Brought Into Competition with the World, the Best Carries off the Honors.

At the great Centennial Fxhibition of 1876, the leading products of all the branches of the World's Industry were assembled at Philadelphia. To carry off a prize in the face of that tremendous competition was a task of no ordinary difficuly. Inventions and preparations for the alleviation of pain and the cure of disease were present in the greatest possible variety, representing the skill and the profoundest study of the age, and it may be of vita: importance to you, personally, to know that the highest and only medal given to repber Porous plasters, was awarded to the manufac ur ers of BENSON'S CAP INE PROUS PLASTER. by the following jury:

Dr. WM. ROTH, Surgeon-General, Prusslan J. H. THOMPSON, A. M., M. D., Washington, D. C.

C. B. WHITE, M. D., New Orleans, RRNEST FLEISCH, M. D. Austria The decision was afterwards confirmed by the medical jury at the last Paris Exposition. Knowing the value of such high and unbiased testimony, the medical profession, both in the United States and Europe, quickly threw aside the old, slow-acting plasters they had been using, and ado; ted Benson's in their regular practice. That physicians and surgeons of the broades reputation did this, distinctly proves the intrinsic merit It is no more than just to add that the average physician of to-day is not dominated by the prejudices which retarded the progress and modified the success of his predecessors of not more than twenty five years ago. He accepts hints from all quarters and endorses and adopts demonstrated healing ag-nts wherever he finds them. The right of Benson's Capsine Porous Plaster to stand at the head of all external applications whatsoever, for the mitigation or cure of disease, is no longer questioned. Let the purchaser, however, be on his guard against imitation. The genuine has the word

DENVER, COL., Aug. 29, 1882. GENTS-I cannot find words with which to express my gratitude to you for the cure your Swift's Spec: fic has effected in my case. I was afflicted with the horrible blood disease for three years, and after spending some time at the Hot Springs, considered my case a hopeless one. I used only one dozen small bottles of S. S. S., and there is not a sign of the disease remaining. My sores are all healed, my throat is entirely well; I am rid of many hundreds of men dosed with Calomel, Iodide of Mercury and Iodide of Potash, until they were made complete wrecks, that I shudder to think of the misery which has been brought on the human It is a crying shame that physicians will not acknowledge the merit of your GBAND Blood Medicine. The Charlotte Observer. RIDGE'S TERRIBLE REVENGE.

An Indian Journalist Who Killed Thirty-two Men. Shasta, Colorado, Cousier.

There are on the Comstock many men who are well acquainted with John R Ridge, who was a really remarkable man. He was a man who could sit upon a point of rocks in the high Sierras for hours gazing down upon the valleys, the huge pines and the canyons, drinking in and enjoying the beauties of nature so absorbed in his thoughts as to hardly move hand or foot; yet arouse the Indian in him and he was a man of steel and without a thought of anything human or poetical until his vengeance was satiated. It was two different souls within one John R Ridge, who was a really rewas two different souls within one body. His Indian name was "Yellow Bird."

John R Ridge was the eldest son of Major Ridge, Chief of the Cherokee Nation, who was murdered in his house by a deputation of the rival Ross party, and John Ross in consequence became the chief. The little John was concealed in the weeds, saw his father stabbed and shot to death and swore vengeance on the murderers. When he became a man he armed himself and went on a still hunt on the warpath and followed on the trail until he had slain thirty-two of them. At length the mysterious death of one of their number in 1849 aroused the vengeance of the Ross men, who, suspecting the author of their calamities, pursued Ridge several hundred miles over the plains, but being well mounted and in company with the celebrated Charley McIntosh, he made his way safely to California. Some time in 1859 Mr Ridge was editor of the Marysville Democrat, and one night received a dispatch from Weaverville, stating that a party of Cherokee Indians from Cherokee Bar were on a spree in town, and that one of them was boasting that he had had a hand in the death of Major Ridge, and had stabbed him five times. That same hour the avenger was on his trail.

Without mentioning his purpose to any one in the printing office, Ridge hired a horse at the livery stable and started for Weaverville, over 200 miles, but the enemy somehow, got telegraphic intelli-gence of his coming, and on his arrival not a Cherokee could be found on Trinity river. Mr Ridge died a few years ago in Grass Valley, universally lamented and leaving to the world the most glorious poem ever written in California-that on "Mount Shasta."

THE MISSISSIPPI FLOOD.

The Levees Breaking and the Situation Threatening.

NEW ORLEANS, March 6-A special to the Times-Democrat from Helena, Ark, says the Fitzhugh levee, five miles south of this city, gave way Monday night. Yesterday morning the crevasse over 100 yards wide was becoming rapidly wider. The rush of water through the opening is terrific. The whole country around old town it is believed will be inundated. The other levees are being strengthened but it is foot of water. A further rise of 15 inches is anticipated in which case nothing can prevent inundation of the country contiguous to Helena. The gauge now shows the water to be 46 feet six inches above low water mark and 8 inches below the highest point reached last spring. The St Francis River at Madison is several inches higher than it was last

NEWS NOTES.

Yesterday thellower Mississippi was rising rapidly.

Ex-Treasurer Polk was released from jail, on $20,000 bail. The trial of thirty socialists will begin at Vienna on next Thursday.

Extreme destitution prevails in portions of Ireland. James Carey, the informer, has been expelled from the town council of Dub-

C. Samuels, a prominent dry goods merchant, of Paris, Texas, was shot and killed by B. W. Gumpert on Saturday. The same shot killed a bootblack and wounded a drummer named Hoffman.

Th eresidence of John Cook, a butcher of Wilmington, Del., was entered by burglars Friday night, who chloroformed Mr. Cook and his brother and carried off $1,600 from under their pillow. A meeting of legitimists was held at Lille, France, Monday, and resolutions were a lopted pledging all persons present to support the royalist cause in the coming struggle with the Republic. The British government has asked for the extradition of John Walsh, who was arrested last week in Paris. The extradition of Frank Byrne has been asked for, but his friends are preparing to prove an alibi. Early on Saturday morning three burglars broke into the jewelry store of J. C. Klahott, at Springfield, Ill., gag-ged the private watchman and put him into a coal-hole, and then helped themselves to wetches, diamonds and jewelry valued at from $18,000 to $20,000.

Harvey N. Follansbee, clerk to the superintendent of the Boston police department and treasurer of the Police Relief Association, has embezzled some $20,750 of invested funds of the latter organization. He has been speculating in stocks. The jury in the case of John Croney, tried at Wilmington, Del., for killing Daniel Magnire in a fight at the last election, failed to agree. The State then accepted a plea of guilty of manslaughter, and the prisoner was senten- | ty, Monday evening, the degree of M D ced to five years imprisonment and to pay a fine of $4,000.

Airs of the Pulic Printer.

The public printer keeps two private horses and carriages at an expense to the government, in addition to those already allowed him. The chief clerk and Rounds's son Horace, each keeps a horse and buggy at the government ex-pense, and each has a colored driver paid by the government. The youngest son of Rounds keeps a span of goats, whose stable was built by a carpenter employed by the government, and the lumber for the same was paid for by the government. No sooner had Rounds been fairly installed into office than he began to have bound, in the most expensive style, for his private library, all kinds of government and other publications. The public printer has had made for himself and friends handsome pocketbooks and portfolios, each of which cost the government many a dollar. But the crowning extravagance of all is the fact that for weeks before last Christmas five men, whose names can be given, all expert book binders, were employed in making portfolios, albums, pockerbooks, and scrapbooks, to be given by the friends of the public printer as Christmas presents to their friends. These were all lettered and handsome. ly stamped with gold leaf. About five dozen of the finest skins were used, the whole thing costing the government, at the very lowest figures, $1,000.

WORK OF THE LATE CONGRESS.

Bills Passed and Bills Stranded on the Calendars of the Two Houses.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—During the Forty-Seventh Congress 10,670 bills and joint resolutions were introduced in the two houses, and of these 832 were introduced in the House and 357 in the Senate during the session which has just closed. In each house the great majority of these measures still remain with the committees to which they were referred, and of those reported from committees the larger number remain upon the calendary. Aside from main upon the calendars. Aside from the regular annual appropriation bills, 163 bills and joint resolutions have passed both houses and have become laws. Among the more important of these are the following: The tax and tariff bill; the civil service bill; Japanese indemnity fund bill; to provide for a new mixed commission in accordance with the treaty of April 25, 1866, with the United States of Venezuela; to modify the postal money order system; to readjust the salaries of postmasters: to prevent the importation of adulterated tea; to encourage the holding of a world's industrial and cotton centennial exposition in 1884; to amend the act repealing the discriminating duties on goods produced east of the Cape of Good Hope; to erect a monument to Gen DeKalb.

Among the stranded bills left on the calendar of the committee of the whole were the following: The bill providing for the appointment of a commission to investigate the liquor traffic; authorizing the construction of vessels of war; for the construction of the Maryland and Delaware free ship canal; to create an agricultural commission.

The titles of bills left on the House calendar fill 10 printed pages. Among the most important of these are the bill to establish a postal savings depository; to pay the French spoliation claims; to limit the coinage of standard silver dollars and to suspend the issue of silver certificates; to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy; to declare a forfeit-ure of the Texas Pacific land grant. The titles of bills left untouched on the private calendar fill 25 pages. Among the "special orders" that were never reached were the bill to establish a code for the District of Columbia, for the erection of a congressional library building, to grant pensions to the sur-vivors of the Mexican and Indian wars. The bill providing for the distribution of money among the States for educational purposes was left on the Senate calendar. The Dingley shipping bill, which passed the House, was taken up by the Senate on Friday night and passed, the mail and tonnage sections being stricken out. It was sent back to the House and was not acted on. The Senate laid the river and harbor bill on the table. The total amount of money appropriated during the session was $229,-327,511.

Mock Broker Swindlers. New Orleans Times-Democrat. It is to be hoped that the result of the recent investigation into the mock broker swindles in New York will deter a great many people from flinging their money into the hands of these unscrupulous operators. In consequence not believed they can stand another of the Stock Exchange in that city having ceased to pay any attention to this class, unless the swindler advertises himself as a member of the Exchange, or assumes a name suspiciously like that of some reputable firm, the police reports show that complaints of late have been multiplying. In 1879 the attorneys of the Exchange proceeded so vigorously against offenders of this kind that their business was pretty well broken up, but since then another crop has appeared and the disreputable game is renewed. The old system is still in vogue; a cheap office is taken, an advertisement inserted that "Blank & Co, dealers in all first class securities, are ready to invest money in small or large sums upon a plan which cannot fail to succeed. Send for circular." The circular, when received, is filled with the most extravagant accounts of the special opportunities enjoyed by the firm for reaping a certain harvest upon an investment of $10. Of course, a great many foolish people swallow the tempting bait, only to find themselves in the end nicely caught. One of these bogus operators had several firms working under him and is said to have realized as much as $22,000 a month. It is thought that in order to break up the introduced declaring the sales yoid. swindle, brokers in New York will be required to do business under a license which can be revoked upon complaints from victims. The trouble seems to be that the true character of the business

Housekeeping in California. A San Francisco letter says the one great drawback in housekeeping in California is satisfactory help. None other is employed than Chinese, and that is not satisfactory to most ladies. A Chinese cook gets $25 a month-good bad or indifferent. Some few of them have learned to be good cooks, are cleanly and tidy, and are honest, but the majority of them do not possess a single one of the above attributes. But if the helpless housewife unfortunately gets one of the kind of which this majority is made up, she must endure him or be content to ever after get along without the help of a son of the flowery kingdom. They are banded together in a mysterious association-a sort of Knights of Labor organization -and she or he who offends one member offends the entire fraternity, and cannot expect another Chinaman to come into their service.

A CONGRESSMAN'S DUTIES.

The Daily Routine of Lafe in the Lower House of the National Legislature.

Cer. Milwaukee Sentinel. There is practically but little difference between running for Congress and the penitentiary. It is penal servitude in either case. There are some Repre-sentatives who take things easy, and will not submit to the exacting demands that are made upon them. The other class of members, however, lead a life of drudgery that would make an old-time farm-hand smile. They are up in the morning before 8, and after breakfast read and answer from thirty to sixty letters. Then comes the committee meeting at 10, and the House meets at 11. The member must not only attend to all the business before his own committee, but must take care of his own measures before other committees. He must be in the House from 11:15 each day, and vote every time. Whichever way he votes, his motives are misconstrued. If he vote yea on a railroad bill, he has been bought up; if he vote nay, he is mad because he didn't get some of the plunder. der, and if he didn't vote at all, it was der, and if he didn't vote at all, it was because he was afraid to. To vote intelligently he must be thoroughly posted on law and jurisprudence, finance, diplomacy, agriculture and commerce, the military and civil history of this and other countries, and a million other things. Above all, he must know the political effect of all legislative matters. An innocent looking bill don't ters. An innocent-looking bill don't look half so innocent when viewed through political spectacles. During the afternoon, besides watching the regular proceedings, the consci-entious member must answer the cards brought in to him by the doorkeepers. The cards come from a variety of sources. There are widows in deepest mourning who beseech him to see about that pension claim; fossilized relics of the late Confederacy who want to be paid for rail fences destroyed in the South during the war; lebbyists who pour into his overbur-dened ears their arguments on keeping up the tariff on Sumatra pig-iron, barbed wire and sulphuric acid; the whis ky men, who picture the dire results which will follow if the bonded period bill is not passed. This is kept up until the member seeks relief by making the rounds of the departments. He goes first to the White House to recommend a postmaster for some postoffice for which there are a hundred applicants equally deserving; then to the Interior Department to see why those atents haven't been issued; then to the Agricultural Bureau to see about seeds for the granger constituents, and so on.

A German Eclipse. London Telegraph.

Apropos of the recent solar eclipse, a story worthy of Hacklaender has recently gone the round of the German papers. It appears that on the morning of the event alluded to Captain Von S-, of the - Fussilliers, issued the following verbal order to his company. through the Sergeant-Major, to be communicated to the men after forenoon parade: "This afternoon a solar eclipse will take place. At 3 o'clock the whole company will parade in the barrackyard. Fatigue jackets and caps. I shall explain the eclipse to the men. Should it rain they will assemble in the drill-shed." The Sergeant-Major, having set down his commanding officer's instructions in writing, as he had understood them, formed the company into a hollow square at the conclusion of the morning drill, and read his version of the order to them, thus: "This afternoon a solar eclipse will take place in the barrack-yard, by order of the captain, and will be attended by the whole company in fatigue jackets and caps. The captain will conduct the solar eclipse in person. Should it rain, the eclipse will take place in the drill-shed."

Gobbling Up the School Lands. GALVESTON, Tex., March 6 .- A special from Austin says an investigation shows that the school land laws have been grossly violated by use of fictitious names. Four surveyors have been in collusion with speculators. One syndicate has taken up 320,000 acres, using fictitious names. In the same way individuals have secured from 20 to 30 sections.
