CHARLESTON, S. C., April 2.—No city perhaps in the Union can show more genuine improvement since the war than this old historical "City by the Sea." Its well paved streets, renewated buildings, water works, &c., have added to its beauty and healthfulness, while its antiquated dwellings, well tended flower gardens, public resorts sharm the eve of the quaintances. True, there is a natu-their return from Florida, As there is an overflowing influx of travellers at present at Jacksonville and other places, it is presumed that about the middle of this month Charleston will be lively with them. Great numbers have been attracted South this year by the Exposition at New Orleans, which will no doubt increase the travel in this direction and to other backs to the financial success of the city is its railroad management. No city of importance in the United States has more cause to complain. By its typographical position Charles ten should command the bulk of the trade of the southeastern portion of the country, but what is the fact? By bad legislation charters have been granted to railroad syndicates that

Two thirds of the upper portion of the State is virtually out off from Charleston that other cities outside of the State might be benefitted. In this day and time the United States represent one great chessboard, each

State is a square and each railroad is a chessman. The great railroad syn dicates are arrayed on one side and the financial interests of the country on the other, and woe be to that State that allows a false move to be made with its chessman. The South Carolina Railroad, the first passenger railroad in the United States, is not in the hands of its people, but is con trolled by northern influence and by northern men. So, in a great measure, can be said of the other railroads eading into Charleston. The poverty of the people, no doubt, in a manner caused this, but it is greatly owing to unwise and careless legislation; the want of forethought and crimi-

their constituents. How few ever consult a map of their country, and how fewer still take into consideration the benefits of main trunk lines and their relative influence on the commercial status of their important towns and cities ? How many pass bills on the exparte statement of those alone interested. While on this line of thought let me add that I hope the day is not far distant when every State will be proud of its business universities; an institution where young men of the nation can be trained to grapple with the business problems of the day, where they can learn before entering the arena of life some comprehensive idea of the wants of a State; where the classics will be confined to the ambitious few, and the more common sense porting of business tactics can Appointments to Come-Judge Fowle to be Solicitor General.

Correspondence of THE OBSERVER.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The exodus of office seekers with grip-sacks in hand is about over. Reason: there are no more left. The city has not been so quiet before since the middle of left summer. Hardly was it so of last summer. Hardly was it so then, for we had excursions almost every day. This hush, five weeks after an inauguration, is a most ex-traordinary fact, and old residents public resorts, charm the eye of the tourist and give an historical interest to the place. The manners and customs of the people are decidedly original, and nowhere does the stranger feel more at home than when among his new found friends and acquisitances. True, there is a nature are fond of commenting upon it. But no man asks why it is. The cause But no man asks why it is. The cause of the unprecedent calm is obvious. The administration is "going slow," and civil reform is fully installed.

Several important appointments in teresting to North Carolinians will be made before long. Outside of those that must go to the State, there are a few others ranging from a consulate to the second place in the Department of Justice. I understand that Mr. Phillips has been requested to remain for about a month longer. It is expected that at the expiration of that time Hon. Daniel G. Fowle will be appointed Solicitor General. Another prominent Democrat is quaintances. True, there is a natural reserve, but only such as is justifiable among people who are strangers, but once established in their good graces your pleasure is assured.

During the apring months it is usual for large numbers of strangers to visit Charleston, attracted hither by the many historical scenes and inserted properties of the colors. Why General Grant Can Not Sleep. General Grant's inabilty to sleep comes not so much from condition comes not so much from condition of the body as from unrest of the mind. He has it firmly rooted that he is going out in disgrace and under a cloud, and that all his friends can say to him in no wise changes his belief. He talks very freely with certain of his intimates on the subject, and he tells them of his mortification and chagrin that he should be duped by Ward, and that so many persons should have los; money by him. He thoroughly understands, and indeed it is the truth, that Ward used the name of Grant to carry on his schemes, and that many persons were led into them because they had confi dence in Grant. And so Grant, with a mental disease upon him, and con-scious that his end is at hand, rests with wakeful eyes, day in and out, and thinks, thinks, thinks. He tells his dearest friends that the responsibilities of battle and of leading the armies of the nation gave him no such concern as has this Ward business; that rest in the White-house in the critical period when the country was recovering from the effects of civil war was sweet compared to the rest that has come to him in the last nine months. He had hoped that fortune might in some manner smile upon him so that be might return to those who have lost the money thus wasted. He would write, he would work, he would do anything to remove the the stain from the family. But he is attacked by a disease that must prove fatal, and soon he became too meet and too sick to stir, out of the weak and too sick to stir out of the house. So he silently and grimly and with ut a word of complaint keeps to his couch and to his easy chair and thinks. He mourns be-Pittsburg Dispatch The Standard Oil Company is big thing on wheels when you get to talking about oil, but it is just as big, relatively speaking, when you get into the province of chewing gum. They control nearly all the refineries, and it is from them that the gum is evolved, so to speak. The refiners take the residuum from the crude oil after the refined article has been made and work it in an agitator, producing a certain grade of parafite, a wax-like substance. This is sent to two firms located in Boston and New York, who put it through a another refining process and then scent the stuff, cut it up into small pieces and then retail dealers take hold of it and make thousands of giddy girls happy with "somethin" to chaw." The wax as loaded on the cars, is worth seventeen cents a pound, but when put through the second refining process its cost is thirty cents a pound. A pound of refined parafine will suffice for the making of 500 pieces of chewing gum; so the profit in the business is apparent when you recollect that it retails for one and two cents a

How Wilkes Booth Passed the Pick

"Did you ever know how Booth used the pickets on the bridge of the eastern branch of the Potomac that fatal night?" said my friend. "I will tell you as it was told to me by will tell you as it was told to me by the old sentinel who was that night on duty there. A half hour before the time agreed upon by Booth to meet Harold, the latter, who had lived in the neighborhood of the bridge all his life, and who was across the river in the village of Uniontown, then crossed the river to come over on the Washington side. 'Who goes there? said the sentinel on the bridge. 'A friend going for a doctor,' replied Harold. 'Pass,' said the sentinel. He quickly rode up Eleventh street to Pennsylvania avenue and Eighth and there in the darkness waited until the thundering hoofs of Booth's horse were heard coming down Pennsylvania avenue. The two horsemen then started down Eighth street toward the bridge on that ride for their lives, which ended in Garrett's burning barn in Virginia a hundred miles away. 'Who goes there?' rang out on the air from the startled sentry as the two horses came rushing toward the bridge. Harold was ahead and cried out, 'A friend with the doctor.' The two men passed over the bridge, and it was perhaps several hours after the reverberations of the horses' hoofs had died away before the sentry knew who the men in such a hurry really were, and when he found it out he was nearly scared to death for fear he had failed to do his duty."

Tar Upon Trees.

If anything is put upon the trunks of trees that is air proof it will kill the bark. There is always a circulation of air and moisture through the bark of a tree, and if this is prevented by any air or water proof applica-tion the bark will die. For this reason, to defend the tree from the attacks of the canker worms by an ad-hesive and moist bank around the trunk it is usual to put a band of paper next to the bark and apply the ar to this instead of to the trunk directly. Tar will harden too quickly alone, and it should, therefore, be diluted with an equal quantity of molasses; or printer's ink diluted with molasses may be used. The bands should be put on as soon as the warm weather arrives and the wingess moth begins to ascend the trees

It is a well-known fact that the process of making wheat flour removes with the bran in the bolting, a portion of the natural phosphates of the grain. Phosphates are of the greatest value in maintaining mental and physical yigor. Of all the preparations used to raise bread. Horaford's Bread Preparation is the only one that replaces the phos-hates of the grain, which are of great nutritive importance. It is composed of acid phosphate of time—which takes the place of the cream of tartar and the alum of other preparations—and blearbo-nate of sods. The result of the chemical action when the preparation and the soda are added to flour mixed in the form of dough, is a union of the phosphoricacid and the sods, thus liberating the carbonic sold gas, which performs the rising pro-cess. The resulting phosphate of time and sods left in the bread strengthens the nutritive value of the bread which thus gains in the elements of brain, blood and bone food. Here. in the South, where the heat tells on the vital for es with enervating effect, bone and brain food becomes of the utmost importance. The Horsford Bread Preparetion is ot the first value on this account, and no ther baking powder is so well adapted to the demands of the Southern country.

A Remarkable Cure of a Horse In the fall of 1883 I had a valuable horse taken with the pinkeye, resulting in blood poison. After nine months of doctoring with all the remedies to be found in horse books, I despaired of a cure. His right hind-leg was as large as a man's body, and had on it forty running sores. He was a most pitiable looking object. At last I thought ot Swift's Specific and commenced to use it. I used fifteen bottles. In August last all symptoms of the disease disappeared. There have been no signs of a return and the horse has done a mule s work on my farm ever since.

THE AUGUSTA CHRONICLE. ONE HUNDRED YEARS OLD.

THE AUGUSTA CHRONICLE was established in 1785, but is still young, vigorous and progressive and fully up to all the requirements of a first-class newspaper. Democratic in politics, honest and fearless in the advocacy of all good measures—the organ of no ring or clique, it has no friends to reward, or enemies to punish. The purpose of the Chronicle is to advance the general good and support such measures as will inure to the moral, social, educational and material advancement of the State and country.

The columns of the Chronicle are free from the taint of sensationalism and the deprayity engendered by immoral publications.

Our telegraphic news service is full and complete. The Chronicle contains an average of nine thousand words per-day from the New York Associated Press. This service is supplemented by specials from our able and talented correspondents at atlanta and Columbia, who are indefatignable in their labors to give our readers the latest news and the most interesting letters.

Our accomplished and brilliant associate, Mr. James R. Bandall of the editorial staff, sends our readers his graphic and interesting letters from Washington during the session of Congress.

The Chronicle publishes the full telegraphic service of the New York associated Press.

Morning Edition, 6 months, Sunday Chronicle, 1 year,

The Evenine Chronicle is the largest and cheapest daily paper in the South, as it publishes all the telegraphic news, and all the news of the morning paper, and is sent to subscribers at $6.00 per year.

The Weekly is now a ten page paper, but in April it will be tweive pages—34 columns. It is filled with important news.

The Sunday Chronicle is a large eight page paper, and contains fifty-six columns of matter.

16 Six Thousand Three Hundred Acres Land. The owners of The Crowder's Mountain iron Works beg to call the attention of capitalists iron manufacturers, stock and dairy men, and those who wish to settle colonies, to their property, which offers inducements to the classes above named. The property consists of Six Thousand Three Hundred Acres of land, located in the counties of Gaston and Cleaveland, in the State of North Carolina, at King's Mountain Depot, on the Atlanta and Charlotte Air Line railway, now owned by the Richmond and Danville railroad company. The property has been used for fity years past as an iron property, and has been worked at various points, but chiefly at the site of the celebrated Yellow Ridge Ore Bank, which has always rielded an ore noted for its richness in metallic iron and points, but chiefly at the site of the celebrated Yellow Ridge Ore Bank, which has always rielded an ore noted for its richness in metalic fron, and its softness and toughness. This vein of ore, which extends for two miles in length, has been worked to the dept f 147 feet, showing at that depth a vein of ore about 40 feet wide, and analyzing as high as 66 per cent. of metalite fron. This vein has not been worked for twenty years, but the tacts set forth can be fully shown. Various other veins have been worked, and within the past two years very large deposits of fron ore have been discovered at other points. Within the past eighteen exonths, however, the owners have discovered deposits of ore in Crowder's Mountain, (five veins of fron ore, are exposed), which were anknown before, and which will furnish an amount of good ore, easily worked and above water, that must make it one of the most desirable iron properties to be found. They have discovered on the pinnacle of this mountain, which is 1000 feet above the level land, 2200 feet above the sea level, a vein of ore eight feet wide, which crops out at various points from the top to the bottom of the mountain, showing in one place about 20 feet of solid vein. This wein can be traced over the top of the mountain for over a mile, and this deposit alone would afford an almost inexhaustible supply of ore, easily worked and above the water line. In addition to this four other veins have been found on this mountain. The cre is a mottled gray ore, showing on analysis from 49 to 65 per cent. of metallic iron, with a small amount of titanic acid, and without any sulphur or phosphorus. The quantity of ore in this mountain is simply inexhaustible and of good quality.

Besides Crowder's Mountain the owners possess

Besides Crowder's Mountain the owners possess King's Mountain, for about seven miles, whose pinnacie is the highest point of land from Richmond to Atlanta, except Mt. Airy, in Georgia, and, they have reason to believe this mountain is full of ore also. In addition to iron ore the property has manganese, limestone clay for making fire-proof brick, gold and other minerals. Very pure and excellent barytese has just been found in large quantity.

As a stock and dairy farm it offers fine opportuaities to those who may wish to engage in such business. It has from three to four thousand acres of level or only slightly rolling land, which produces crass, grain and all kinds of farming products anely, and it is well supplied with water by unfalling springs and branches.

The other 4,000 acres embraced in the mountain sides are productive of fine grass and herdage, and afford excellent natural pasturage for sheep and sattle. The climate is so mild that but little shelter for stock is needed in the coldest winters. The whole six thousand acres are now covered with a fine growth of timber of all kinds, such as pine, hickory, oak, wainut, eedar, etc. The land is well suited to farming purposes, by those who wish to colonize. Cotton, corn, peas, oats, clover and grass, and fruits of all kinds are produced beautifully, and it is specially suited to grapes and small fruits. It could be divided into small farms that wouldgive to each farm variety of soil, and level and hilly and. It is situated in the Piedmont belt, which is noted for the salubrity of its climate, and the healthiness of its atmosphere. It is a region free from malaria and other unhealthy influences. It is located with great convenience to railroad facilities, being situated at from two to four miles from King's Mountain Station, on a railway that has the most extensive connections with all parts of the country, and which offers great inducements to
