TIDDY & BRO. Spring Chickens, GROWN FOWLS, TURKEYS and DUCKS, AT S. M. HOWELL'S.

The Charlotte Observer

THE CITY... Arrives from Wilmington at 7:30 a. m.; Leave for Wilmington at 8:30 p. m.

Weather Indications. WASHINGTON, June 3.—Middle Atlantic, Fair, weather, followed in northern portion by local rains, warmer, variable winds generally southerly.

South Atlantic Fair weather, nearly stationary temperature, easterly winds.

LOCAL RIPPERS. —Prof. J. F. Latimer and family, of Hampden Sydney, Va., arrived at the Central yesterday.

—The commencement exercises at Biddle Institute yesterday attracted a large number of colored visitors to the city.

—The Independent Hook and Ladder boys held a meeting last night and decided to go to Greenville.

—In the Criminal court yesterday Dr. Keesler, the root and yerb specialist, was found guilty of libelling Robert Paul.

—The young men of Chapter Theta, of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity, of Davidson College, are to give a banquet at the Buford House in this city, on the evening of June 15.

—The following were among the arrivals at the Buford House yesterday: John Diamond, Philadelphia; C. B. Neal, Richmond; C. A. Estlinger, Raleigh; J. C. Anderson, Raleigh; H. H. Hider, Lynchburg; T. Allen McCormuch, Philadelphia; S. W. Walter, Cincinnati.

—Among the arrivals at the Central yesterday were: Jacob S. Allen and family, F. H. Faulkner and wife, Raleigh; Mrs. J. F. Griffith and child A. J. Mock and T. J. Mock, Salisbury; Mrs. Col. T. I. Ezell, Columbia; Capt. E. W. Ward, Lexington; J. no. Foulds, New York; F. L. F. H. Rahm, Richmond; C. S. Berris, Westminster, Mass.

—Six years ago, when the first bicycle was brought here by Mr. T. Gilmer, our friend Yates, of the Home-Democrat, gave Thorne and his machine a big puff. (Yes, sir, you did, I remember reading it), but we haven't yet noticed anything in the Home-Democrat about Thorne's tricycle. Brother Yates' puff helped to fetch on the bicycle plague, but that is no reason why he should weaken on the tricycle.

C. M. Eberdege Failed. Mr. C. M. Eberdege, who has kept the variety store in the old Trader's Bank for some time past, yesterday made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors. His liabilities probably $3,000, assets not yet estimated. His assignment is made to Horio Clark, Esq. A number of home creditors are preferred for small amounts, but a few outside parties will have to stand their chances. Mr. Eberdege's stock is a large and varied one, and his creditors will likely come out very nearly square.

Assaulted his Step-Daughter. A colored man named Godfrey Crawford, was yesterday arraigned before the grand jury on a charge of having committed an outrageous assault upon the person of his 14 year old step daughter. The assault was committed ten days ago, in the engine room at Outers' factory. The girl, William, and the assault was considered by the grand jury as a physician had to be secured for her. After investigating the case, the grand jury returned a true bill for assault against Godfrey, and he will be arraigned for trial before Judge Meares this morning.

Gaston County Grant. Mr. Josiah Aubrey, the contractor, yesterday commenced putting up the front to the new building of Mr. E. C. Eccles, on Trade street, and people stopped to admire the handsome work. The front is a combination of chiseled granite blocks and pressed bricks, and is a decidedly attractive and pretty one. The beauty of the granite blocks is generally admired and commented upon and it is a pleasure to know that they are home quarried. The blocks were furnished by Hoke and Browder, of Garabaldi, Gaston county, and are not only of a superior quality of granite, but show excellent workmanship in their finish.

Mortality Statistics. During the month of May there were only two deaths among the white population of Charlotte, one a female adult and the other a child. The causes of the death were hernia and scarlet fever.

Dr. Scott's report shows that there were 13 interments in Pinewood (colored) cemetery, four male adults, four female adults and five children. The causes of the death were consumption, pneumonia, typhoid fever, cancer, and smallpox. The mortality among the colored people is alarming. The physicians say that they are dying almost as if by cholera. Up to yesterday, June 3rd, there were six deaths since June 1st among the colored population of the city.

The Darwinian theory explains the multitude. They object to a line of descendants from monkeys, but even a baby object to Dr. Bull's cough syrup.

PLUGGING THE PLUGGERS.

Dentist Eadie Denton and Exhibit Triumph of Dental Science—The Old Plugging Machine Gets Way to the New One—The Clinician's Complimentary Drive.

The dentists spent all of yesterday in showing each other the latest wrinkles in tooth plugging. They operated upon each others teeth and spent an interesting day of it.

The men were divided into two classes, one of which repaired to the office of Dr. M. A. Bland, and the other to the office of Dr. C. L. Alexander.

Dr. Turner had a five hours' set on the jaw of one of the members of Dr. Alexander's dental chair, and his manipulation of the electric mallet was watched with an unflinching interest by the professional class.

Dr. Hunter used the electric mallet, and did what the profession term very fine work.

Dr. Alexander's office, the mallet was in the hands of Dr. Hoffman, whose operations were watched with great interest by his class.

The members of the association devoted the entire day to watching the operations by Drs. Hunter and Hoffman. Each of the clinics explained the work as they proceeded with it, and it was, in short, dentist teaching dentist, a sort of dental normal school.

A reporter called at the dental offices during the progress of the clinics, and it made him feel remorseful that his tooth plugging days were enjoyed several years ago, when the most improved plugging machine then known to the profession was the inquisitorial mallet and railroad spike, something after the style of that known as con-our, and was lengthy and elaborate.

A WOMAN SUICIDES.

A D. D. (Mrs. W. H. Holdbrooks) in the County of Mecklenburg, North Carolina, committed suicide on the previous day, at her husband's house in the country by shooting herself with a pistol.

The deceased lady was about 60 years old and had been in perfect health. On Monday last her husband came to the house from the fields, and took his seat in the doorway to wait for dinner.

While thus resting, his wife came up and laid her hand upon his shoulder. "What are you going to do this evening, William?" she inquired of him.

Mr. Holdbrooks replied to her question, telling her how he proposed to celebrate himself during the afternoon, and without asking further questions, Mrs. Holdbrooks passed on into the house.

She had been in the house about ten minutes when Mr. Holdbrooks started at hearing a pistol shot, followed by the sound of a body falling to the floor.

He hurried into the house and on opening the door to his wife's room, he saw her lying upon the floor, the bed. Blood streamed from her breast, and a pistol, still smoking, lay upon the floor near where she had fallen.

Mr. Holdbrooks hastened to the side of his wife and lifted her head from the floor. He called her name and begged her to speak to him, but a feeble groan was her only reply, and within a minute's time she was dead.

The coroner called at the room and walked to the bed, and taking the pistol from under the pillow, had placed the muzzle to her breast and fired. The bullet passed through her heart.

Mr. Holdbrooks is utterly unable to account for the deed, but it is probably true that his wife's reason was deranged and her suicide was the result of insanity.

Mr. Holdbrooks formerly resided at Poplar field, in Cabarrus county, and had lived there for many years, but recently he moved to Knochville, in Rowan county and it was at Knochville that the deed was committed.

It is a good man and has many friends scattered throughout this section who will sympathize with him in his affliction.

Wrestling with the Georgia Wonder. Miss Lula Hurst's exhibition drew a large crowd of the opera last night, and the same displays of her wonderful and mysterious powers were witnessed.

Miss Lula's fiercest and most obstinate customer was Doc Horton, who got up on the stage and tried to get her to let him to go to the top of the pole.

Harry Johnston tried to hold her chair and she tumbled him off the stage. About a half hour she was quished were Capt. John R. Irwin, 200 lbs; Prof. William R. Atkinson, Esquire Hilton, and several others of our best citizens.

All were powerless to cope with her. It was they them put together could not push a chair to the floor, she merely having her hand upon the seat of the chair.

She is a mystery, certain, and since her last appearance she has gained new powers, or whatever else it is.

Heroic Official Integrity. A notable example of heroic official integrity was displayed Friday evening by Sheriff John L. Jones, of Huntington county, Pa., in surrendering to the sheriff his son John, accused of murdering his friend, John Irwin, on Thursday night.

John Irwin, a young man, was shot, reaching his father's house Friday morning. He stated his position to his father, who although agonized by the news, said: "This is horrible! Why I was made a judge I swore to obey the constitution and enforce the laws of the Commonwealth, and I cannot do otherwise than surrender you up to the officers. If you are justifiable in this case as I believe you are, you will be cleared and your name vindicated. But if not, the law must take its course."

The judge immediately harnessed his horse and drove his son to the nearest railroad station, where they boarded the first train and arrived at Huntington, the county seat, Friday night, when the son was surrendered to the sheriff.

It is believed that the son had to have been taken from motives of policy, but from a pure sense of duty.

An Alleged Murderer as a Consul. NEW ORLEANS, May 31.—The States this morning, concerning an alleged appointment of President Cleveland of Cuthbert Bullitt Jones as consul to Caliao, calls editorially upon Governor McKee to make a requisition for him as a fugitive from justice, there being an unsatisfied indictment against him in the Parish of Catahoula for murder.

It then narates the particulars of the assassination of the bridegroom, James H. Jones, and his father and brother on a Black River Steamboat, and how the two latter were subsequently shot and killed by a gang of lynchers in the Parish of Catahoula.

The paper wants to know who is responsible for this appointment, as it is alleged his papers are signed by the Governor, and that he is a member of the delegation. The States is a Straight out Bourbon Democrat paper, and was the first in State to advocate Cleveland's election.

The Famous Kissing Case. This was to decide whether a girl who had been married in fun was really the wife of the youth with whom she had performed the nuptial rite. Several hundred pages of testimony were taken in the case, and the jury in a long session decided in favor of the girl.

A Scene at Temperance Lecture. BURLINGTON, IOWA, June 2.—At Sioux City last night, during the progress of a temperance meeting, a man arose and said that the "wife" of a lecturer, who was sitting on the stage, was his runaway wife.

The woman faint, the meeting closed, and on investigation the charge was found to be true. Both the man, whose true name is Watson, and the woman had left families. Four months they have been in the west delivering temperance lectures.

He is a fine speaker and she an excellent singer. During the night they left town by private conveyance, taking a train at a small place for the east.

All the People are Enthusiastically Pleased. The crowds in New Orleans at the Grand Exposition are said to be the largest since the opening of the Louisiana State Lottery. This is true, even when the same time is taken into consideration.

The grand drawing will occur on Tuesday, June 15th, when will be given $1,000,000. The grand drawing will occur on Tuesday, June 15th, when will be given $1,000,000.

A Crocker's Failure. PETERSBURG, Va., June 3.—C. J. Taylor, grocery merchant of this city, assigned today. His assets are believed to be sufficient to cover his liabilities.

FACT, NOT FICTION.

A Story from Real Life, with a Moral in It.

"Behold how great a matter a little fire kindleth."

A New England girl, impatient of guidance, restive of the restraints of home and duty, "ran away," years ago; and under an assumed name, in the beautiful, historic town of Concord, in the "Sunny South," lived an idle, careless life, away by what ever influence the passing hour might bring, until, perhaps, the change of name would, even less than the utterly changed appearance, prevent all possibility of recognition.

Being one night in February carried to her lodging (a back room in an upper story) in an almost unconscious state from the influence of strong drink, it appears she managed to kindle a little fire, light a lamp and upset it—no one knows—but, toward the dawn of day the town is aroused by the bursting out of the fire, and, spite of every effort, before the fire can be put out more than one house is laid low and the valuable contents, merchants goods, &c., destroyed.

The unhappy woman, though rescued from flames, was too badly burned to recover and died in a few hours.

Some months later in the spring, the owner of the ground begins to build a new house, and for the foundation the walls of a neighboring three story brick house becoming undermined, the result was a fearful crash.

Fortunately occurring in the daytime the walls were seen to totter and warning was given in time for the inmates to escape, no life was lost, though some were wounded.

The entire stock of a company of hardware merchants in the lower story; a lawyer's office with its valuable library, on the second floor; and dwelling rooms above mingled in inextricable confusion, a hopeless wreck, everything almost entirely destroyed.

An adjoining building falling in on one side involved yet other merchants goods, a printing office, &c., partially or wholly destroyed. An immense quantity of furniture was seen to arise from the debris of the fallen building, adds another destroying element, an abundant supply of water being drawn on, so that what might possibly have escaped destruction in the crash is destroyed in the water.

A woful scene of desolation is presented in the mass of ruins, bricks and mortar, guns and pistols, knives and locks, books and pictures and furniture. And yet more in consideration of ruined fortunes, wrecked hopes, efforts palsied and lives disheartened through lack of faith and courage to begin anew, and perhaps in the future, wranglings and disputings, involving it may be, years of discouraging delay and anxious doubt in settling questions as to who is to blame.

What more striking commentary can be made than in the words already quoted? "Behold how great a matter a little fire kindleth!" "A little fire kindleth it may be in the beginning, leaving the path of duty for what may appear to be more pleasant, but the wide-spreading results in all the ramifications of our life, and effect, who may foretell! And truly saith the scripture, "the end of those things is death." X X.
