16. The owners of The Crowder's Mountain Iron Works beg to call the attention of capitalists from manufacturers, stock and dairy men, and those who wish to settle colonies, to their property, which offers inducements to the classes above named.

The property consists of Six Thousand Three Hundred Acres of land, located in the counties of Gaston and Cleaveland, in the State of North Caroma, at King's Mountain Depot, on the Atlanta and Charlotte Air Line rallway, now owned by the Richmond and Danville rallroad company. The property has been used for fifty years past as an iron property, and has been worked at various points, but chiefly at the site of the celebrated Yellow Ridge Ore Bank, which has always yielded an ore noted for its richness. This vein of ore, which extends for two miles in length, has been worked to the dept I 147 feet, showing at that depth a vein of ore about 40 feet wide, and analyzing as high as 66 per cent. of metallic iron. This vein has not been worked, and within the past two years very large deposits of iron ore have been discovered at other points. Within the past eighteen months, however, the owners have discovered deposits of ore in Crowder's Mountain, (five veins of iron ore, are exposed), which were unknown before, and which will furnish an amount of good ore, easily worked and above water, that must make it one of the most desirable iron properties to be found. They have discovered on the pinnacle of this mountain, which is 1000 feet above the level land, 220 feet above the sea leve!, a vein of ore eight feet wide, which crops out at various points from the top to the bottom of the mountain in showing in one place about 20 feet of solid vein. This vein can be traced over the top of the mountain for over a mile, and this deposit alone would afford an almost inexhaustible supply of ore, easily worked, and above the water quality.

Besides Crowder's Mountain the owners possess King's Mountain, for about seven miles, whose pinnacie is the highest point of land from Richmond to Atlanta, except Mt. Airy, in Georgia, and they have reason to believe this mountain is full of ore also. In addition to iron ore the property has manganese, limestone clay for making fire-proof brick, gold and other minerals. Very pure and excellent barytese has just been found in large quantity.

cellent barytese has just been found in large quantity.

As a stock and dairy farm it offers fine opportualties to those who may wish to engage in such business. It has from three to four thousand acres of level or only slightly rolling land, which produces crass, grain and all kinds of farming products anely, and it is well supplied with water by unfailing springs and branches

The other 4,000 acres embraced in the mountain sides are productive of fine grass and herdage, and afford excellent natural pasturage for sheep and cattle. The climate is so mild that but little shelter for stock is needed in the coldest winters. The whole six thousand acres are now covered with a fine growth of timber of all kinds, such as pine, hickory, oak, walnut, cedar, etc. The land is well suited to farming purposes, by those who wish to colonize. Cotton, corn, peas, oats, clover and grass, and fruits of all kinds are produced beautifully, and it is specially suited to grapes and small fruits. At could be divided into small farms that would give to each farm variety of soil, and level and hilly and. It is situated in the Piedmont belt, which is noted for the salubrity of its climate, and the healthiness of its atmosphere. It is a region free from maiaria and other unhealthy influences. It is located with great convenience to railroad facilities, being situated at from two to four miles from King's Mountain Station, on a railway that has the most extensive connections with all parts of the country, and which offers great inducements to those who are trying to develop the country along its lines. The owners will sell this property to suit purchasers, as follows: The whole tract, including mineral interest, for Sixty three Thousand Dollars, or will make favorable terms, reserving the mineral interest, payments to be one-third oash, balance in one or twys.

Mineral Springs, and to the widely-known Cleve-iand Springs.

The town of King's Mountain is also adjacent, where are good hotels, a flourishing and excellent high school, and several new and handsome churches. The owners invite the attention of all interested to this property, and ask an examination of it. Any further information regarding it will be promptly furnished by addressing R. E. Cochrane, itanager Charlotte Real Estate Agency.

The Yellow Ridge Ore Bank has been recently sold to a Pittsburg, Pa., company, and a German colonization company has recently bought 2,500 cres adjoining this property.

Reports as the Sam Taylor mine), three frame tenement houses, two rooms each, good barn, good well water and good spring on the premises. Sold without reserve for $1,750.

The North State plays its figures very loosely. We clip the two following paragraphs from Thursday's for Congress; Josiah, who, in days gone by, used to larrup them so unmercifully in the columns of the Sentinel. They have a very vivid recollection of Josiah, but they endorse him for all that. It is safe to say, however, that Josiah does not

"Since hearing from Ohio," the North State, Republican organ at Greensboro, claims North Carolina "for Blaine, Logan and York by 15,000." Perhaps since the subsequent returns have come in it will modify these figures some. From the recklessness with which the North State enters the prophetic field we take it for granted that the man that furnishes the brains for that paper is not at home much these days and that in his absence the boys run it.

A correspondent of the New York Herald, writing from Charlotte under date of 15th inst., puts this State down as good for Cleveland and the 17 1461/2 acres, a well improved farm, one mile from Third Creek Station, on the Western N. Mr. Blaine was in Detroit, Mich. with his hippodrome, the night of the election day in Ohio. When the returns came to him he couldn't stand the pressure alone, so he went to the telegraph office and ordered connection to be made with the wire that ran into his library at Augusta, called to his private secretary, who is a telegraph operator, called his wife and daughter, the cook and the maid servant and the man servant, then he and his son Walter, with no one to disturb their happy enthusiasm, sat at the Detroit end of the wire and told the expectant household at the other end the good news from Buckeyedom. Exactly what he said is a sort of family secret. Perhaps Mrs. Blaine will want to know, since the figures have dwindled down so why in the mischief he didn't wait until the subsequent returns came in before he roused them out of their little beds to tell the story of delusive fig-

Blaine on Convict Labor.

Nashvi le American. In 1858 a resolution passed the Maine Legislature and was approved by the Governor, "authorizing the Governor to appoint some suitable persons to examine into the system of lisbursements, labor and discipline in the Maine prison, and to compare the is placed in the column of doubtful same with that of the prisons in other States, in order to determine whether there may not, with advantage, be some change effected so as to render the prison self-supporting, and, if pos sible, a source of revenue to the State Treasury." The resolve also provided for access to all books and papers in the hands of State officials which might be needed by the commissioner. Lot M. Morrill was Governor, and ap pointed James G. Blaine as the commissioner. Mr. Blaine made a most elaborate report.

Under the heading of "Labor," Mr. Blaine says: "Three systems of labor have been tried in the prisons of the different states of the Union. First, working the convicts on account of the State. the State supplying raw material, and undertaking, through its agents, the Second, leasing the prison in all its departments to some person or persons for a specified annual sum, the lessees having the sole control of the discipline of the convicts under certain stipulated rules, and the entire disposition of their labor. Third, hiring the labor of the convicts to contractors at so much per day, the State reserving to itself the control, management and general discipline of the prison. "The first of these systems is the one so long and so unsuccessfully tried in this State. It has always and ev erywhere resulted in pecuniary failure. *The second system has been tried in many of the Southern and West ern States, and generally with very unsatisfactory results. * *

"The third system is the one which seems to combine all the advantages attainable in the management of a prison. The State retains in its own hands the discipline and government of the convicts, and disposes of their labor for a fixed and definite sum. leaving to the contractor the care of supplying the material and selling the manufactures. One marked advan-tage in this mode of labor is the certainty and exactness with which the ncome of the prison may be calcutainty and exactness with which the income of the prison may be calculated in advance, and the expenses guaged and governed accordingly. The system has the advantage of being practical and simple in its operations, and the experience of many years on the part of those best enabled to judge is so unquestionably and unreservedly in its favor that it may be regarded as fully and finally established. In every prison that has attained financial success this system has been rigidly adhered to, and I recommend that it be made the permanent rule of labor in the Maine prison though not at such prices as are specified in the existing contracts. A judicious and useful application of this system of labor might be made in our county jails. They could all be made houses of correction, and by the industry of those committed to them a certain portion of the expense now devolving on the counties might be repaid. The effect on the prisoners would be beneficent, as it would re lieve them from their dreary and demoralizing idleness, and tend to the formation of industrious and thrifty habits. This feature has been introduced into the jails of some other States, and the testimony as to the good effects resulting from it is strong and uniform. It is not strictly in the line of my duty to make suggestions and uniform. It is not strictly in the line of my duty to make suggestions on this point, but I cannot lose the opportunity of commending the subject to the most consideration of those who are intrusted with the government of our county jails."

Mr. Blaine then submitted a collection of the submitted and a collection of the submitted and submitted s Mr. Blaine then submitted a collection of figures that prove that it would require but $105.30 per year to keep a convict. With that as a basis he reached the conclusion that the Maine convicts might be hired out in competition with honest labor at the rate of forty cents a day per convict.

The Ohio Lesson.

New York World.

The battle in Ohio was fought by the Democracy this year under great disadvantages. No Democrat hoped for a victory; very few anticipated any decrease of the Garfield majority of 1880.

The Democratic drawbacks were numerous. Frank Hurd's canvass for Congress as an avowed advocate for free trade was injurious to the party, notwithstanding the well known fact that his theories are repudiated by the Democracy and antagonize the Chicago platform. The wool growers, who supported the Democratic candidate for Congress in 1882, in a belief that the Democratic House would increase the tariff on ic House would increase the tariff on wool, when it was powerless to make any tariff changes without the consent of the Republican Senate and President, were told that the Democrats had deceived and cheated them. The Democracy was charged with not having kept faith with the people in regard to the repeal of the Scott Law.
The State was flooded with tariff The State was nooded with tariff documents and tariff speeches, and the Democratic platform was mis represented as meaning no protection for American industries.

The Republicans were enabled to centralize all their money, patronage and efforts on Ohio. They started with the advantage of the prestige of Republican victories in the State in October elections in Presidential get 'em out They can lock 'em up now indefinitely.

The Republican campaign was an appeal for pity. "Help us, Ohio, or we sink!"

The experience of the campaign will satisfy all honest men who desire to preserve the purity of elec-tions of the expediency of abolishing early State elections in Presidential years altogether and making all the States elect uniformly in November. The Democratic party will come into power next month and will have the same advantages in the September and October elections that the Republicans now enjoy. But this is no reason why an evil should not be abolished, and we hope to see the Democrats favor the adoption of November elections in every State in the Union in Presidential years.

MONEY FOR NORTH CAROLINA. The Republican managers in this State made an effort before the Ohio election to secure funds from the Na tional Republican Committee for election purposes in this State, but were informed that all the funds then available were required for use in Ohio, but after the election in that State they would try to do something for the cause in North Carolina. If Ohio went for the Republicans they would feel encouraged to keep up the fight for Blaine and might try to carry some of the Southern States. They have been led to believe that North Carolina is a doubtful State, and while the managers here are not counting much on the election of York or the State ticket, they hold out the idea that with the tariff ques tion, and a liberal supply of cash to keep the machine running lively, ocratic party and give Blaine a fighting chance.
