The property consists of Six Thousand Three Hundred Acres of land, located in the counties of Gaston and Cleaveiand, in the State of North Carolina, at King's Mountain Depot, on the Atlanta and Charlotte Air Line railway, now owned by the Richmond and Danville railroad company. The property has been used for fifty years past as an iron property, and has ceen worked at various points, but chiefly at the site of the celebrated Yellow Ridge Ore Bank, which has always yielded an ore noted for its richness in metallic iron, and its softness and toughness. This vein of ore, which extends for two miles in length, has been worked to the depth of 147 feet, shewing at that depth a vein of ore about 40 feet wide, and analyzing as high as 65 per cent. of metallic iron. This yein has not been worked for twenty years, but the facts set forth can be fully shown. Yarious other yelns have been worked, and within the past two years very large deposits of iron ore have been discovered at other points. Within the past two years very large deposits of iron ore nave been discovered at other points. Within the past two from ore, are exposed), which were unknown before, and which will furnish an amount of good ore, easily worked and above water, that must make it one of the most destrable iron properties to be found. They have discovered on the pinnacle of this mountain, which is 1600 feet above the level land, 2200 feet above the sea level, a veln of ore eight feet wide, which crops out at various points from the top to the bottom of the mountain, showing in one place about 20 feet of solid vein. This yeln can be traced over the top of the mountain. The ore is a mottled gray ore, showing on analysis from 45 to 65 per cent. of metallic iron, with a small amount of titanic acid, and without any sulphur or phosphorus. The quantity of ore in quality.

Besides Crowder's Mountain the owners possess King's Mountain, for about seven miles, whose pinnacie is the highest point of land from Richmond to Atlanta, except Mt. Airy, in Georgia, and they have reason to believe this mountain is full of ore also. In addition to tron ore the property has manganese, limestone clay for making fire-proof brick, gold and other minerais. Very pure and excellent barytese has just been found in large quantity.

BLAINE AS A DODGER. Mr. Blaine says that he did no vote on the prohibitory amendment to the constitution submitted to the people of Maine last Monday, for the reason that as a representative of the Republican party he thought it better to touch that matter carefully, or rather touch it not at all, adding that if there was any question which came distinctly within the jurisdiction of the State it was the question of prohibition. This is simply some of Mr. Blaine's artful dodging. The question might be asked whether he was called upon to vote upon that amendment as a citizen of Maine or as a representative of the National Republican party. His excuse would be just as good for dodging any other measure on which there might be a difference of opinion. If it was a question strictly within the jurisdiction of the State, he, as a citizen of the State, could have cast his vote in accordance with his honest convictions, but the fear of the political effect of that vote outside of the State made him dodge and shirk casting his ballot for or against the amendment as other citizens of the State did. It was anticipated before the election that he and SHOES pated before the election that he would dodge. If he did dodge he has played false, as far as he is concerned, to his promises to the prohibitionists. Neal Dow, in a published letter several weeks before the election, assured the prohibitionists that Mr. Blaine would vote for the amendment himself, and that if he failed to do so, he (Dow) would move to put a prohibition Presidential electoral ticket in the field. The day before the election Mr. Dow said Mr. Blaine had carried out in good faith his promise to give the cordial support of the Republican State ticket and the Republican organ-manfully and vote for the amendment as he had publicly pledged. Up to the day of election Dow refused to give credence to the report that Blaine would not vote as he had promised. So it seems that Blaine was not only dodging himself, but that he was making false promises to Neal Dow, promises made to be broken. His dodging will do him no good where he hoped it would, for he has committed his party to the suport of a measure which he had not he moral courage to vote for.

Mrs. Morrill, widow of the late Senator Morrill, of Maine, in her reply to the appeal from a Republican committee in Ohio, addressed to her dead husband, to come out and help them in the canvass there, said her husband, if alive, would oppose Blaine, whom he knew to be a corrupt man, adding that Blaine sought him with tears in his eyes to protect him from exposure when under investigation by the House of Representatives. While Mr. Morrill might not have supported Mr. Blaine for the Presidency, he was still sufficiently partizan to keep his mouth closed when, according to his wid-

the facts and thoroughly convinced of Blaine's corruption. Mr. Grady, who made the fight against Cleveland at Chicago, is according to his own saying, a vengeful sort of a fellow. In his speech in Tammany Hall Monday he said: "There may be those who forgive their enemies, but I am one who follows an enemy through thick and thin, returning fire for fire till one or the other goes down." When he gets all his war paint on and swings his tomahawk in earnest he must be a terrible fellow.

For several years the Republican party of this State has been passing through a disintegrating process, and what is left of it has been kept together through the efforts mainly of the internal revenue machine. Its best and brainiest ment have left it, or take little or no interest in its management. When the internal revenue bosses got together and resolved to hunt outside for somebody to splice with and the so-called coalition with the so-called Liberal Democrats was formed, it was a public confession of weakness. But instead of making them stronger, that dicker with a few outside politicians who had met with disappointments and nursed little ambitions of their own, it made them weaker, for it showed the trading spirit which disgusted the better class of straightout Republicans, who stood by the party in all its ups and downs, and many of them became, if not openly opposed to it, indifferent to its success. They regarded it rightfully as the the result of trickery, which if successful would result in benefit only to the tricksters. Hence the aversion or indifference of many of the old-time leaders, men who had a a personal following and whose a value was might to a process, and wo on the surface of the hanging of Wm. B. Mumford the hanging of Wm. B. Mumfo through a disintegrating process, and called leaders there is distrust and jealousy. They are watching each other as a cat watches a mouse, and with pretty much the same motive and feeling and hope. They have in their scrambles for spoils and efforts to control the party tramped upon each others feet so often that not only the feet but the men are very sore, and while there is an apparent agreement between them all on the surface and anything but cordial. This is one of the difficulties they meet with in this campaign and one of the reasons why it lags and drags so. And it will not get any better between now and November.

According to a tabulated statement published by the New York World in reply to the claim that the "Republican party saved the Union," there were in the Federal armies during the war a total of 1,456,907 Demo crats and 1,222,000 Republicans. In addition to this, a very large number of the commanding Generals were

Gen. Butler is now swinging round the circle in the West in a palace car belonging to a railroad superintenization to the prohibition amend-ment, and that he would come up dent, the use of which is gratuitously given to him. He admits that the object of his running is to defeat Cleveland, an admission which will lessen his vote and increase Cleveland's.

Mr. Blaine says he didn't vote on the prohibition amendment in Maine; he dodged. This is in keeping with Blaine's dodging record. But dodging on that issue won't do him much

Now that Blaine is over his agony in Maine he can turn his talent to Ohio, and as much spare cash as he can command, for they are both

We now entertain no shadow of doubt that the sunflower is a very useful plant, and worthy of far more attention than it has hitherto commonly received from farmers and gardeners. We have grown it many years, and made a variety of experiments with it, and the result is, we expect to grow it largely next year. If we can find market for the seed, purpose to plant at least one acre of it, and keep account to see if there is a profit in it, and how much.

In former years, we have planted it about in nooks and corners around ow's statement, he was familiar with the buildings and fences, about the stables, poultry houses, and privies, to absorb the poisonous effluvia and prevent unpleasant odors; near the well (but not too near), to drink up the stagnant water standing around, and sweeten the air; along branch sides and meadows to prevent malaria, and we have imagined that it has done good in every place. It may be only a fancy, but it has seemed in some way, either through its foliage or its roots, perhaps through both, that the atmosphere around those places was made sweeter by the presence of the sunflower.

And so we have retained it from year to year, always with increasing favor, for we have found that poul try and fowls of the wild species ar as fond of the seed as they are of any grain, and eat it as readily and greed There is no doubt, too, but that the seed are more fattening to poultry that corn or wheat, on account of the great quantity of oil in them. In fact, the sunflower is an oil producton, N. C. These mammoth Cleve-land and Hendricks pears are suggestive of the mammoth Cleveland and Hendricks majority this State will east next November. It will be about as many thousands as there were ounces in each of these pears.

The venerable Dr. Mer-cer, a man ol 80 honorable years, once the familiar friend and frequent host of Henry Clay, a gentleman of boundless generosity and benevo-lence, the patron of all that redeemed New Orleans, came to headquarters an hour before the execution to ask for Mumford's life. "Give me this man's life, General," said he, while the tears rolled down his aged cheeks. "It is but a scratch of your pen."

"True," replied the General, "But a scratch of my pen could burn New Orleans. I could as soon do the one as the other."

An Ugly Exhibit.

Augusta Chronicle The Birmingham Age calls attention to a strange and disgraceful exhibit of some Alabama counties. A gathering statistics and shows that in his part of the State the value of farming implement is $3,099, while the value of dirks, pistols, etc., is $5,587. This is about the proportion of Falstaff's bread bill to his liquor

But Mr. Mr. Watkins, of Birming-ham, goes much farther and states that Alabama at large is much worse than Limestone county in particular. He give the following table of comparative values, based upon the Auditor's report for the fiscal year of 1883, which, he says, may well astonish any reflective mind:

Val. hogs in Alabama ('83) ... $ 37,358

Farming implements 75,291

Printing presses and mate-

Sheep. 250,247
Mechanical tools, etc. 321,447
Invested in bonds, etc. 351,798
Guns, pistols, dirks, etc. 410,762
The walking arsenals of the State seem to be most flourishing. If agriculture is not paying in Alabama, perhaps the cause of it is an overproduction of men who carry lethal

If the statistics above quoted are correct, we may have cause to ques-tisn the civilization of some of our commonwealths and inquire as to the best way of reforming what M. Thiers used to call "an impossible condition of affairs."
