COLORED CATHOLICS.

Progress of Their Church and School Work at Richmond.

In the year 1879 Right Rev. Bishop Keane began his missionary work among the colored people of this city, and his success so far has been most gratifying to him. About two years ago he succeeded in securing the help of the Josephites, an order established in England for the good of the colored race, and the result was the coming to Richmond of Rev. Father Slattery, former superior of the order in Baltimore. Since his arrival here Father Slattery has devoted himself zealously to the spiritual welfare of the colored people. A handsome brick church, parsonage and school-house have been built on Jackson street, and in a short time the former will be dedicated with imposing ceremonies. Father Slattery has not stopped here in his good work. He realized the necessity for good teachers for his school, and his efforts to secure them have been successful. The steamer Wyoming, which arrived in New York Wednesday, brought from England three Sisters of the Order of St. Francis, who will come to Richmond to teach in the colored Catholic school attached to St. Joseph's church. These ladies—Sisters Alphonsa, Leonard and Dominica—are members of a community whose original seven were converts from the English Church. They had been a sisterhood in the establishment, and they themselves, with their convent and grounds, were brought into the Catholic Church. At Null Hill, near London, they have a house of reformation for girls, a select school for the upper classes, and a free school for the poor. In 1881 they volunteered to come to Baltimore, there to take charge of a founding asylum for negro children, and to teach the girls' school of the colored Catholic church. They are now coming to continue the same work in Richmond. Here they will teach both boys and girls. These Sisters will be in the city the latter part of next week, and will occupy temporarily the pastor's residence. They will begin school on Monday, October 5th. Sister Alphonsa will be the superior.

Women in Boston.

No feature of Boston life is more suggestive than the great number of women who come into the city on the local trains from 7 till 9 in the morning. It is suggestive because it is an outgrowth of the new condition of affairs which Mrs. Sutherland Orr calls "the renaissance of womanhood." It is a condition that shows how women have entered into business and industrial life and how important a factor they are in economic interests. That its tendency is to decrease the number of those marriages that have been a tour de force, that have been contracted not from the feeling that should make marriage sacred, but on the mere basis of food and shelter, is doubtless the fact. "Marriage must be a very miserable condition if only starvation drives a woman into it," remarked a noted Englishwoman recently. The new regime does not so much tend to decimate the number as to elevate the quality of our homes. For a home is not, necessarily, determined by the family cooking stove; it is, in its ideal sense, a spiritual kingdom, an atmosphere, and one to which modern conveniences and the elimination of domestic drudgery greatly contribute. It is of all this that one thinks in seeing the throngs of women that emerge from the early morning trains to Boston.

Accomplishments of the Average Baby.

The Independent. It can wear out a $1 pair of kid shoes in twenty-four hours. It can keep its father busy advertising in the newspapers for a nurse. It can occupy simultaneously both sides of the largest sized bed manufactured. It can make itself look like a fiend just when mamma wants to show "what a pretty baby she has." It can make an old bachelor in the room adjoining use language that, if uttered on the street, would get him in the penitentiary for two years. It can go from the furthest end of the room to the foot of the stairs in the hall adjoining quicker than its mother can just step into the closet and out again. It can go to sleep "like a little angel," and just as mamma and papa are starting for the theatre it can wake up and stay awake until the last act. It can cause its father to be insulted by every boarding house keeper in the city who "never take children," which in nine cases out of ten is very fortunate for the children. These are some of the things that a baby can do. But there are other things as well. A baby can make the commonest home the brightest spot on earth. It can lighten the burdens of a loving mother's life by adding to them. It can flatten its dirty little face against the window-pane in such a way that the tired father can see it as a picture before he rounds the corner. Yes, babies are great institutions, particularly one's own baby.

Was Not Expected To.

From the Southern Bivouac. At a certain battle of the late war a federal chaplain happened to get in the vicinity of a battery of artillery which was hotly engaged. The Confederate shells were plowing furrows around the guns, and the cannoners were grimly and actively at work to answer shot for shot. The chaplain addressed himself to a sergeant, who was very efficient but at the same time rather profane, in the following words: "My friend, if you go on this way you can expect the support of Divine Providence." "Ain't expecting it," said the sergeant; "the Ninth New Jersey has been ordered to support this battery."

RHEUMATISM AND TONIC. CHARLOTTE, N. C., Dec. 10, 1884. I have used Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy, and it is the finest medicine I ever used for Rheumatism. For more than twenty years I have been afflicted with muscular Rheumatism, and had tried every known remedy, but without avail. I was often so bad off and suffered so much that I could not lie down, but had to be propped up in bed. I had been subject to these severe attacks for twenty years. I tried Mrs. Person's Remedy last spring, and am perfectly cured. It is the best medicine in the world. I think. No words of mine can express the benefit I have derived from its use. I suffered from palpitation of the heart upon the least exertion. Of that I am perfectly relieved. My health is now perfect, and it is all owing to Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. I am strong and well, and can take extended exercise without fatigue. I advise all who need a Tonic, or are suffering with Rheumatism or Eczema, to take it. I was induced to try it by its having cured my little grandson of Eczema. MRS. S. M. HOWELL.

A WILLING "GOD BLESS YOU!" An Extraordinary Case of Cure by the Mrs. Joe Person Remedy. The following letter, dated January 14, 1885, has just been received, and will be shown to any person who is interested in the subject. Names and dates are withheld for obvious reasons: "Mrs. Joe Person: "Madam—On the 25th of last May a boy child well developed in every respect was born in this city, but the "King of Terrors" began to chisel about its little heart, and notwithstanding its plump and vigorous constitution the poison in the blood soon began to manifest itself in what the medical men term Eczema, "Purpura," or "Hereditary Taint." Some old mothers concluded the child had the "yellow thrash." Yet whatever the disease it was certainly a stubborn master for the doctors.

The mother took the little sufferer to the country, hoping that the pure fresh air might be beneficial, and Dr. of Lumberton, was called to treat the case. He pronounced it Eczema, and did all he could for it, but to no purpose, any more than to check the fever to which the disease subjected the boy. "At the first frost the victim was again removed to the city, and immediately Dr. was called and he pronounced the disease "Purpura," and prescribed accordingly, feeding up the disease on iron and other minerals until the babe's mouth became so sore that for two weeks it did not nurse, a friend, he took hold and nursed as strong and vigorous as ever. "All means of procuring any more help or medicine had failed, and in this hour of deepest despair the poor mother went and asked her druggist to let her have one bottle and one package of the Remedy, and was refused, because she did not have the money to pay for it. She pawned her wedding ring and raised $1.50 to pay for the medicine.

When she gave the child the first dose, three weeks ago to-day, the little fellow was a mass of scaly sores from the hips to the knees, and at seven months old had never borne his weight on his feet. To-day, by the help of God and a faithful administration of the Remedy the child is well and strong in the legs, and last Sabbath morning while the mother was weeping at the necessity of drying up her breast, he took hold and nursed as strong and vigorous as ever. The administration of the Remedy is still kept up to effect a complete cure. "Believing in its efficacy I have revealed upon Mrs. Person's Remedy, and I have revealed upon Mrs. Person's Remedy, and I have revealed upon Mrs. Person's Remedy. "To take it for Inflammatory Rheumatism."
