Carolina Fair Association.

A Fair Meeting Under Pa... pices, and a Grand Fair Assured Next Fall

At a called meeting of the Carolina Fair Association, by the president of the society, held at the court house in Charlotte on Saturday, July 5, 1884, it was decided to hold an

Agricultural and Mechanical Fair

at the fair grounds at Charlotte next fall—probably about the 11th day of November. (The definite time, however, to be decided upon hereafter.)

As the meeting was rather impromptu, and matters of great importance were to be acted upon, it was deemed advisable that a full meeting of those likely to take part in the movement should be invited to participate. It was thereupon directed that a public meeting should be called on SATURDAY, JULY 19, 1884, at the court house in Charlotte at 11:30 a. m., for the purpose of reorganizing the Fair Association, and then and there arrange and perfect a definite plan to carry out the object in view.

To this end, the undersigned, were appointed a committee to extend an invitation to the citizens of North and South Carolina, but particularly do we invite the co-operation of the people of our city and county, as well as the people of the counties of Cabarrus, Iredell, Lincoln, Cleveland, Gaston, Union, Caldwell, Catawba, Alexander, Stanly and Rowan counties, in North Carolina, and the people of York, Lancaster, Chester, Spartanburg, Greenville, Chesterfield and Marlboro, South Carolina.

Under our plan of organization every citizen, upon the payment of

TWO DOLLARS, may become an annual member, entitled to all the privileges of said membership, which entitle such member to participate in the deliberations of the association by vote and voice, as well as entrance to the fair grounds during the whole term of one annual fair for himself, his wife and all children below the age of 15 years.

THE CAROLINA FAIR ASSOCIATION has now on hand over one thousand dollars, the net proceeds of two former fairs held under its auspices, and we can reasonably estimate that the people of Charlotte, and those who are in accord with us on this

GRAND FORWARD MOVEMENT, which should be liberally encouraged, for the better development of our natural resources, our productive soil, and the skill of our native artisans, will cheerfully contribute and swell the amount to the handsome sum of

FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS.

The association has already contracted for the possession of the fair grounds property, which is to be put in thorough repair, and made suitable for the purpose in every way.

Therefore, we extend a hearty and cordial invitation to all who are in sympathy with us to be present at this meeting on the 19th day of July instant.

Come and join us in shaping the initiation of this movement in such a manner as will command success.

LOCAL RIFLES.

—Baker predicted rain yesterday. Today, he says, will be cloudy, with a cool wind.

—At the meeting tonight of the Knights and Ladies of Honor there will be an installation of the officers elected at the last meeting.

—The Busy Bees request their friends to remember their lawn party tonight, and hope to see them all, in Mrs. Fox's yard.

—Mrs. Mary T. Barnett, mother of our townsman, Mr. Ben. Barnett, died on Sunday last at her home near the city. She was aged 79 years, and was loved and respected by all who knew her.

—Thirteen recruits were sent off to Fort Monroe last night. This makes about one hundred that have been sent from this station to join the army, of whom only ten or twelve are from Charlotte and Mecklenburg county. Most of the recruits come to Charlotte from the mountains.

—From the catalogue of the Roanoke College, of Salem, Va., we see that during the past term there were seven "tar heel" students at that institution. Prof. Julius D. Preber, President of the Second North Carolina, and under his administration the college has prospered greatly.

—By an oversight, the communication from Salisbury, in regard to Prof. Neave's concert, appeared with a couple of errors. It was written by our regular correspondent, and the signature "N" should have been "M." The dues by Mrs. Frazier and Miss Bingham was left out, and it was one of the best features of the occasion.

—The citizens of Sixth street are raising a row on account of the density and height of the weeds that line the pavements of that thoroughfare between College and B streets. The ladies cannot pass by that locality without having their dresses soiled, and the weeds are otherwise a great nuisance. We are requested to petition the city fathers to have the weeds removed.

KILLED BY THE TRAIN.

The Discovery a Colored Man Made While Walking the Railroad Track Near Charlotte, Before Daybreak Sunday Morning—Abner J. Smith's Terrible Fate.

About two o'clock last Sunday morning, as Peter Clendennin, an old colored man, was walking along the track of the Charlotte, Columbia & Augusta Railroad, three miles from the city, he heard the voice of some one praying aloud and calling for help.

Peter investigated and found the body of a man in the ditch beside the track. The man was lying on his back with his legs across the iron rail. Between the rails his two feet and part of his legs had been cut off by a train which had been passing over the man.

One leg was hanging to the knee by a leader that had escaped being severed. The other had been cut squarely off below the knee and foot and leg were found in the ditch. As Peter stepped down over the man he recognized the features as those of Mr. Abner J. Smith, who lived near by, and who had just arrived in the city Saturday night, walking towards his home on the railroad track. Mr. Smith recognized the colored man and exclaimed: "Is that you, Uncle Peter? Please hurry and get some water. The man is dark and has a swollen face, and the hands of the neighbors, who quickly arrived beside the unfortunate man. They pressed a cup of water to his lips, but he could not swallow, and as they laid his head down, he gave a gasp and expired. Mr. S. H. Hilton took the body in charge and notified the coroner of the occurrence.

Sunday afternoon Coroner Smith arrived at the scene, and after paneling a jury, proceeded with the inquest. Peter Clendennin appeared and testified to having found Mr. Smith as stated above. Dr. Bratton, the county physician, testified to examining the body he found that both legs had been cut off below the knee, and that there were two cuts on the head. There were no other bruises or marks about the body. The man had been run over by the Charlotte bound freight train that passed the spot at 11 o'clock Saturday night, and the engineer, Arthur Williams, was summoned. He testified that he saw what he supposed to be a stick lying across the left rail of the track, and that as he passed over it he gave his engine a slight jolt, and when he was in his seat on the right side of the engine. He did not remember to have given the warning whistle on approaching the road crossing. A colored man testified that he had seen the train from the time it passed Pineville until it reached Charlotte, and he did not hear the whistle blow at any of the crossings. The spot where the man was killed was at the three mile crossing. After hearing this testimony, the jury returned a verdict that the deceased came to his death by negligence on part of the Charlotte, Columbia & Augusta Railroad.

Mr. Smith was in the city late Saturday afternoon, and being under the influence of liquor, was arrested by the police and locked up. About ten o'clock Saturday night he succeeded in giving bond for his appearance before the mayor the following Monday, and was released from prison.

When he left for home he had apparently recovered from his drunkenness and disappeared down the railroad track walking steadily. It was at the three mile post that he met his death, and it is probable that he was probably made by his body by the side of the track with his legs over the rail. The ditch in which he was lying was about three feet deep, and was darkened by the shadow of the overhanging embankment, so that it is reasonable to suppose that the engineer did not see him, mistaking his projecting legs for a stick lying across the rail. The cuts on his head were probably made by his body being jerked as the engine wheels ran over his legs. A small sum of money was found in his pockets. Mr. Smith was about forty years old, and leaves a wife and family of children. His body was buried yesterday morning. The failure of the engineer to blow the whistle on approaching the crossing, the jury thought, was sufficient evidence to throw the blame upon the railroad, and it will probably be the basis for a suit for damages against the company.

The Mayor's Court.

The principal business of the mayor yesterday morning was the adjustment of costs in the Fourth of July frolic. Chas. Estie, one of the recruits for his participation in the racket was assessed $2.50. Greiger and Freeman submitted and were fined $15 and $14 respectively. Dave Leeper, colored, was arraigned on charge of being drunk and raising disturbance, and was fined $2. Ed Sparkling, colored, for an assault was fined $2.80. Several other cases were called, but the parties failing to answer, the police were instructed to hunt them up, and the court adjourned.

Joint Commissions Service.

The congregations of the First and Second Presbyterian churches in this city have adopted the plan of uniting in service on communion Sundays, once each year, and at the First Presbyterian church last Sunday, there was perhaps the largest body of communicants ever before assembled in this city. Rev. Yeager M. Woods, of the Second church, preached an able and deeply interesting sermon. At night the two congregations met at the Second church, and Mr. W. Miller, of the First, occupied the pulpit, preaching a sermon of such power, earnestness and feeling as is seldom heard in our city pulpits, the congregation manifested the most intense interest throughout. The plan of joint service seems to be popular already and the results satisfactory. It appears to be a good plan. How pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity.

Sad Accident to Broom, the Chicken Man.

Old man Broom, the chicken peddler, was probably fatally injured last evening, about sundown, in a runaway accident near the Carolina Park. He was driving along the road, when his trusted horse became frightened and dashed off in a wild run. The old man, after keeping his seat for a time, was dashed to the ground with terrible violence, striking on his forehead. His right wrist was broken, as was also his left hand, and his head and face were badly lacerated. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and a physician was summoned. An examination of his injuries showed them to be of a very serious nature, and the physician fears they may terminate fatally. The extent of his internal injury, if any, could not be ascertained. Up to ten o'clock last night all efforts to restore him to consciousness were unavailing, and he remained in a critical condition.

A BARBARIC HUSBAND.

Attempts to Force Melted Lead into the Mouth of His Wife—The Victim's Terrible Fate.

A colored man named Stephen Pullum was sent to jail in this city yesterday morning on a charge that stands without a parallel in the criminal records of Charlotte. He stands charged with having made an attempt to murder his wife by pouring a spoonful of melted lead into her ear.

Fullam was arraigned before S. W. Davis, J. P., yesterday morning on a warrant sworn out by his wife, who charged him with having attempted to kill her the night previous. At the trial the woman, Doris Pullum, confronted her husband with an old table spoon and a few irregular flakes and bits of lead that had the appearance of having been freshly melted.

She testified that she had been in the kitchen at the time, and that she saw her husband with flakes of the lead, showing clearly that lead had been melted in the spoon. "He tried to pour this spoonful of melted lead into my ear," she testified, "and I was so terrified that I ran out of the room."

In response to the request to justice her story, she said: "Me and my husband went to sleep Sunday night together, and some time before daylight I was wakened by some one stumbling over a chair in the room. I saw that it was Steve, and being curious to know what he was up to, I lay quiet, making out like I was asleep, but I had my eyes open and my hand on the door knob. He lit the lamp and pulled this spoon out of his pocket. He then took out a few bits of lead, put them in the spoon and held it over the lamp. After a while when it was melted, I saw him come towards me. He bent over me and listened to see if I was asleep, then raised up a little and again bent over me. I was so terrified that I was satisfied at last, and put one hand on my cheek right away. He tried to turn my face on one side so that my ear would be up, and as my ear was turned towards him, he poured the lead into it. As he did so, I jerked away quick as lightning and knocked the spoon from his hand, the lead falling on the floor. I asked him what he was doing, and he said 'nothing.' I asked him what he was doing with that spoon, and he said 'nothing—but don't you say anything about it, for if you do I will not be here to see you.' He then took the spoon and gathered up the lead, put them in his breeches pocket and went to bed. I didn't sleep any more, but after he got to sleep I took the spoon and the lead out of his pocket."

Fullam insisted on this evidence with a dogged, sullen expression, and when requested to tell what he had to say, appeared confused and denied any knowledge of the affair whatever. His wife stated that he had often had fights and he had frequently maltreated her, but she had no idea why he wanted to kill her. Justice Davis committed Pullum to jail until he could be arraigned by the Superior court.
