Opera House Last Night. Since the presentation of the "Lit-tle Sunflower" at the opera house last night, Miss Katie Putnam is perhaps more of a favorite in Charlotte than ever. The pretty little actress was greeted by a large and certainly an appreciative audience. There were several characters in her support that were unusually good, one of which was Mrs. Mary Putnam as "Aunt Chloe," and another, Mr. Frank Bosworth as "Maj. Brown, an F. F. V., Sah." Miss Putnam was above criticism as the "Little Sunflower," and CAR LOAD as usual, fairly charmed her audience. There is but one Katie Putnam, and she will always be warmly welcomed in Charlotte.

ome of the Exhibits Airendy in Place on the Grounds- - What the Charlotte Exhibitors will Dos-The Departs ments, Supervisors, Marshals, Etc. This is fair week, and Tuesday morning will witness the opening day of the Carolina Fair Exhibit. The success of the fair has already been insured, and we can now promise our readers that the best fair yet known in Charlotte will be held this week. Under the skillful supervision of Mr. E W. Hovey, the manager of the fair grounds, the association has been furnished with the neatest, cleanest and best arranged grounds in the State. The grand stand, floral hall, machinery hall and all the buildings have been painted and brightened up. and the race course has been convert ed into one of the best in the South. An Observer reporter yesterday visited the grounds and found that a considerable portion of machinery and floral halls was already filled with exhibits. Every particle of space in the two buildings has been secured and the exhibits, on the whole, will not only be full, but very creditable to our community. A large number of citizens of the county yesterday made entries of butter and dairy products, fine fowls, cattle, sheep, hogs and horses and farm and garden products, all of their entries to be delivered at the grounds tomorrow. Our farmer friends will be splendidly represented in the list of exhibits. Our citizens and business men have also made a good list of entries. Wittkowsky & Baruch will have on exhibition a display of dry goods to the real value of $5,000. Berwanger & Brother will exhibit clothing; Ludolph & Hartsfield, china and fancy ware; Hargraves & Alexander, dry goods; Eddins & Brother, books and stations ery; Mrs. J. This, it must be remembered, is simply the list of entries from Charlotte up to yesterday. There will be a large number of others. The secretary of the fair will be in his office on the grounds after 9 o'clock tomorrow, ready to receive all entries The supervisors of the different departments will also be in their places to receive and assign the entries. All having articles for exhibition will therefore take them direct to the grounds tomorrow.

The list of marshals appointed for the Fair next week, are as follows: D. P. Hutchison, chief; assistants, John Henderson and John W. Wadsworth, of Concord; E. E. Harris, of Poplar Tent; John Caldwell, of Stonewall; N. S. Ogborn, of Monroe; Jno Younts, of Pineville; A. C. Springs, of Fort Mill; Chas. Carson, L. C. Johnston, J. D. Pharr, W. W. Phifer, of Charlotte; B. S. McAden, of Lowell. The assistants are requested to report to the chief at the Central Hotel at 9 a. m., on the 28th instant, without further notice.

Marshals for the Pair.

Fire on the Cotton Platform. Yesterday afternoon Ike McDowell a colored drayman, unloaded a bale of cotton at the platform, and scarce-ly had the bale been landed before it was seen to be on fire. The bale was picked up and hurried from the platform before the fire had a chance to communicate to the other bales on the platform. The alarm of fire was given which brought out the entire fire department, but the danger was over before the first tap of the bell was heard. How the bale became ignited no one seems to know. Cotton fires are always mysterious in their origin.

Serious Runaway.

Yesterday as Mr. James Ross was drivingthrough Independence square, his buggy was run into by a wagon, the tongue of which collided with the buggy wheels and overturned the buggy. Mr. Ross was thrown vio lently to the ground, and his frightened horse dashed wildly off, dragging the overturned buggy along. Opposite Butler's jewelry store, the horse became freed from the buggy and took the streets and sidewalks alternately in his course to Wadsworth's stables. The buggy, an elegant little vehicle, was broken all to pieces. Mr. Ross was badly bruised and skinned up and was taken into Wriston's drug store, where his injuries were dressed.

Three handed people are becoming quite numerous, they have a a right hand, a left hand, and are always behind hand in taking Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup when they catch a cold.

Operatic Notes.

After a long absence from the South, the "Banker's Daughter" company is again on the rounds, and will appear in our opera house en November 1st. The story of the Banker's Daughter is familiar to play-goers and readers. The sacrifice of a daughter to save ner father; her marriage with a man she does not love, but who is the soul of honor and pure devotion; his discovery of his wife's indifference to him, after having lived with her for a period of years, offering daily his devotion at a shrine which with the blindness of love he could not see was veiled to him; their separation, and in the end the husband's recall by the wife, who during his absence has learned to know how well she loved

Ford's Opera Company, composed of excellent talent, will hold the boards in Charlotte three nights this week, and visitors to the fair will have the opportunity of witnessing three fine theatrical performances.

The latest freak in the way of masquerades is a costume that is intended to represent an oyster. What next? Why, the future masqueraders will have a bottle of Dr. Bulls Cough Syrup moving among them.

Knocked Down and Trampled.

As the alarm of fire was sounded yesterday afternoon, Asa Parker, an B year old son of Mr. W. A. Parker, was standing on the pavement in front of Dr J H McAden's drug store. Seeing the people running, the lad endeavored to get out of the way, but before he could do so, a colored man rushing along ran square over the child and knocked him down. Three other colored men following close behind, trampled on the body of the boy in their mad haste before Mr. Robert Gray could jerk the little fel-low from under their heels. The boy was taken into Dr. McAden's drug store and examination showed that he was bruised all over, his ankle was sprained and his nose probably broken. On arriving home, the little fellow fell unconscious to the floor, indicating that his injuries were more serious than at first supposed, and requiring the attention of physicians. The accident was doubtless due to carelessness, but it demonstrates more clearly a fact that has long been apparent, viz: that firemen and all others should be prohibited from running on the pavements. We believe there is an ordinance against it, and the police should see that it is en forced, so that a repetition of such an affair will be prevented.
