That they had agreed upon a verdict could be seen by the expression of their countenances before the foreman spoke and it was no surprise when he announced that the jury found the prisoner guilty. Amusements in September.

The Narrow Gauge Washed Away.

About dusk yesterday afternoon a heavy black cloud came up from the west, and the way lightning leaped and flashed across it indicated that our neighbors to the west were getting a good soaking and so they were. About Lincolnton the rain was simply terrific, and a great deal of damage was done to the crops. At a point four miles above Lincolton a big slice was washed out of the Chester and Lenoir Narrow Gauge Railroad, causing the passenger train for Le-noir to be held at Lincolnton all night and probably allof today. The washout occurred a few minutes before the time for the narrow gauge passenger train to leave Lincolnton. The break in the track is a rather heavy one, but it will probably be repaired in time for the trains to resume their usual trips today. The rain throughout Lincoln and Cleaveland counties, it is reported, was heavy and extended over a good portion of Gaston. Besides the washing away of the railroad, the only damage done that we can hear of, was to the crops in the lowlands and to the fences, both crops and fences being badly washed.

That is a neat compliment our neighbor of the Home and Democrat pays Judge Allmand A. McKoy, who is presiding at the present term of our Superior court. There is perhaps no Judge on the bench of this State who is held in greater esteem by the people than Judge McKoy. As the Home and Democrat remarks: "He is no stranger in this section, as this is his third visit here since the adoption of the constitution in 1876. Al though not the oldest man, Judge Mc-Koy is the oldest Judge on the bench we are not a lawyer, we are not justi-The clouds that floated about in opinion as to his ability as a Judge, but as a man we know Judge McKoy fied, by experience, in expressing an promise last night and a refreshing to be one of the best, with good, old shower fell upon the city. Judge McKoy.

We doubt if there is a wholesale house in the State that does a larger amount of business than that done by the establishment of Wittkowsky & Baruch in this city. Their fall trade has already opened and on yes terday, especially, their shipping clerks had a busy day. The pavement in front of their store was piled ten feet high with dry goods boxes that were being drayed away to the depots. As fast as one dray load would be carried away, another would be rolled out to the pavement from the store, and it was not until late in the afternoon that the blockade was entirely cleared. The whole number of boxes of goods shipped yesterday alone by Wittkowsky & Baruch was over three hundred. The goods went to towns along the line of every railroad centering at Charlotte. What other house in the State can Shields to be Tried at Statesville.

As was anticipated, the trial of Thos. L. Shields for the murder of Jos. G. Sitton that was to have been called up at this term of Mecklenburg Superior court, has been moved to another county. Shields was brought before the court yesterday morning, when his counsel made a motion to have the case moved to some other county. Shields' counsel wanted the case moved to Gaston or to Union, and Solicitor Osborne wanted it moved to Lincoln or Cabarrus. After due consideration, Judge McKoy moved it Iredell county, and the trial will consequently be held at States-ville at the next term of Iredell court, which convenes in February, 1885. Shields looks broken down. His long confinement in jail has bleached his face and his eyes have a staring, glassy appearance. There are many who predict that he will not be able to stand many more months in jail. After it was settled that his trial should be removed to Iredell, he was taken from the court house to his old cell, when the door was shut, the key turned and he fell upon his bed to meditate upon the prospect of the additional months of dreary imprisonment he will have to undergo. It is probable that this change of courts will result in some change in the counsel that have here-tofore hattled in the case. The prosecution will lose an able and valuable awyer if the rumor be true that Col. H. C. Jones is to withdraw from the case after it leaves this county.

The Southern Telegraph Solid. As soon as news was received of the alleged trouble between Roubling, he wire manufacturer, and the Bankers & Merchants Telegraph Company, of which the Southern Company is a combined branch, there were many who at once jumped to the conclusion that it was all over the conclusion that it was all over with the Southern Company, and that its offices and wires would shortly fall into the hands of the Western Union, as did the American Company. The Southern, however, is not ready to sell out. An Observer reporter yesterday met Manager Dodge, of the Southern office in this city, and was given a candid statement of the affair. The trouble between Roubling and the Bankers & Merchants does not in any manner affect the Southern of the American Roubling and the Bankers & Merchants does not in any manner affect the Southern of the American Roubling and the Bankers & Merchants does not in any manner affect the Southern of the American Roubling and the Bankers & Merchants does not in any manner affect the Southern of the Merchants does not in any manner affect the Southern of the Merchants does not in any manner affect the Southern of the Merchants does not in any manner affect the Southern of the Merchants does not in any manner affect the Southern of the Merchants does not in any manner affect the Southern of the Merchants does not in any manner affect the Southern of the ern. The whole thing grows out of a disputed contract. Roubling furnish-ed wires for the Bankers & Merchants, and that company, claiming that he had not fulfilled the contract to the letter, refused to give him full pay until the contract should be filled. It was an easy matter for Roubling to get out an attachment pending the settlement of the difficulty. There was no financial embarrassment about it. All the operatives of the Southern office were paid promptly in July and August, not one of them being kept waiting a day after pay-ment was due. The Southern, Manager Dodge says, is doing more busi ness now than ever, and its affairs are in a most prosperous condition.

mostly in the trial of small cases. Frank Orr and Sam Moseley, colored, were tried for an affray and found guilty. Judge McKoy suspended judgment upon the payment of costs and upon condition that the negroes behave themselves for twelve months. If they have a breach of the peace during that period, they are to be arrested and put in jail. W. F. Cuthbertson was tried on a charge of assault and battery and was acquitted. The case of Dr. Keestler, of "root and yarb" renown, for retailing whiskey without a license, which was appealed from the Inferior Court, was brought up, but was remanded to the Inferior Court to be returned with full records.

Today the case of Nelson Porter. who is charged with burning the barn of Mr. H. K. Reid, will be called and tried, and after that, the civil docket will be taken up.

The New Haven Unior, of the 24th, contains this item about a couple of Charlotte men: "Capt. Herman Baruch, of Charlotte, N. C. and E. M. Young, formerly of this city, and superintendent of Bolton & Co., were yesterday entertained by Dr. Cremin, Capt. Samuel Bolton and ex-Auditor Edwin McCarthey.
Mr. Young is in the best of health and spirits. He has a profitable business in the South and is perfectly delighted by his surroundings. Mr. Young will remain in New Haven only a few days, as his leave of absence is a short one." Mr. Samuel J. Pemberton, of Stanly county, was in the city yesterday. He says the people of Stanly have Rheumatism.

TARBORO, N. C., July 7, 1884. MRS. JOE PERSON.

MRS. JOE PERSON:

Dear Madam—For eight or ten years I have been a sufferer from some cutaneous disease resulting from impurity of the blood, which was manifested by several large sores on my face, with dry, hard scabs, which would shed and others form continuously. It was pronounced by an experienced physician to be "Lupus." I was also a severe sufferer with Rheumatism, and it was with difficulty I could walk at ail. After trying various treatments I was induced by my pastor to try your REMEDY. After using three bottles I was perfectly cured. The sores are all healed, my general health is good and my Rheumatism is entirely relieved. As a remedy for Rheumatism, Skin and Blood Diseases I consider it without an equal.

I am very truly,
