it to them. As to the statement that these fast trains only carried New York papers he did not believe it well founded but even if they did no more than distribute those newspapers rapidly that would be accomplishing a good deal, because the people of all the parts of the country were always anxious to get New York papers. Without reach-tariff bill was taken up. The debate on the Tariff bill occupied the remainder of the session. The low tariff men had decidedly the best of it, both in debate and in voting to-day and the proceedings were full of inter-

ing a vote the bill went over and the

While the crockery and glassware schedule was under consideration, Vance replying to the statement that 90 per cent. of the cost of manufacturing these articles went to the support of American labor, said the figures showed that the material and labor together did not amount to 75 per cent. To show the interest taken by these manufacturers in American labor he read a circular of the Mallago Glass Manufacturing Company of New Jersey, announcing that after four months of idleness caused by strikes they have resumed operations and are working with "French operatives," Who have proved equal, if not superior to native American workmen. (Laughter.) He also called attention to the statement of workmen employed by an Indiana manufactory—eulogized by Sherman to the effect that that gentleman had imported foreign workmen to supplant Americans. He reviewed in an amusing mhnner the history of this "infant industry" from its birth and said he noped the day would soon come when American workingman would see that he was being used as a dupe by men whose professions of "protecting" him were merely a pretext for levying taxes. The bill went over. Adjourned.

House -Belford, of Colorado, pre sented the memorial of Hinton R. Helper for the establishment of railway communication with Central and South America. Referred.

Helper's scheme is what is known as the backbone railway scheme. It looks to establishing a railroad length wise of through the United States, Mexico and Central America, and the Andes in South America. Doxey, of Indiana, successor of Orth, deceased, was sworn in. The election committee unanimously reported favorably to seating J T Cain as the Delegate from Utah. The report was adopted, and Cain was sworn in.

The special order was taken up, being the joint resolution providing for a new mixed commission in accordance with the treaty of April 25, 1866, between the United States and Venezuela. The debate on this resolution was almost wholly one-sided, the only opposition to it being from one or two members, who doubted the constitutionality of the proposed measure. The resolution was finally adopted. Adjourned.

The Jones-Shelly C. se-The Mississippi Improvement.

WASHINGTON, Jan 17-The House con littee on elections this morning ad pied the report of the sub committee on the Jones Shelly contest recommending that the select committee be sent to Alabama to investigate the alleged frauds in the election of Representative Shelly from the 4.h district. The House committee on commerce this morning interrogated several mem-bers of the Mississippi commission in regard to the progress of the work and expenditures thus far made, the amount which can be profitably expended during the next fiscal year and other matters connected with the improvement of the Mississippi River and its tributaries. The questions asked were designed to aid the committee in the preparation of the Mississippi River improvement item of the river and harbor bill. The appropriation to be recommended for this purpose however will not be finally determined upon until the special committee appointed to investigate the matter shall have submitted its conclusions. At a meeting of the special Mississippi River committee this morning, Capt. John Cowd-n was cross-examined by Representative Thomas, of Illinois, on Lis outlet theory. The cross-examination was chiefly in regard to the Outlet Stock Company, and the conditional purchase of the property by Cowden and his a sociates at a place where it was proposed to construct an outlet. The examination showed that the company had been formed, stock issued and $40,000 paid thereon to Capt. Cowden, which sum had been expended by that gentleman in the purchase of material and property necessary for commencement of the work.
