Indications. South Atlantic States, generally fair weather, variable winds, slight change in temperature.

LOCAL RIPPLES.

Tony Denier's Humpty Dumpty will appear in the opera house next Saturday night. It is the best comedy of this sort in existence.

Next Friday night there will be a big Democratic rally at Beatty's store in Paw Creek township. Several speakers will address the meeting.

The Polk county senatorial convention was held at Columbus, on the 26th. Dr. T. B. Twitty was nominated to represent Polk county in the next Senate.

Prof. Chas. W. Wheeler, of this city, has on exhibition at Raleigh his entire collection of gems, minerals and precious stones, polished and in the rough. Prof. Kerr pronounces it the best collection at the Exposition.

But for the say so of the almanac nobody would have supposed that yesterday was the first of October. It was a sweltering hot day and our people were made to feel as uncomfortable as in midsummer.

Col. John N. Staples, who has been making a brilliant canvass of the state, will speak in Charlotte next Monday night. He will have a large crowd of listeners, for our people know how to appreciate the presence of a good speaker.

We are told that at the meeting in Berryhill township, last Tuesday night, there were four hundred people. It was the largest local demonstration made in this county in many years, and shows that the people are taking more than usual interest in political affairs. York's votes will be scarce in Berryhill.

Dr. N. D. Fetzer, who has been connected with the drug house of T. C. Smith & Co., in this city, for two years past, returns to Concord, having purchased the drug store of John Y. Morrison, in that town. Dr. Fetzer has made many warm friends in Charlotte who will sincerely regret to learn that he is to leave our city.

Mrs. J. E. Ray, corresponding secretary of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union for North Carolina, requests us to announce that the second annual convention of the Union will be held in Asheville on the 9th and 10th of October. Delegates are expected to arrive on the 8th inst., and will be met by a committee of reception.

A Correct Prediction. The OBSERVER'S prediction yesterday morning as to the result of the Republican congressional convention in Rockingham was correct. Col. Oliver H. Dockery was nominated as the opposition candidate to Judge Bennett, and Dr. R. M. Norment, of this city, was nominated as elector. Sheriff S. H. Manning, of New Hanover county, presided as chairman. Among the names selected as members of the district executive committee was that of our friend, Mr. E. E. McDonald, of this city. The whole thing was cut and dried before hand, and there was no enthusiasm. The members of the convention felt more like praying than hurrahing.

Sad Death. Yesterday morning at 7 o'clock, at the residence of his grandfather, Mr. W. J. F. Liddell, Arthur, the little son of Rev. D. S. Hill, LL. D., died after a brief illness. He was a bright and interesting child and a great pet with all who knew him. The circumstances attending render this affliction a peculiarly sad one. Mr. Liddell was in Raleigh, and Dr. Hill had just returned from Europe to his college at Lewisburg, Pa. They will both arrive here today, and no announcement as to the hour of the funeral services can be made at this time. The sympathies of the entire community go out to the afflicted family.

Small Transfer Business. During the past month the following transfers of real estate in Mecklenburg county were recorded with the register of deeds: Deed from E. H. Hinton and wife to school district 25, one acre land; J. E. Moore to J. F. McCall, 71 acre land; Wm. McCormick to J. C. Wilson, 60 acre land; P. H. Starns, trustee of Mary J. Howie, to J. A. Elliott, land; John E. Brown, commissioner, to George S. Hall land; M. Healy and wife to Robert Barber, lot; L. W. Osborne and wife to R. J. Poyser, city lot; and Boyce to M. J. Elliott, land; T. M. Chambers and wife to R. M. Weddington et al, land at Matthews; D. C. Flow, land, J. W. Appender and wife to school district 22, land. The transfers in September were smaller by almost half than for any month since last January.

A First Rate Surprise. As the opening at Witkowsky & Baruch's in its progress last night, entrance was effected into their whole sale house and a large table placed across the room was loaded with a choice and elegant supper of salads, champagne, etc. The supper was contributed to the heads of the house and the clerks by Mr. George Soole, of the Buford House, and was to them a very pleasant surprise. An OBSERVER representative joined the clerks in their festivities and the latter can testify to the enjoyment of the occasion. Mr. Witkowsky's toasts were original, neat and numerous and the champagne held out until after the supper was over. Toasts were proposed to the Richmond & Danville Railroad company, to the Buford House, and to Mr. E. M. Young, Witkowsky & Baruch's general manager.

A Fair Offer. The Volusia Beer Co., of Marshall, Mich., offer to send Dr. Dyer's Sarsaparilla, one bottle, for thirty days, to men, young and old, afflicted with nervous debility, loss of hair, and other troubles. See advertisement in this paper.

The Hope of the Nation. Children, slow in development, puny, stunted, and ill, will find relief in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

AUTUMNAL SPLENDORS

In the Way of Fashions and Fabrics as Displayed at Witkowsky & Baruch's Opening—A Display That is a Credit to the South.

The large and handsome store of Witkowsky & Baruch was yesterday a scene of rare beauty and elegance, the occasion being their annual fall opening. Preparations for this event had been under way for a couple of weeks, the work of arranging the display being entrusted to the artistic taste of three eminent decorators, the Messrs. Moles, Overcarah and McQuinn—and that they succeeded in arranging the most unique and showy display ever known in Charlotte was not doubted by any of the large crowd that thronged the store yesterday.

One very attractive feature was a representation of Governor Cleveland officiating as President in the White House. The hunting coat of arms of D'Oyles and towels and is a good model of the White House. Inside, seated at a table, and dressed in a black suit is President Cleveland, in the act of signing bills. A true representation of Cleveland is afforded by a fine plaster cast, colored. Another attractive feature that caught the attention of all, was a representation of the pyramids of Egypt, constructed entirely of fine silks and satins. The pyramids were arranged so as to continually revolve, showing the handsome qualities of the goods to fine effect.

Four sections of the store were devoted entirely to a display of colored dress goods of every shade. The evening silks, plain and brocaded, were elegant, and the whole display of silks, colored velvets, velveteens, brocaded and silk velvets, black silks, etc., was such as would do credit to a New York house. There were altogether, 1,000 pieces of silks on display. The black silks were extra fine, being shown at from $2.50 to $4.75 per yard. Down the centre aisle was a large and very fine display of upholstery goods in raw silk, jute, repes and cretonnes. The gentlemen's furnishing department showed not only a full line of every quality of goods, but every new novelty at present known to the trade. One of the upper galleries was devoted entirely to a display of ladies underwear, where any quality of goods could be found, night gowns, for instance ranging from 50 cents to $25, the best being French cut and made. The hosiery, lace and handkerchief department was full and complete. Ladies skirts were shown in satin, flannel and felt from $15 down to $1. On one counter was displayed $4,000 worth of tringes. In shawls were shown fine India material valued for the best shawl $1,500 and for the lowest $300. Splendid pieces of satin brocaded dolmans, Russian circulars, Newmarket, coaching wraps, and walking jackets were displayed, but conspicuous above them all were the fine seal skin cloaks. In this same department, a full line of children's cloaks were shown, besides a beautiful variety of India cashmere shawls and India valley cashmires. In the way of blankets all varieties were shown, including Persian and Australian blankets at $25 each.

The most important and decidedly the prettiest feature of the opening, was the display in the millinery department, presided over by Mrs. Benson and daughter, and Miss Cobert, of New York, a new acquisition. Hats are shown in all the styles ranging in price from $12 to $40. A number of elegant hats, all imported from the following Paris makers are shown, priced from $25 to $40: Madames Virot, Julien, Jerome, Eugenie, Dallye, Bianchi, Panyamiz Julia, Tasse and Colbert. The millinery department is replete with trimmings and ornaments of all the known styles and is the most complete in the South.

A dress making department has been established and put in the hands of Madame Willard, of New York, and a new feature in the trade of this enterprising firm.

In the carpet department, a magnificent line of goods were displayed, including such varieties as Wilton's, Axminsters, Moquette, velvets, Smyrna rugs, moquet rugs, body Brussels, velvet rugs, etc. A good list of house furnishing goods, and decorations were also shown, and the display of Nottingham laces, Madras draperies, tapestries, antique laces, etc., was excellent. The opening will continue throughout the week.

Getting Married in Coveys. As the law in this State forbids the issuance of a marriage license to a couple where one of them is under age and objection is raised thereto from paternal sources, it is becoming quite the style for youthful couples in this section to flee to South Carolina and have the bands proclaimed. It is being carried to such an excess that it is probable a system of interstate marriage will be inaugurated in this section by and by. As long as the business was confined to one couple here and there, it did not make much difference, but it has now come to such a pass that the old folk are beginning to grumble. They have commenced to take the South Carolina trip on a wholesale scale, the couples forming parties and going together on grand matrimonial pilgrimages. The first of these parties was from Fort Mill, S. C., yesterday afternoon, a pair of bridal couples got off and boarded the train for Concord, and on their return home. Another party of the same kind was on their way to the State capital yesterday, and it was for their benefit that the bride had consented to flee to South Carolina and be joined. The other couple found that it would be more pleasant for them also to be united in a neutral country where marriage licenses are no terrors, and had accordingly followed the first couple. The schedule is so arranged that they were able to leave Concord at dinner, go to Fort Mill, get married and return home in time for supper. This is a nice little arrangement, and while we would not in the least manifest a disposition to interfere with it, yet we must warn that some of these days they are going to get off the train at Fort Mill and find some old bald headed gentleman there waiting for them with a club. The Fort Mill trip is too good to last long.

A Brakeman Crushed. Lewis Mott, a colored man who has been running as brakeman on the Carolina Central passenger trains for a long time, was caught between two cars and badly crushed at Monroe, last Tuesday night. Several of his ribs were broken and he received internal injuries. Yesterday he was thought to be improving. Mott was considered one of the most careful and trustworthy darkeys in the service of the road, but it being a circus car which he was coupling, his mind was absorbed in thoughts of the money to be made by the circus, causing him to be a little careless. The railroad company is taking care of him, having provided him with physicians. It is thought that he will recover.

Ponies and Cow Boys from the Plains.

Some commotion was caused about the Art Line depot yesterday morning by the arrival of one hundred genuine Texas mustangs, in charge of two cow boys from the plains. The owners of the ponies contracted with Mr. J. W. Wadsworth to let them graze on his farm for a week, and the whole drove were accordingly corralled on that farm, about one mile from the depot. The freight bill, the occasion being their annual fall opening, amounted to the sum of $536. They will graze and rest for a week on Wadsworth's farm.

The Ohio Majority to be Small. Columbus Dispatch to St. Louis Globe-Democrat, 21st.

The fight will be close. Neither side expects a majority of 10,000. An election held today would give the State to the Republicans by about 5,000 majority. A conservative estimate on the polls made does not place it over this, and under the Democratic Jerry-mander of last February it is altogether probable that the Democrats will get eleven and the Republicans ten Congressmen.

The State is completely organized. It was never worked up before as it is now. Whatever the result may be the defeated party will have done its best. It will be a thorough test of physical and political strength, together with a measure of available resources. The Democrats have perhaps an advantage in their secret service, which is said to be supported by the national committee with unlimited means. They are doing more by agents than by meetings and circulars or documents.

The Two Dogs—A Fable. Two Dogs having engaged in a Presidential Canvass, it was not long ere one of them got the Foreleg of his Antagonist in his mouth and proceeded to masticate it with every manifestation of Delight and Triumph. The other Dog, with an ear-splitting Yelp, instantly advised him to Withdraw in favor of some smaller or Canine.

Charity Commenced at Home.

At the last moment, ten o'clock a. m., August 12th, Eugene Guadina, a warehouseman for Messrs. B. Quinlan & Co., bought one-third of the correct ticket. The revolution of the wheel brought out No. 13, and Guadina was the winner. The fact was published and came soon to the ears of Guadina, who yesterday was poor, but to-day, by the investment of a dollar, ranks among the "millionaires." He called at the office of the Louisiana State Lottery with Mr. H. O'Connell, and was promptly paid in full—New Orleans Picayune, August 12th, 1884.

The Secret of Life. Scott's Sarsaparilla, or Blood and Liver Syrup, is the remedy for the cure of scrofulous taint, rheumatism, while swelling, gout, polio, consumption, and all diseases arising from an impure condition of the blood. Certificates can be presented from many leading physicians, ministers, and heads of families throughout the land endorsing Scott's Blood and Liver Syrup in the highest terms. We are constantly in receipt of certificates of cure from the most reliable sources, and we recommend it as the best remedy for the above diseases.

Mrs. Joe Person's STATEMENT.

I have never known my Remedy to fail to cure Heart Trouble, an irregularity in its action, from which so many suffer. I have never known it to fail for INDIGESTION. As a NERVE TONIC it is said by those who have used it, to be unequalled, giving good natural sleep to those who are restless. It has never known it to fail in any disease which has its origin in impurity of the Blood, and am willing to subject it to ANY test which may present itself. I have never met with a case of any Ulceration, Sore of any kind (Cancers of long standing excepted), that would not yield to my Remedy if properly applied. Every bottle is prepared by myself, and I can assure the public that it is purely vegetable, no narcotic, mineral or other preparation enters into its composition, and from the sale of thousands of bottles I have never had ONE unfavorable report.

I am, respectfully, MRS. JOE PERSON. Charlotte, Sept. 11th, 1884.
