Digest of Supreme Court Decisions. Raleigh News and Observer.

State vs. Leak. An appeal of the accused in misdemeanors may be withdrawn by his counsel with the consent of the Attorney General, and in such case this court will not examine the record. But in felonies it must appear affirmatively that the prisoner ad-visedly assents to and desires the withdrawal of his appeal.

Munday vs. Whissenhunt. A contract in which the obligor engages to give the obligee (who was not authorized to appear for parties litigant and manage law suits) one-half of-the land in dispute or onehalf its value in the event of recovery, as compensation for his services in the management of the suit, is against public policy and void. Markham vs. Hicks.

1. The debtor's estate, in its entirety, in the homestead is protected from sale under execution until the expiration of the period of exemption. The Code, section 501 and following. The law prohibiting the sale of the versionary interest" is not changed by the fact that the act of 1870 (Battle's Revisal, chapter 55, section 26) is not incorporated into the Code. 2. The legal effect of the homestead laws is to protect the occupant in the enjoyment of the land set apart as a homestead, unmolested by his creditors. Abbott vs. Railroad. 1. The plaintiff was elected secretary and treasurer of a railroad company at a salary fixed by one of its by-laws, and entered upon and discharged the duties of the office, until his successor was chosen. Held, in an action to recover his salary, that the plaintiff is not required to show that such services as apper-tained to the office were performed, where the answer of the defendant admits the duties were discharged and offers no evidence to support any objection to the manner and kind of service rendered.

2. Held further: The by-laws constitute the contract between the parties, and under a stipulation contained the compensation, though measured by the day, is continuous being the term of service, and not dependent on each day's work. Railroad vs. Deal.

1. A tenant may remove a building erected by him for the better enjoyment of his trade while he remains in the possession of the land. But if he mington and has many friends and | neglects to avail himself of this right admirers here, consequently the during the term, the nature of the property and the uses to which it was devoted, as shown in this case, will serve to rebut the presumption of abandonment.

2. Where it appeared that the owner of the land consented verbally that the plaintiff company might erect a depot thereon for railroad business: it was held that the structure did not become a part of the freehold, and the plaintiff had a right to remove she same. University vs. Harrison.

inquiry has been made of those most likely to hear from him if he were not dead, and that in the meantime he has not been heard from. 2. There is a presumption of the law that every person dying leaves heirs, however remote; and it is incumbent upon the University claiming land by escheat, to rebut this presumption by proof founded upon such inquiry.

3. The testimony of a witness for plaintiff to the effect merely that for a long time he had not heard from the supposed deceased, or that he ever married and had children, is competent to go to the jury to be weighed by them, upon as issue as to the death and existence of heirs, but does not raise a presumption that there are no heirs, requiring the defendant to combat it.

Banks vs. Simpson. An action was brought against an endorser of a note executed by a firm in renewal of a fermer one, the trans action taking place in South Carolina and purporting to have been made in Charlotte in this State. But the note was sent and delivered to plaintiff bank at Charlotte to be discounted. One of the firm was adjudicated a bankrupt upon his individual petition and the note was preved against his estate, and the plaintiff bank and other creditors gave their assent as required by law as to his discharge. The bank discounted the note and at maturity extended the time of pay-ment to the makers for a valuable consideration, but reserved its rights against the endorser; Held: L. The court properly refused to charge there was no evidence of a reservation of right against the defendant surety.

2. The court also properly refused to permit the bankrupt's schedule to be introduced as evidence that the contract was made in South Carolina. It relates to his own liabilities, and was not competent upon the disput-ed fact between the parties to this suit in their relations to each other. 3. The evidence of a member of the firm in reference to the manner of endorsement of the renewal note for the purpose of continuing the negotiated loan, was admissible.

4. The contract is governed by the laws of this State—it being consummated here, and efficacy given to the note by its delivery and negotiation at the bank in pursuance of intent of all the parties. And no demand or notice of non-payment is required to bind the endorser. 5. A surety's liability to a creditor is not affected by a certificate of dis charge in bankruptcy granted to the principal. Such discharge in the act of the law, and does not release one liable for the same debt, either as partner, endorser, or otherwise. And creditor's assent to the discharge is that it be granted under the bankrupt

Famons Washington Correspondents. Washington Letter.

It is wonderful how many Washington correspondents have become noted. There is hardly a leading newspaper man in the country who has not served a term here. James Gordon Bennett, who founded the Herald, was a correspondent here before that, and he wrote the first gossipy letters ever written from Washington. Carl Schurz, who has just refused a present of $100,000, was once a Washington correspondent, writing letters for the New York Tribune. Villard, the railroad millionaire who lately failed, was a news-gatherer here, and Mark Twain commenced his Eastern career by writing letters at Washington for the Alta California. He wrote his "Innocents Abroad" in a dingy little om on Indiana avenue, and this made him his first great start. Thirty tons of paper were used in printing the book and it sold for from $3 to $5 a volume. Mark Twain got half Whitelaw Reid, now editor of the New York Tribune, was once employed as a Washington correspondent, and I think he came here from Ohio, where he started out as a re-

Cancer.

The development of the treatment of Cance with Swift's Specific seem so wonderful, that all safflicted should write to us. Cancer for 14 Years. Spartanburg, S. C., March 14, 1884.

I have for 14 years been a sufferer from a running sore on my face that everybody called a cancer. I have used over $300 worth of medicine and four it no relief. About four months ago I bought one bottle of Swift's Specific from Dr. H. E. Heinitsh, and since have bought five others, have taken it, and they have CURED ME sound and well! My face is as free from a sore as anybody's, and my health is perfectly restored. I feel like forty years had been lifted off my head. Yours thankfully.

Mr. B. F Buras, Hope, Ark, says, under date of

Mr. B. F Burns, Hope, Ark, says, under date of Jan. 22, 1884: "I have taken five bottles of Swift's Specific for a sore on my temple—said to be a cancer, I have been wonderfully benefitted and will soon be a well man."

Mr. W. R. Robison, Davisboro, Ga., writes, under date of Jan. 3, 1884: "I am getting on finely, the ulcer is gradually healing. I feel that Swift's Siecific will cure the horrible cancer which has been on me for over 20 years."
