Silient Advantages-Why it

A Perfect Combination with two Concerns You. "There is no mistake about it," remarked Dr. M. F. Flowers, of Gallantin, Missouri, "BENSON'S CAPCINE POR-OUS PLASTERS are one of the neatest combinations ever produced. They have two kinds of advantages over all others, which we may call the miner and major. First, they are clean and pleasant to use, never soiling the hands nor the linen of the wearer. Second, they act quickley and powerfully. I have tried the Capcine Plaster on my.elf for pneu-monia, and on my patients for various diseases, such as Neuralzia, suscular diseases, such as Neuralzia, suscular Rheumatism, Lumbago, Kidney trouble, etc., and in all cases relief has followed in from three to forty-eighth hours."

Dr. Flower merely voices the written or oral opinion of thousands in his profession. BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTERS are the perfect external application. The genuine have the word CAPCINE cut in the center. Price 25 cents.

DESERVED PRAISE. The Democratic press of Virginia pays high compliment to Hon. John S. Barbour, chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, under whose skilled leadership the Democracy of that State won its magnificent victory last Tuesday. Mr. Barbour knew and appreciated the value of organization and work, and one of the first things he did after entering upon the position assigned to him was to effect an organization and put able workers in the field. The result was a campaign that has not been equaled in Virginia since the war, a vote that surprised even sanguine Democrats, and a victory of such proportions as to amount to annihilation of the opposition. There was intense disgust, of course, at Mahoneism in that State, there was deep desire to get red of him. Many who acted with him when he was playing the role of a Democratic Readjuster turned from him in loathing when they saw him treacherously cross over into the Republi can lines and attempt to carry them with him; many straightout Republicans refused to surrender to his mercenary leadership; but all this would have accomplished but little in his defeat without the organization that brings the ballots to the polls. For want of this Mahone succeeded and worked his way into the position which he so shamefully abused, with this he was routed from the position which he had won, even when backed by the moral and material aid of President Arthur's administration, and having unlimited control of all the Federal patronage in Virginia, which he used beldly, unscrupulously and in utter defiance of public sentiment. He, too, was a skilled organizer, a tireless worker, versen in all the tricks and appliances of politicians, and hence the greater eredit due to John S. Barbour, who met him on his own ground, and not only vanquished but crushed him into pulp. There is a moral in this for the North Carolina Democracy, and we call attention to it, not that we apprehend any political reverses in this State, but to show the value of organization, and the consequences that frequently follow a lack of it. There always was a strong Democratic reserve vote in Virginia as there is in North Carolina, which reserve can only be brought out by thorough organization, active campaigning and determined work. On a full vote the Republicans and their associates, by whatever name they may be called, never stood a ghost of a show, and whatever success they have ever met with is attributable not to their own strength but to the fact that the full strength of the Democracy was not brought out. In politics, as in war, organization, system and leadership are necessary, with which the majority is always certain of victory, without which the majority is often

The following excellent advice is given by the New York Globe to its followers of the negro race: "Let each man of us resolve to save more money. Without money a man cuts very poor figure in the world. He is to a certain extent a cipher—a sort of drone in the social hive. Our children should be taught the value of time, value of intelligence, and the value of money. Now is the time to begin." This is better advice than that of Fred Douglass when he told the negroes of Maryland to "make it too hot? for those of their race who refused to vote the Republican ticket.

A correspondent of the Romney Intelligencer tells of a singular cattle disease that broke out on the farm of Morgan Smith, in Pendleton county, W. Va. Two children that had died of diphtheria were exhumed and burried in the corner of a pasture field occupied by milch cows. They frequented that part of the field, and were known to rub their heads in the fresh earth. Soon afterward they became strangely affected, and three or four of them died. The disease went no further.

Mark I wain on Fred Donglass. The following letter, written on the made public:

not, without exposing the fact that I hadn't any influence with you, and that was a thing which I had no mind to do. I seems to me that it is better to have a good man's flattering esti-mate of my influence and keep it than to fool it away in trying to get him an office. But when my brother, on my wife's side—Mr. Charles J. Langdon, late of the Chicago convention-desires me to speak a word for Mr. Fred Douglass, I am not asked to use 'my influence,' consequently I am not risking anything. So I am writing this as a simple citizen. I am not drawing on my fund of influence at all. A simple citizen may express a desire with all propriety in a matter of recommendation to office, and so I bear in mind that a solid South and forty-eight other votes will constitute a majority of the whole number of 401 electorial votes to be cast. As beg permission to hope that you will retain Mr. Douglass in the present of-fice of marshal of the District of Columbia, if such a course will not clash with your own preferences or with the expediences and interests of your administration. I offer this petition with peculiar pleasure and strong desire, because I so honor the man's high and blemishless character, and so admire his brave, long crusade for the liberties and elevation of his race. He is a personal friend of mine, but that is nothing to the point, for his history would move me to say these things without that, and I feel them,

THE CONFLICT between disease and health is often brief and fatal. It is better to be provided with cheap and simple remedies for such common disorders as coughs, colds, &c., than to run the risk of contracting a fatal disease through neglect. Dr. Wm. ## Want of Thrift Among Arkansans.

An enthusiastic citizen of Arkansas, burning with anxiety to induce people to come in and assist in developing the lands, says, triumphantly, that he does not know a region in the world where a man can gain the means of subsistence with so little labor. Just there, I am convinced, he touched one of the true causes of the tardiness of progress in Arkansas. Another great cause has been the sur-prising lack of ambition and enterprise among the people who settled in the State before the war. It is amazing the number of these who have absolutely resisted, with all their might, any distinct indications of progress. In Southern and Southeastern Arkansas there are hundreds of farm houses in which there never has been a cooking stove, the entire work of cooking being done in pots and kettles of the most primitive pattern, in the wide fire places of chimneys built of mud and sticks. Just this morning a civil engineer assured me that he had surveyed 170 miles of railroad in the State and had stopped for fifteen days continuously at the houses scattered thinly along the way without seeing sugar, milk or butter. "More than this" said he, "these beggars abso-lutely resisted the granting of the right of way because, they said, the railroads scared the game out of the Ohicage Inter Ocean It is estimated that the United States will contain 150,000,000 people fifty years hence. The natural increase of population, as judged by the tables of the past, in conjunction with the swelling tide of immigration from Europe, will accomplish this marvel of national growth. When future historians record the fact that the American colonies, with 3,000,000 people developed into a republic of 12th of January, 1881, by Mr. S. L. 150,000,000 in a century and a half, it Clemens, "Mark Twain," to the late will read like a tale of the "Arabian President Garfield, has recently been Nights."
