OVERWORKED SENATORS. The Senate of the United States

seems to be an overworked body, so much so that a clerk has become a necessity for each individual Senator, at a salary of $6 a day. The per diem arrangement was an amendment on the original proposition to pay the aforesaid assistant Senators $1,000 a year. But it amounts to nothing as an economic suggestion, for unless the sessions should be very short the per diem would amount to quite as much as the $1,000 a year, and if long to even more. From the amount of correspondence some Senators have their clerks will have a good time. But perhaps when they are supplied with clerks they will indulge a little more in answering incurse of constituents. The next move we expect to see some overway of providing assistants to read loved the Confederate cause and saw drugery that constitutes one of the bores of a Senator's life under the present order of things. It is a little strange while they were on this subject that some one didnt think of it and incorporate it in the clerk resolution. It was evidently an oversight. We believe in taking care of our Senators. There are only seventy-six of them including Billy Mahone, and from the difficulty experienced in persuad. ing men to a cept senatorships, it is man events. Lock at Kentucky for illustration. They have been more than a solid week in trying to elect a Seneter and can't do for the contested balance con to be conscripted in the course of hu-Senator and can't do it. He lieved from the weight that bore him perils of the past once more come be-down and they couldn't get any one fore him. He felt once more as if he to sacrifice himself in his stead but | were back in the bloody angle of Payne, who according to some reports has been living on oil for some Telamon, who their Achilles and years, and was old enough to die who thei Diomede, he slipped aside several years ago. It is getting so and his mind would wander back to that when the old fellows who are already in and won't stey in and work watch across the River and the Confederate dead are sleeping among the themselves to death they have to call trees that we should take care of our Sena-

our anxious country. Now let each of the 325 overworked settled in the past. members of the House of Representatives insist on a clerk, too. And some of them perhaps ought to have two anothe House adjourned.

If Congressman Belford, of Colorado, were to write Gen. Grant's biog. raphy, Cæsar and other characters resolution offered by Senator Cockwho have figured somewhat conspicuously in war annals would dwindle into imagnificence. According to Belford, Grant is just the greatest soldier that ever did soldier since the united States, in exchange for Cain and Abel unpleasantness.

The railroad lands declared forfeit able to the government under Mr. Holman's resolution, which passed the House of Representatives almost unanimously, amount to about 100. 000,000 acres.

FITZ JOHN PORTER.

The House Spends Another Day on Fitz John Porter and is Entertained With Some Gush. WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.-House.-Speaker laid before the the credentials of F. W.

Rockwell as Member elect from the that gentleman appeared at the bar of the House and took the oath of Hatch, of Missouri, from the committee on Agriculture, reported a bill for the establishment of a bureau of animal industry to prevent the ex-portation of diseased cattle, and to provide means for the suppression and extirpation of pleura pleumonia ond other contagious diseases among animals. Printed and recommitted. The House then at 12:12 went into committee of the whole, Springer, of Illinois, in the chair, on the Fitz John Porter bill. Ray, of New York, continued his speech in support of the bill, declar ing his belief that if President Lincoln had survived the assassin's pistol, before the snows of another win ter had come he would have done justice to Porter, and he would have been restored to the Union army.

In epposing the bill Thomas. of Ill-nois denied the right of Congress to pass upon this case and declared that the attempt to override the decision of one of the constitutional tribunals of the country was an absolute violation of the constitution of the United States.

Belford, of Colorado, wanted to know whether the gentleman's (Thomas') judgment in the Fitz John Porter case is better than the judg ment of the greatest soldier this world has seen from the time of Julius Cæsar down to this time? I mean, "U. S. Grant" (applause on he Democratic side.)

The debate was further continued by Follette, of Ohio, and Millekin, of Beiford, of Colorado, said that he had the courage and boldness to do what was just without regard to any popular prejudice which might exist. He believed in doing justice to a man. It was the sweetest attribute of humanity. It was the greatest attribute of God Almighty himself He proposed to burythe prejudices of the past and do justice to a man whom the greatest general on the face of the earth declared to be wronged and outraged. He would follow Grant's judgment against that of the Captains and Colonels of the militia. (Laughter and applause.) Horr, of Michigan, concluded a long humorous and sarcastic speech against the bill by criticising the action of men who fought on the Confederate side to come here now and rip up an old difficulty which had existed on the Union side and then yielded a few minutes of his time to J. S. Wise, of Virginia, who said that he wished to place himself on record in regard to this controversy. He speke for himself and himself alone, not as a Confederate general, but as worked Senator make will be in the a boy who at the age of seventeen the papers for them, rummage the libraries and read the speeches of the other Sameton on that they was right that he was right He spoke the other Semators, so that they may be saved all this wearing, tearing taint of treason and loving the flag that was spread over the Speaker's chair as truly as ever Daniel Webster loved it. (Applause.) He spoke, however, as one who as he listened to this discussion had felt that his mind wandered off from the discussion of the question and was back among the graves of the Confederate dead. He appealed to the Confederate soldiers here to know whether as this discussion progressed, instead of follow ing the triumphs of Grant and the troubles of Porter their minds were not more properly back among the graves of the brethren and thousands barely possible that they might have of friends, and whether they did not realize that this was the most anom-turned from the scene. He saw the the Wilderness and when Union men were deciding who was their Ajax

So it is a matter of necessity Confederates were ready to bury the past, but the gentlemen could not tors and not let them work them- give them so to understand by tak selves to death, when only a little $6 a day clerk will save them to us and to rake up these questions which had been fairly and honestly

Still Searching for the Dead --- The Excitement Dying Out and no Violence

DENVER, Col., Jan. 26.- Since the arrival of the State mine inspector at the scene of the disaster at Crested Butte, Thursday, no one has been allowed to enter the mine, except 12th District of Massachusetts and those employed in searching for the bodies. Little Tommy Lye, whose lifeless body was first found, was emplo ed as trapper, or door tender. He had his whistle in his hand and was evidently just raising it to his lips when the explosion occurred.
His step f ther Hy Stewart, is also among the dead. His mother, who is left childless and a widow, is almost crazed with grief. Another sad case is that of Mrs. Neath, a widow, who loses her two boys. A majority of the men were single, probably not more than twenty-one being married. Fifty-nine coffins have been ordered by the company, and are now on the way to the mine. There is a large crowd of men yet at the mine, but there are no signs of any disturbance. Mine superintendent Gibson's house was strongly guarded last night, and the streets were patrolled. The excitement appears to have entirely subsided. Right thinking men hold that the officers of the mine are blameless, and anticipate no serious trouble with the Molly McGuire ele-ment. Inspector McNeal is still in the mine.

THE PREACHER'S PECULIARITIES .- A studious man. An industrious man. A gentlemanly man. A faithful man. An energetic man. An eloquent man. A man highly respected. Yet, in spite of all these, disease sometimes lays its hand on the preacher and commands him to stop his work. Like all other brain-workers, lawyer, editor, poet, and scribe, the preacher often exerts his brain too much and omits to give his stomach and liver a fair chance. These organs rebel, and the brain-toiler is in trouble. He thinks he has consumption, Dright's disease, and fifty other diseases. His indigestion puts him in a state of misery which is next door to a state of sin. Under such pressure many ministers are voted a trip to Europe, the expenses paid by the congregation. With many others this is impossible, and their peculiarity is that they have to stay at home. But no man need complain at having to stay at home, so long as he can procure a bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters, which can be had at any drug-store. O, how it tones up the debilitated preacher! It sets his liver to rights, and enables his stomach to digest the food he puts into it. It gives him new cheer and takes away the horrors. The Rev. W. H. Chapman, of Baltimore, was in ill-health and a state of debility. Brown's Iron Bitters helped him out of all that. The Rev. Mr. Barham, of Warrenton, N. C., found it "a complete restorative, tonic, and appetizer." So have many other ministers, and so will persons of every profession or perduasion who try this best of all tonics.

CONGRESS SPRING The Standard Mineral Water.

CATHARTIC, ALTERATIVE. A spec'fic for disorders of the Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, Lezema, Malaria and all impurities of the BLOOD. So enviable a name has this famous Mineral Water, that the managers of inferior mineral springs, desirous of imitating the natural purity of the bottled water of Congress Soring, inject a powerful acid in erful acid in their botaled water to preserve the crude ingredients in solution,—being so heavily laden with Lime and Iron Deposit. With such contrivances, bogus testimonials and doctored analysis cards they seek to rival the pure medicinal waters of congress Spring.

The regular season visitors to, Saratoga fully understand these crade, harsh waters, many of them after painful expartences. In proof of this fact we can produce a great many responsible names. But the Saratoga visitors without exparience, and many who use the bottled waters (often labeled as curatives for disorders which they positively aggravate), should remember, that crude, harsh mineral waters produce headache, a sense of burning and internal irration, and do irreparable injury to the cige, tive organs and kidneys.
