16 Six Thousand Three Hundred Acres Land. The owners of The Crowder's Mountain from works beg to call the attention of capitalists iron manufacturers, stock and dairy men, and those who wish to settle colonies, to their property, which offers inducements to the classes above named.

The property consists of Six Thousand Three Hundred Acres of land, located in the counties of Gaston and Cleaveland, in the State of North Carolina, at King's Mountain Depot, on the Atlanta and charlotte Air Line railway, now owned by the Richmond and Danville railroad company. The property has been used for fifty years past as an iron property, and has been worked at various points, but chiefly at the site of the celebrated Yellow Ridge Ore Bank, which has always yielded an ore noted for its richness in metallic iron, and its softness and toughness. This vein of ore, which extends for two miles in length, has been worked to the depth of 147 feet, showing at that depth a vein of ore about 40 feet wide, and anialyzing as high as 66 per cent. of metallic iron. This teln has not been worked for twenty years, but the facts set forth can be fully shown. Various other veins have been worked, and within the past fwo pears very large deposits of iron ore have been discovered at other points. Within the past eighteen mouths, however, the owners have discovered deposits of ore in Crowder's Mountain, (five veins of fron-ore, are exposed), which were unknown before, and which will furnish an amount of good ore, easily worked and above water, that must make it one of the most desirable iron properties to be found. They have discovered on the pinnacle of this mountain, which is 1000 feet above the level and, 2200 feet above the sea level, a vein of ore legit feet wide, which crops out at various points from the top to the bottom of the mounta quality.

Besides Crowder's Mountain the owners possess King's Mountain, for about seven miles, whose pinnacle is the highest point of land from Rich's point to Atlanta, except Mt. Airy, in Georgia, and they have reason to believe this mountain is full of ore also. In addition to iron ore the property has manganese, linestone clay for making fire-proof brick, gold and other minerals. The sende six thousand agres are now covered with a fine growth of famber of all kinds, such as pine, alickery, cak, walnut, cedar, etc. The land is well suited to farming purposes, by those who wish to colonize. Cotton, corn, peas, cats, clover and grass, and fruits of all kinds are produced beautifully, and it is specially suited to grapes and small fruits. It would be divided into small farms that would give to each farm variety of soil, and level and hilly fold. We publish today a synopsis of Benj. F. Butler's address announcing his reasons for entering the field as a Presidential candidate. It is a very lengthy document, and put together with that craftiness and skill for which its author has a national reputation. There is no man in America who more thoroughly understands the arts of the demagogue, and perhaps no man who can play them more plausibly. He conveys the idea that all the resolutions looking to reform and the redress of grievances complained of, were ignored by the Democratic convention, when the fact is that every proposition alluded to by him which he favored; is incorporated in some form in the Democratic platform, and his opposition on this ground is a mere pretense to justify him in bolting the action of a convention of which he was a member, and to which action he offered no protest and made no objection until he saw that his own candidacy stood no chance, and that as a Presidential candidate he was neither among the probabilities nor possibilities. He shows his own inconsistency and lack of sincerity when he acknowledges that after the platform to which he objects was decided upon, and it was evident it would become the platform of the party, he advised the Massachusetts delegation to support as a candidate "some gen- a committee to collect all articles of tleman whose long experience in public affairs and prominence in by Forsyth at the approaching State Democratic conventions gave him claim to be considered a statesman," his choice being Thurman, who, however, he says, stood no chance in a "predestined convention." If Thurman had been nominated Mr. Butler would have bolted all the same, for he had made up his mind to bolt when he became convinced from his observations that he stood no show for a nomination in that "predestined convention." Politically, Butler is in mules, causing them to run away more sympathy with the Republican | throwing the lad between the wheels party than with the Democratic, and of the wagon, and the wood falling on even if his sympathy were not that the head was horribly mangled about way he would rather see Blaine the head, neck, breast and one of his arms, the flesh being literally torn elected than Cleveland, for the election of Cleveland means practically putting Ben Butler and all such men on the shelf. The success of the Democracy would lead to such administrative reforms and abuses as Winston, which came near resulting

Democracy be beaten, the opposition Butler will doubtless get some votes, but his animus is so apparent and his insincerity so manifest that his following will be insignificant compared with what it might have been, if, without dallying, he had manfully accepted the nominations which he

The Forsyth county wheat and cattle fair will be held this week, commencing on Wednesday, the 20th, and closing on Thursday, the 21st.

A German named Widding, who has been in the employ of Bailey Bros., in Winston, left for parts unknown last Friday evening, taking with him sixty dollars in cash and a silver watch belonging to Lee Stevening a wilfull misrepresentation of these facts, whereupon the crowd cheered lustily for Scales. York shouted out that he could not be driven from the stand, but if the Democracy attempted to bluff him, or brow-beat from the front, it could not be done; that he was not the man not be done; that he was not the man to be put down, see. His conduct and his language were that of a man who was courting a scene, or a flasco, and he wanted to be the hero.

The Republicans raised a cry for "York!" "York!" also; and amid the fairness, and proposed to give York all the time he wanted to speak in.

The General was followed by Col.

On the occasion the scholars presented their late superintendent, Mr. James T. Lineback, with a fine volume of books. Several of York's personal friends went to him at the stand and insisted upon unfortunately the elephant balloon caught on fire and burned up. Dr. York, it is plainly seen, realizes his inability to cope with Gen. Scales in a courteous discussion of honest issues, and he seeks to hide his own weakness, his political apostasy and self disrespect in vulgar slang and the contemptible quirks of demaat which he was found guilty. Judg goguery.
The State press was well represented on this occasion, and you can expect full reports from the correspon-

"York!" "York!" also; and amid the confusion some one in front of Dr. York used a profane expression—not directed primarily to Dr. York, though that gentleman assumed that it was. Major Edward Jones, who was near, came forward at once, and endeavored to quiet the swearer, but Dr. York said that "he would attend to him himself." At this juncture a moisy Republican appeared in the ring with his coat off, making overtures for a fight.
