More Postal Notes Required.

The number of postal notes that will be required during the first year, judging from reports received from ten of the principal postoffices in the United States, will exceed the estimates by mates by over one million notes. Some important modifications will be made; the color of the paper—yellow—will be changed, and the spacee where the amounts are filled will be plainer. The number of money orders has not fallen off, as anticipated. There is only a decrease of twelve or fourteen per cent.

"The Tourist," a play which has heretofore been considered the funniest rnd best that has ever visited Charlotte, must now yield the palm to the "Bunch of Keys" company, that made its first appearance here last night. There was a large lieve, at a place known as Deep Well, near Mooresville, and was at one time a partner with T. L. Seigle, now crowd and they had a solid three hours' laugh. The play is hard to describe, being a general mixture of fun, the scenes being in a hotel. Nothing of the scenes being in a hotel. Nothing of the sort has ever In all the varied transactions of his been seen here and our people were life, he maintained a reputation for fairly carried away with it. The manager was met in the Central Hotel by a large delegation, last behind him. night, and importuned to give us another date soon, and this fact is enough to indicate how well the Bunch of Keys was received and how complete was the success it scored.

Last Thursday THE WEEKLY OB-SERVER was discontinued to all subscribers who had not paid in advance. Care had been taken to explain that the discontinuance was not from the fact that subscribers in arrears could not be trusted, but simply that we had changed from the old to the new plan of 'no pay no paper." A few have become offended, but the last three days' work shows nine new subscribers, forty five renewals, and only three discontinuances. Good. We are willing to risk the plan, and in the end, editor and people will be pleased.

Which is Right?

A correspondent of the Statesville Landmark, asks the following ques-tion and gives the answer: "A squirrel is on a tree; a hunter is on the opposite side. Each makes a complete circuit of the tree, keeping on opposite sides. Does the hunter go around the squirrel?" "Answer, no." We say yes. The hunter goes around the tree and everything on it, and consemently must go around the squirrel. The changed relation betw en hunter and squirrel makes no difference, as Wants Bank of Mecklenburg Money. Parties in this city have received etters from a gentleman in Louisiana, enquiring the chances for buying up bills of the old Bank of Mecklenburg. He wants all the bills of this defunct institution that he can get and offers to pay for them in good money, but at what rates he does not state. As to the purpose for which he wants those bills he is equally mysterious. If the gentleman will come here and put up awhile, he will no doubt be able to buy as many of the bills as he will care to handle. Our people don't value it at more than ninety cents on the dollar, but if the Loisianian will buy it inlarge lots, he can possibly get it considerabiy cheaper.

Section Master Hurt at a Negro Frolic.

A very serious fracas occurred at a negro frolic, about six miles from the city, on the Atlantic, Tennessee and Ohio railroad, night before last, resulting in the dangerous wounding of a white man named G. W. Hood, who is keeper of the railroad section house. Hood appeared at the scene of the frolic, and the inevitable row commencing, he was told to make himself scarce and to get away from that locality at once. Hood did not bey the summons, and force was resorted to to move him. One of the darkies named John Henderson hit Hood on the head with a rock. This not only had the desired effect of moving Hood from the frolic, but may end in moving him to the great hereafter, as he is reported in a critical condition. Our informant could not learn the extent of his injury, other than that it was very serious and might result fatally. Yesterday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, a sad death occurred on Church street. Mr. Will W. Fetzer, a young man who -Mr. L. D. Brown, president of the | moved to Charlotte from Concord with his mother and her family about two weeks ago, died vesterday in the new home, but surrounded by faces that were dear and familiar to his eyes. He had been in delicate health for some time, but it was only after his arrival in Charlotte that any aların was felt about his condition. He had been suffering with consumption, but last Friday evening was seized with an attack of congestion of the lungs, that terminated fatally. The deceased was only 22 years of age. This writer has known him from his early youth, and has ev.r admired hun as a model boy, whose hands knew no wrong doing, and whose heart was pure and un lefiled His life, though short, was a bright and beautiful one, and his sleep is the sleep of the blessed.

The remains will be taken to Con cord on the 8 o'clock train to night. and the funeral services will be held in the Presbyterian church at that place Monday morning, after which the body will be interred in the old Presbyterian grave yard.

An Unincky Trip to the City.

A citizen of Cabarrus arrived in the city yesterday, and in rather a bewildered state of mind told the re-porter of a couple of misfortunes that had overtaken him on the road. He was bringing a cow to Charlotte to sell for beef and was riding a mule, driving the cow along the road in front of him. He allowed the cow and mule both to drink freely at every branch, and when coming up a hill about six miles from the city, the cow suddenly dropped to the ground, turned over on her back and giving a few convulsive kicks, expired. A colored man who came up, helped him to drag the carcass aside and mounting his mule, he shed a tear to the memory of the departed kine and continued on his way to Charlotte. He had not proceeded more than two miles, until his mule collapsed as the cow had done, except that it didn't die. After a time, he got the mule on its feet and led it to a neighbor's barn, where he left it and came on to the city on foot. The mule appeared to be well when he left, but he was afraid to ride it. He thinks that his mule and cow were poisoned. Both were fed from the same box that morning and his opinion is that poison of some sort found its way into their feed either by accident or through the agency of some evil hearted enemy. The Virginia Democracy and the Tariff. To the Editor of the Disputch.

Virginia is a great State. She is a ores and metals, and when we remember, too, that from her borders Presidents, great orators, and statesmen have gone forth to battle for her honor and prosperity, we cannot but feel justly proud. A new era of prosperity is dawning in Virginia, and her future is a smiling picture to be hold. A protective tariff has already begun to set in motion the forces of Virginia's power and wealth, and her many and diversified natural advantages, which are so inviting, are already attracting the eye of northern capitalists to her as a nt dwellingplace for happiness and prosperity. The political cyclone which began in Ohio in October moved eastward, and reached the border lands of Virginia on the 6th of November, and on that day her destinies "changed places with a rapidity of a dream." cratic rule has come to bring happiness and contentment to her people and place her on the road to permanent advancement. The Democratic party has come to encourage foreign capital and skill to aid us in developing her vast resources, and to advocate a policy that will place Virginia abreast with New England in wealth and prosperity. It has come to make the Virginia of the future a new Virginia, in which immigrants of every class, of every clime and section, whether they be from the fro-zen regions of the North, or from the plains of the "Great West," or from the sunny skies of the South can dwell together in peace and harmony, enjoying their every right of life and liberty. It has come to secure to its people their political and civil liber ties, whose purity will scatter the darkness of sectionalism from the face of our common country with all of its "mølign influences." It has come to advocate a free educational system that will enter every city and hamlet, every corner and nook, throughout her length and breath. It has come to traverse her soil with a network of railways, telegraphs, and canals; to dot the shores of her streams and rivers with thriving towns and blooming cities; and to grace her navigable waters with ships, boats, and crafts, all bearing to the marts and markets of the world the fruits of her industries. We will then have filed in with the general progress of the nineteenth century Our valleys and hills will resound with the humming melody of busy machinery. Prosperity will shed its rays within our borders, and every breeze that passes over us will be laden with the sweet perfume of contentment and activity. J. W. S. A Bloody War Looming Up.

Another and more uncomfortable solution of the great "sunset mystery" is given by a Persian astrologer according to Nature, who predicts that the blood red appearace of the sky is a forewarning of a war such as the world has never yet beheld. There is to be blood shed of an unexampled scale in all quarters of the globe. The astrologer's prediction will not cause much unessiness. for the present at least. Nobody will take any stock in it so long as the signs of blood are connected only with the sunset, and there is no blood to be seen on the moon.

Some Randolph Industries.

The Island Ford factory takes its name from an island in the middle of the river and the low ford at that place. It turns out 4-4 sheeting ex-clusively. Mr. Hugh Parks is secretary and treasurer and owns half of both factories. There are fifty looms and 1,664 spindles, with a capacity of about 3,000 yards per day.

There are seventy five hands in the Franklinsville bag factory, threefourths of whom are females. These bags are sold mostly in New York, where they bring a ready price.
There are thirty looms, and 1,260 spindles are in full blast. The capacity is about 1,400 bags per day.

The other man held three aces and a pair of jacks.

TRIED HOT SPRINGS TWO LONG YEARS WITHOUT RELIEF. WITHOUT RELIEF.

Mercurial Rheumatism made me a cripple. After trying the springs two years, and the Mercury and Potash treatment until I was a skeleton and unable to do anything, I was prevailed upon to take a course of S. S. S. After taking three bottles my appitate began to improve, and I gained flesh rapidly. When I had taken twelve bottles I felt as well as I ever did. It is now twelve months since I took S. S. S. My health and appittle are good, and I am able to attend to all the business I can get.

Hot Springs, Jan. 1, 1883.

"PUT ME SQUARE ON MY FEET." Twelve months ago I was persuaded to try S. S. S. for Malarial Rheumatism, which had crippled me so that I was unable to attend to business. Less than twelve bottles have put me square on my fest; have steadily improved; havn't felt better in ten years.
