and made more cripples than war, pestilence and famine combined. If you Raisins, Currents, Citron, Lemon Peel, have any blood diseases or skin humor it is your duty to yourself and posterity to take the only vegetable cure, which is Swift's Specific. Swift's Specific has relieved me of malarial blood poison after I had been confined to the house for five months and had been dosed with blue mass and calomel and other poisonous drugs until I was in despair. Swift's Specigc is the remedy for this kind of blood poison.—C. M. Clark, Agent Southern Life Insurance Co., Atlanta, Ga. FOR LADIES.

I have been using for a month or two in my household, Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), the greater portion it having been consumed by the fem? e portion of my family, and with the happiest re-sults. It acted like a charm on my wife, who had been in bad health for a long time, and for whom I have paid hundreds of dollars for doctors and medicines; It began to build her up from the first dose. Another female member of my family took it with equally satisfactory results. It is certainly the best tonic for delicate ladies that I have ever used, and I have tried them all. I have no doubt that want of exercise, close confinement in poorly ventilated houses, sewer gas poison and malarial poison often produce sickness among our wives, daughters and sisters, and I believe Swift-s Specific is the remedy for all this sort of blood poisoning. F. L. JONES, J. P. Quitman, Ga. TREATMENT OF CANCER. For twenty years I have suffered from a cancer on the side of my back near the shoulder and exhausted the whole catalogue of remedies without any relief. The cancer growing worse all the time, the whole upper part of my body became stiff and full of pain. I had virtually lost the use of both arms, my general health had broken down, and I saw it was only a question of time nen life itself would bedestroyed. In this condition I commenced the use of Swift's Specific. The first bottle relieved me of the stiffness in the neck, the second gave me perfect use of my arms, and I feel strong and well in every way. I am a poor man but I would not take $5,000 for the good I have experienced with Swift's Specific. I believe it will force out all the poisor and cure me. W. R. Robison, Davisboro, Ga. MORMONISM.

Some Popular Errors Corrected by One

Who Has Been in Utah. The Mormon question has been discussed from every standpoint by the press for the last few years, and it is noticeable that the further away the writer is from Utah, or the less he knows about the subject, the more ready is he to make assertions which have only a grain of truth for a basis, and upon which he proceeds to erect a chimerical argument. The writer of this article spent some time in Salt Lake City last August, and a part of the time was the guest of Gov. Murray, the present Governor of the Territory of Utah, and of Mr. Goodwin, the editor of the daily Salt Lake Tribune, the organ of the Gentiles in that portion of the country lying between the Rocky and Sierra Nevada Mountains, and between the 38th and 44th parallels of North latitude. It is popularly supposed that Mormonism is confined to the Territory of Utah, but such is not the fact. It is true it was originally located west of the Rocky Mountains, at what is now Great Salt Lake City, but it has spread over considerable portions of Wyoming and Idaho Territories, and is said to be extending further and further each year.

We are not an apologist for Mormonism or Mormondom, but there are a few popular errors which we would like to correct, but before we proceed we desire to state that our ideas are derived entirely from contact with the Mormons themselves and their Gentile fellow citizens of Salt Lake City. While we remained there our eyes were wide open and our hearing was good.

First: The Eastern idea of Mormonsm is that every follower of Brigham Young must have half a dozen wives. The very reverse is true. Possibly not one married man in fifty has and this is applicable to all subse-"rib," the applicant for polygamy start, and that affidavit means a good lowers deal in Utah, for it must be verified by a committee appointed for that purpose, after which, if the "returns" are satisfactory, the new wife is

He can do anything else he pleases so he doesn't marry more than four wives. The Mormon religion is very much what we know of the Mohammedan religion. It requires, perhaps, more obedience to its church rules, but its immunities and indulgencies are very nearly as great. If we will go back far enough to get conscience out of the way, we do not have trouble in getting converts to any religion that grants wholesale indulgences in this life and absolute immunity from punishment in the next.

> The Mormons are a priest-ridden people. Most of them are ignorant, and it is the purpose of the leaders to keep them so. Their system of church government is peculiar. Church and State are one. The power that rules the one rules the other, and the rule of the State includes the rule of municipalities and counties as well. The church is governed by twelve elders, who call themselves the apostles of God. All mandates that go forth from the council of the elders are proclaimed as the edicts of God Almighty himself. It matters not whether the edict may be for the assembling of the territorial legislature to look after the interests of the Saints, or whether it may be a decree that John Smith be elected constable in Weber Canon township. We heard of one case where a man with two wives, and, of course, two families, who was the owner of an express line from Ogden City to one of the mountain towns, which furnishes us a case in points. He had made money after long years of toil. A message came that he had been appointed a bishop, and that he was ordered to go to Europe, at his own expense, to preach the Mormon doctrine. He turned over his business to the man who told us the story, (including the care and support of his two families) and went without a murmur. Another, and younger man, had worked himself up | Bandall to be the superintendent of a factory, which paid him $2,500 per year. He had struggled long and hard to reach the position. He had climbed from the lowest round of the ladder, where all had been dark, and had just reached the sunlight of success. An edict was sent down that he must travel back to the States and preach the Mormon religion-at his own expense-and he went. He threw up his situation, and he left a competency, but he obeyed the edict of And it is in just such things that the power of the Mormon church more than one wife. A second wife rests. washington, Nov. 24.—The situation has changed more than a superficial obeserver would suppose. The sectional cry having been found injurious to Randall is abandoned and the ousiness cry instituted. Letters pour in from the cities where manufacturing interests predominate, urging the necessity for the election of Mr. Randall and the adoption of the "go slow" policy this winter. Randall himself seems serenely confident. But his friends are working like beavers. They claim more than half of Georgia and a good proportion of Missouri. It has been many a year since so much animation was perceptible eight days in advance of the meeting of Congress.

In the other headquarters there is even more apparent activity. Carlisle talks pleasantly to all who come. He is perhaps the most approachable. as the phrase is, of all the candidates, and is one of the most candid and unaffected of our distinguished and public men. His prospects have greatly brightened in the past two days. The coming into the fight of Tilden, whose probably injured rather than helped to Randall, given to the press to-day, is thought to be part of a preconcerted plan by which it should be made to appear that the latter was the choice of Georgia and the "progressive South." GAFFNEY CITY

Which Sprang up by Magic and Con. tinues to Grow Rapidly. GAFFNEY CITY, S. C., Nov. 26, 1883.

To the Editor of the Observer: Gaffney City, which is one of the many towns on the Air Line Railroad between your city and Atlanta, has almost suddenly sprung up, for ten years ago it was no "city" at all, or even a town, but the country for fully a half mile in circumference was almost barren and was known as Gaffney's "Old Field." But after the completion of this great railroad, the Atlanta and Charlotte Air Line, Gaffnev like other towns commenced to build up and has grown steadily ever since, and to day she has a population of 800 or 1,000 inhabitants, with pros pects of growing as fast in the future as she has in the past. She has some very energetic live men, very thrifty and honorable who believe that competition is the life of business, which will doubtless bring much money here to be spent by farmers and others. Then only one mile distant is the famous Limestone Springs and the Cooper Limestone Institute for young ladies, and here in the city is the McArthur High School for young men and boys, besides other public as well as private schools in the city The high grade of these schools com bined with the healthfulness and the pure water and bracing air of this region will cause Gaffney to be sought as an educational point, and the re sult will be a steady flow of population into the place. Gaffney is backed by a section of fine country on the east to Broad River and the south to Pacolet River in Union county. That portion of Union lying north of Pacoet is considered the richest section in the county and Gaffney gets nearly all of that trade which is no little factor in the sum of her business. There is a law, a State law I believe, which prohibits the sale of liquors here for a number of years and if I mistake not for all time to come, which speaks well for the morality of the city. All of which will or ought to tend to build up the place. Taking all into consideration Gaffney City in my humble judgment is at once a model town, and can safely be recommend ed to those especially who have sons and daughters to be educated. Just now business is awfully dull here owing to the short crops and wet JETHRO. weather. Mr. Arthur's Lightwood. THE HATCHET AND TORCH.

The Horrible Crime that Startled a New Hampshire Town. LACONIA, N. H. Nov. 26.-About : o'clock yesterday morning the inhab itants of this place were awakened by the ringing of bells and cries of fire. Investigation shewed that not only fire had occurred, but that a most brutal crime had been commit ted. James Ruddy, with his wife and child, lived half a mile from the postoffice in the north-east part of the village. Shortly after 4 o'clock S. S. Andrews, a neighbor, was alarmed by a woman's screams. He aroused his son, and together they proceeded to Ruddy's house. They found Mrs. Ruddy lying on the ground under the front window, through which she had made a desperate leap. She was bleeding profusely and said, "Pick me up: I am all cut to pieces!" After removing Mrs. Ruddy to a neighbor's they broke open the back door of Ruddy's house, and the flames burst forth. The alarm of fire wos sounded, but the flames were extinguished before the arrival of the firemen When gaining entrance the officers found the bodies of Ruddy and his child both cut in a horrible manner, covered with the contents of a feath personal agents are fully known, has er bed, which had been saturated with kerosene and set on fire. A Tramp Way-Billed.

A tramp who had been hanging around the neighborhood of the railroad depot at the foot of Blanding street for two or three days crept Messrs. Aiken. Dibble, Evins and an empty box car on Thursday night and went to sleep. While the assist ant yard master was in the discharge of his duties during the small hours of Friday morning he discovered the tramp fast asleep. He had seen the cross-tie measurer before, and determined to ship him to other parts. Calling for lock and seal, the assist ant yard master quietly closed the doors and sealed the lock to the car containing the living freight. A way-bill was made out to Captain Meltiah Green, the train dispatcher of the Columbia and Greenville Railroad by Captain Dick Trezevant, assistant yard master of the Charlotte, Columbia, and Augusta Railroad, for One tramp in car No. —. and destination to follow.
