> Cotton Factories Becoming Numerous-Schools at Dallas, Gastonia and King's Mountain -- The All Healing Springs--German Colony--Limestone

The Charlotte Observer.

It seems as though the cotton factories in the South have been multiplied so rapidly that the business is overdone, and in consequence thereof prices for cotton yarns and warps have declined to such an extent as to make the mannfacturing of them no longer profitable. Why cannot our Southern people enter into competition with the North in the manufacture of other articles, as for instance, carpet weaving, watch and clock factories, articles of hardware and cutlery, wooden-ware, matches, silk weaving, as well as silk raising. country towns and places, fuel abundant, house rents low, and skilled labor could soon be had with instructors from abroad.

These thoughts have been forced upon me in conversation with Mr. J. H. Wilson, Jr, the proprietor of one of the best water powers in all this section, and as soon as he adds other additional machinery to that now in use in his cotton mill, he will be able to increase his profits as well as his business. which latter is even now quite extensive. Give him more capital, and then success to his enterprise, say we. His factory is located near enough to the railroad, at Gastonia, to be a success; in a healthy and well-wooded locality, at the base of Spencer's mountain, owned mostly by himself, so that he manufacturing business. Gastonia and Dallas are but four miles distant from each other. Both of these towns have good and flourishing schools, the one at Dallas is superintended by the Rev M L Little, who will soon have to enlarge his building in order to make room for his pupils; both of these places are noted for excellent morals and health; no liquor is allowed to be sold there as a beverage. Our former State Treasurer, D A Jenkins, THIS Famous remedy most happily meets the the uncompromising friend of temperance, residing in Gastonia, may have much to do with this condition of

It is a specific for certain diseased condi-King's Mountain, not the eminence noted in revolutionary history as the place where an important battle was fought, but a town near the mountain, or rather a railroad station on the Charlotte and Atlanta Air-Line, that has grown into a flourishing town, is the place where Capt W T R Bell has his successful military school; how and where he gets his extensive patronage is best known to himself. He and Maj Bingham, at Mebanesville, N C, seem to be running a race with each other, not as rivals nor competitors, but as successful managers of boys, and that is saying a great deal, for many colleges in our State and elsewhere have not yet caught the secret of the success of these two gentlemen. Is it the military feature of these two institutions with its strict discipline? Or is it a peculiarity, or rather individuality, of their principals? If "nothing succeeds so well as success," these schools have certainly a prosperous future before them.

Four miles distant from the town of King's Mountain is the All Healing Springs, under the management of Dr F M Garrett, and located at the base of Crowder's mountain,in a very romantic situation. Here is the place for the invalid of every description; the springs are numerous and each one is of a different character. This is also the place for a pleasant summer resort, it is a cool and refreshing little corner, with every facility for bathing, and the dining room is fanned by machinery turned by water power, which the springs afford, keeping the dining room in a breezy condition and absolutely free of flies. It is also a place of rest, and one also corrects an irregular acid state of the stomach, makes the bowers act at proper intervals, gives ease to those who suffer from rheumatic and kidney troubles, and conquers as well as prevents Gaffney station, in South Carolina, claims the title of "city," whether its 1,009 inhabitants and a good hotel gives it that right, or the desire now manifested by many of the towns to be as important as their more populous sisters, "this deponent sayeth not." But if every incorporated town must be called a city, then another term will have to be invented to designate cities of 50,000 or more inhabitants. However that may be, Gaffney has certainly grown wonderfully within the past few years, and is destined to increase still more, judging from the number of cotton wagons I noticed there. Near the place is the once celebrated Limestone Springs Female Seminary, under the former proprietorship of Revs Dr Curtis, father and son, of the Baptist church. The exceedingly capacious edifice is 240 feet long and four stories in leight; it was originally erected for a hotel, at a cost of $75,000, and here the elite of the low country of South Carolina formerly spent their summers and drank the limestone water of the spring. But in process of time Saratoga and the Virginia springs became more popular, and then the hotel at Limestone Springs was sold for about oneeighth its original cost, and was conwithin; its manifestations without. Hence, to cure verted into a very prosperous female boarding school. But the late war inthe disease the CAUSE must be removed, and in terfered very much with its success. On my way to the Springs I missed the road, and came upon a lovely little valley, almost surrounded by hills and mountains, which delighted me so much that I involuntarily exclaimed: Well! here I should like to live, and spend the balance of my days. I made inquiry of some laborers in the field, and soon discovered that this was the place where recently a colony of Germans had local ted themselves. They are natives of Switzerland, Baden and Saxony, the very same stock which originally settled large portions of Rowan, Cabarrus. Iredell and Davidson counties, and some have even the same names. Extends the provisions of this act to sleeping car companies, trustees and receivers of railroads, and gives the commission authority to have copies of papers sent to them in any part of the SEC. 9 Allows the Attorney-General on notice from the commission to bring action against any road that violates any constitutional provision or any law of this State, or unjustly discriminates against person or persons, to forfeit its charter. SEC 10. Allows the commissioners to examine station houses, receptoion, rooms, &c., and when they find them unsafe or inadequate to accomodate the traveling public to report to the Attorney General, and if the road after notice from the commissioners refuses to make reasonable repairs, &c., to bring action to forfeit the charter of such road.

SEC. 11. Gives the commissioners the ulate freight and passenger rates, and says they "shall" make such rules and regulations as will prevent unjust discrimination.

SEC. 12. Provides for the advertising of the rates, &c, in all the principal towns and cities of the State, and makes it the duty of the commission, and also requires the commissioners to keep a record of their proceedings in a book kept for that purpose, and to keep that open to the inspection of the public.

SEC. 13. Compels every railrod company to give all information desired by the commission as to its freight and passenger rates and to its general management and as to its contracts and agreements, that may protect the welfare of the people and corporations in the State.

SEC. 14. Makes all officers of railroads who fail to obey the process of the commission guilty of a misdemeanor. SEC 15 Prevents the commission from doing anything that will inter fere with the legal rights of any railroad or from meddling with its liabili ties for its own acts or those of its
