The Senate committee on Military Affairs have reported against the resolution to permit the erection of a statute of Garibaldi in the National Cemetery at Vicksburg.

T. J. Toumey was yesterday confirmed by the Senate as U.S. Marshal for South Carolina. John Glascock, in Fauquier county, Va., in a fit of lealousy, murdered his wife, three children, fired his house, and then shot himself through the heart. The Sherman Danville investigation began again yesterday in Washington. John S. Wise rose to an explanation of his kitchen remark. He was followed by several other witnesses, white and black.

The newspaper copyright bill introduced in the Senate yesterday by Senator Sherman is an eight John McGinnis was hanged in Philadelphia yesterday for killing his mother-in-law. Dr. Robert Coleman, one of the most prominent physicians of Richmond, Va., and during the war chief surgeon of Stonewall Jackson's corps, died in Richmond yesterday.

A collision between a passenger and freight train on the East Tennessee, Virginia & Georgia Railread yesterday, near Macon, Ga., resulted in the wreck of engines and cars, and the death of an engineer and fireman.

HOW IT WORKS. We have been told by the advocates of a tariff-for revenue only policy that the sentiment in favor of free trade had grown so in the West that the Democratic party could let New York, New Jersey and other Atlantic States go to the Republicans and car ry enough Western States to elect the President. We knew this was simply nonsense, as everyone who knows anything about the Western States knows. There has been no evidence anywhere visible to justify such an assertion, and they who make it make it simply at random, without anything to base it upon. Kansas is one of the States which was represented as hungering for free trade. Kansas has always been a Republican State ever since she came into existence and notoriety as "bleed ing Kansas." But these free trade enthusiasts had got themselve- to believe, or pretended to believe, that even Kansas could be carried on a free trade platform, As a test how such a thing in Virginia and mainthe cat jumps in that State, an election was held there last Sat urday to elect a successor in Congress to D. C. Haskell, deceased. The issue was made square between protection and free trade, the Republican candidate placing himself upon the protection platform, and the Democratic candidate who also had the support of the Greenbackers advocating free trade. The result was the Republican was elected by about four thousand majority. The Demo cratic candidate was an able man, a good speaker and an active campaigner. Now if anti protection has made such rapid progress in Kansas how is this result to be accounted for, right in the face, we might say, of a presidential election? No, this Kansas election is simply a flat contradiction to the groundless assertions of the anti-protectionists, and also an index trade lunacy be persisted in.

Kansas is one of the Western Republican States which we were told would go red hot for the Democrats on a low tariff campaign cry. As an evidence of how probable this is we note that in an election last Saturday fer a successor to Representative Haskell, deceased, a Republican was elected over his Democratic-Greenback competitor by four thousand majority.

It is said that Sergeant Bates, who recently perambulated the South with his fourteen year old boy, making speeches and passing 'round the hat, has written the Chicago Inter-Ocean that henceforth he will be a Republican. Perhaps the hat business didn't pan out successfully.

Senator Wade Hampton believes Senator Bayard could carry the doubtful States in the next presidential contest, and therefore thinks he is the man for the Democrats to nom-

A RAILROAD COLLISION.

Trains Wrecked, Two Men Killed and Two Injured. Macon, GA., March 4.—The south bound passenger train from Atlanta collided with a passenger train from Macon at 8 o'clock last night on the East Tennessee, Virginia & Georgia Railroad, near Juliette, 12 miles from Macon. Engineer Herod and Fireman Pruett on the up train, were killed. Express messenger Clower, on the down train, was badly hurt. One passsenger had his arm broken.
The engines and several freight cars were a complete wreck. The cause of the collision was a misconstruction of orders by the conductor on the up

Story About the Danville Riot. WASHINGTON, Mar. 5.-The Danville vestigation was resumed this morn Senator Sherman said Mr. Wise wished to make a correction in his testimony to make an additional statement.

any issue with the official reporter in him in connection with the reception of colored members of the Legislature at his house, still as a general statement of his dealings with members of the Legislature, the report did him injustice. While the case referred to was a particular instance of a see his mother and had called upon him to talk with him. H mentioned it not as a reflection upon them in any sense, but to illustrate that that man in that position was less exacting than white persons similarly situated would probably have been. Before he began his testimony he had asked the reporter to submit notes to him for insertion of tables.

Senator Vance-Well now, Mr. Wise, I wish to ask you, sir, how are we to understand you in relation to this correction? Do you say that the statement which the reporter made is not what you said or that t is not what you wished or intended

Wise-I say this, sir. I don't care to make an issue with the reporter as to whether he took my exact words or not. I say I do not believe he did. At the same time pursuant to what I had been understanding from the moment I testified, I revised it for the reason that before I spoke a word I told him I desired to revise testimeny and put it in tabulated state-

Senator Sherman said that when Wise first applied to him for leave to revise his statement he (Sherman) told him he thought he would be allower the usual privilege accorded to members of Congress to revise his estimony. Wise said he would like o add one sentence more "In so far as my testimony is sought to convey the impression that I made discrimi nation between colored and white members of the Legislature as a rule in their communication with me, it does them and me injustice. I always treated official calls upon me by whomsoever made, without any discrimination whatever and al ways expect to do so ' The following is the official report of the remark which Wise revised: "The fact that I agree with them does not mean that I invite them to my house. I could not do tain my social standing. There is no such condition there. Black mem bers of the Legislature have to come to consult me as to politics and they go to my kitchen and send up their ressage and I go to the back vard and see them.

Wise's revision was as follows: The fact that I agree with them politically, does not mean that I invite them to my house socially. I could not do such a thing in Virginia and maintain any social standing and there is no such condition there. For example, a black member of the Legislature came to consult me as to You would have thought that, being a member of the Legisture, he would have come to the front door, but he went to the kitchen, his mother being cook and sent up his message and I went to the back

Revenue. He said that about ten days or two weeks before the election he was passing a store when Graves. its proprietor, stopped him and began talking politics. He said they were going to carry the city and county. Graves said he was a friend of the witness and wanted to give him a piece of advice. He advised the witness to stay pretty close to his room on election day as there was going to be trouble and he did not want to see him hurt. Next day R. H. Wolfolk, a Democrat, stopped him and told him there was going to be trouble, that if the witness remained in town he would surely be ness to go to the country. J. B. Westbrooks on the night before the election, told the witness that the Demo crats had made up their minds to carry the election, they could not stand Mahone and nigger rule any longer. After the election Westbrooks said to the witness: "Jim, what I told you came true, but it came three days earlier than we expected." The witness saw armed Democrats at the polls on election day, and said that colored men were afraid to go to the polls

Chas. Wooding, colored, was called. He met Mr. Lea on Sunday night and was advised by him to go home. The witness retorted that he had as good a right to be on the street as any other man. Leasaid that they, (Dem ocrats,) were going to carry the election anyway, if they "had to kill the last d-d nigger in the country.'

Walter Gay, a mullatto, was called He heard the speech of Si ns, and did not endorse it. He thought the circular could have been condemned in a better way Some of its signers were good and reputable men who had attached their names wiithout being fully acquainted with its contents. The witness believed that had it not been for the riot the readjusters would have carried the town. The colored people were united in the readjuster cause. They were so united because it was natural for them to unite against a party which denied their political rights. He knew of no secret organizations among the colored people Daniel Dugger, white, was called. He described the riot. He saw Hatcher fire the first shot and believed that but for that shot no negroes would have been killed that day. He knew Hatcher had denied having been armed. The witness knew as well as he knew he lived that Hatcher had a pistol and fired it. The witness the straight Democratic ticket. He saw nothing on the day of the riot to indicate that the whites were in danger, nothing which he saw justified the statement that the whites fired in self-defense. The riot was uncalled for. It was brought about by indiscreet young men. The good people of Danville did not sanction it. people of Danville did not sanction it. About one hundred shots were fired during the riot. Had they been shot with precision at least fifty negroes would have been killed. Had the witness been included in the Sims' criticisms he would hold the Colonel personally responsible for his remarks Colored men were in the habit of carrying arms—colored men had drawn their pistols on him. "The razor," said the witness, is a very formidable weapon with the blacks." He knew of that part of Danville called "Hell's Half Acre," and thought it about as near hell as was possible. The Military Academy Bill in the Senate--- The House Considers the Naval Appropriation Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 4.-SENATE .-Cockrell, from the committee on Military Affairs, reported adversely, and had indefinitely postpond all bills providing for the distribution of condemned cannon to cities or associations. Los an, from the same committee, reported favorably a bill to relieve Wise, taking the witness chair, the members and Judge advocate of said while he did not wish to make the Fitz John Porter court marshal of secrecy imposed by their oath as regard to the language imputed to to the vote of the court. Logan intimated he would ask the Senate to consider this bill to-day. On the conclusion of the morning business, the military academy appropriation bill was placed before the Logan said he had been authorized

He said he had consulted many of the best of ficrrs who had been in authority at the academy and it was their and his opinion that hazing could not be stopped without such a provision. and he believed that such a provision would stop it. The amendment was agreed to, and the bill amended was passed.

The following bills were introduced and referred: By Sherman, granting a copyright to newspapers. By Call, to improve the entrance and channels of Pensacola Harbor, Fla., including both the inner and outer bars. The Senate then took up the bill to provide for exercise of jurisdiction conferred upon the United States in places out of their territory and dominion. When the reading of the bill, which covers fifty printed pages, had been concluded the Senate went into Executive session, and when the doors were re opened, adjourned.

It is understood also that some of the committee will have something ask him in relation to the judgments he has passed upon the verdicts of juries that did not see things in the same light as himself. Some astonishment has been ex pressed by certain members of the committee at the retention of Brewster, when it is known that he and his subordinates have been pursuing the personal and political friends of the President upon grounds clearly mali cious. The pursuit of General Longstreet by Brewster, his Cameron and his examiners, was not inclined, it is thought, to engender a good feeling between the President and the great American dude.
