RICH AND POOR THIEVES.

The poor scamp who picks a pocket or steals a piece of meat is a thief, if outraged justice, prosecuted by the ministers of the law, and, if guilty, sent to jail or the penitentiary, and society applauds the action of the court. If a rich man steals a million from a bank, breaks the bank and ruins thousands of good honest people who trustingly placed their money in it, he is a defaulter, and if arrested at all is admitted to bail in a sum insignificant in comparison with the amount he stole-no, he didn't steal, only appropriated it-and if not able to give the bond required, is assigned apartments in jail, orders his meals from a hotel, sees what friends he chooses to see, and with the exception of being permitted the freedom of the city, has a high old time, if he has any of the stolen-appropriatedmoney left to foot the bill. That's where the rich thief has the advantage of the poor thief, and yet the poor thief is very frequently driven by want and desperation to steal, while the rich one steals-appropriother people's money, to the wealth the nomination, I believe that he will GINGHAM UMBRELLAS, Gents' hand-made and he already possesses. Fred. Ward, the partner of the Grants, is now in gates." Ludlow street jail, in New York, because unable to furnish the bond required, and occupies the apartment that Boss Tweed occupied during his stay in that establishment, his daily meals being sent to him from a hotel, and his friends coming and going at pleasure within specified hours. These apartments are comfortably fitted up, with carpeted floors, good beds, nice furniture, and all the appointments to make temporary confinement as pleasant as possible for distinguished culprits. When squandering other people's money Ward lived in royal style, and his entertainments at his palatial abode in Brooklyn were marvels of elegance and splendor. He does not put on quite so much style now, does not entertain so lavishly, but he is comfortably housed and lives well.

James D. Fish, the ex president of the collapsed Marine Bank, charged with "appropriating" to his own use nearly a million and a half of the funds of the bank of which he was president, was somewhat more fortunate than Ward, and though broke, was able without trouble to give the $30,000 bail bond required, and continues to enjoy his usual freedom.

John C. Eno, of New York, sunk the bank of which he was president $2,000,000, which his father made good; he then had a check cashed by another bank for $95,000, and is now supposed to be summering in Carada. Riddle, the president of the Penn

Bank, of Pittsburg, sunk that concern to the amount of about $2,000,000, and is still at large.

President Brown, of a bank at Hot Springs, Ark., got away with about $40,000 of the bank's money, T and the last seen of him he was bidding an affectionate farewell to a woman with whom he had become infatuated, and for whom he had abandoned his wife and children. He is still at

These are but a few of the instances that might be mentioned of recent occurrence, and the probabilities are that not one of the entire gang will suffer the penalty that ought to attach to their crimes.

Daniel O'Connell once said in the House of Commons that there was no law ever enacted by the British Parliament that a "coach and four could not drive through with impunity, and it might be said with equal truth that there is no law in this country that the man of wealth cannot violate with impunity. The conviction and punishment of a rich man, for crime is an event so rare as to be almost marvellous. We do not say this to array, nor to pander to any class prejudice that may exist, for there always will be and always must be in all civilized society rich and poor. The bad men in both are the exception, not the rule, and consequently the exception should not be the foundation for prejudice against all. But it is a fact that, through the working of the law and the courts these days, with defective indigtments, shrewd counsel, the law's intricacies, statutes of limitation, corrupt juries, etc., etc., the rich man walks into the courts defiantly, when arraigned, and walks out triumphantly. It is a fact, and this fact, too patent to be denied, has done much to shake confidence in the courts, or in justice as administered in these days, when the "almighty dollar" is so potent in Dick Taylor thought he was "biger man than old Grant." In view of recent occurrences probably he thinks so still.

The Durham Recorder warmly advocates the nomination of Judge Fowle for Congress in that district.

Senator Hoar, of Massachusetts, wants the government to print some campaign documents for the Republican party, and had the cheek to ask for the printing of 150,000 copies of the Copiah, Miss., investigation report, which, of course, was intended for campaign stuff.

Dr. Talmage, of Brooklyn, recently received a check for $500 from a Colorado miner, with the request that he appropriate it "to the cause of God." The Doctor sent one half of it | commencement at Oak Ridge Instito Gen. Gordon to be used in the erection of the Confederate Home at Richmond, and the other half to the "emergency fund" of Brooklyn for the relief of disabled Federal soldiers.

of the Agreement to a Committee. Several weeks ago ex-Senator Thomas C. Platt made a statement to Washington gentleman of what he would be willing to testify before a properly organized investigating com mittee concerning Stanley Matthews appointment to the Supreme Court He gave an interesting story of a meeting in his law office in 1880. where $300,000 was subscribed towards carrying Indiana, conditioned upon a written agreement given by Garfield that if he was elected he would appoint Stanley Matthews Justice of the Supreme Court. This agreement was held by Whitelaw Reid, and a copy was given to Mr. Platt. It is said Mr. Platt is now willing to give up the copy of this agreement and tell the story connected with it. Mr. Springer at one time thought he might be able to develop the facts in this case but the resolution under which he is working gives him no authority, and a majority of the committee, it is understood, are opposed to asking for an extension of their powers. Now it is understood there is a movement upon the Senate side looking toward an investigation of this subject. The subject will come up probably after the June conven-

A reporter on the Chicago Herald had the following interview with a locomotive engineer: "Lots of chaps think it would be fun to run an engine," said the driver, as he stuck his head, a flaming torch, and a long-necked oil can in under his machine, "but if the most of 'em would try it they wouldn't like it quite so well. "Tain't everybody can run a locomotive, either, though I suppose it's like running a daily news paper, which I've heard tell everyone can do. Now, a nervous man has no officiating. business in a cab; no more has a careless one, or a stupid cuss. To run an engine a man must feel his responsibility and keep his head level. I don't believe half the people know what it is to run an engine. Now. there's the machine; that's the first thing, and it has to be in good order and stay so. A locomotive has to stand the wear and tear and weather that'd knock a stationary engine into smithereens. And no matter what emergency arises freezing of pipes, or starting flues, lossening of packing, or starting ides, toesching to packing, or heating of journals—we've got to know just what to do, and do it right quick, too; then when we're running there's the time cards, and pretty often a new one; and the train orders—they are a life and death and reputation to us and to read our correct tation to us, and to read 'em correc and live up to 'em gives no end of "Bet I've read a train order over lozen times an hour-I am always so afraid of making a mistake or forgetting. You know the consequence of even a little mistake, sometimes. Then there's the signals to watch, the conductor's gong overhead, steam to keep up time to make, whistle-posts and crossings to look out for, bad spots in the road to be careful on, and long with all this there's the track ahead of you which your eyes must not leave for more'n five seconds. There's the brakes, too-one is always worrying about them. I don't s'pose everybody knows, either, that we have to be mighty careful when we come to the top of a grade. You see in going up she labors hard, and as soon as she begins to descend she makes a rush, and there's the danger of breaking your train when the rear cars are still dragging on the up grade. This danger is especially great on freights, but no good engineer fails to shut off some of his steam when his engine reaches a summit. It isn't every fool can run lamp-lighter combined, to serve for one year.

The frescoing of the interior of the Moravian church is now fully under way, and in a few weeks will be completed. Owing to the threatening condition of the weather on Tuesday night, the concert by the Salem Philharmonic Society was not as well attended as it would have been had it been a fine night. The music both vocal and instrumental, was very fine. One by one the old landmarks in Salem are passing away, and what was once the pride of our grandfathers will soon be no more. The old ciswater for man and beast, at the E. Belo corner, is now having the brick wall wall taken out and will be filled Henry Lovett is the champion well digger about Salem. In a day and a half this week, he dug and walled a well thirty-three feet deep, for Rev. L. B. Warreschke. Henry received a painful scalp wound by a brick falling into the well and striking him on the head to day.

The Amateur Band of Salem, leave for Yadkin College to-morrow morning (Thnrsday), to play for the commencement there.

Quite a number of persons from Salem and Winston attended the tute on Tuesday. A number from both places will also attend at Yadkın The soap sign painter struck Winston Tuesday morning, and soon had the large show windows in the Grav block and neighborhood decorated with all kinds of fancy lettering and devices. In the afternoon a heavy rain fall came along, and in a few minutes all the fancy work was gone, and the soap painter has gone too. An excursion is billed for Asheville from Salem and Winston on June 2d. The rates of fare are extremely low. and those of our citizens who wish to see the "Land of the Sky," should not let this opportunity pass by. Mr. Noah Kimel, of Arcadia township, Davidson county, is the "boss" farmer in his neighborhood. He recently sold a pig, a few days over two months old, that weighed 67 pounds. Mr. Kimel says he expects to harvest wheat this year that will turn out fifty bushel to the acre. Mr. Kimel didn't "go west" when he was a young man, but stayed at home and kept up the old farm, and is now reaping the benefits. He farms but very little ground, but what he does attend is done right. Mrs. Lucetta Shore, of South Fork township, Forsyth county, on going into the cellar at her house the other day, discoverd a strange dog in there acting in a manner which led her to believe the dog was mad. It escaped.

Mr. W. A. Lemly, president of Wachovia National Bank, is preparing to enlarge his residence in Salem. Material is being hauled for Mr. J. W. Fries' new residence, which is to be commenced as soon as Mr. Fries returns from a business trip North, where he has been for a week or two. Mr. A. C. Minung is putting up a enement house on Elm street. Mr. John Shott has disposed of his ot, fronting on Poplar street, to Ed.

The house and lot sold by Wm. Tavis to Rev. Albert Peele, was not the property he purchased from Mrs. Amelia Winkler, as I stated in my last, but was a house and lot he owned on depot street. I make the correction as Mr. Tavis still owns the Winkler property, which is in the market.

Mrs. Letitia W. Fries, wife of Mr. Frank H. Fries, died this (Wednesday) morning. She was a daughter of the late Col. R. L. Patterson, and leaves many relatives and friends to mourn her loss. Her funeral wil take place to morrow (Thursday) afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mr. John W. Nicholson, of Yadkin ville, Yadkin county, died on Friday of last week. Mrs. Nancy Long, of the same place, died the other day. Two children died in Waughtown the first of this week.

Mr. C. L. Groner, of Concord, was married in Salem, on last Thursday, to Miss Addie Hyer, Dr. Rondthaler, Mr. Eugene Albearis putting up dwelling house in Winston, opposite St. Paul's Episcopal church. The Winston tobacco factories are now getting in full blast, and much of the weed will be manufactured this season.

Turpentine as a Preventive in Infectious Diseases.

H. Vilandt, writing for a German publication, speaks highly of the value of the oil of turpentine in the treatment of diphtheria. He states that he has never seen this disease spread from a sick child to other members of the family when this remedy was employed. In many of his cases no isolation could be attempted, as the mother was the only female in the family, and was obliged to take care of both the sick and the well, continually passing back and forth from one to the other. His method was to pour from twenty to forty drops of a mixture of equal parts of turpentine and carbolic acid into a kettle of water, which was kept simmering over a slow fire, so that the air of the sick room was kept constantly impregnated with the odor of these two substances. He claims, also, that by this means a favorable influence is exerted upon the exudation in diphtheria, although it is by no means a curative of the disease, and should never be relied upon to the exclusion of other remedies.

Among the Follies of the Age which the introduction of SOZODONT long since exploded, was the use of abrasive and corrosive tooth preparations, which either contained minerals which scratched their enamel or acids which dissolved it. SOZODONT, a health promoting substitute for these empirical articles, is a botanic, skilifully prepared, highly sanctioned preparation, which not only beautifies, cleanses and invigorates suffron-colored and defective teeth, but divests the breath of an objectionable odor and restores to it that of health.

The opinion of the general public in regard to Aper's Cherry Pectoral is confirmed by clergymen, lawjers, public speakers and actors. All say it is the best remedy that can be procured for all affections of the vocal organs, throat and lungs.
