Gen. Grant Breaking. It is said that Gen. Grant's recent financial disasters have had such an effect upon him that he seems "broken in mind and body." He is sensitive over what he imagines to be the loss of the prestige of his name among the American people, and will not read the papers to avoid seeing the adverse criticisms that would cause him mortification and pain.

John Sherman is willing. If they will nominate him at Chicago he will accept the responsibility and try to carry through. He thinks if Ohio be united he can be nominated. Oh, no, John don't want to be President.

Lord Tennyson recently was offered by an American $20,000 to come over to these shores to remain here three months. "And what would you have me do?" said the poet—"lecture, read or what?" "No, only sit in a room and have your hand shaken a few million times."

Gen. Sherman said he didn't want to spend four years in that "little hell," the White House, but if the Republicans wanted a good man to shove in there they could get his brother John. John seems to be willing to cremate.

As your correspondent looks out on the crowded streets all astrive with busy activity, he can not help but feel a thrill of patriotic pride at the energy and thrift of the people of Winston.

The factories are open and in full way. The ringing of bells and the blowing of bugles, calling buyers to the warehouses, show that the season of the yellow leaf is not yet ended, and as they proceed from one warehouse to another in a body it strikes the eye of the stranger that some order is in parade.

There is now a considerable movement in the part of Northern capitalists to invest in real estate or make loans upon real estate in the South, inasmuch as there is no danger in making careful investments, as property is sold at a better price than it is at a lower rate than we have to pay for home money.

The Boston Post calculates that 183 electoral votes are certain for the Democratic nominee. This is taking a liberal margin upon North Carolina and West Virginia, but let that pass. The certain Republican votes are from States casting 145 electoral ballots.

The Philadelphia Record, discussing the question whether children under ten years of age should be required to carry their books home and prepare their lessons outside of school hours, comes to the conclusion that they should not, a conclusion in which we agree with it. There is a disposition through this country to force children, and to do this they are required to devote more hours to study than is good for their health or for solid progress in the branches they study.

THE GRANT-JAMES LETTERS.

A Correspondence on Which Serious Charges Against Grant Were Founded. New York, May 28.—A representative of the Associated Press today called upon Clarence Seward, counsel for Gen. Grant, who obtained copies of the correspondence between James D. Fish and Gen. Grant, to which reference has been made in our issue of June 1, 1882. Fish had sent the paper of Grant & Ward to the Lincoln Bank with a note asking that the paper be discontinued. President James being called upon by Seward said that he answered the note of Fish as follows: "LINCOLN NATIONAL BANK, NEW YORK, July 1, 1882.—My Dear Mr. President: I will submit your favor to the board of directors on Wednesday next. Will you kindly inform me whether you are a general partner in the house of Messrs. Grant & Ward? Very truly, T. L. JAMES."

James D. Fish, Esq. answered further said: "Fish promptly answered above note, but that he was unable to find the answer. He, however, stated that it was substantial in its contents: 'My dear sir: In answer to your inquiry I have to say that both Gen. Grant and myself are now general partners in the firm of Grant & Ward. We were originally special partners, but by recent arrangement we have both become general partners. Yours truly, JAS. D. FISH.'"

On the 5th of July Fish wrote a letter to Gen. Grant in these words: (Private)—"July 5, 1882.—My Dear General: You do not often meet to talk over our business matters or for any other purpose, but I trust you are well aware that the failure to do so is not for any want of respect, esteem or friendship on my part. We are both pretty well occupied generally, which explains it. I think, however, it would not be amiss for you and me to counsel a little occasionally in regard to the business of Grant & Ward, as our conservative influence, if not beneficial, would do them no harm as they are so much younger than ourselves. I have often been asked by friends and business men whether you and I were general or special partners. We were for a time advertised as special partners, but I think we are virtually general partners. I think legally we would find that to be our status. Enclosed letters came from President James of the Lincoln Bank, to whom I sent a G. & W. note, to be discontinued, which you received. I sent you copy of my reply to his letter. You may be aware that I am on notes on G. & W. as endorser which I have discounted myself and have had to get accumulated mail to the extent of $200,000 in the aggregate at the same time and at once, which is not a trifling amount for me. It is necessary that the firm of G. & W. should be re-organized very high. These notes, as I understand it, are given for no other purpose than to raise money for the payment of grain, etc., purchased to fill government contracts. Under the circumstances, my dear General, you will see that it is of the most vital importance to me particularly that the credit of the firm shall always be unimpaired and unimpaired. I will be happy to meet you at almost any time you name to talk these matters over. Please return me Mr. President James' letter at your convenience, with any suggestions you may have to make. With respect and esteem, I am sincerely yours, JAMES D. FISH."

To the above letter General Grant answered as follows: "New York City, June 6, 1882.—My Dear Fish: On my arrival in this city this morning I found your letter of yesterday, with a letter from Thomas L. James, President of Lincoln National Bank, and a copy of your reply to the latter. Your understanding in regard to our liabilities in the firm of Grant & Ward are the same as mine. If you desire it I am entirely willing that the re-organization of the firm shall be so changed as to express this. Not having been in the city for more than a week I have a large accumulation of mail to look over and some business appointments to meet, so that I may not be able to get down to see you to-day, but if I can I will go before 3 o'clock. Very truly yours, U. S. GRANT."

Another letter, which Gen. Grant did not connect in any manner with his correspondence with Fish, was prepared by Ferdinand Ward, and at his request, Gen. Grant signed it. It is as follows: "New York, July 6, 1882.—My Dear Mr. Fish: In relation to the matter of discount kindly made by you for the account of Grant & Ward I would say that I think investments are safe, and I am willing that Mr. Ward should derive what profit he can for the firm that the use of my name and influence may bring. Yours very truly, U. S. GRANT."

The foregoing letters, and facts mentioned comprise everything known to Gen. Grant's counsel, to which the statement of Fish can relate.

Floods in Spain. MADRID, May 28.—The damage caused by floods in southeastern Spain is very great. Four hundred and nine dwellings have been destroyed and 514 injured in the province of Murcia alone.

Glimpses of the Future. M. Quad places this prediction on record, and those who are acquainted with the situation will see that he underestimates the possibilities of the future. Of Alabama he says that ten years hence she will supply a great part of the country with coal and iron. In that time Selma, Huntsville and Montgomery will nearly double their population. Birmingham will have from 40,000 to 50,000. The State will have two or three more railroads, two or more large stove works, a car wheel factory, a great agricultural works, at least two canning factories, and a score of new towns. Of Georgia, he says Atlanta ten years hence will have 15,000 more population, and every town and city in the State will have steadily gained. Scores of new industries will be in existence, capital will be increased by millions. Colored help will be almost entirely replaced by white labor. Fruit and truck will be shipped to almost every northern market. An immense fruit canning establishment will be started between Atlanta and Macon. There will be a hundred and more saw mills, half a dozen great agricultural and machine works and every county in the State will have a railroad running through it. Perhaps in the near future the contract will be buying her rattlers in Montgomery, and Michigan bar plows in Atlanta. These glimpses of the future may startle some of M. Quad's readers but people who have witnessed the gigantic strides of this section in the last decade will consider the picture altogether too tame.
