THE MORMON QUESTION. It is stated that Congressman Roserans, of California, has drafted an amendment to the constitution prohibiting polygamy within the United States, which he will present to congress at the coming session. There are doubtless other gentlemen of both political parties who have been studying up the Mormon question, and who will present measures to check the these, the Anti-Mormon League is ing active interference by the government and a constitutional prohibition such as is contemplated by ways and means and chairman of Congressman Rosecrans. Governor Murray of Utah, wants congress to take the bull by the horns, so to speak and resort to heroic measures to settle the vexed question. He would have the whole territorial system. tem' as far as Utah is concerned, revolutionized, the territorial legislature closed up, and the territory governed by a commission appointed by the President and supported by United States troops. In other words, he would stifle the ballot in Utah, estab lish a despotic commission responsible to no one but the President, and backed by cold steel in the hands of similar to that resorted to in the Southern States during the memorable period of reconstruction. The argumen furnished in support of it is similar to the argument used in sup-Southern States, that is that the people are rebellious, and the only legislation, supplemented with a little standing army. He does not, howmade or propose to make any war upon the United States, to play the part of the male bovine who undertook to dispute the right of way with a locomotive. Under the Edmunds the right of voting or holding office, amist in the territorial legislature elected last summer under that law. But they are all Mormons. Governor the chief evil of the Mormon system, for out of the 150,000 population of the Territory, of whom 110,000 are Mormons, there are only 12,000 who practice polygamy. The chief trouble with the Governor seems to be that he Mormons, while yielding obedience to constituted authority, and moving on in the quiet tenor of their way are a hierarchy-governed people, a government within a government so to speak, which at any day, may come in conflict with the general government. A better reason for this hostility, since polygamy does not seem to be the cause of complaint, may probably be found in the fact that the Mormons, having a majority of the votes in the Territory, persist in electing Mormons to office, and in conducting the business over which they have control in their own way. While we have no sympathy whatever with Mormonism or Mormondom, while we recognize the trickery, deception and arbitrary power of the so-called Apostles, who gathered from the ignorant, credulous masses in this country and Europe a following to build up an empire, so to speak, in the wilderness, there is a vast amount of cant and hypocrisy indulged in by politicians in treating this question, with which we have as little sympathy. The United States government is itself responsible for many of the evils complained of, for it saw the Mormon power growing under its eyes and made no effort to check it when it could have done so with but little trouble, and now, after the lapse of over a third of a century, it is called upon to put the knife to what it indirectly fostered in its growth during all this time. It is neither to the credit of the American people nor to the intelligence of the day in which we live that arbitrary legislation or force must be appealed to to overthrow Mormonism, with its handful of deluded followers. The yield of common potatoes in dred and fifty million bushels. There are forty million bushels of sweet

RANDALL, CARLISLE AND COX

The Three Rival Aspirants for the Speaker's Malle.

SAMUEL J. RANDALL. Hon. Samuel J Randall is a native of Philadelphia, fifty-five years of age and well preserved, physically and intellectually. His father, Josiah Randall, was for many years a lead; ing member of the Philadelphia bar also prominent in State and National politics, and the personal friend of Clay, Dallas, Webster and other leaders of the great parties of the ademic education, and subsequently engaged in mercantile pursuits, in-heriting, however, all of his father's fondness for politics. Hence we find him in his earlier life a member of the city councils of Philadelphia for

This was prior to the war. At the outbreak of hostilities he entered the arm, and while in the service was elected to congress. He took his seat in December, 1863, and by successive reelections has been a member of the house of representatives ever since, Mr. Kelly, who was elected in 1860 being the only member who has served for a continuously longer period. In the thirty-eight congress Mr. Randall was a member of the committee on public buildings and grounds; in the thirty-ninth and fortisth, of the committee on banking and currency; in the forty-first, forty-second and forty-third, of the comevil complained of. Hon. John G. Carlisle, of Kentucky who has risen to National distinction with great rapidity smee his first election to congress in 1870, is a native of Campbell, or what is now Kenton county, Kentucky, and was born September 5, 1885, Being by several years the youngest of the port of a government of force in the speakership, but the peer of lary as a Southern States, that is that the statesman and parliamentarian. As a member of the committee on ways and means he has been efficient and influential whether with the majority or minority, and has at all times advocated his views of revenue reform with singular force and eloquence. In matters of politi cal economy, there is probably no member of the house better informed, and in respect to constitutional law there is no one who stands before the bar of Kentucky with clearer or more comprehensive views. His speech upon the tariff last winter was the oonspicuous feature of a memorable debate. Besides being a member of the ways and means committee in the forty-seventh congress, he was also a member of the select committee on law respecting the election of President and Vice President, and of the select committee on improvement of the Mississippi river. He is dignified and courteous in manner, but plain, unobtrusive and thoroughly Democratic in his manner of life. SAMUEL SULLIVAN COX. Hon. Samuel S. Cox was born at Zanesville, ' hio, September 30, 1824, and is consequently fifty-nine years of age, but time has dealt gently with the veteran statesman, and he is still in the full vigor of health and strength with the bearing and appearance of a much younger man. His father. Ezekiel Taylor Cox, was a prominent politician in Ohio, and a member of the State senate in 1832 and 1833. His grandfather was a general of the revolution, and was a member of the tenth congress when he died. Mr. Cox's mother was the daughter of Samuel Sullivan, who was State treasurer of Ohio in 1818. The subject of this sketch received a liberal education, and having graduated at Brown's university in 1846, adopted the law as his profession, subse-quently abandoned it for the more congenial sphere of journalism. SALEM JOTTINGS

How Thanksgiving was Celebrated ... Personal and Local Dots.

Correspondence of the Observer. SALEM. Nov. 29.—Thanksgiving services were held in the Moravian church here te-day, a large congrega-tion being present. The decorations, which were placed in front of the pulpit, were very tastefully gotten the city councils of Philadelphia for up, and were composed of vegetables four years, and for two terms a of all kinds, sheaves of wheat, stalks member of the Pennsylvania State of corn and cotton, oranges, apples, and numerous other fruits, among which was a watermelon in a good state of preservation. An ear of corn lying in a conspicuous place attracted considerable attention, as the freak of nature it presented is seldom seen one half of the ear being composed of red grains and the other half of white grains. Dr. Rondthaler's sermon was a very able one and suited well the occasion. A handsome collection was taken up at the close of the services. A thanksgiving dinner was served at the academy, which necessitated the beheading of twenty-three fine turkeys to get up that part of the COTTON FUTURE NOTES VOID. The Startling Decision of the Supreme Court of Georgia.

Augusta, Ga., November 28-The Supreme Court of Georgia in the case of Cunningham against the National Bank of Augusta has decided that cotton future notes are absolutevoid. Cunningham made a note r $5,000 to Warren, Wallace & Co. in a cotton future transaction. The firm negotiated the note to the bank which sued Cunningham, who plead. ed that the note was void as it was given on a gaming consideration. The court says that cotton futures are as much gaming as faro, and that such notes are void in any body's hands whether they knew the notes were given for futures or not.

Montague vs Mial. 1. The jurisdiction conferred upon ustices of the peace to try civil actions, where the property in controversy does not exceed $50, is concurrent with that of the Superior court. 2. An action for damages for re-

Allen vs. Simpson.

A judgment recovered upon a bond for less than sixty dollars, in an action brough prior to the time when the code of civil procedure went into operation, is a valid judgment. This case is governed by the Revised Code, chap. 51, sec. 38, and it does not appear that the defendant availed himself of his right thereunder, either to plead in abatement or move to dismiss the suit.

and made more cripples than war, pestilence and famine combined. If you have any blood diseases or skin humor it is your duty to yourself and posterity to take the only vegetable cure, which is Swift's Specific.

Swift's Specific has relieved me of malarial blood poison after I had been confined to the house for five months and had been dosed with blue mass and calomel and other poisonous drugs until I was in despair. Swift's Specige is the remedy for this kind of blood poison -C. M Clark, Agent Southern Life Insurance Co., Atlanta, Ga.

FOR LADIES. I have been using for a month or two in my household, Swift's Specific (S. S S.), the greater portion it having been consumed by the femre e portion of my family, and with the happiest results. It acted like a charm on my wife, who had been in bad health for a long time, and for whom I have paid hundreds of dollars for doctors and medicines; It began to build her up from the first dose. Another female member of my family took it with equally satisfactory results. It is certainly the best tonic for delicate ladies that I have ever used, and I have tried them all. I have no doubt that want of exercise, close confinement in poorly ventilated houses, sewer gas poison and malarial poison often produce sickness among our wives, daughters and sisters, and I believe Swift's Specific is the remedy for all this sort of blood poisoning.
