The concert, of course, had its defects and was not perfect, but we believe that in all-of its parts it was fully equal to the concerts of the best com panies that have visited Charlotte, and its success was a fine tribute to and its success was a fine tribute to the excellence of the musical talent Legislature in which Charlotte is inof our city. The fact that Charlotte terested. The first is in regard to possesses musical talent of a high order has been well known, but it has never been fully realized until this talent was so excellently brought out in the concert last night, under the skillful managament of Prof. A.

The concert opened with the rendi tion of Sir Arthur Sallivan's "Say, Watchman, what of the Night?" by a double quartette, composed of Misses Lillia Miller, Rosa Remley, Carrie Frazier and Hattie Harrington, and Messrs. W. Moore, E. Stitt, W. Powell and C. Cresswell. This was followed by a series of solos on the flute, by Prof. Lasne, whose skill with that melodious instrument is excelled by but a few. His "Turkish March" was a fine production.

Miss Rosa Remley's vocal solo, 'The Requital," was rendered with a charming voice, and won hearty applause from the audience.

"How Sweet the Hunter's Song," a vocal duet by Miss L. Miller and Mr. W. Moore, was one of the best renditions of the evening. Miss Carrie Frazier displayed the exquisite powers and harmony of her voice in the vocal solo of "A Spring Revel." Charlotte's male quartette, Powell, Creswell, Moore and Stitt, were applauded as they stepped upon the stage, for their fame was known to the audience, and in their renditions last night they fully sustained their past reputation as quartette warblers "Forever and Forever," a beautiful song by Tasti, was beautifully ren-dered by Miss Carrie Badham, in a rich contralto voice.

The appearance of Prof. Robert Herndon on the stage with his cornet was the signal for a round of applause, which broke out at regular intervals during the pauses in his cornet solos. He is a perfect master of the cornet, and his executions equaled many of a similar character that have been heard in our opera house by traveling "professors."

A special feature of the concert was the vocal solo by Mrs. A. Bidez, with flute, viola and guitar accompaniment, the selection being a Cuban song, "Ay Rubita," a song that was draamily sweet and soft, soothing the dreamily sweet and soft, soothing the

A vocal trio, "Down Among the Lilies," by Misses R. Remley, H. Harrington and C. Dickson's Sketch Club. An entertainment that is said to be indoubtedly first class, is that to be given by Dickson's Sketch Club, in our opera house, next Friday night. The Richmond papers say that is a splendid thing and abounds in fun. The character of the entertainment is thus described by the Chicago Inter-Ocean: "The performance opened with a delightful dramatic sketch entitled 'Editha's Burglar,' founded upon Mrs Burnett's story of the same title. The personages were: Paul Benton, Mr. Edgar Smith; Bill Lewis, Mr Gus Thomas; Editha, Miss Della Fox. Miss Fox gave a charming characterization of Editha, and Mr. Thomas, a striking one as the tramp burglar. Following came a nondescript original erratic, dramatic operatic delirium called 'Combusgiven by Dickson's Sketch Club, in operatic delirium called 'Combustion,' involving a complication of science, love, and fun that found great favor with the audience."

From Shelby to Asheville. It seems certain that the Carol ina Central railroad is to be extended from Shelby to somewhere, and notwithstanding the pressure brought to bear by the people of Spartanburg, S. > Some Intimations From Raleigh. By a little diligent enquiry around town, an Observer reporter has secured some information from Raleigh that will be of interest to our city readers at the present time as it may serve to foreshadow the fate of a couple of the proposed extension of the city limits, a measure which has by no means met the endorsement of our citizens. This proposed extension, so a member of the Legislature writes to a citizen of our town, stands no chance of being endorsed by the Legislature among the proposed charter amendments. It is doubtful even, he further says, if the proposition to extend the corporate limits of Charlotte will be submitted to the Legislature. So far as the reporter is able to judge, the Legislature will incur but little displeasure in refusing to extend the corporate limits of our city, as the general opinion seems to be in favor of letting our corporate lines remain as they are. In regard to the criminal court business, Capt Jno. R. Erwin has received a postal card from senator S. B. Alexander, which rather gives the c. c., a black eye. Capt. Alex-ander says from what he has been able to learn, the prospect is that this Legislature will refuse to establish a criminal court in Charlotte. but it is likely that in lieu thereof, we will be given as much Superior court as we want, with the criminal docket divorced from the civil docket,

A telegram received in this city yesterday from Hickory, brought news of the death at that place, of Mrs. Amelia Young, widow of the late R.H. Young. She was about 70 years old. Mrs. Young was born and raised in this county, but left her old home about ten years ago to reside in Hick ory with her son in-law, Mr. R. W McCombs. She was known and med all over Meck ty and the news of her death will be received with regret by a large number of THE OBSERVER'S readers.

The death of Mrs. Young recalls the fact that a singular fatality ran through her family connections. She was a daughter of Matthew Wallace, who died from injuries received in an accident. Her husband, R. H. Young, had his leg broken by a run-a-way accident and died from the effects of the amputation. One of her sons was killed in the war and another died from disease while in the army. Her brother, A. J. Wal-lace was killed in Texas by being thrown from a horse, and her brother, Albert Wallace, was killed in this ccunty about two years ago, by a fall from a wagon. Her son-in-law, K. W.
