LOG ROLLING.

While Wrestling with a Fallen Tree a t.umberman Receives Conerquential Pamages. While on a bunting exercision in the great coal and would region near Carbondale, Pa., the writer met William Coll, a lumberman, Accustomed to life and labor in the forest from early manhood, he was a true Knight of the Aze. Many a tree had fallen before his ringing stokes, and fleets of rafts had ne away to market the sawed products racter, and if Oscar Wilde is right in saying that all me ements in unbindered labor are graceful, our friend William, stripped for his work, and attacking a tree as Richard I, assaulted the heavy doors of Front de Bœus's Castle, must have presented an admirable picture.

'One day, however, - but let him tell the story himself, as he told it to me:

'I was out in the woods, you know, trying to start a log down a hid Thinking I could get a better a purchase on it from the lower side, I tackled it there with my log rolling hook and threw my weight on the lever. She started, she dld, but as luck would have it, before I could get out of the way, she rolled right over ms. It it hade't een or a lot of small if be and brush lying in the toad, which lifted her up, she'd a crushed me fixt. As it was I got up without a

"Then you were all right," said his auditor. "Not by a blamed sight, "said his sudior.

"Not by a blamed sight, atranger. I took cold, rhsumatism set, and, if I hadn't heard of BEN-BON'S CAPCINE POROU. PASTE is and used 'em, it's my opinion I should never have made another chip it. But the Carc'ne took hold quick, and I'm 'bout as good as new. But there's one thir grou kin calklists on: I shall never wrattle with another less made and the state of t with another log unless I have the advantage of the around. LEGISLATIVE PROCEEDINGS.

Condensed from the News and Observer.

We clip the following from the proceedings of Monday. In the Senate the bill to make dogs the subject of larceny was put upon its third reading: Mr. Mebane sent forward an amendment providing that the provisions of the act do not apply to Bertie and Northampton counties, which was re-

Mr Scott, of Rockingham, sent forward an amendment providing for the listing of all dogs as property.

Mr Pinnix thought that if this amendment was adopted there would be a general howl all over the State. Mr Ebbs said that if the amendment was adopted there would be more than dogs that would how! throughout the State, and that if the Senator from Rockingham was from his district the place that knows him now would know him no more forever. Mr Scott, of Rockingham, said, according to the statements of other Senators, it was popularity with the people that they were seeking, and if the Sen ators would drop such notions and do what they believed to be right and for the good of the State at large, it would be much better for the people and the State. He thought that if dogs were to be made the subject of larceny it was nothing but right that they should be listed as property.

Mr Watson said that he had long heard of the great trans montane region and especially the region from which the Senator from Madison came, and had always done all in his power to develop the resources of that section by aiding in its railroad enterprises and he was yet willing to do what he could in that way, but it seemed strange to him now, as to the industries of that section, for he had always heard that the rich hillsides and fertile plains were all dotted with herds of sheep feeding upon the luxuriant and waving grasses, but it seemed now from the speech of the Senator from Madison that he was mistaken and that the whole coun try was covered with dogs and that they roamed at large and subsisted upon the fruit of the persimmon trees

Mr. McLean moved to table the whole matter. Mr Pemberton called for the aves and nays; the call was sustained and the vote stood as follows: Ay 8-Berry, Eaves, Goodwyn, Graham, Gray, Hampton, Linney, Loftin,

Lyon, McLean, Morrison, Pemberton,

Pinnix, Ramsay, Richardson, Speight, S rayhorn, Womack .- 19. Nays.-Alexander, Battle, Black Costner, Dortch, Doison, Evans, Lovil! Mebane, Morehead, Payne, Scott, of Rockingham, Watson, Whitford .- 15 Bill to amend section 50, chapter 275. laws of 1876-77, concerning the fitting the time intervening before the expiration of his term was so short that it would not justify holding an election to fill the vacancy, and that this bill authorized the Governor to call an election in this case and in all similar cases within sixty days of the expiration of

of vacancies in Congressional renie-

Mr Pinnix thought that the bill should only apply to the present case and that another bill should be introduced to meet the exigencies of the fu ture, and introduced an amendment to that effect, which was adopted.

Pending its passage on the second reading Mr Boykin introduced a substitute with an appropriate preamble, and said that in this case if the Governor issued his writ of election to-day for a new election to be held in the Third district, to fill the vacancy, that, according to the present election machinery, it would be thirty days before a successor to Mr Shackelford could be elected, and then one week before the canvassing board could declare the rereach Washington in time enough to the term would expire on the 4th of March, 1883, and inasmuch as this bill would prevent the people of the Third district from having an exciting election and save the State much expense and all to no purpose, he was in favor of its passage at once to relieve the Governor from issuing his proclama-tion. His substitute was adopted and passed its several readings, and at his suggestion it was transmitted to the House of Representatives without en-

The bill to pay witnesses in criminal actions before justices of the peace was put upon its third reading The amend ment from judiciary committee making the pay lifty cents was adopted.

Mr Linney opposed the bill, but final ly sent in an amendment providing that no prosecutor shall be compelled to pay cost unless the justice who tried the cause shall find that the prosecution was malicious and frivolous.

Mr McLean opposed the amendm-nt, stating that the amendment would destrov in a great measure the usefulness of the bill, for the case might be frivolous and not be malicious, or vice versa, and that the amendment, if adopted at all should read "or" instead of "and." The amendment was adopted as sent forward. After being discussed by Messrs Linney, Watson, Womack, Mc Lean and Morehead, it passed under roll call, 29 to 7.

The bill to appropriate and set apart certain funds for the Western Insane Asylum was put upon its second read-

Mr Bowkin explained that there was a balance in the treasury of the Insane Asylum funds of something over 6,200, and according to law the Western Asylum would be opened for patients on the first of February, and that as this institution needed more funds to fur- they eat tripe to get even with their nish it properly, and as the bill provided | stomachs, and then they go and take for that want, he was in favor of the passage of the bill. The bill passed its several readings.

Bill to amend chapter 297, laws of 1881, was put upon its second reading. Mr Ramsay explained that the law now in force requires the directors of the Western Insane Asylum to take, as soon as that institution was ready for their reception, one hundred patients from the Asylum at Raleigh, and that he object of the present bill was to give the directors of the Western Asylum their discretion in taking any number over fifty, for he said there were so many patients now in the jails of the western counties that he did not think there would be capacity for accommodating as many as one hundred from Raleigh just at this time. The bill was discussed by several Senators and finally passed over informally. IN THE HOUSE. An act to disqualify certain persons from giving evidence on judgments rendered and contracts and bonds executed prior to August 1st, 1868, being the unfinished business of Saturday, was taken up, and after being discussed by Messrs Robins, Phillips, McLoud, Bunn, Bailey of Mecklenburg, and Holton, passed its third reading.

bri f reminiscence of our own. The late Colonel Richard O. Britton, who represented Bertie county in the Legis-lature and long resided at Oxford, told Mr Watson explained that in the case us that he was once journeying through of the death of Hon J W Shackelford Teans see on horseback—probably about 1838-when wearied and thirsty he stopped at some draw-bars and hol looed to the owner of a rude log shanty that stand some twenty or thirty vares distant. A woman coarsely but neatly clad appeared at the door when he asked for a drink of water. She readi ly obliged him by bringing a gourd fu! to the fence. As she approached he saw a very striking face in its refinement and strength. The manners of the woman were so dignified, quiet, elegant that he was amazed when he looked at the rude surroundings and the coarse garb. After drinking he detained her by a 1ew questions concerning the road, distance to town, &c. Eyeing her with exceeding scrutiny he was moved to say: "Madam excuse me for saying, that I am persuaded that you have seen better days." She looked astonished if not mortified for a moment, and then with evident repressed emotion replied. "Yes sir, I have seen better and happier days. I am now very poor, far from my kindred and friends, with several sult-thus the party elected would not little children to provide for as best as I can. My father was Judge Murphy hold his seat but three or four days, as of North Carolina." She had left her State with her husband who was or became exceedingly dissipated and dragged her down to poverty and toil, although she was well born, finely educated, of excellent mental parts and possessed of the most conspicuous traits of a noble womanhood. Colonel Britton told us that he was actually afraid, such was the unmistakable pride and dignity of the true woman, to offer any assistance, but at the next town a few miles distant, he mailed her ten dollars to give her some temporary

What tripe Is.

Burlington Hawkeye. Occasionally you see a man order tripe at a hotel, but he always looks hard, as though he hated himself and everybody else. He tries to look as though he enjoyed it, but he does not. Tripe is indigestible, and looks like an India-rubber apron for a child to sit on. When it is pickled it looks like dirty clothes put to soak, and when it is cooking it looks as though the cook was beiling a dish-cloth. On the table it looks like glue and taste like a piece of oil silk umbrella cover. A stomach that is not lined with corrugated iron would be turned wrong side out by the smell of tripe. A man eating tripe at a hotel table looks like an Arctic explorer dining on his boots or chewing a piece of frezen dog. You cannot look at a man eating tripe but he will blush and look as though he wanted to apologize and convince you he is taking it to tone up his system. A woman never eats tripe. There is not money enough in the world to hire a woman to take a corner of a sheet of tripe in her teeth and try to pull of a piace. Those who eat tripe are men who have had their stomachs play mean tricks on them, and a Turkish bath to sweat it out of the system. Tripe is a superstition handed down from a former generation of butchers, who sold all the meat and kept the tripe for themselves and the dogs; but the dogs of the present day will not eat tripe. You throw a piece of tripe down in front of a dog and see if he does not put his tail between his legs and go off and hate you. Tripe may have a value, but it is not food. It may be good to fill in a burglarproof safe, with the cement and chilled steel, or it may answer to use as a breastplate in the time of war, or it would be good to use for bumpers between cars. or it would make a good face for the weight of a pile driver, but when you come to smuggle it into the stomach would be pie compared with tripe. GUS WILLIAMS Is making a Big Run in the Character of "One of the Finest," and we are making a Big Run on "One of the

The Situation in France.

LONDON, Ja 1. 24 .- The Time, in a leading editor al this morning, on re-cent events in France, says: There is no doubt that if statesmanship continues to be want ng, the Republic vill go headlong to ruin. That the French people are aware of this is an explanation of the panics caused by the difficulties of a minister so little resembling indispensable genius as M. Duclerc.

Ineculating Live Stock.

At a recent meeting of the French Academy of Sciences, M Pasteur read a paper giving the results accomplished during the past year in the department of the Eure-de-Loire by the farmers who have practically applied his niethod of inoculating live stock as a preventive of disease. The number of sheep vaccinated within the year has been 79,392. For the last ten years the average annual loss from liver-rot has been 7,327, or 9 per cent. Since the introduction of vaccination this loss has been reduced to 518, or 0 65 per cent. A mong the flocks which have been only partially vaccinated, there were 2,308 sheep vaccinated and 1,659 not, and the loss among these was only eight for the 2,308 vaccinated sheep, while it was sixty among the 1,659 unvaccinated sheep. It is worthy of note that these sheep were brought from different parts of the department, and that the vaccinated and unvaccinated ones were all fed and treated in the same way. The veterinarians of the Eure-et Loire have vaccinated during the year 4,562 head of cattle, and there have been only 11 deaths, the rate of mortality being thus reduced from 703 per cent, at which it stood a year ago, to 0.24 per cent. Horses were not vaccinated to Bo general an extent as cattle and sheer, but of the 524s treated only three died.
