No Deviation From These Rule

THE WORLD'S EXPOSITION. We are glad to learn from the New Orleans Times-Democrat that the continuance of the World's Exposicontinuance of the World's Exposi-tion is an assured fact, and no longer a matter of doubt. At a meeting of prominent citizens of New Orleans held Tuesday, it was announced that of the $175,000 necessary to make the movement a success $100,000 had been pledged, without condition, and a number of corporations were yet to be heard from, which the participants in the meeting felt confident would cheerfully make the remain ing $75,000. We are gratified at the success of this movement not simply because the exposition is a magnificent show of the products and resources because of the good results that flow from it in more ways than one, es-pecially to the South. Heretofore there never has been an exposition in which the South has had an expeher products and resources as here At Atlanta, it is true she did well but the show at Atlanta, fine as was, bears no comparison to th magnificent and colossal World's Ex-position, to which all the nations of the earth, with the exception, we be more or less. What the benefits in a ready accrued to the South, it would be difficult to estimate, as it is how lasting and far reaching those bene-Ats may be, but one thing is certain the South, as a field for settlement, so fairly represented nor so advantageously advertised before. There the products of her fields, grains, fruits, vegetables and grasses butter and cheese from her dairies cattle and horses from her pastures oresfrom her varied mines, stonesfrom her quarries, timbers from her forests, products from her mills, factories, and shops, have been placed in striking and attractive shape before the eyes of peorle of other sections and other countries who knew little or nothing of the South and her capaci ty, or knew only the falsehoods that had been instilled into them by evil disposed people. As a result investi-gation, personal observation and in-quiry follow, investments are made and new and important industries grow up, developing our resources and adding to our wealth. Then to talk over matters in which they are mutually interested, and they thus become better augustated and better equipped to work forgether in the great movement of progress for the benefit of the whole country, not as sectionalists, but as men having a change of thought, ideas, and experience from which both learn something and are benefitted, and there is a spirit of emulation evoked which SUMMER GOODS ! makes itself felt. FROM WASHINGTON.

CURRENT SMALL-TALK.

Whereabouts of Members .- The Charteston Collectorship of Customs Not Likely to be Decided Before the End Washington, June 4 .- An exami-

ation of the hotel register for several week of office seekers, especially from North Carolina. But it must not be inferred that the pressure days shows a falling off since last inferred that the pressure is much, if any slackened. Several of the most minent Southern members of Congress have gone home and others are preparing to leave.

The members come and go. General Ransom, who came on Friday, returned to Northampton on Sunday. be here again soon, hardly before the 10th inst. I have heard that Gov. Vance was anxious to get away. Col. Green did not get off when he expect ed but said yesterday that he would be detained certainly until Friday.

Mr. Skinner is the only other North Carolina member of the House now in the city.

I hear from several quarters that the fight for the post office in Goldsboro, which is much complicated with the location of the post office building is becoming very interesting, with some prospect of ill feeling being engendened. A gentleman said this morning that the Dortch interest was enlisted strongly on the side of Dr. J. H. Hill. Mr. Isaac F. Dortch, who has been here all the week, left for his home yesterday. Mr. Farmer's petition has not been presented, although he was supposed to have come on here for the purpose of pressing his claims. The same gentleman who in quoted as authority above says that is quoted as authority above says that no very prominent man except Mr. Bonitz appears to be backing Mr. Harmer. It appears that Mr. Bonitz seeks to have the office in his Messenger building, and claims that as the promise once made to him by the post office department to locate it there, was not kept on account of his being a Democrat, it should be rebeing a Democrat, it should be redeemed by a Democratic administration. The whole question is a mixed local squabble, which give the Con-gressmen and the department some The Charleston collectorship customs is just now the most exciting contest as respects Southern offices. The delegation with the single exception of Senator Hampton, is a unit for Mowry. The statement was made today that the reason why Mayor Courtney was taking an active part in favor of Walker and against Mowry was that when the Mayor heard that a number of his enemies were interesting themselves in Mowry's behalf, the thought struck him (Courtney) that Mowry would be controlled by them against him in political matters. Hence, it is said, although personally friendly to Mowry, he entered the list for Mowry's adversary. The indications at the Treasury Department are that the faction fight has produced a dead lock, and that no appointment will be made until the expiring of the incumbent's term. This is in Febru-Letters received here, and personal statements of gentlemen from East ern North Carolina show that the effort to have Dr. Warren appointed Consul General at Paris is reprobated by the people in the strongest man

A Close Shaye for the Mexican.

A Mexican rope-walker, blindfold ed and with a large bowie knife tied to his feet, was giving a performance on a rope stretched about fifty feet above the ground from the new court house to a flimsy spliced pole on the opposite side of the street at Eagle Pass, Texas, when with a loud crash, the pole supporting one end of the rope snapped and the Mexican started on a head long flight for the hard street below amid the groans of his large, awe-stricken audience When within about fifteen feet of the ground he encountered a swinging rope, which he grasped with all the tenacity of life and which fortunate-

Marshall vs. W. N. C. R. R.

1. Where the State is a stockholder in a railroad company, it is bound by the provisions of the charter in the same manner as an individual. It has no advantage as a stockholder on account of its sovereignty, for by acter as sovereign, and places itself on a footing of equality with the individual stockholders.

2. The property of a corporation belongs to it, and not to the stockholders. They only have an interest h such property through their relation to the company, and in this respect the State is like any other stockholder, So, where an act of the general assembly provided for a sale of the State's interest in a railroad company in which the State was a stockholder it was held to be only a sale of the stock. 3. Whether such sale would vest cy, the stockholders of an existing corporation shall reorganize as a new corporation, which changes the amount of the capital stock, and provides for the stockholders in the existing corporation by reserving a certain amount of the stock for them in the corporation to be formed, creates a new corporation, and is not an amendment to the charter of the one already in existence. In such case it is immaterial that the new corporation is called by the same name as the old one.

5. Quaere whether the legislature has power to compel the stockholders in the old corporation to reorganize as a new company; but if they do so voluntarily the new corporation is regularly and legally formed. 6. In such case, the organization of new corporation at once dissolves

A Low Valuation of His Life.

I remember upon one occasion that Boyton was called upon by the frantic cries for help of a man who had gone beyond his depth and plunged into the breakers, followed by a surf-boat. The treacherous undertow, setting strongly seaward had caught the unfortunate swimmer, and he was being rapily carried out of the reach of assistance. Boyton seized him just as he was about to sink for the last time, and hauled him aboard the boat. The man was utterly exhausted and it was nearly an hour before he was fully, restored; he took off his bathing suit, dressed himself and then with rare magnanimity took from his vest pocket a fifty cent note (silver half dollars were not as plentiful then as now) and handed it to Boyton saying.

"I owe you my life, sir, and I hope.

you will call upon me whenever you want a favor. Take this money and treat your self and your assistants to a good stiff drink. You certainly must be chilled through. Boyton is of Irish extraction and ick-witted as Philpot Curran. "I think you have made a mistake," he said. "You put too much value upon your life. Permit me to give you your change," and before the crest-fallen miser knew what to reply Boyton thrust into his hand for ty nine cents in pennies, three cent and ten-cent notes. "I will keep this note as a souvenir of the value of a human life," said Paul, coolly putting it into his pocket. He has it to this Champlin, used the follow-ing language: "I know of no clearer case of self-defense than the unfortunate case before us. It would have been not only unmanly but inhuman Dr.Loy not to respond to the call of his mother-in-law and her guest. There had been no malice in the heart of the defendant. While Dr. Loy had Champlin on the floor he re eased him on his promise to make no further assault on his mother. He was hardly free before he de-clared, in his own language, that his word "didn't go," and immedately proceeded to get a weapon with which to carry out his threat of taking the life of the defendant, and made the open threat that if the de-
