SENATE.—Five petitions and six bills were offered when Mr. Battles bill to promote the efficiency of the North Carolina Board of Health, came up as a special order.

was worth more than gold, he moved to indefinitely postpone.

Mr Battle urged the necessity for the bill and the importance of passing it, saying that public health was public wealth, and to care for the health of the people, and study the influx and efflux of human life was a duty that devolved on us all.

Mr Dotson said he opposed the bill, because the farmers had to pay for every analysis made of the waters. It was right they should pay for analyzing fertilizers, but not for water.

Mr Alexander said that this tax did not come out of the farmers, but out of the manufacturers or agents of the fer as a cause of insanity it would be much tilizers; it could not be so construed as

Mr Strayborn asked the yeas and nays on the motion to refer. Ordered. Yeas 9, nays 29. So the motion to refer did not prevail. Bill as special order on the building for the Supreme Court Sessions came up, and Mr Dotson moved to postpone it for thirty minutes, that Mr Watson's bill might be considered. Mr Poole opposed this, he said it was not fair, it was not in courtesy. Mr Linney replied that this Senate would decide whether it was fair or

Mr Dotson's metion prevailed, so the special order was displaced by the bill supplemental to the bill ordering the building of a Governor's Mansion. Mr Watson spoke to the bill, saying the building of this mansion was most too heavy work for this session; the effect of this bill is only to say that the Governor and his council shall not proceed with the building of this costly mansion until the 1st of March, 1885, and not even then, unless under another bill, passed by the Legislature. He said a State that was so poor that she could pay her Governor but three thousand dollars, wasn't able to put him in a sixty thousand dollar mansion. Mr Poole said it was a remarkable thing, that the Senator from Alexander was in favor of voting fifty-five thousand dollars from the State for building him a junebug railroad through his section, but when it comes to erecting a building that will belong to the State and be a credit to her in the future, that then the Senator from Alexander was suddenly struck with a panic cry for retrenchment and reform.

Mr Dortch raised the question of order, that this bill had passed and become a law, and that it could not be repealed at this session of the Legislature. He read from parliamentary law to sustain him and denied out and out the power of this Legislature to repeal

Bill for providing a room in the Agricultural building for Supreme court sessions; also a building for a library, came up as special order. Mr Poole amended, adding clerk of the Supreme court to the Governor and his council. Accepted. Mr Poole argued that the necessity for a Supreme court room could not be doubted by any one.

Mr Watson spoke of the importance of the Senate passing the bill, and he desired it tangled with no amendments. He discussed the importance of the bill. He said this was a building not drnamental as was the governor's mansion, but that necessity called for it to be Insomula and Insanity.

Main Charlotte Observer.

The current number of the Boston Journal of Chemistry contains extracts from advance sheets of a work now in press by Dr C E Page, which is likely to attract more than ordinary attention. It is hardly necessary to note that sleep lessness is one of the most universal as it is one of the most distressing of diseases. School children, business and professional men, the laborer and the a special order.

Mr Linney said, as we were drawing near the end of the session, and time was worth more than gold, he moved to indefinitely postpone.

Mr Battle urged the necessity for the bill and the importance of passing it, saying that public health was public wealth, and to care for the health of the people, and study the influx and efflux of human life was a duty that devolved on us all. says the sleepless, wearied man, "a drunken sleep than no sleep at all, for sleeplessness means insanity." Dr Page, however, takes a radically different view. He sets it down as an axiom that

"to deserve sleep is to have it." He makes the startling assertion that intilizers; it could not be so construed as to come out of the farmers. He cited a few of his objections to this bill. For instance, that the county superintendent of health had caused much dissatisfaction in his county; so much that the county commissioners had petitioned to repeal it, and there was now a bill to that effect in the other House. He went through the bill and showed the amount of money that could be drawn under it—only if they would.

After further discussion, Mr Dotson asked the yeas and nays on the passage of the bill on the second reading. Ordered. Yeas 7, nays 28. The bill failed to pass. nearer the truth to say that insanity but could with advantage place them-selves under the charge of an expert in diseases of the brain, or even in an asylum, if either the former or the physicians in charge of the latter were in all regards thoroughly equipped for their work—a rare circumstance, indeed. Normal sleep is dreamless; in default of this total oblivion sleep is only par-tial—it is not perfect nervous repose. No person who suffers severely from indigestion but is also troubled with much dreaming, and, more or less, with wakefulness; and no person who has these last named symptoms but can safely set them down, at least in great measure, to digestive disorder, and as almost invariably removable by im proved habits." To attack insomania as a disease, he holds, is sure to result in discomfiture Of course, the doctor has a remedy, al though he discourages drugging. advises the insomniac to review his hints on diet, air, exercise, etc., so as to know what he has to do to become sound physiologically. "Once estab-lished," he says, "this condition of wake fulness tends to perpetuate itself; but this would be otherwise with an absolutely natural regimen. A man is wakeful at night because under his present physical condition he ought to be." The only possible cure for the disease is a radical reform in one's living habits. Let one go to bed at about the same hour every night, if possible, or at any rate when he does lie down to sleep it should be after a quiet hour or half hour devoted to peaceful and thoughtsteadying occupations, never exciting mental exercise, whether amusing or instructive; and when he draws the blankets about him let it be with a sublime indifference as to whether he shall or shall not go to sleep promptly.

Who has not attempted to count one's self to sleep, or what parent has not advised the child to try to go to sleep? But, says this medical writer, "the sub-duing of the senses, the attempt to shut out external impressions by deafening the ears, closing the eyes and lowering the sensibilities generally, is in itself a frequently recognizable and always possible cause of persistent wakefulness. The effort to compose the mind (after lying down) and subdue the activity of the senses is made by the higher mental faculty, a part or function of the organism which, of all others, needs to be itself restful in order that the physicomental being may sleep. It is therefore obvious that an endeavor to go to sleep is a mistake" Still worse is the attempt to coax sleep out of a bottle or a box. A man or woman who is benumbed enjoys neither rest nor sleep, only the counterfeit presentment. Sleep that is beneficial is natural. The man who, sitting at the desk all day, has never once distended his lungs to one half their capacity has not pumped enough oxygen into his blood to vivify and recruit it His tissues are not properly renewed as he uses them up by mental labor. On this point a distinguished English physician is quoted, who says: dilation of its vessels, and increases the flow of blood through them, mental action of itself not only attracts more extent for the removal of waste producis. Hence, sleeplessness is normal for a clogged brain. The movements

As stimulation of the brain causes blood to the brain but provides to some induced by the cardiac pulsations are not so extensive as those caused by the respiratory movements or by muscular exertion, and, therefore, when the brain is overworked and the respiratory and muscular movements are restricted, the cerebral nutrition will be diminished by the imperfect removal of waste from its substance. But if, in addition to this, the cerebral cells and fibres are actually poisoned by the circulation within the vessels which supply them of noxious substances, due to imperfect digestion or assimilation, matters will become very much worse. Dr. Fage evidently regards coffee drinking and tobacco smoking as enemies to somnolence, and, therefore, enemies to health. Abstinence from stimulating doses, simple food, fresh air and plenty of it are the prerequisites to sleep. But if it does not come with such wooing it must not be forced with soporific drugs.

A Word for the Outcast

San Franc Chron ele. The fact appears to be lost sight of that the Government reaps a very large profit on the coinage of standard dollars, as between the cost of the bullion and the face value of the coin. This point may be strikingly illustrated by taking the aggregate legal tender valnation of the standard dollars coined to January 1, 1883 $132,955,080, and deducting from this amount paid by the Mint for the bullion, $119,896,346. The result is $13,058,734, this being the excess of the coin value over the cost of the bullion. Who will deny that is not a financial operation for the Government? Whe her the coin remains in the public vau! is or not matters but little to the general public, so long as a large proportion is represented in circulation by the silver certificates, the very best and safest currency possible. If the Government herein derives an important advantage, as nothing is lost by abrasion, which, for silver coin in circulation, is no trifling considera-

Tennessee's State Debt.

NASHVILLE, Feb. 27 .- The bill for the settlement of the State debt was intro-duced in the Legislature to-day. The bill has been perfected by the Demo-cratic caucus, and will pass. The State debt proper is to be funded in full with the contracted rate of interest, 4 years interest being deducted. Bonds held by the educational institutions in the State, and by Mrs President Polk, are to be funded on the same terms. The balance to be funded at 50 cents on the dollar, with 3 per cent interest.

Disciples of Schenck.

A dispatch from San Antonio, Texas, says: "A report has leaked out here re garding a great game of poker played in New York some time ago between several railroad kings, during which one of the gentlemen, having lost all of pocket money, offered to put up engines as collateral. Fortune still combated him, and at the close of the game he had lost three of the best engines he owned. They are now running on the winner's road in this State, their numbers being 22, 24 and 26, and are valued at $40,000."

Detectives Indicted. WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 .- The grand jury yesterday returned an indictment against three ex-detectives, and several other persons, for receiving stolen prop-erty. Among them Charles Gay and ex detective Muller, charged with re-ceiving ex-Senator Christiancy's stolen jewelry, valued at $5,000; private detective Flinders, charged with receiving stolen bonds worth $14,000, and A B Williams, lawyer, now one of the counsel for Brady and Dorsey in the Star Route trials.
