There were plasters with holes in them long before BENSON'S CAP-CINE POROUS PLASTER surprised both the public and the phy icians; and the triumph of the Capcine is founded upon the partial successes, or the utter failures of its predecessors. Everything of value in the old porous plaster is retained in the Capcine; but at this point all comparison ends and contrast begins. For example:

The old plasters were slow in their action; the Capcine is quick and sure.

GRATITUDE.

GENTS-I cannot find words with which to express my gratitude to you for the cure your Swift's Spec fic has effected in my case. I was afflicted with the horrible blood disease for three years. and after spending some time at the Hot Springs, considered my case a hopeless one. I used only one dozen small bottles of S. S. S., and there is not a sign of the disease remaining. My sores are all healed, my throat is entirely well; I am rid of SSS disease. Beckerk, I have that terrible ing a drug dreds of men dosed with Calomel, Iodide of Mercury and Iodide of Potash, until they were made complete wrecks, that I shudder to think of the misery which has been brought on the human family by the use of Mercurials for Blood Diseases. It is a crying shame that physicians will not acknowledge the merit of your GRAND Blood Medicine. Use my name as you wish. I refer you to my present employers, or to Messrs. Collins J. H BAIF. The Charlotte Obs rver. LEGISLATIVE PROCEEDINGS.

WEDNESDAY, February 8. SFNATE.—A number of petitions and local bills were introduced.

The clerk read the original bill for the sale of the States interest in the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad. There are two substitutes from the committee for this bill, and section 9 is so amended that the convicts shall not be employed on any branch of said rail-road, except the Yadkin Valley branch road, except the Yadkin Valley branch until the said railroad is sompleted to Mt Airy and Patterson. Another amendment secures the completion of the road to Patterson, in Caldwell county, by providing if the work be delayed or the grading suspended until the road is completed to Patterson, then the company shall forfeit all right or claim to the convict labor, and all bonds due the State from said railroad company for convict labor shall become the absorption. for convict labor shall become the absolute property of the State; and, also, the seventy thousand dollars of new North Carolina bonds, deposited by the com-pany with the State treasurer, shall likewise become the absolute property of the State, etc., etc. These amendments were reported by Mr Linney, and not Turner, as printed for the majority report of the commit-

Mr Pool offered the majority report, which is not clogged with guarantees in the sale of the State's interest and the onward building of the road.

Mr Dortch said he was not opposed to a sale of the State's interest, but thought it ought to be sold at public auction, so as to give every body a chance, and he offered an amendment to that end to the original bill as fol-lows: "Strike out all after the word company," in section 1, line 7. down to the word 'upon' in line 17, and insert the words 'at public auction after 90 days' notice in such newspapers as they may select.'

Mr Watson said that he was not feeling well, but if his strength could hold out he would give the senate some history of the company, condition of the road, &c. He said that the State owned $550,000 worth of stock, valued now at ten cents in the dollar, making $55,000 the valued of the State's interest. It is necessary to sell, as the company had to | ter as far as the bill affected the county borrow $150,000, and hypothecated its of Davie. If this law was passed a preof mortgage bonds besides. There are eighty miles of road graded ready for the iron, and the company has not the credit to buy it, and so the State must help it. The State would do well to give $55,000 to any syndicate that would cut across these lines and complete the road to Greensboro, thereby putting the Wilmington and Weldon, the Raleigh and Augusta and the Richmond and Danville Railroads in competition with

As to Mr Dortch's amendment proposing to sell the State's interest at public auction, he spoke of iron and coal in inexhaustible quantities on the Dan river beds that this road would pass through, and as far as the county of Surry is concerned these iron beds are all over the county; the very finest iron; the county might be said to be one vast bed of iron. He spoke of the Yadkin Valley as one of the fairest valleys the eyes of a man had ever beheld; its representatives had stood here on this floor and voted vast sums to help the east and west with railroads and never till to-day had they asked the State for help for themselves, and now not for themselves alone, but for this bill, which, in its policy, would help the whole State. In all such internal improvements as these it was the duty of the State to furnish convict labor free to any community that desired it. To construct this road as the syndicate proposed would be worth to North Carolina ten-fold fifty-five thousand dollars, because the first mortgage bonds with the road unfinished would be as the State's stock now is. The State of North Carolina ten years after the building of the road from the South Carolina line to the town of Patterson would be worth ten-fold more than the cost of the whole building of the road. He had rather this road stand as it is than to adopt the amendment of the Senator from Wayne, and he warned this Senate now if they adopted that amendment this road would pass into some railroad's hands that would throt-

Mr Morehead said he arose merely to move the postponement of the bill for further discussion until to-morrow, in order that the Senators might be better conversant with the facts. Taking the statement of the Senator from Forsythe, the actual value of the State stock was merely mythical-he understood the value to be about two dollars a share, as fixed by the last General Assembly. This railway got the $150,-000 by putting up three hundred thousand dollars in bonds which were endorsed besides by private gentlemen as a guarantee to the bonds. From the calculations he had seen made it would take five hundred thousand dollars to buy the iron on the main track to Mt Airy before beginning the branch to Patterson. He represented a constituency who were interested in the road, who were now paying a subscription on the invitation to build this road, and all they wanted was some proposition that would build the road; three townships in his county had given $23,-000 in cash to this road, and they had actually given the company the money to buy the carts and picks and shovels to start the road; the company hadn't a cent to buy them of itself; his constituents had gone on their private means and were now paying their money with the understanding that this road would be completed, and it was a moral obligation on the part of the State that this road should be built or else the money refunded to his constituents. The present company had neither money or credit. He asked the attention of the lawyers to these new special act bonds, issued by the Legislature of 1868, and the question was whether the holders of those bonds could not go on the stock of the State for the payment of those bonds. This offer to purchase contains two propositions; one is simply to buy out, and the other is on the extension of these branches that what they gave should be rebursed to the company. He thought when the Senate should fully understand the facts that one or the other of the proposi-tions would be accepted. Mr Loftin asked Mr Morehead which of the propositions he was for? Mr Morehead replied that his constituents were for continuing the road to Patterson, whence they could bore a hole through the mountains for the West or dig deep ditches for the East; the people of Guilford, through their Representative, always stood with an outstretched hand. He moved a post-ponement of a further discussion of the bill till to-morrow at 11 o'clock.

Mr Dortch said he was in favor of the sale of the State's interest in the road, that it might be completed. He would do everything in his power to aid the people in that section of the State, but thought his amendment to sell at public auction should prevail, to prevent complaints and give all who may desire to purchase an opportunity

On motion of Mr Morehead the bill was postponed till to-morrow.

The special order, Mr Poole's bill for building a residence for the Governor, came up. Mr Poole spoke to the bill. He thought it time that the General Assembly was obeying the command in the constitution to provide such a residence. This bill provides that the money derived from the sale of the old Governor's mansion and the sale of the lots made by a previous General Assembly, with the use of the convict labor, shall go to building a residence on Burke Square.

Mr Scott, of Rockingham, asked the amount for the sale of these lots. Mr Poole answered that the amount derived from the sale of lots was $17,000; the amount that may be derived from the sale of the old Governor's mansion about $8,000, and with that and the use of the convicts they could not up a $25,000 building.

and the use of the convicts they could put up a $35,000 building.

The bill was put to a vete of the Senate. Mr Cezart asked for the yeas and nays. Not granted. The bill passed its third reading.

Mr Pool asked a suspension of the rules, that the bill to facilitate the construction of the Newbern and Beaufort canal be put on its readings. Granted, and the bill was read. It gives the State's stock in the Chesapeake and Albemarle Canal, of 2,500 shares, to the Newbern and Beaufort Canal, they to turn it into useful navigation.

turn it into useful navigation.

Mr Clarke showed maps of the country and spoke in favor of the transfer, showing the benefit of it to the Eastern portion of the State. Mr Webb said he would like further to look into the bill. It was a matter of grave importance, and he moved it be made the special order for next Monday at 12 o'clock.

Mr Pool said the gentleman could get any information he desired right now.

Mr Purnell agreed with Mr Webb.

He would like further to investigate it.

Mr King of Cherokee, for the committee, said the State stock was $250,-000. It was of no value now, and as it would build up the enterprise and help the eastern part of the State, the committee reported favorably upon the bill. Mr Webb changed his move for special order at half-past 1 o'clock Friday, with also a motion to print the bill.

The Senate so ordered. House.—The House was occupied a considerable portion of the time in the consideration of petitions, local bills,&c, after which the special order, an act to submit to the voters of Davie county the question of the stock law, was taken up.

Mr Cain said that at an election held in Davie county some time ago on this question it was voted down by a large majority; that since that time the Legislature passed a stock law which the people did not want, and he hoped the bill would pass. Mr Overman said it was a local mat-was established that would bankrupt some of the best counties in the State. He suggested that the bill should be entitled "An act to bankrupt the county of Davie." That in the in junction cases on this subject the evidence showed that more than a majority of the voters were in favor of sustaining the act of 1881; that this county was in his district, and it was once a part of Rowan, and that he thought much of the wishes of the people of Davie county. That the gentleman said he had the names of 900 citizens, and he (Mr O) showed one of them, and said that every name on the petition was signed in the same hand, and it was the case with every one of the petitions in favor of this bill, and that this showed that a fraud had been perpetrated. He then read the petitions he had against this bill, and commented on the difference in the petitions, and read certificates in support of his statement from the county officers. That it was to the interest of the poor man to have a stock law in this county. That the majority of the owners of property were in favor of a stock law, and he hoped the bill would not pass.

Mr McAllister was opposed to the bill and in favor of the present law. Mr Holt called the previous question and the call was sustained. Mr Bailey, of Mecklenburg, moved to amend by making the county pay for all fences which have been torn down and would have to be replaced.

Mr Overman moved to lay that amendment on the table, which prevailed and carried the bill with it. Mr Overman moved to reconsider the vote by which the bill was tabled and to lay that motion on the table. The motion to table prevailed. The special order for this hour was taken up,it being an act to amend chapter 240, laws 1874-75. Mr Peebles said that the acts of 1874-

75 was passed to prevent railroads from charging any more per mile for short distances than for long distances, but that the proviso destroyed the effect of the bill, and that this bill was to strike out that proviso. The bill then passed its third reading. To increase the number of justices of the peace for the several townships of the State. Mr Robins could see no use in increasing the number of the justices of the peace in North Carolina. Mr Holton was opposed to increasing the number of justices because he thought it would result in no good to the counties and would be expensive, Mr Wilcox moved to table the bill, which was lost.

Mr Gudger said the bill as amended by him would only give one for every 1,000 inhabitants, and two for every township, whereas the bill would give two for every 1,000 inhabitants. The amendment of Mr Gudger was lost. Mr Green, of New Hanover, moved to amend by appointing every male in North Carolina 21 years of age, which Mr Waddell moved to refer to the committee on appointment of justices. The motion was lost. The bill then passed its third reading.

To empower the trustees of the Supreme Court library to appoint a librarian. Third reading. Substitute for an act to increase the fees of justices of the peace.

Pending the consideration of this bill the hour of adjournment arrived and the House stood adjourned.

Blaine as a Nemesis.

Washington correspondence Cincinnati News, They make no concealment to day over Windom's discomfiture, and claim it as another evidence that Blaine has given up all hopes of the presidency, and intends to devote his remaining years to revenging himself upon his enemies. "And the history of the past few months shows how terrible he was in the roll of a Nemesis," said one of them. "The burial of Folger, Arthru's representative in New York the slaughter of the Cameron's in Pennsylvania. the general division in the party ranks that gave some of the strongest republican states to the democrats, and the humiliation of Windom, prove that if his sword is double edged it is as sharp on one side as the other. A dispach to the Philadelphia Times states that Dr. Juliuis Sevin, a leading physician of Erie, Pa. makes charges of shocking cruelty inflicted upon the insane inmates of the State Asylum at Dixmont. Dr. Sevin was confined in the asylum for eight years, and his release was effected only a few days ago. When sent to the institution his mind had given way under a great bereavement, but in less than eighteen months he recovered his reason, and asked to be released. His request was refused, and he was kept shut for seven years longer, all his letters to his friends being intercepted. At length he succeeded in communicating with the outside world, and was set at liberty.
