16 Six Thousand Three Hundred Acres Land. The owners of The Crowder's Mountain Iron Works beg to call the attention of capitalists iron manufacturers, stock and dairy men, and those who wish to settle colonies, to their property, which offers inducements to the classes above named.

The property consists of Six Thousand Three Hundred Acres of land, located in the counties of Gaston and Cleavenand, in the State of North Caroline at Kiner's Mountain Denst. On the Atlanta

Hundred Acres of land, located in the counties of beaston and Cleaveland, in the State of North Carolina, at King's hiountain Depot, on the Atlanta and Charlotte Air Line railway, now owned by the Richmond and Danville railroad company. The property has been used for fifty years past as an iron property, and has neen worked at various points, but chiefly at the site of the celebrated Yellow Ridge Ore Bank, which has always yielded an ore noted for its richness in metallic iron, and its softness and toughness. This vein of ore, which extends for two miles in length, has been worked to the dept of 147 feet, showing at that depth a vein of ore about 40 feet wide, and analyzing as high as 56 per cents of metallic iron. This vein has not been worked for twenty years, but the facts set forth can be fully shown. Various other veins have been worked, and within the past two years very large deposits of iron ore have been discovered at other points. Within the past eighteen months, however, the owners have discovered deposits of ore in Crowder's Mountain, (five veins of iron ore, are exposed), which were unknown before, and which will furnish an amount of good ore, easily worked and above water, that must make it one of the most desirable iron properties to be found. They have discovered on the pinnacle of this mountain, which is 1000 feet above the level land, 2200 feet above the sea level, a vein of ore eight feet wide, which erops out at various points from the top to the bottom of the mountain, showing in one place about 20 feet of solid vein. This vein can be traced over the top of the mountain, showing in one place about 20 feet of solid vein. This vein can be traced over the top of the mountain for over a mile, and this deposit alone would afford an almost inexhaustible supply of ore, easily worked, and above the water line. In addition to this four other veins have been found on this mountain. The ore is a mottled gray ore, showing on analysis from 49 to 65 per cent. of metallic iron, with a small amount of tita quality.

Besides Crowder's Mountain the owners possess King's Mountain, for about seven miles, whose pinnacie is the 'highest point of land from Richmond to Atlanta, except Mt. Airy, in Georgia, and they have reason to believe this mountain is full of ore also. In addition to iron ore the property has manganese, limestone clay for making fire-proof brick, gold and other minerals. Very pure and excellent barytese has just been found in large quantity.

brick, gold and other minerals. Very pure and excellent barytese has just been found in large quantity.

As a stock and dairy farm it offers fine opportualities to those who may wish to engage in such business. It has from three to four thousand acres of level or only slightly rolling land, which produces grass, grain and all kinds of farming products anely, and it is well supplied with water by unfailing springs and branches.

The other 4,000 acres embraced in the mountain sides are productive of fine grass and herdage, and afford excellent natural pasturage for sheep and cattle. The climate is so mild that but little shelter for stock is needed in the coldest winters. The whole six thousand acres are now covered with a fine growth of timber of all kinds, such as pine, hickory, oak, wainut, cedar, etc. The land is well suited to farming purposes, by those who wish to colonize. Cotton, corn, peas, oats, clover and grass, and fruits of all kinds are produced beautifully, and it is specially suited to grapes and small fruits. It could be divided into small farms that would give to each farm variety of soil, and level and hilly and. It is situated in the Piedmont bait, which is noted for the salubrity of its climate, and the healthiness of its atmosphere. It is a region free from malaris and other unhealthy influences, it is located with great convenience to ralincal facilities, being situated at from two to four miles from King's Mountain Station, on a railway that has the most extensive connections with all parts of the country, and which offers great inducements to those who are trying to develop the country along its lines. The owners will sell this property to suit purchasers, as follows: The whole tract, including mineral interests, for Sixty three Thousand Doltars, or will make favorable terms, reserving the mineral interest, or will sell one-half the mineral interest, or will sell one-half the mineral interest, or will sell one-half the mineral interest, and to the widely-known Cleve land Springs.

The town of King's Mountain is also adjacent, where are good hotels, a flourishing and excellent high school, and several new and handsome churches. The owners invite the attention of all interested to this property, and ask an examination of it. Any further information regarding it will be promptly furnished by addressing R. E. Cochrane, Manager Charlotte Heal Estate Agency.

The Yellow Ridge Ore Bank has been recently sold to a Pittsburg, Pa., company, and a German colonization company has recently bought 2,500 cres adjoining this property.

The Charlotte Observer. THE THREE V'S. There are four gentlemen in the U S. Senate whose names begin with a V, Vance, Voorhees, Vest, Demcrats, and Van Wyck, Republican. The three first have been elected to succeed themselves, the first without opposition; the second by the largest majority on joint ballot ever given to any Senatorial candidate in the State, and the third, after a little skirmishing in the caucus, by the full vote of his party, which is in overwhelming majority in the legislature. We call attention to this not only because it was such a decided compliment to the three V's as because there is a meaning and a lesson in it. They are all big brained, eloquent, positive men, candid men, aggressive men, men of convictions with the courage to maintain, defend and vote for them when the time for voting comes. But more than that they are honest men. These are the characteristics that make them conspicuous and give them the standing among their constituents that they have. They are not of the pompous order of men who wrap themselves in the garb of assumed dignity and strut the floor with measured stride, imagining that the world takes them at their own estimate, but are men of the people, in sympathy with the people, for whom they talk and for whom they vote. They carry with them the dignity of manhood, to which the senatorial title does not add, and which commands not only the respect but the admiration and the love of their people. In politics they are no truck lers in maintaining their convictions no waverers. They can always be found, and always nearest the battle flag in the front. Had they been less so, had they been more of self-seekers and time servers, and less devoted to principle, they certainly would not be where they are today by the splendid endorsement which they received. People may differ from such men sometimes on public questions, may object sometimes to the positions they take, but when they measure the men, compare the sterling honesty, the unapproachable integrity, the thorough sincerity and the man ly boldness that characterize them in contrast with other prominent figures in public life they forget the differ-

A Washington special of January 20 says: Ever since the model of the Eads Ship Railway was placed in the the Butler building, diagonally oppo-site the southeast corner of the capi-tol, it has been visited almost hourly by crowds of eager and interested people. Col. Andrews is on hand constantly, and an assistant explains the principles on which it works. One can witness the whole operation, the sinking of the carriage, the lifting of the ship into place, the transportation over the railway, the turnstable in making angles, and the lowering of the cradle and floating of the ship in deep water at the other the ship in deep water at the other end. piece of mechanism, and all who see it are convinced of the perfect availability of Capt. Eads' plan.

Every day the belief in Capt. Eads' plan gains strength. Congressmen, officials of every grade, and visitors are all delighted and satisfied. Col. Andrews has a large map whereon he points out the advantages of the Tehauntepec route, the saving of hundreds of miles of travel, and of hundreds of miles of travel, and the fact, especially important to New Orleans, that the highway would thus be through the Gulf of Mexico instead of the Carribbean Sea. Another consideration suggested is that sailing vessels going through the Nicaragua or Panama canal would strike the Pacific in latitude out of reach of the trade winds and be subject to prolonged calms. ject to prolonged calms.

It is very certain that the exhibition of this model and the arguments of Col. Andrews are producing a profound impression.

A YOUNG MOTHER'S SAD PLIGHT.

Wandering Barefooted in the S raet, With a Naked Baby in Her Arms. At 2.30 Tuesday morning, when the thermometer was 14 degrees below zero, Officer Ryan, of the Cottage Grove avenue station, Chicago, patroling his beat in the vicinity of Michigan avenue and twenty-ninth street, was attracted by a form wandering about the open lot at that corner.
Approaching, Officer Ryan discovered it to be a woman. She was in a hysterical condition and the apron which covered her poorly clad form was held close to her breast.' Besides this she was barefooted. When the this she was barefooted. When the policeman stopped her he looked into the apron. To his surprise he saw a newly born infant snuggling up to the girl. It was naked and all the covering to protect it from the biting wind was the calico apron. In answer to questions, the girl said her name was Annie Hanson and that she was a domestic in the employ of W. J. Gunning, 2941 Indiana avenue. The patrol wagon was hastily summoned and the unfortunate creature was conveyed to the Hahnemann Hospital, where she now lies. All attempts to make her tell who was the father of the babe have failed and she will say nothing except that the child was born shortly before the liscovery by the officer. Reports from the hospital say that the girl and her child are in a good condition, in spite of their terrible

Extension of Railroads in India.

The extension of railroads and the reduction of freight of late years in India has made it possible for that country to land wheat at the various European ports, especially of France and Belgium, at a very low price, and with the last three years there has been an enormous increase in the amount and value of the Indian wheat exported. A select committee of Parliament, appointed to inquire into the necessity for more rapid ex-tension of railroad communication in tension of railroad communication in India, has just completed and printed a report, which contains a vast amount of valuable information in regard to the facility for internal transportation in India.

From the report we learn that India has paid $205,000,000 for her existing railroad system, exclusive of interest, which would amount to some $150,000,000 more; that the returns upon the whole railway investment in India is now much higher than the same investment in England, amounting, in fact, to 5.68 per cent more.

The committee are right in saying that this is tolerably good evidence that railroads in India, as elsewhere create a public for themselves. This fact will undoubtedly encourage the British Government to build what are called "protective lines," that is, lines which are designed to protect the country in case of famine, and which are not regarded as remunerawhich are not regarded as remunerative commercial undertakings.

According to this report, nearly 20,000 miles of railroad will be required as a complete protection for the Empire against famine, but 5,000 miles, in addition to the lines now open, amounting to 11,000, would do much in reducing the suffering in case of a famine to a minimum. The report proposes to build railroads, the estimated cost of which will be nearly $150,000,000 the most of them to be operated by the Govern-ment. Other routes are pointed out which are regarded as certain to be remunerative, and which are to be remunerative, and which are to be left entirely to private enterprise.

It is estimated that the famines cost the Indian Government $75,000,000 every ten years, and, if this be true, the extension of the railway system will not only be a humane but a wise financial measure. At any rate the extension of the railroad system of India will be watched with great interest in the United States as great interest in the United States, as it means a new source of competition for our farmers.

A distinguished army officer said: There is a lower tone in society here at the present time than has been known for years. I do not mean by that immorality, but I mean simply snobbery. You can say what you please about the Hayes, but there is one thing that is beyond question, the white house was kept up on the same plan of decency that is found in the purest of private families. Socially speaking, it was above criticism.
There was no time during the Hayes rule when the most fastidious parents could have objected to taking his daughter there. I do not know whether you have noticed it or not, but you do not see many daughters of our best people at the white house under its present regime. There may be a great many reasons for this. To put it mildly, I think it is not unjust to say that the tone of the white house clique is altogether too fast to please people who desire to bring up their laughters carefully.'
