HOUSE AND SENATE. AFTER A BRIEF SESSION THE SENATE ADJOURNS UNTIL MONDAY.

The House Resumes the Consideration of the later-State Commerce Bill. Washington, Dec. 11.-After some routine business Van Wyck offered the following: WHEREAS, a commercial treaty of great importance has been negotiated between the United States and Spain which was made public by the King of Spain to such an extent that it was cabled from Madrid to the Times of New York city, and given to the American people by that journal be-fore the same was presented with be-coming solemnity and secrecy to the

WHEREAS, The provision of said treaty materially affects the subject of revenues and taxation involving serious questions of diplomacy and state secrets the discussion thereof should be in open session so that the people may be fully apprised of the reasons why said treaty should be ratified or rejected, therefore Resolved, That the committee on rules be directed to report an amend ment or additional rule requiring that treaties which concern matters of revenue be considered in open ses-

On objection of Wilson the matter went over one day. Blair's resolution offered yesterday directing the committee on naval affairs to examine Capt. Ericson's ininventions relating to guns, torpedoes, etc., was agreed to.

On motion of Coke the bill providing for the improvement of Gal--veston harbor was made a special order for Jan. 8th. Consideration of the Oregon cen-tral land forfeiture bill was then re-

In the course of the debate Morgan learned from the Oregon members that the land in question had been mortgaged. He had been under the impression that such was not the case and he accordingly moved that the bill be committed to the public lands committee for further examination. Pending the discussion of this mo-tion the bill at 2 o'clock had to yield to the unfinished business of yester-day, being the bill providing for the admission of Dakota as a State in the Union.

Harrison took the floor to reply to Vest's objections.

The debate was confined to Harri son and the two Missouri Senators. Harrison finally expressed the wish that a vote on the bill might be reached next Monday, but Butler thought this too early and declined to consent to the arrangement fixing a vote for that day. Sherusan introduced a joint resolu tion which was read three times and passed, appointing the 21st of February for ceremonies connected with the completion of the Washington monuompletion of the Washington monu-ment and authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to have cards of in-vitation suitable to the occasion en-graved in the bureau of engraving and printing and appropriting $7,500 to the amount already authorized to be expended in celebration. Morgan inquired why the 21st of February had been selected. Sherman replied that the 22nd was Sunday.

Morgan said that fact was no reason for a change. In his opinion no day was too sacred for a fitting commemoration of this important event. Sherman said that there were a number of delegations coming in-cluding some that were military in character and the commission had deemed it unwise to bring ceremonies into antagonism with the sentiment of the religious people of the coun-The interstate commerce bill of Cul-lum, which was the special order for today had no opportunity for being

Hancock, of Texas, from the committee on appropriations reported the invalid pension appropriation bill and it was referred to the committee of the whole of the whole.

Mills, of Texas, made an unsuccess ful effort to have passed the Senate bill for a public building at Waco, Texas, Brumm, of Pennsylvania being the objector.

The House then resumed consideration of the inter-State consideration of t tion of the inter-State commerce bill.

The bill was debated by Glascock, of California, Dunn, of Arkansas, Wood ward, of Wisconsin, McAdoo, of New Jersey, Hepburn, of Iowa, and Wood, of Indiana.

Pending further discussion the understanding was arrived at that the derstanding was arrived at that the general debate shall close the next day the subject is taken up, and that then a vote shall be taken as between the substitute and the committee bill;

whichever measure shall be successful will then be open to amendment and debate under the unit rule.

Reagan has slightly modified his motion to substitute his proposition for the entire bill of the committee and has offered it as the committee and has offered it. and has offered it as a substitute only for the remedial features of that bill. If he is successful in having it adopted he will then move to strike out the remainder of the bill which has reference to the remainder of the bill which has reference to the successful which has reference to the succe erence to the appointment of a com-

Was Abstracted the Edvelope?

Chicago, Dec. 11.—Arthur Gleaseon, chief deputy in county clerk Ryan's office, makes public this morning under his own signature, a statement charging Henry Biehl, one of the employees in the county clerk's office, with having abstracted the envelope containing the ballot of the second precinct of the eighteenth ward, and thereby allowing substitution of the forged ballots found in the envelope when it was opened by the envelope when it was opened by the Federal grand jury. Gleason states that the envelope in question was placed with others in a large plied box in the county clerk's vault and nailed up.

Barker Testifies. WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 .- J. J. Barker was examined to day by the sub-committee of the committee on excommittee of the committee on expenditures in the department of justice, relative to the alleged irregularities in the office of the First Comptroller of the Treasury. The value of Barker'sevidence is indicated by expressions from members of the committee that if the testimony of the same character as that given today, the investigation will not be prolonged until to morrow.

RAPID PROGRESS OF THE CHURCH IN THE REPUBLIC. Pastoral Letter of the Bishops of th

3rd Plenary Council. BALTIMORE, Dec. 11.—The pastoral letter of the Catholic prelates composing the 3rd plenary council to the clergy and lately under their charge, is made public. It covers two pages of the "Catholic Mirror" and cannot well be condensed within the limits of a telegraphic item. Some of its points are given herewith. It opens with expressions of gratitude for the work of the preceding council eighteen years ago, and says:

"Since then an ecclesiatical body of clergy and religions has grown to wonderful dimensions. Our Catholic institutions have been multiplied tenfold with corresponding increase in the members of our faithful laity the members of our faithful laity. The territory, likewise, over which they are spread has been greatly enlarged. The land of the far west that was once desolate and impassable, through God's providential mercy now rejoices and flourishes. Under his guiding hand it has been taught to bud forth and blossom and rejoices with joy and praise. The wilderness with joy and praise. The wilderness has exchanged the solitude for the hum of busy life industry, and the steps of our missionaries have invari ably either preceded or accompanied the westward progress of civilization.
Forests have given way to cities where Catholic temples reach the praises of the most high; where the oriceless boon of the 'Clean Oblation' oretold by Malachi, daily ascends to Heaven; where the life giving sacraments of the holy church are dispensed by a devoted clergy. In view of this great progress of our holy religion this miraculous widening of the tabernacles of Jacob, it has been judged wise and expedient if not absolutely necessary to examine anew the legislation of our predecessors, not with any purpose of radical change, much less of abrogation, but to preserve and perfect its spirit by adapting it to our alter-ed circumstances, and as every day gives birth to new errors and lapse of time or distance of place allows abuses to gradually creep into the regular discipline we have judged it the duty of our pastoral officer to check the latter by recalling and en-forcing the established law and to guard our flock against the former by timely words of pastoral admonition. Such too has been the expressed wish of the Holy Father, Lee the

The assembling of the general council of Vatican by Pius, the IX, is referred to as one of the most important events of our age and its work and utterances are reviewed at considerable length. In connection with the oppression of Catholics in Germany the Prussian Catholics are commended for having stood up like a wall of adamant against the tyranny of their country's rulers while proving themselves most devoted and

Discussing the relations of the laws of the Church with those of the coun-try, the letter says: We think we can claim to be acquainted both with the laws, institutions and spirit of the Catholic Church and with the laws, institutions and spirit of our country; and we emphatically declare that there is no antagonism between them. The Catholic finds himself at home in the United States, for the influence of hisChurch has constantly been exercised in behalf of individual rights and popular liberties. The right minded American nowhere finds himself more at home than in the Catholic Church, for nowhere else can he breath that atmosphere of divine truth which alone can make us free. We repudiate with equal earnestness the assertion that we need to lay aside any of our devotedness to our Church to be true Americans, the insinuation that we need to lay aside any of our love for our country, principles and institutions to be faithful Catholics. To argue that the Catholic Church is hostile to our great republic because she teaches that "There is no power but from that "There is no power but from God," because, therefore, back of the event which led to the formation of the Republic, she sees the providence of God leading to that issue, and back of our country's laws the authority of God as their sanction, is evidently so illogical and contradictory an accu-sation that we are astonished to hear it advanced by persons of ordinary intelligence. We believe that our country's heroes were the instru-ments of the God of nations in estabishing this home of freedom. To both the Almighty and to his instru-ments in the work we look with grateful reverence, and to maintain the importance of freedom which the importance of freedom which they have left us, should it even, which God forbid, be imperilled, our Catholic citizens will be found to stand forward as one man ready to pledge anew, "their lives, their formes and their sacred honor."

No less illogical would the free spirit of American institutions, be in compatible with perfect decility to compatible with perfect docility to the Church of Christ. 'The spirit of American freedom is not one of anarchy or license. It essentially involves a love of order, respect for rightful authority and obedience to

There is nothing in the character of the most liberty loving American which could hinder his reverential submission to the divine authority of our Lord, or to the like authority of delegated by him to his apostles and his Church, nor are there in the world more devoted adherents of the Catholic Church, to the See of Peter, or the Vicer of Christee of Peter, or the Vicar of Christ, than the Catholics of the United States.

After condemning the spoliation of the propaganda by the station gov-ernment and thanking our govern-ment for the action that saved the ment for the action that saved the American college from confiscation, the fletter says: But in all the wide circle of his great responsibility the progress of the Church in these United States forms, in a special manner, both a source of joy and an object of solicitude to the Holy Father. With loving care his predecessors witched and encouraged her first feeble beginnings. They cheered and fostered her development in the pure atmosphere of freedom, when the name of Carrol shone with equal lustre at the head of her new born tre at the head of her new born hierarchy and on the roll of our country's patriots. Step by step they directed her pro-gress as with marvelous rapidity the clergy and dioceses have multi-plied, the hundreds of the faithful have increased to thousands and millions, and her churches, schools, asylums, hospitals, academies and colleges have covered the land with homes of divine truth and christian charity. Not yet a century has elapsed since the work was maugu rated by the appointment of the first Bishop of Baltimore in 1789, and as we gaze upon the results already reached we must exclaim: 'By the Lord hath this been done, and it is wonderful in our eyes." wonderful in our eyes."

The letter then treats upon the education of the clergy and pastoral rights and duties. In connection with the latter subject a few words are said concerning church properties and church debts It says. The matter of holding legal title to these properties is different in different

THE CATHOLIC PASTORAL places, according to the requirement of local civil laws, but whether the title be held by the bishop or by the boards of diocesan or parish trustees, it always remains true that the properties are held in trust for the church for the benefit of the people. In the discharge of the duty of buying or building, it often becomes necessary to contract church debts. Where the multiplication of the Catholic population has been so rapid, work had to be done in erecting churches and schools, and if under such circumstances, the pastor had to wait till all the funds were in hand before beginning the work would be left without necessary spiritual aids and might be lost to the church and to God. The council fully ap-preciates the necessity of paying debts whenever possible, but recognizes the fact that it is sometimes difficult, and expresses the earnest wish that existing debts should be liquidated as soon as possible, in order that the money now consumed in paying interest might be employed in great improvements still to be made, especially in helping on the glorious work of christian educa

THE CENTENARY CONFERENCE. Day Devoted to the Reading of Es says and Other Matters. BALTIMORE, Dec. 11. -At the cen tenary conference this morning, Bishop Wilson, of the M. E. church, South, occupied the chair. Prayer was offered by Rev. A. S. Hunt, agent of the American bible society, after which the minutes were read by Rev. J. A. Martin, of West Virginia. The resolution calling for a grand temperance demonstration during the session of the conference was referred to the executive committee. The special order of the day, the review of the superintendency of Asbury and what he did for Methodism, by Rev. Jess Boring, of the M E. Church, South, was read by Wm. S. Thompson, the venerable Dr. Boring being unequal to the task. The essay was a general review of the labors of Asbury, the difficulties he overcame and the success that ultimately crowned his work. The

ism. This was followed by a general discussion on the subject of "Itiner-Bishop Andrews made a report recommending that two temperance mass meetings be held on Saturday next, under the auspices of the conference, which was accepted. Adjourned.

An Interesting Decision to Dealers in Futures.

RALEIGH, Dec. 11 .- In the case of Aubrey, Bennett & Co., against Cov-ington, in the United States circuit court, involving the validity of a time, to which defense was made that the contract was gambling, and therefore void. The court held that the contract was void, and in order to make it a gambling contract both parties must agree that there shall be no delivery, but a settlement by differences. The jury rendered a verdict against Covington for $5,200, with interest.

A Big Oil-Gusher in Alabama A Moble telegram says: "It is reported on good authority that D. T. Parker, formerly of Mobile, and others, have struck oil at Cullum's Springs, Choctaw county, Alabama. Work has bee going on there for a year, and last week, when the drills were down 900 feet, gas came up in-great quantity. It is said that the flow of oil is so great that all of it cannot be secured. There is every reason to believe that the report is correct, as well known indications of the presence of oil have been apparent for some time. The well is located about 130 miles above. Mobile, on the Tombigbee river.

How the Machinery Will be Starfed. Washington, Dec. 11.—The President will start the machinery of the New Orleans Exposition next Tues day according to the programme outlined yesterday. He will press an electric button in the White House connected by wire with the Eposition building at the appointed time.

So Dry and Brittle.

"What do you suppose makes my hair so dry and brittle?" We suppose the giands which supply moisture to it need a stimulus. A bottle of Parker's Hair Baisam will do the business, and leave your hair soft and shining. There is no mistake about this. No oil, no dye. Restores original color, removes dandruff.
