AN INTERESTING INTERVIEW. We publish today, from the Philadelphia Times, an interesting interview with Dr. Warren, now better known, perhaps, as Dr. Warren Bey, formerly of this State, but recently returned from Paris, where he has resided for several years and become celebrated in his profession. Dr. Warren, as stated in the interview, took a prominent part in the incidents referred to, and throws some additional light on the last days of the war in this State, which have been the subject of more or less discussion since the controversy started out of the Sherman-Davis matter. The interview comes in good time, just after the address of Senator Vance on the last days of the war, before the Maryland Confederates, on the 23rd inst., as corroborative of the statements of another prominent actor in those trying scenes. There is additional interest in it as showing the feeling of the men who commanded in the victorious army, who, while they destroyed with sword and torch. still desired the restoration of the States with their rights and prerogatives unimpaired, and how sometimes the single act of an individual, repre senting no one, in its far-reaching consequences, may affect the destinies of a people, as in this case the assassination of Mr. Lincoln by Booth did. The man, however, who raised his hand, blocked Sherman's generous intentions, and prevented peace on the basis he would have made, was Secretary Stanton, who was backed by Andrew Johnston, the former because he thought the terms too liberal, the latter because he thought it was outside of the province of a commander in the field to take upon himself making terms of peace

It is a well known fact that Grant and Sherman, both Bemocrats by training and education, as were also many other Generals in the Union army, were personally friendly to the South, among whose soldiery they had some of their former companions in arms, and were really anxious for peace on the basis of the old Union. Had it been left with peace would have come at once, and reconstruction and its hor rors would have been unknown. That was not their work but the work of the politicians, who, seeing the South overcome, took this method of holding her in political vassalage. But they overreached themselves, and the very measures upon which they relied to hold the South in subjection gave her the strength to overthrow her would-be masters and wield a power that she never wielded before. How often the schemes of plotting men are turned against the plotters.

AN OFFICER'S RIGHTS.

A Question That Rear Admiral Case Would Like Decided. Washington, Feb. 26. -Rear Admiral Case has written another letter to Secretary Chandler, continuing the correspondence which grew out of the recent protest of certain naval officers against giving the thanks of Congress to Commander Schley and Lieutenant Emory, of the Greely relief expedition. Admiral Case reaffirms his belief that under the first amendment to the constitution he "always has had and still retains the free right of petition, and the right to peaceably assemble with his fellow

gress for any purpose and in any method which may be selected." In view of the difference of opinion which exists with regard to this question of the right of naval officers to memorialize Congress, Admiral Case suggests that some measure be taken to bring it before Congress, in order that the latter may define just what constitutional rights are surrendered went over until tomorrow, and the by an officer of the military or naval House at 7.05 adjourned. ervice, and what are retained.

WORK IN CONGRESS.

THE SENATE PASSES THE LEGIS-LATIVE APPROPRIATION BILL.

The House Spends the Day Mainly in Discussion of the Silver Comage Bin.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.-SENATE -Hale, from the committee on appropriations, reported with amendment the regular annual naval appropria-tion bill, which was placed on the calendar and ordered printed. The bill was accompanied by a report, which was also ordered printed.
Hale said he would endeavor to call up the bill to-morrow morning Ingalls said a short executive ses

The legislative appropriation bill was passed, and the silver bill was then taken up. Sherman took the floor.

The discussion was further participated in by McPherson, Beck, Hill and Coke, and without action the bill went over.

The Senate at 6:05 p. m. went into executive session, and at 7:20 ad House.-Forney, of Alabama, sub mitted the conference report of the army appropriation bill and it was

An agreement was reported on all amendmen's except that re lative to the hours during which courts martial may hold their session. A further conference was ordered

The postoffice appropriation bill with the Senate amendments was taken from the Speaker's table and referred to the committee on appropriations.

The committee on appropriations reported the fortification appropria tion bill and it was referred to the committee of the whole.

Ellis submitted a substitute for the bill, which took the same course, Randall moved to suspend the rules so that the sundry civil appropriation bill may be considered for four hours, which time shall be occupied in de-bate on clauses relating to the suspension of silver coinage, and the World's Industrial and Cotton Expe sition, three hours to be devoted to debate on the first named item and one hour on the latter. The bill shall be subject only to amendments to strike out or amend clauses, after which the previous question shall be considered as ordered.

Bland demanded a second. The motion was seconded 105 to 89. Half an hour's debate under the rules was not asked for and the House proceeded immediately to vote on the Randall's motion was lost, yeas 118, The result was received with applause from the silver men.

Randall then rose and said: "Recognizing the significance of the vote just taken, and knowing that the issue was distinctly made as against the silver clause, and being aware that the majority has declared against that proposition, I therefore assume, myself, the responsibility, (believing that the members of the appropriation committee, if an opportunity were offered, would unanimously sustain me in my position), of mov-ing to suspend the rules in the man ner stated in the resolution with everything connected with coinage resolution ' Randali then moved to suspend the rules so as to take up the sundry civil bill and consider for one hour the clause relating to the New Orleans Exposition.

This was objected to as not specifically eliminating the silver question, and thereupon Randall asked unanimous consent to strike from the bill the silver comage clause, but Hep-burn, of Iowa, objected. Then Randarl modified his motion so as to move to suspend the rules and pass the sundry civil bill (with the silver clause stricken out) after two hours debate on the New Orleans proposition with an opportunity to amend the same. Finally Bandall's last proposition was agreed to and the two hour's dehate under it began. The debate having closed, the bill

FIGHTING OVER GRAIN.

Particulars of the Fight Near Kassonia,

LONDON, Feb. 26,-The following particulars of the battle near Kassou la have just been received from Suakin. Haden Dowas attacked the garrison, which under the comman-dant had sallied out to cover the entry of the convoy of grain. The garrison made a hasty defense of the works on the open plain west of the city, and received the enslaught of Haden Dowas with such terrible force that the latter fell back in confusion with heavy loss. The Shukoorio tribe who brought the grain for Kassoula then attacked Haden Dowas on the then attacked Haden Dowas on the flank and meanwhile the garrison troops advanced to the attack. Their friends, the Haden Dowas, became panic stricken and fled in all direc-tions. He declines to say anything concerning his long interview with Cleveland A near friend of the Senator tells me that it has been positively settled that he will go into the cabinet, but that he will be Secretary of the In-terior, and not Postmaster General, terior, and not Postmaster General.
He says Lamar prefers the interior,

THEY PLEAD GUILTY.

The New Haven Bank Defaulters Sentenced.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 25.- In the United States district court this morning, the grand jury found true bills against James Meech, Charles Webb and William Roath, the Nor-wich bank defaulters. The prisoners decided to plead guilty without going to trial, and Meech and Webb were each sentenced to the State prison for Roath's sentence was five years. four years at hard labor and a fine of $1 and cost.

District Attorney Stanton, in asking for sentence, called the court's attention to the fact that not one national bank defaulter convicted during the last ten years had served out his sentence. While he did not ask for a severe penalty, he would ask for one which would be served out by the prisoners to the very last day. Over $900,000 had been stolen in the last ten years by bank men in this State, and the United States government, through its officers, in inflicting the penalties, owed a duty to the residents of Connecticut.

Flatulency, or gaseous distension of the stomach and bowels. Eructation, or beiching of the gas or "wind" from the stomach. Vomiting or spitting up of the food. Water-brash and Heartburn, and frequently pain in the region of the heart, with palpitation or "futtering," with quick, short or difficult breathing. Headache, with constipation of the bowels, dizziness "swimming or lightness" of the head. Voul tongue, with a "bad." bitter, or unnatural tasts of the mouth. Torpid liver, with a sense of fuliness in the right side and pain in the right shoulder. Pain in the smull of the back in the region of the kidners with durk colored urine. Cough, which is often attributed to consumption, to which drspepsia may lead if neglected. As him is often caused by dyspepsia, and when produced from other causes, is aggrivated by dyspepsia. Mental depression, despondency, melancholy, nervousness, "sick spells." "faintness," a sense of tweariness, langour, "stutid or dull feelings," inability to sleep, and when it can be obtained it is often disturbed by unpleasant dreams, nightmare, &c. These are some of the most prominent symptoms of, this wivespread disease, a very few versons being entirely at all times free from it. One or more of these symptoms being present in all cases, depending upon individual peculiarity, length of time the person has suffered from it, and the other diseases, complications, &c., to which this disease has given rise.
