SALICYLICA.

Rheumatism, Gout or Neuralgia: IMMEDIATE RELIEF WARRANTED.

Five years established and never known to fall in a single case, acute or chronic. Befer to all prominent physicians and druggists for the standing of Sallcydica. SECRET:

The only dissolver of the Poisonous Uric Acid which exists in the Blood of Rheumatic and Gouty Patients.
SALICYLICA is known a common sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects.

It has been conceded by eminert scientists that outward applications such as rubbing with oils, eintments, liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate these diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid. Salicy Lica works with marvelous effect on this acid and so removes the disorder. It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Highest Medical Academy of Paris reports 95 per cent cures in three days, REMEMBER

The steamship steerage rates from the various ports of Europe to New York have been reduced to $21, nine dollars less than formerly charged.

A young mechanical engineer named A M Dillon committeed suicide in Altoona, Pa., on Friday night, by taking sulphate of morphia. He had been drinking heavily.

W H Garrett, a citizen of Petersburg, Va., who was arrested in that city on a charge of assaulting a young woman, was discharged on Saturday by order of the mayor, the charges against him having been withdrawn.

Giles McFarland, a prominent citizen of Nanticoke, Pa., was murdered on Friday night. His body was found on the street, with the forehead crushed in by a blow from some blunt instrument.

The body of Adeniram Leonard has been found in the woods near Raynham, Mass., frozen stiff. Both feet were tied with a rope to a small sap-ling. Under the corpse was a 32-cali-bre revolver, and on the left side of the coat a small hole was burned. Leonard had worked in a Fall River mill.

Bergin & Sons' glassworks, in Phila-delphia, have shut down and have thrown 200 hands out of employment. The firm announces its inability to compete with New Jersey manufacturerr, who pay their men in store orders, realizing a profit on the stores which they run instead of the manufactory.

A dispatch from Matamoras, Mex., says a party of bandits, led by Jesus Banacar, were attacked Sunday near Juan, Jalisco, by rural soldiers under Captain Lemon. The bandits were defeated being cleven billed Sirver feated, losing eleven killed. Six soldiers were killed, including a brother of Captain Lemon.

The body of John A Wellman, a law-yer, of Denver, Col., was found on Fri-day in a dense thicket near Pueblo, Col. Several weeks ago, owing to some little trouble with his wife, he attempted to destroy himself by taking poison, but failed. It is supposed he went to the place where the body was found about a month ago and shot himself. Mrs. Wellman has made three attempts to commit suicide in the past two days.

HENRY CLAY'S SON JOHN.

How, Being in the Blue Grass Country, He Rides Fine Horses as a Hobby.

Lexington (Ky.) Letter in the Courier-Journal. Situated about one mile and a half from the city of Lexington, on the Tate's Creek pike, is the home and breeding farm of John M. Clay. The place contains something over 300 acres, and was originally a part of Ashland. Along about 1810 Henry Clay purchased Ashland, then containing 1,500 acres, paying for it only $10 per sere. paying for it only $10 per acre. Sometime before his death he became possessed, by gilt and purchase, of quite a number of high-bred horses, which, upon the settlement of his estate, passed into the hands of John M, his youngest son, whose taste and inclination verged toward turf and field sports. For thirty-five years last past the name of John M. Clay has been prominent as a successful breeder and turfman. There is no turfman, either in this country or England, if I except the famous Sir Joseph Hawley, who has, from a few select mares, bred so many high-classed horses as Mr. Clay, and from this fact he has been frequently justly styled the Sir Joseph Hawley of

Mr. Clay parted with Kentucky for four thousand when a two-year-old; he was afterward sold for $40,000, the largest bona fide price ever paid for a horse in America. He was on the turf from a two to a six-year old and during that time sustained but one defeat, he being that time notoriously out of condition. He was indeed a grand horse and probably no better one has been seen upon the American turf. If the writer is not mistaken, he sold Lodi for writer is not mistaken, he sold Lodi for $10,000; for Saucebox, he received $7,000, and not very long ago he parted with the two brood; mares Sly Boots and Squeez'em for $7,500. He has, without doubt, sold as many as 100 head of horses for prices ranging from $1,000 to $10,000; now, mind you, all of these of his own raising. Mr. Clay has never at any one time owned a very large number of mares, but those he did have on hand were always select: in other hand were always select; in other words, pure diamonds, none of them being off-color. His residence is a handsome brick, two stories high, of the old style, wide halls and large rooms, furnished in a manner that well becomes the comfortable home of the old-time Kentucky gentleman. His stabling and out-buildings are substantial. At one time he had a fine stable with all conveniences, but it being destroyed by fire, he has not built so extensively since. Running close to the house is one of the finest and best running tracks in the country, and his colts rarely ever pursuits, nevertheless he continues to breed and take great interest in racing

Southern Railroads. The Railroad Record, published at Atlanta, Ga., noting that 11,000 miles of new railroads were built in the United States and Territories in the year 1882, points to the fact that nearly one third of it was done in the South. It says railroading has just begun in the Southern States, and that there is no reason why a greater mileage will not be con-structed in 1883; the work is cut out for it and the capital is ready; the steel rail mills need not despond; all their product will be required for the next twelve months. Manufacturers of railroad supplies of all kinds will have all they can do to fill their orders if they will only let Southern railroad managers and contractors know where their places of business are and what they have to sell. The Record adds:
"The same will apply to dealers in mill, machinists', miners and industrial trades' supplies generally; for the South has awakened; capitalists have discovered that here is the field for profitable investment. A great and glorious future has dawned for this country of wonderful and inexhaustible resources.

Something About the Health of Balti-

desirable for residences, the drainage is bad; there is practically no sewerage except upon the surface, and up to within a few months their sanitary conditions were conducive to the spread of contagious diseases.

In these sections the small pox broke out and to them it has been mostly con-

The display of yellow flags indicating its existence was honestly made, and these flags, never over thirty in sight of travelers by either railroad, were mag-nified into hundreds, if not thousands. Had their use been suppressed, no scare would have existed; but it was deemed would have existed; but it was deemed best to be honest and in marking every house in so glaring a way, reports went through the entire country carefully and apparently systematically exaggerated by traveling drummers of other cities for the most selfish ends, that Baltimore was terribly afflicted and in every way to be avoided.

The truth is that the superstitions of the colored race against vaccination, their reckless disregard of the laws of health, and the poor sanitary condition of their section, were the sole causes of the extent of their affliction.

Among our other citizens, where all the conditions of a cleanly and careful life, including vaccination, were observed, we have not had a single death, establishments, numbering 50,000 employees, every one has been vaccinated. No one is permitted to enter the buildings, much less labor there, in whose family any case has existed for the moth past; their wages are paid by chairity, or by the liberality of their Over 100,000 persons have been vaccinated by official physicians and most of the rest by family doctors, during the past thirty days.

All infected personal and bed clothing, bedding and furniture, are burnt; and all infected houses fumigated with sulphur and carbolic acid as soon as the patient has recovered. Many other precautions have been adopted, and to-day Baltimore is absolutely as safe from possible contagion (except in the very houses where it exists and they have never exceeded 400 out of 80,000, and have been limited to 3 wards out of 20, far away from business sections and hotels), as any city within the limits of civilization, and in a months time it will be even more so. The law exacts with no chance of escape for avoidance, that every case must be reported, under severe penalties for neglect to do so promptly. There was not in the height of the disease at one time over 600 cases, a great deal of the mortality was among the unvaccinated children of the poor. No case has occurred during the present winter at any hotel.

The release of near 300 inmates of the jail on New Year's day, has been shamefully exaggerated and wilfully misstated. During the Christmas holidays the drunk and disorderly cases who can not pay the fine and are committed for ten or more days, are rather more numerous than at other times. On the 31st of December a case of small pox was discovered in the prison; fearing its possible spread, it was deemed best to discharge those inmates known as peace cases; this, and this only, was within the power of the judge and it was done as a precautionary measure—all of whom could have demanded release had they been able to pay a trivial fine. No convict was released from any sentence. No other case of small pox occurred in any place of punishment or reformation within the city. The penitentiary, the almshouse, the house of correction and the house of refuge are entirely free from it, and but one case as above stated has occurred in the jail. With these facts I ask, through you, simple justice to Baltimore, let the truth be known. We have, as her citizens, done our duty to the best of our knowledge. As chairman of the committee of ways and means in the first branch of her councils. I pledge all needful legislation that will aid to secure her limits from any such afflictions in the future. I am here with ten children and some grandchildren toddling about me, and feel as safe as if I was in the best sanitarium known to Hygienickcience. Very regardfully, JOHN T. FORD.

The Coinage of Silver.

The letter of Secretary Folger, laid before the House of Representatives yesterday, in reference to the immense accumulations of silver coin, which the government is helpless to put in circulation,ought to be sufficient to convince make a canter without his watchful eye being over them. Although Mr. Clay has virtually retired from active turf the most obdurate that is time to disment over $105,000 merely to build vaults to store its sarplus silver; $8,268 of this amount was expended to build a vault in the sub-treasury at Baltimore, and this vault and the others which have been built at New York, San Francisco and Philadelphia are filled to their utmost capacity. Thirty-five hundred tons of silver, more than $120,-000,000 is now on hand, and it does not seem that any method can be devised to get rid of it, unless the plan pointed out in a petition which was presented in the Senate some years since by Mr. Howe now the Postmaster General, be followed. The petition, which came from Iowa, asked that there be paid out from the treasury a dollar a week to every man woman and child in the country. The adoption of this plan would empty the treasury of all its silver in about three weeks, and it would be just as sensible as to continue silver

Of Druggists. The Yellowstone Park.

To the Editor of The Observer.

Deaths from smallpox at Baltimore last week were fourteen less than the week before.

A French aeronaut was killed in Madrid Sunday by his balloon striking a housetop.

Vietor Schnapp, aged 59 years, committed suicide in Philadelphia Satura.

To the Editor of The Observer.

I ask, in view of our old acquaint ance, and what I feel can be truthfully said of our mutual confidence in the integrity of statement upon an important matter, by either, that you will publish this letter as to the health of our city, and endorse it as "the truth, in one winter for their skins alone, and, even last winter in and around the truth."

In a population of the Observer.

Governor Crosby, of Montana, has recently written Senator Vest a long letter on the subject of game protection in the Yellowstone National Park. The Gevernor calls attention to the terrible slaughter of the game in that section—as many as 4,000 elks having been killed in one winter for their skins alone, and, even last winter in and around the Kansas City Journal.

the whole truth and nothing but the truth."

In a population of near 400,000, we have a colored element numbering near 40,000 and a foreign population not speaking the English language of at least 25,000. The African quarters are chiefly in South Baltimore and mostly on the line of the B. C. railread, the low, or what was one time called, the sandy bottom section. The foreign elements are chiefly located on the line of the Philadelphia railroad.

Neither of these neighborhoods are desirable for residences, the drainage is and with authority to call upon the mil-itary stationed in the neighborhood for such details of troops as may be needed in emergencies. Inasmuch as the Government has set aside this great tract of land for a na-tional park, and as Congress has provided against the wanton destruction of the game therein, it would seem but fitting for the Secretary of the Interior to take some decided steps in the matter. It is morally certain that if during the next ten years no more attention is paid to it than during the past few years, the magnificent game supply of this region will be practically swept out of existence. There is no such excuse for the destruction of the game animals in this region, as was the case with the huffalo in Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, and New Mexico, Their vast feeding grounds now furnish nourishment to countless herds of domestic cattle, far more profitable tenants, while the rugged mountains of great Yellowstone park can furnish existence to naught but the elk deer, mountain sheep and goat-their natural habitations.

Even as a matter of National pride, this park, with its 5,000 square miles of the extent of their affliction.

Among the foreign population the same conditions precisely existed; and when vaccination was made compulsory, some had to be committed to jail to enforce the law.

Among our other citizens, where all the conditions of a cheaply and coreful what a grand field too it would break the conditions of a cheaply and coreful.

What a grand field, too, it would pre-sent to the naturalist. The ponderous bison, the stately elk, the graceful deer, of Governor Crosby will be acted upon when, as the American Field says, "it will soon become in reality what its name indicates, and what it was in-tended it should be; and this heritage of natural wonders, the wild romantie scenery and rugged grandeur of which stand unequaled in the West, will be retained to Americans for all time in its true character.'

The publisher of the Beaver Falls, Pa., Courier, Mr. John F. Porter, some time ago contracted a severe cold. He says. "I tried half a dozen remedies ineffectually and upon recommendation of a physician I gave Dr. Bull's cough syrup a fair, square trial. It relieved me immediately and cured my cold and catarrh entirely. It is a remedy that should be used in every household.
