My Crutches Thrown Away. The following was taken from the Marion (N. C. Post of March 19th, 1884, and was inserted by Mr Finley, and was not an advertisement:

For the past eight years I had been not only great sufferer, but entirely disabled, getting about on crutches with difficulty. A little over a year ago I began the use of Mrs. Joe Person's Celebrated Scrofula Remedy. Have used 25 bottles, and nov I can walk without crutches with ease and feel that I am on the road to renewed health. My case was a bad one, and had resisted the best medical treat ment so long that I had little hope of recovery. therefore take pleasure in giving my testimony to the value of Mrs. Joe Person's great Scrofula Rem-A L. MRS. JOE PERSON, Franklinton

Madam-Dr. Gilkey, of this place, informed me to day that y u were here some time ago and told him you could cure Scrofula, and he advised me to write to you for some of your circulars. I have sore on my leg and hip. It will cure up and break out just below where it cures up. I have been treated by several physicians. Some say it is Scrofula, Others say It is Lupus and Salt Rheum. It is just skin deep; it never gets deep; is very painful; don't rest at night. I want you to send me your circular and prices of your medicine, and if I think, after reading them, that it will do me any good, I will order some of the medicine at once. I have had the sores for 18 months, and have paid out a great deal of money to parties that have done me no good. Hoping to hear from you soon, I remain,

Respectfully. S. C. DALE. the following, cut from the Marion Lamp Post,

Mr. S. C. Dale, of this place, who for years had been suffering from aggravated Scrotula, has in three months use of this medicine entirely recovered. His case was almost hopeless, being scarcely able lo get about on crutches. He is now in active business. Six bottles effected a cure.

THE CINCINNATI MOB. The jury which rendered the absurd verdict in the case of William Berner, a confessed murderer, didn't calculate upon the sensation and tragic results that verdict was going to produce. On the 27th of last December Wm. H. Kirk, a livery stable keeper, was found dead in a mill stream near Cincinnati. It was first thought to be a case of suicide, but a wound on the back of the head suggested murder, and Joseph Palmer, a colored hostler, in the service of Kirk, was arrested on suspicion. In jail Palmer confessed that he was a murderer; that the plot for the murder had been matured by William Berner, a white man, for the purpose of rob bery, and that Palmer was assigned the task of killing Kirk, while Berner should watch out as a guard. On the morning of December 24th, Mr. Kirk went into his stable to look after some stock. While stepping aside into crept up behind him with a clawhammer, and burying it to the centre in Kirk's skull, the victim sank to the floor dead. The two men hastily searched the dead man's pockets, and then threw the body into a wagon and Palmer drove it off and dumped it into a mill stream, where it was murder. When the trial began the friends of Berner succeeded in packing the wool interests, though exactly why jury and the result was that last both could not be placated was no Monday week, notwithstanding positive evidence and the previous confession, the jury brought in a verdict

In the attack on the police and military, three or four killed and some twenty five more or less wounded. In the uproar the prisoner was disguised by the jail officers, removed and placed upon a train and carried to a neighboring town, where a rush was made for him by the crowd, and in the confusion, not being well known, he escaped. He was afterwards arrested and it is said now safely lodged in the penitentiary at Columbus. When the crowd was driven back from the jail they attacked an armory and a gun store, securing a considerable supply of arms, but for want of ammunition the arms were not of much use, and it was thought that that night would see the end of the trouble. But all next day the leaders of the mob worked and kept up the excite ment and Saturday night the trouble began again, and at 10:30 gathered in great numbers about the jail, many of them drunk. A barrel of coal oil was rolled into the treasurer's office in the court house, set afire, and then the mob fired upon any one who attempted to extinguish the flames. The result was, the court house, a building which cost $250,000, was destroyed with a vast quantity of valuable records. Among the conflicting reports that come it is not easy to get at the actual state of facts. A gun store which the mob gutted was also fired, but the firemen, notwithstanding the fact that they were fired upon, succeeded in

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Harmony in the Air--- The Republican Passibe House---We Will Get What we Were Promised to the Caucus---Bersonal Notes. &c.

ondence of THE OBSERVER. Washington, D. C., March 28 .not to come again. In more than three interviews with North Carolina Congressmen, in comparison of views and notes in the newspaper galleries, in chit chats in corridor and committee-room, a number of facts appear which show that the Democrati party is not only not "clean busted" on the tariff question, but that it is making itself as strong and vigorous as ever. The leaders are not discour aged. They are not so discordant as represented. They appreciate the situation. The wise head and honest heart of the Speaker are daily exerted to weld the party together. He has now, aside from his office, more influence over his peculiar friends than any of the revenue reformers. The moderate reformers and the wiser incidental protectionists are finding a common rallying point. Even the strenuous protectionists of the Pennsylvania school are proposing bases of compromise. Gen. Cox says that Mr. Randall is sincere-in favor of such an understanding between the factions as shall be honorable and permanent. But his following is not as long-headed as he and he temporizes in order to carry them along Major Dowd thinks that he bill with amendments will receive all except a few irreconcilable votes on the Democratic side. It is certain that some Republicans will support it. The Republicans try to make it appear that they are united but a newspaper man caught an admission to the contrary yesterday, and the pressure on several of their Western members is known to be very great. Col. Green, who has latterly not been hopeful, said to day that he thought the bill, with a few one of the stalls, Palmer stealthily amendments, will certainly pass the House. In his opinion the brandy and tobacco tax will be treated as proposed in the caucus. And Gens. Cox and Vance concur. Maj. Dowd was understood not to be as sanguine concerning our internal revenue mat ters. Of course a reduction of the his signature 400 times, which he did officers employed will be effected as a consequence, though there is yet no understanding as to the manner or found. Palmer was convicted of extent. There was a report in newspaper circles to-day that the tobacco and brandy people were to be sacrificed for the Ohio and California explained. A "trade" is said to be on foot. Gen. Cox seemed to approve some concession to the woolgrowers He said they thought it was hard that 20 per cent. should be made on a reduction which had already lessened greatly their profits. He thinks the whole matter is on a ing at Music Hall Friday night | fine footing for a journment at an early day. It is understood that the bill will come up next week, probably towards the end of the week. Mat ters are certainly in better shape, with hopes of further improve sent jail the mob was fired upon by the Already it is known that a number of Congressmen who voted against the bill in the caucus will vote for it when it comes up in the House. The strict reformers are annoyed because it appears that the bill is to be emas culated. Others think that even if it should turn out so, it is better than no declaration for reform, and far better than an internecine strife. It seems to be agreed that York is to be the Republican candida's for Governor. "Precisely why any Dem ocrat should be afraid of this noinination," said Gen. Cox, "I do not

Other members are of the same opionion. Breathless attention was paid to Mr. Lamar this afternoon. He put his argument on the highest ground, and probably aided the passage of the education bill by the calmness of his statements and the eloquence of his plea for Federal aid for federally im posed ignorance. Without offence to northern men, he proclaimed the fine culture of the old civilization and the abundant wants of the new. There was no toadying for favor and no repelling of insults. The core of his contention was the obligation to do something to carry out the new amendments to the Constitution. The bill, he declared, was more important than the amendments themselves, for without something of the kind they would be worse than abortive. Lib erty and ignorance were inconpat ble. The last part of the speech was profoundly impressive. Mr. Lamar spoke as he always speaks, without notes, and this time his remarks were not written out. Not only was this evident from two or three colloquial is and a few-a very few-blem ishes, but he stated to a member of the House who went over to hear him that he spoke entirely extempore. Lamar is the great orator of Congress. His manner is not equal to his matter, but he is full of anima It was reported late in the night | tion. He is more logical than Vest or Voorhees and far more impassion ed than Garland and Morgan. If he had the superb voice of Joe Blackburn nothing would be lacking. Major Dowd got up the trade dol lar bill yesterday and made a very sensible speech upon it. Said a gentleman to me in the afternoon: "That member of yours from North Carolina carries a level head. He rarely speaks in the House, but when he talks he has something to say." Maj Dowd secured a public building, or a report in favor of one, for Charlotte at the snug sum of $100,000. Col. Green has done the same thing for Wilmington. The latter place will be one of the important beneficiaries of the narrow gauge river and harbar bill to be reported some time next condition? "As much as any man. I have seen him almost every day for six months past, and have transacted a vast amount of business with him or under his instructions." "Please read the following extract from an interview which appeared a few days ago and say whether there is any truth in it."

"Mr. Tilden, within forty eight hours, was seen by a gentleman, who reports him in extreme physical debility; that he has emaciated down to between ninety five and one hundred pounds; that the narcotics taken for the purpose of giving him sleep have been forbidden by his physician, Dr. McBride; that his paralysis has not only returned, but has extended to his other hand, and that his old time whisper has now become so faint and feeble as to neces sitate frequent repetitions for the benefit of the most acute ear.'

A DENIAL OF EACH ASSERTION. "It is almost an absolute fiction As to Mr. Tilden's weight, it is absolutely false. Mr. Tilden weighs between 125 and 130 pounds. He weighs as much now as the average since he grew to manhood. The story that he takes or has been taking narcotics to induce sleep is totally false He has done so in no instance for years, and was never in the habit of doing so. He is a remarkably good sleeper. Nor is he paralyzed on either side. He has a rheumatic affection of some of the fingers of the left hand. He is sometimes subject to a tremor of the hands, but generally it is not sufficient to prevent his carrying a tumbler of water to his mouth or to prevent his writing his signature, which he has occasion to do frequently every day. I happen to know that he was lately called upon in a trust to affix

The medical men all say that the tremor of the hands does not touch the vital powers. They all report the vital powers of Mr. Tilden to be healthy and strong. Mr. Tilden goes out and about, attends to his affairs, which are of no limited extent; the is called on to advise in matters of importance with which he has long been connected, reads early and late, rises early and rarely retires before eleven; se lects and buys and reads more books probably than any private gentleman in this city; is now arranging his extensive library and furnishing his house, and is called upon continuous ly by persons from all parts of the a great deal of unnecessary trouble. There is no reason to suppose that Mr. Tilden will change the position he took in his letter of declension in 1880. He said then that there was nothing he so much desired as the repose of private life, and that he felt anequal to the enormous work of reforming the government-the expectation of which would be his sole motive for accepting. He thinks the objections he then had are more forci ble now, and he is unwilling to enter into an engagement involving four years of incessant toil and care.
