ARTHUR DISAPPOINTED. Next to Boss Mahone there is probably no man in the United States who Salem Jottings. Correspondence of the Observer. is more disappointed over the result in Virginia than President Arthur. Our community was considerably startled on last Sunday afternoon Throughout all the coalition business in that State Mahone has had his over a report which reached here over a report which reached here that Greensboro had been burglarized. Saturday night and that the burglars were supposed to be heading for this place and Winston. Many an old shot gun and pistol that had, been lying neglected in some remote place was brought forth and put in shoot-ing order, and no doubt many persons hearty co-operation, and in the past campaign he gave him all the aid that it was in his power to give. Government patronage in that State was placed practically in the control of Mahone, and government employees ing order, and no doubt many persons retired that night expecting to be con-fronted by a burglar before Monday morning. But no burglars came about, from that State in Washington and in the State were assessed at Mahore's will, not only with the knowledge but the consent of the administration. and those persons who possessed much of this world's riches when Mr. Arthur did not care for Mahone they retired found out next morning personally, but he realized the imporwhen they awoke that their riches tance of carrying Virginia as a factor were intact, and those who had but in the next presidential election, and little had that little still.

as one of the means of securing his own nomination in the next Republican convention. Had Mahone been successful it would have been, so to speak, a vindication of his coalition on Saturday at noon and lodged him

This is an off year in politics. It NOON TELEGRAMS: got Butler, Mahone and Chalmers off. ------MR. LONG DID IT.

The Man Who Struck Billy Mahone found, but he Did'nt Mean It.

PETERSBURG, VA., Nov. 8.—The In-dex-Appeal, to-day publishes a com-munication from Wm. Long, tobac-conist of this city to the effect that he is the man who struck Senator Mahone at the polls Tuesday during a disturbance. Long states that have disturbance. Long states that he saw Gen. Mahone and his son Butler alight from their carriage and go directly to the polls. At that moment a difficulty occurred about a Democratic negro voting which caused great con-fusion and threatened a serious riot. At this time a pistol was drawn and held up to the crowd as having been taken from Gen Mahone. Long being pressed by the crowd at this moment raised his hands to clear himself from from the throng and as he did so some one struck him violently on the right hand which caused it to strike Gen. Mahone lightly on the face. Long says, he hopes he did the General no serious harm. He had no intention or desire to do him any personal injury. As his offer of $1,000 was to know the "scoundrel" or "assasin" who struck him, he (Long) is the responsible party, and he hopes this statement will be satisfactory.

Mahone's Son Fined for Carrying Coucealed Weapous.

PETERSBURG, Nov. 8.-Butler Mahone, son of Senator Mahone, was before the mayor to-day to answer a charge of carrying a concealed pistol and drawing the same at the disturb-ance in the fourth ward precinct on election day, when his father was struck in the face He was fined $15. The mayor took occasion to say to the crowd that filled the court room that the election here was conducted more quietly than there was reason to expect. .

policy, and it would have been , ushed with renewed energy in North Carolina and Florida, in both of which the conditions were thought to be as favorable as in Virginia, but Advantages We Offer Them in Ou the overwhelming rout in Virginia, throws a wet blanket over that pet scheme. The day before the election the Washington Capital, which claimod to know the President's sentiments published the following:

"The election in Virginia on Tues-day interests the President more than any event which has occurred since his aoministration began. He is deeply anxious that Mahone should be sustained by a decided majority. In such success he sees the only hope of handing over his office to a Repub-lican successor. He will regard a rictory for Mahone on Tuesday as a victory for Mahone on Tuesday as a sure indication that Virginia's vote will be cast next year for the nomi-nee of the Republican convention, and thus vindicate the only policy the administration has presumed to There is no doubt that the Capital spoke advisedly for all the actions of Mr. Arthur in connection with the coalition movement in Virginia con-firm what it says. So the defeat of Mahone is also a defeat of Arthur, and a fatal blow at coalitionism in the South. It gives a solid South for the next Democratic candidate for the presidency, and leaves the battle to be fought in the doubtful States north of the Potomac.

MAHONE ASSAULTED.

General Mahone was assaulted in HATS, Petersburg on election day and struck in the face by some unknown person. Trunks and Valises He went there to see how the election was progressing, and some confusion occurring about the time of his arrival, a crowd gathered around him Manufactured to Our Order for and he was struck. There was some excitement for a time and a pretty general move for hip pockets, but it quieted down without further demonstration, and the General and his son rode away. Afterwards, accompanied by a friend, the General returned to the polls with the avowed intention of trying to discover who his assailant was, but there was no further trouble, nor did he succeed in finding his man. It is said that the difficulty grew out of a remark made by him in reply to something said by some one in the crowd about having a free ballot and a fair count that he had ''come to see that they had," while others say that a negro was about to vote the Demo-

The season for large pumpkins, po-tatoes, turnips, &c., is at hand, and a good many are being brought in for local editors to dilate upon. I noticed a turnip the other day in one of the provision stores here which weighed eight pounds. Notwithstanding the drought that we had at the time for figures. drought that we had at the time for sowing turnip seeds, the crop turns out well, and as fine turnips as I ever saw are being brought into the market.

Messrs Blumes, of almanac fame, not only make the best almanac in the South, but raise as fine sweet potatoes as can be found anywhere. Their crop this year is exceedingly fine—the greater part of the potatoes being the size of those annually seen lying about an editor's sanctum at this season, when nearly every farmer brings in his largest potatoes, &c., to get the accustomed puff. county.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 8. - Official returns from six counties, partial returns and estimates from 50 counties and estimates based upon the election of two years ago from the remaining 10 give Hubbard 14,000 majority and the remainder of the Republican ticket about 17,000 majority. The official count will not vary much from these

The Republican Figures in Nebraska Dwindling.

OMAHA, Nov. 8.- Revised returns confirm the previous estimate that Reese, Republican, for Supreme court Judge, is elected by less than 5,000 majority. The indications are that he may have less than 2,000. Savage, Democrat, an anti-monopolist, has over 1,500 majority in this, Douglass

A Newilnyention in Telegraphy.

An Italian officer connected with the ministry of war has invented a system of telegraphy whereby railroad trains in motion on the same line of rails can be put at any time in communication with each and other with the stations they are passing or approaching. The system is said to be very simple, and it is claimed that its successful application will not only greatly reduce the possi-bilities of accidents, but that it will enable passengers while traveling to communicate with their friends, or armies in the field to receive instructions while on the line of march or when engaged in battle.
